By George - Dick - Pat

We've received a kind (?) no from the secretary of the Palmetto, Fla., Chamber of Commerce stating that Mr. and Mrs Ed R. Thompson of this community are currently basking in southland sunshine.

"They are enjoying the balmy temperatures—yesterday's high was 80, and low, 60," says the snide who mailed the card.

Ordinarily we feel no bitterness toward those more fortunate than ourselves. But the mercury's plunge to six below left us very much out of sorts. So we hereby remind Ed that he's slated to report for grand jury duty on Jan. 9. And he'd better not use as an excuse, "But, baby, it's warm outside—down here!"

Christmas mail delays had Howard Brandeland, former Belmondite now living in Kankakee, Ill,. sending out SOS's that his Independent was not arriving per schedule — and after he'd subscribed for three years only last summer.

"We do miss the good people of Belmond so please see that the paper is sent our way so we can read about them," wrote Howard after two consecutive issues had failed to make appearance.

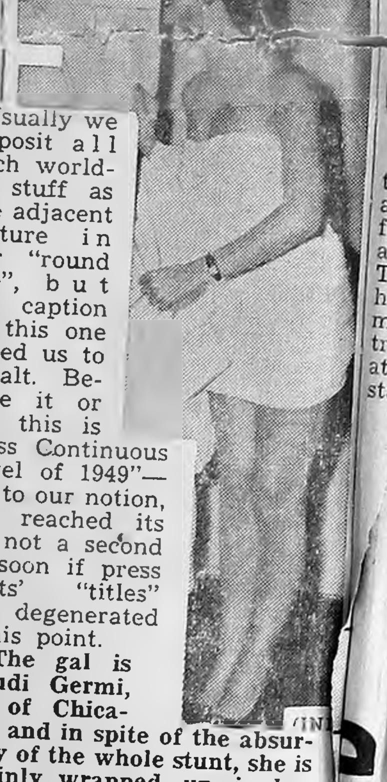
A couple of days later we got a letter from his wife, Ardella, instructing us to hold every thing. The vagrant copies had arrived. We're always happy to hear that a subscriber enjoys the paper—even if it takes a temporary failure of the U. S. mail to bring the good news our way.

—M-S—

High-flying frost produced by the sudden cold provided at least one small compensation for our suffering last Tuesday evening in the beautiful adornments around the moon. Such a display, it has rarely been our privilege to witness.

A person looking for "signs from above" might have found fraught with significance the huge, shining cross that branched out from the moon as it rose in the heavens Tuesday night. The whole display was encircled in pale, rainbow hues, and high in the sky a reflected arc of light added a final touch to the exhibit. It was really a sight to behold.

—M-S—



Usually we deposit all such worldly stuff as the adjacent picture in our "round file", but the caption on this one called us to a halt. Believe it or not, this is "Miss Continuous Towel of 1949"—and to our notion, 1949 reached its end not a second too soon if press agents' "titles" had degenerated to this point.

The gal is Trudi Germi, 19, of Chicago; and in spite of the absurdity of the whole stunt, she is plainly wrapped up in her work. When they get around to naming "Miss Cellophane Candy Sack of 1950"—appropriately illustrated — we'll let you know.

John Deere Day Tickets Required for Admittance

Farmers who are planning to attend the John Deere Day entertainment at the New Belmond theatre Monday afternoon at 1:00 p. m. are reminded by L. W. Wesenberg and Harley Thompson of the Farmer's Implement store that tickets must be obtained in advance at their establishment.

This annual event has grown so in popularity that admittance by ticket only has had to be made the rule. The program of entertaining and educational films is free to all farmers and members of their families, but the required tickets should be obtained before the day of the show.

Highway Mix-up Friday Involves Seven Vehicles

Cause of It All Ends Up In Jail on OMVI Charge

One of the most complicated series of traffic misadventures to occur around Belmond in some time took place last Friday evening just south of the city limits on Highway 69. Patrolman Al Sparby and Sheriff Bob Blecker attributed the whole mess to Stewart Lafayette Smith, 62, who was driving a 1937 Ford coupe owned by his son-in-law, Harry Sheller.

Smith was charged with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and at present is in the county jail at Clarion awaiting hearing by the grand jury. Appearing before Justice O. E. McGahey, he waived preliminary hearing. His appearance bond was set at $500, which he failed to post.

Some $1,000 to $1,200 overall damage had been done to the total of seven cars involved before matters were all straightened out and the highway cleared.

The procession of events started about 6:45 p. m. when Smith's car—headed south—shot crossways to the east, just nicking the rear wheels of a truck driven by James W. Clay of Pampa, Tex. Clay was being followed by a companion and fellow pipeline worker, Edwin E. Doughty of Huma, La., driving a '48 Hudson coach.

Doughty brought his car to a dead stop to see where Smith's meanderings would bring him. They brought him head-on into the front of Doughty's vehicle. An estimated $500 damage was done to the Hudson and about $150 to the Ford. Doughty received some minor cuts and bruises but Smith got some face cuts that necessitated a visit to the hospital for stitching before he proceeded to the jail at Clarion.

Cars had been lined up both north and south of the accident scene, and just as the second of the damaged vehicles was hauled away general turmoil was resumed.

A '48 Hudson sedan driven by Nancy Wilton of Minneapolis, who reportedly failed to see the partly obscured tail-light of a parked truck, collided with the truck and jammed it into a '49 Chevrolet coach driven by Lester Bergmann, General Mills office worker, which was also at a standstill.

The clatter of this collision had not yet subsided when a '49 Chevrolet coach driven by Laurence Vought of Council Bluffs rammed into the Wilton car.

The net result of all this activity was a cut knee for Miss Wilton, which required medical attention at the hospital, and an estimated $400 damage to her car; about $25 damage to Bergman's new Chevrolet; $20 to the truck, driven by LeRoy Olson of Fort Dodge; and around $100 to Vought's car.

A liquor book confiscated from Smith showed purchase during the day of two quarts of whiskey, one of which—nearly empty—was in the car he was driving. Patrolman Sparby reported Smith also admitted having had "a few beers."

Family Party Scheduled By Alexander IHC Firm

A showing of the International Harvester "Family Party" will be held at the high school at Alexander, Jan. 7 at 8:00 p. m., under the sponsorship of The Quaker Oats company of Alexander.

Five all-star acts, headed by Master of Ceremonies Jackie Jay, will be presented on the stage. The other headliners are The Morenos, trampoline act; Norman Panto, accordionist; Ruth and Eddie Jester, magicians; and Konrad and Simmons, roller skating duo. There will also be color movies.

The Alexander firm is combining the show with its annual open house and will serve free coffee and doughnuts from 10:00 a. m. until 4:00 p. m. There will also be prizes for the entire

Invitation Letters Sent Out to 1,800 Boxholders

One thousand eight hundred letters addressed to boxholders in Rowan, Meservey, Kanawha, Goodell, Alexander and rural mail routes adjacent to those communities, as well as to Belmond rural boxholders, were being posted today in the hope of "packing the house" when next Monday evening's meeting is held to organize the permanent board to plan and construct Belmond's new hospital.

Clark McNeal, chairman of the temporary hospital committee, states that this newspaper announcement is to constitute the personal invitation to each and every resident of Belmond proper to attend the 7:30 p. m. meeting at the high school auditorium .

Barring interference by the weather, the crowd will hear Ted Johnson—former school superintendent here who now lives at Granite Falls, Minn.—tell how his community recently faced and solved the problems which arose in the course of a similar hospital-building campaign.

Mr. Johnson hopes to bring with him several other men from the Minnesota town who were key figures in their community's hospital campaign. If they can come, they too will be heard from briefly.

The broad problem involved will be outlined for the audience by Mr. McNeal, who will introduce Dr. S. P. Leinbach to present the specific reasons why Belmond must replace Steele Memorial Hospital with a larger, modern structure.

With explanations out of the way, a list of recommended board members compiled by the temporary committee will be presented to the meeting for its consideration. Nominations will also be open from the floor, in case there should be any withdrawals or additions to the list should be desired.

"This meeting will be one of the most important gatherings that has been held in Belmond in a long time," Mr. McNeal declares, "and if as much interest is shown as we anticipate, there should be a really big turnout.

"Every family which looks upon Belmond as its home or as its trading center has a big stake in this project. The committee that has developed the project thus far urges every person who possibly can to be on hand."

Free Coffee, Doughnuts At Garage "Open House"

Coffee and doughnuts will be served "on the house" Saturday as Lee Mussell welcomes the public to visit the new garage home of Mussell Chevrolet company, on Highway 69.

The event will coincide with the first showing of the 1950 Chevrolet, and Mr. Mussell will have on hand a new model fresh off the assembly line for the visitors to look over. A 1950 Chevrolet pick-up truck will also be on display.

Besides the refreshments, Mr. Mussell will have favors for the children and to lend further interest to the affair will award a couple of door prizes.

MRS. DOWNS SUFFERS SIX FRACTURED RIBS AS CAR MISSES TURN

Mrs. Grover Downs was painfully injured early Sunday morning when Mr. Downs' car failed to make a turn in the road, skidded on the soft shoulder and plunged into a ditch and against a telephone post.

Mrs. Downs suffered six broken ribs, along with multiple bruises, and is at present in the Belmond hospital. It is expected she will be able to return home the end of this week.

The mishap occurred about 3:30 a. m. on Highway 18 about a half mile north and five miles east of Garner as the Downs party was returning to Belmond from Clear Lake. With Mr. and Mrs. Downs were the former's brother, Lloyd, of St. Paul, Minn., and Lowell Hoke.

All the men were bruised up somewhat. Grover's brother also sustained a sprained wrist and Mr. Hoke a sprained ankle.

Major damage was done to the car, but Mr. Downs yesterday had not yet received an estimate of the repair cost. Point of impact when the car crashed into the telephone post was right at the side where Mrs. Downs was seated, resulting in the relative severity of her injuries.

New Owner Takes Over Drug Store

Don J. Nolan, who has purchased the former Schultz Drug company and will operate the business hereafter at Nolan Drug, officially took possession of the business from Herman Schultz on Monday as the two men joined forces on inventorying the stock.

Mr. Nolan will move his family to Belmond after he has sold his home at Fort Dodge, where he has lately been employed as pharmacist by O'Connell Brothers.

As announced last week, he has purchased the Dr. E. A. Watson home here. He has one nine-year-old daughter, Donna Clair, who will enter the fourth grade in school, and one daughter of seven, Bonnie Jane, who will enroll in second grade.

Prior to his employment with the Fort Dodge drug concern, Mr. Nolan owned drug stores at Palmer and Mapleton. He attended junior college at Fort Dodge and Emmetsburg, took pre-pharmacy work at the State University and received his degree as a registered pharmacist from Drake university in 1937.

Mr. Nolan plans to do some redecorating and will hold his formal opening later.

Hub Garage Exhibiting New 1950 Model Dodge

L. C. and H. D. Tudor, proprietors of the Hub garage and Dodge dealers in Belmond, are out-and-out proud of the new 1950 Dodge they now have on display.

"We think this year's model is the biggest value we've ever been able to offer," L. C. Tudor says. "It has a combination of ruggedness and beauty that we don't believe can be beat."

In an ad in this week's issue, the Tudors cordially invite the public to visit the Hub showroom and see the 1950 model.

Rowan Cafe Among Victims of Young Bad Check Artist

A cafe at Rowan, along with a number of business houses in Eagle Grove and Goldfield, was among the recipients of a series of bad checks issued in the past two weeks by Felix G. Allie, 20, of Eagle Grove. As the result of the free-handed use of his brother-in-law's signature, Allie is currently jailed at Clarion awaiting grand jury hearing on a charge of uttering false checks.

When Allie was picked up in Fort Dodge last Monday at the request of Sheriff Bob Blecker, it was further discovered that the car he was driving—a '49 Chevrolet sedan—was stolen in Chicago the early part of November. As a result, Illinois officials are interested in laying their hands on the youth when Wright county gets through with him.

Between Dec. 16 and Jan. 2, Allie issued at least 10 checks bearing the forged signature of Willis Skiye, his brother-in-law, who lives near Renwick. They varied in amount between $30 and $45.

Allie appeared before Mayor Harry Schoonover at Eagle Grove on Monday evening and waived preliminary hearing. His bond was set at $5,000 which he has failed to post. Sheriff Blecker says the young man had no previous criminal record, other than a few misdemeanors, but seems to be getting

Econor In Asseng

This year we are going to try somethingndifferent in the field of personal property assessing, which, ve will be both more economical and more efficient.

In the very near future we will mail varıks to every one in the county, asking for CONFIDENTIAL IATION from which we will arrive at your assessed value, and then be notified of the value we have placed upon your peıpperty for taxation purposes.

You will be asked to complete these formil or personally return them to this office within fifteen (15 as to expedite the work in the office.

THREE THINGS TO BE GAINED BY THOD:

1. BY USING THE MAIL WE CAN.Y REDUCE THE COST OF ASSESSING THE WHNTY.
2. MORE UNIFORMITY IN ASSIS AS FINALLY ESTABLISHED.
3. LESS TIME REQUIRED TO OBTESSARY INFORMATION.

This is a cooperative venture. By your on per cent cooperation we can lower county assessment costs vill cooperate by giving you every deduction and every cred law allows. All of us desire economy and equity and th we are attempting to do.

By working together we believe we can ok oal.

Belmond Defeats Fighting Clarion Quintet, 36 to 29

Trager Once More Stars, Pours in Fifteen Points

Apparentaly saving their best effort of the week for their battle with Forest City on Friday night —at least, so their followers hope —Belmond's Broncos racked up their six win in a row by easing past Clarion Tuesday night, 36 to 29. The game was really closer than the final score indicates, and if scrap could have made up for only average skill, the visiting Cowboys might well have upset the highly favored home team.

Clarion was not supposed to have much of a chance against Belmond, but the way those Cowpokes battled to the very end one might have thought they'd failed to read the script. At the end of the first quarter, a last-second heave by Rollie Hager gave Clarion a 12-10 edge; and at the halftime rest period the Broncs found themselves with only a two-point advantage, 18 to 16.

Midway in the third period Belmond forged into an eight-point lead, 25-17, but the visitors refused to be awed by this handicap. With Capt. Sterling Meyers and Duane Johnson providing the punch, the Cowboys chisled away at Belmond's advantage until a single point separated the two teams shortly after the final stanza got started.

With the count 28-27, Duan Trager split the net with a beautiful hook shot and a few moments later Sid Swenson pushed in another fielder, stretching th Broncos's lead to 32-27 as th automatic time-out was called.

Three minutes of playing time then remained, and Meyers kept Belmond on the alert by dribbling in for a neat hook shot of his own a minute later to cut the margin down to three points. The final two minutes found the Cowboys fighting a losing battle to get and retain the ball as Sonny Greenfield and Trager each meshed free throws as a result of Clarion rule infractions.

The game definitely was't o of the Broncos better efforts, b a lot of credit nevertheless shou go to Clarion for making t Belmond boys fight to the l ditch. Johnson and Meyers bo turned in first-class performanc for the losers, counting 11 and points respectively and maki real pests of themselves on d fense.

Eldon Loats Wins Letter At Dubuque University

Eldon Loats, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Loats, was recently awarded a major letter in football at the University of Dubuque.

From his position at end, Loats helped considerably in attaining a season record of six wins against two losses. In conference play, the Spartans only dropped one game to place second in the Iowa Conference.

Loats, a senior, is majoring in Physical Education in preparation for a career in coaching and teaching.

IOWA DEMOCRATS CLAIM--- IOWA G. O. lin MAINTAINS---

BY FRANK MOORHEAD
Publicity Director
Democratic State Committee

We decided to make New Year's resolutions early this year. This gives us more time to break them. Our principal resolution is this: During the first week of the year 1949 we shall not write a single unkind word about any Republican Big-wig or Brass hat in Iowa. Having so resolved, we have sat for hours confronting a blank page. With this restriction, we cannot think of anything to write.

Let's try saying a few kind words, for a change. Maybe some Republican newspaper will print our stuff this week.

We extend our felicitations to Mrs. William S. Beardsley, wife of the Governor. We never met her, we never saw her, but we like her; particularly since she rearranged the furniture in the $75,000 governor's mansion so as to make it more liveable and attractive. And still more recently, since she trimmed a huge Christmas tree on the mansion grounds; a tree which we can see from our kitchen window and which has saved us buying new electric bulbs.

We got into the governor's mansion just once; the day it was thrown open to the public. But most of the time we were there, a former Republican chief of the state bureau of investigation kept following us around and eyeing us so closely we did not get to see very much. We like the Governor's better than w did the house at th state p at Fort Mad son, bu had more free dom d

We li ardsley and we earnest she will move back to inia in another year, an governor with her.

We th Synhorst is the best Sec State Iowa had in 1949. ularly like him since he Young Republican orga "This (the Republican as given nothing but l and a complimentary he back to the ideas an ssions of the younger of its organization" and he Republican) party wil e to lose elections unl most vigorous and progr ement of their society be he backbone of the Repu arty instead of standing o elines and outer fringes are doing today."

We do e to wish that Mel would back to Orange City The will see to tha for us in 1

We li rice Crabbe, ditor o Eagle Grove agle, Go Blue's hometown of l newspaper, en thou does say a lot mean about us. Ev y time show one of ese Cra racks to Our ss, he g s a raise, says good ty. We imag e we wi getting quite good sa y next elec n time.

We particularly like Brother Crabbe ("brother" because we both attended Grinnell college and both are Congregationalists, besides which we used to live in Eagle Grove) when he goes after the Republican party (his own) as rough-shod as he did last week, when the Eagle said editorially:

"The Republican party in Iowa is at an all-time low. At present there is no other nucleus in the party that can command any worthwhile following. The organization group headed by State Chairman Whitney Gilliland is on a sit-down strike and Gilliland has lost the support of a large majority of his own elected organization.

"Harrison Spangler, the National Committeeman, is unable to command any following at all among either the Republican rank and file or the younger party workers. He is at present merely filling the position of a brake on the wheel of progress. Beardsley, who is neither Republican or Democrat but is best described as a mugwump (bird who sits on the fence with mug on one side) has a following of "fair weather friends" who will desert him at the first signs of slipping."

We are indebted to Brother Crabbe. Under our New Year's resolutions we could not have said a single word of all that, and we would like to have said it, too.

We think Chet Akers, Republican State Auditor, has more guts than any other man in the State House: he has grabbed off the same office six consecutive elections and will probably run for a seventh term in 1950. Chet has kept more Republicans out of the State House than any any Democrat ever did. Any man who will contribute 12 years of his life to serving the public at big pay and keep any other worthy man out of the office that long deserves at least a fur-lined lower denture.

One of the fixed charges in the national budget is the interest on the national debt. It takes a sizeable chunk of taxes to pay this fixed charge each year In fact, the interest on the national debt is five and one-half billion dollars.

It is a matter of simple economics that the interest must be paid to the bondholders even if nothing is paid on the principal. The national debt has risen to such a point that the interest alone has reached almost astronomical figures.

Every taxpayer — and that means every American—is interested in the interest that is being paid on the national debt.

Just what does the interest amount to in terms of every Iowan?

On a per capita basis, Iowa's share of the interest on the national debt is $96,200,000. That's figured by dividing the five and one-half billion dollars by the total population of the United States and multiplying that figure by the total population of Iowa.

In other words, Iowa's share of the interest on the national debt is more than the total operation of state government in Iowa, including the state aid grants, homestead credits—but not including biennial appropriations for such things as the legislature, legislative committees, $5,000,000 for the primary road fund, a loan to the bonus board and the interim committee.

The 1949 legislature appropriated $91,715,255 for operation of state government.

The state's share of the interest on the national debt is $96,200,000!

Stop to consider that Iowa's share of the interest alone is more than the money needed to operate state educational institutions, state departments, board of control institutions, state aid to education, funds to take care of the needy, blind and dependent children, and homestead credits. Isn't it time to call a halt to wild spending and start putting our federal financial house in order?

Every year it takes 13 cents out of every tax dollar to pay just the interest on the national debt. If the national debt continues to rise, the interest payments also will rise and it will take more and more billions in taxes. If however, the budget were balanced and there were an annual surplus the public debt could be reduced and the interest would be automatically reduced.

There is no indication that the Trumanites plan to balance the budget. The Washington Planners already are trying to foist upon the public new schemes which will take more and more money.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper has conned a new word for the Truman Administration. He calls 'em: Spendocrats.

In an address recently, the Iowa Senator said:

"The Democratic party has now become the 'Spendocrat Party.' They have become spendocrats by tradition and history. The present hysterical spending completely justified that term and they would be only honest with the American people if they dropped the name officially from the Party and adopted openly and honestly the name 'Spendocrat Party.' For there is no democracy in the uncontrolled waste of the earnings of the future prospects of the American people.

"Instead of democracy, it is spendocracy, and I suggest that they change their name to Spendocrats and then let us draw the issue for the American people to decide. But the creation of vast public debt and saddling of tremendous tax burdens on the American people seems to be a habit with the Democrats.

"Woodrow Wilson spent 47 billion dollars in his eight years as President. Franklin Roosevelt spent six and one-half billion dollars in his first eight years as President, before the beginning of World War II. But the 'Oscar' goes to Harry Truman as the prize spender, not only of all our American presidents, but of all history. From the fiscal year 1946 to the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1950, Mr. Truman will have spent over 243 billion dollars."

Spendocrats. That's a good word for 'em.

artin,

Goodbye . . .

After serving this community for over 45 years, it is understandable that our decision to sell the Schultz Drug company and retire from business is tinged with regret. It has been a genuine privilege to know you all and your patronage has been sincerely appreciated.

We are most happy, however, that the business will continue to be conducted by a man of such competence and high reputation as Don Nolan. We recommend him to you most heartily and take this opportunity to wish him the very best of success.

MR. and MRS HERMAN SCHULTZ
SCHULTZ DRUG COMPANY

Hello . . .

To follow in business a man who has been held in the high esteem that Mr. Schultz has enjoyed is a real challenge. Your continued patronage and good will shall be greatly appreciated and I shall do everything possible to warrant the confidence that the public has always shown in the Schultz Drug company.

It is my intention to remodel and modernize the drug store so we can—if possible—serve you even better, and offer a wider variety of drugs and sundries than ever before. I'm looking forward to meeting every one of you.

Board Proceedings

Clarion, Iowa, December 19, 1949

The Board of Supervisors met in adjourned session at the Courthouse in Clarion, Iowa, with the following members present: T. J. Henry, Chairman; George S. Trowbridge; William Fisher; H. C. Pinkham; and A. W. Smith, with the County Auditor in attendance.

An offer to purchase real estate acquired by the County as public bidder was presented to the Board. The offer was made by Robert Cameron, in the amount of $70.00, on the following real estate, to-wit: Lots 5 & 6, Block 8, Cox's First Addition to Eagle Grove, Iowa. After due consideration by the Board it was decided that the amount offered was not enough and it was moved by Fisher, seconded by Trowbridge, that said offer be rejected. Motion carried.

It was moved by Trowbridge, seconded by Smith, that the 15% assessment on Drainage District No. 209, levied on December 5, 1949, be rescinded and removed from the record, and that in its place an assessment of 5% of the original cost of said Drain No. 209 be hereby levied. Motion carried.

The Abstract of Assessments of Public Utilities in Wright County, as certified by the State Tax Commission, was presented to the Board and on motion by Fisher, seconded by Pinkham, said assessments were approved and ordered spread as shown on the 1949 tax list:

The Maytag automatic washer gets clothes really clean!

Clothes come out sparkling clean quickly, easily with the famous Maytag Gyrafoam washing action. A new spinning technique lifts the dirt up, over and away from the clothes. So perfectly balanced that bolting down is never required.

Western Auto Has Added New Line of Furniture

Western Auto Associate stores, numbering 2,661 outlets in 37 states, are entering the home furniture market with an initial line of several hundred different items and plans are already being laid for expansion.

K C. Kickbush, owner of the local Western Auto store, says that merchandising will be done entirely through a catalog order sylstem and that his establishment is now prepared to obtain for its customers any of the innumerable items in the 44-page multi-colored catalog he has available for inspection.

Mr. Kickbush says that "Westline" furniture items are in the lower and medium price brackets and that the catalog order plan of direct shipment to the customer results in ecomonies in handling which mean lower prices.

FARM BUREAU'S GOAL FOR YEAR 1950 SET AT 1,414 MEMBERSHIP

The kick-off meeting for the annual Wright county Farm Bureau membership drive was held Wednesday at Clarion and workers were to start canvassing the county on Thursday. This county's quota for 1950 is 1,414 members.

Harry Bryson of the American Farm Bureau Federation was featured speaker at the meeting. Gerhard Thompson, chairman of the Wright county organization and head of the maintainance committee, was chairman of the kick-off program.

Wright county's mail campaign has already secured approximately 450 Farm Bureau members and another 200 individuals belong on a continuous membership agreement. Having this total of 650 on the rolls already will decrease the time and work necessary to finish the campaign.

Township membership captains are: Emery Engh, Boone; Gerhard Thompson, Norway; Steve Hinman, Belmond; Bernard Koenen, Pleasant; Verven Reichter, Liberty; Wendell Duitscher, Lake; Wallace Dawson, Grant.

EVERYONE'S Support Needed To Make Hospital Campaign Successful

Next Monday is H-Day — the day upon which the campaign to build a new hospital in Belmond will get underway formally with election of a permanent planning board. We urgently suggest that you let nothing interfere with your being present for the public meeting, starting at 7:30 p. m. at the high school auditorium, at which time this board will be organized.

Here is one instance in which no one can afford to take a let-George-do-it attitude. The success of the hospital project is going to depend upon the whole-hearted support of the whole area which will benefit from the new hospital's construction.

If there has been a recent accident or sickness in your family which required prompt hospitalization of someone near and dear, you won't have to be sold on the vital necessity of first-class hospital facilities near at hand. If your family has been one of the more fortunate ones, contemplate for a moment what your feelings would be if a loved one DID need emergency hospitalization. Would it not be most consoling to know that a community hospital was easily and quickly accessible?

It is not idle SCARE talk, this possibility of Belmond being left without a hospital. State health officials will permit continued use of the present, out-of-date, inadequate structure only long enough to allow us to replace it with a modern, fireproof building. Steele Memorial Hospital has served well within its limitations; but the Belmond area undeniably has outgrown it.

YOU need the new hospital; and, to become a reality, the HOSPITAL needs you. Resolve to do your part—and as the first step, be on hand for the meeting Monday night.

Two Plus Two Makes Four— But So Does Three Plus One

Release of the 1949 tax millages last week by County Assessor F. Ross Henry illustrated the obvious fact that not only 2 plus 2 equals 4, but that 1 plus 3 adds up to the same total. What we're getting at is the fact that—prevalent fears to the contrary—the increase in county property valuations resulting from the appraisals of the J. M. Cleminshaw company stood in no way to be reflected in similarly higher taxes. Askings, the number of taxpayers and their respective shares remained materially the same.

Where past inequities were discovered by the survey, instances in which values had previously been placed altogether too high or low, there will be a noticeable difference between individuals 1948 and '49 taxes. But the average home owner will find that his tax is not any higher, and possibly even a little lower than a year ago.

These results were entirely predictable. Some business firms which have been benefitting by "chronically" low inventory appraisals for years are going to find their taxes boosted to a figure in fair relationship with the actual stock values. The result of this equalization will likely be responsible for a small reduction in the "average" home-owner's tax. The only howls we're likely to hear is from the individuals who've had the advantage of obviously low appraisals in the past. And it's time, anyway, that those relative few join the rest of us in paying their fair end of the freight.

Levies are about the same for 1949 as for 1948, is most cases. Only rural school district levies are generally increased. This is because town schools are now permitted to charge back to the rural districts the actual per-child cost for tuition students, instead of the $11 for grade and $17 for high school students allowable in the past.

We'd like to think that this circumstance will provide one more good talking point in favor of school reorganization. The gradual but regular increase in the number of tuition-paying students clearly indicates that the improved schooling that would be available to all students under a reoroganized school system is becoming more and more widely desired.

If parents in the rural areas are going to be paying more for those benefits than ever before, they should also be more in a mood then ever before to consider the over-all advantages to be gained by logical reorganization of school districts.

You're Living Better Than Ever Before — It Says Here

We have received in our mail a reprint from the Congressional Record "(Not printed at Government expense)" of a speech by Hon. John McCormack of Massachusetts before the House of Representatives on Oct. 19, 1949. It is entitled "Triumph for Peace and Democracy—81st Congress Sets Proud Record." While printed at the Honorable Mr. McCormack's expense, it arrived at our desk by franked mail—natch.

By some odd oversight, 'midst all the boasting about and self-congratulation on the "enlightened viewpoint" of the 81st Congress, there is no mention of the fact that the session left the nation more firmly imbedded in debt than ever before.

The only remarks on national spending in the four-page brag sheet totally disregard the extravagance that presently characterizes each succeeding session of Congress.

Mr. McCormack relates, "The job of this Congress in enacting 17 appropriation bills, giving effect to the budget as submitted and later supplemented by the President, was in itself a tremendous task."

And he adds that despite the fact that over 70 per cent of the funds went for national defense, foreign aid and military assistance, to the war veterans and for interest on the public debt, "Yet, ample funds were provided to carry on the administration's progressive domestic program."

If our memory serves us right, Congress actually missed balancing its books by roughly the amount of annual interest due on the current national debt, so we question accuracy of the inference that interest on the public debt WAS paid.

So when our Massachusetts friend states that this session of Congress "aimed at making better living for the Nation's citizens, and it is accomplishing just that," we were compelled to cock an eyebrow.

At the end of the last U. S. fiscal year each average-sized family's share of the national debt was $7,000 — and so far, the present Congress has succeeded in adding another $150 to that amount.

It's nice to have Congress so solicitous in providing us with "better living" —but it's got us a little worried as to just how long we can afford to be looked after in the present fashion.

OBITUARY

LYDIA ANN RILEY

Annie Riley, as known to her friends, was born Sept. 15, 1868 at Rock Creek, Ill., the daughter of George P. Holy and Elizabeth (Long) Holy and passed away at the age of 81 years, two months and 11 days.

Mrs. Riley was the second of five children. Her parents and two brothers and sister preceded her in death, one sister, Carrie E. Wolfe, remaining.

Annie Holy was married to Edward James Riley at Savanna, Ill. To them three children were born, Byron S. of Holyoke, Colo., Lillie M. Bailey, Clear Lake, Iowa, and Dollie E. at home in Rowan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riley celebrated their golden wedding before he passed away in 1936.

They spent their young life around Savanna, Ill., but moved to a farm near Rowan about 35 years ago. Later they built a house in Rowan on their acreage. Here they lived until the time of their death.

Mrs. Riley passed away Nov. 26, 1949 and will be greatly missed by her children as well as by all of her friends and acquaintances.

She was buried in Rowan cemetery, Nov. 29.

PRESCRIPTION

At Manning, pharmacist Orval Fink recently filled a German prescription, sent from overseas through the instigation of a Manning woman who had been writing to a family in Stuttgart. When German doctors could not provide the needed medicine, the prescription was sent to Manning.

Health Precautions Will Make The New Year Happier For All

"Every January 1st most of us resolve to make the New Year a little better," said the Iowa State Department of Health. "Good health in 1950 would be a fine resolution, because it is fun to be healthy, full of energy and good spirits."

For good health in 1950 the first step is in the direction of the doctor's office for a physical examination. Many persons avoid having a check-up because they are afraid the doctor will discover something wrong with them. Such fears are foolish and dangerous because early diagnosis and proper medical care always offer the quickest and easiest path to recovery.

We also need good teeth for good health. It is important that we make regular visits to the dentist if we are to enjoy healthful living in 1950. Good sound teeth, in a clean, healthy mouth enable us to eat a well-rounded diet, and we need a good diet to keep us strong and healthy.

Cleanliness is one of the basic laws of good health. If we keep our bodies, clothing, homes, schools and working environments clean, we have a strong defense against disease. Germs and dirt go hand in hand.

We are also responsible for our own sleep and recreation habits. When we are tired, we feel inadequate and irritable. A good night's sleep often changes the whole outlook on life. Our state of health is reflected not only in our body condition, but also in our mental and moral state. If we take life at a moderate pace, we will live longer and happier.

For good health in 1950 we should provide protection for our children through immunization and vaccination against diphtheria, smallpox, whooping cough and tetanus. The whole family should be on the alert to prevent accidents. Let's all resolve to be sane drivers and pedestrians.

Why not make one big resolution to have a healthier, happier year in 1950 and go about doing the things that will help make it that way?

Iowa Industrial Show Scheduled For Next Spring

Des Moines—Appointment of a statewide advisory committee of six industrial leaders to assist in plans for the Iowa Mid-Century Industrial Exposition was announced today by the Iowa development commission, co-ordinating agency and one of 11 state organizations sponsoring the show.

The exposition will be held March 25 through April 2, 1950, at the Iowa Exhibits building on the state fair grounds, presenting for the first time a cross-section of Iowa's industrial products and plants.

Exhibit space reservations for "the show window of Iowa's industrial empire" are coming in from manufacturers in every section of the state, Rodney Q. Selby, executive director of the development commission, reported today.

Although few people realize it, the value of Iowa's manufactured products approximately equals the gross cash farm income, Selby pointed out.

"There are 556 Iowa cities with thriving industries located in every one of the 99 counties. No county has less than four factories.

"This is the story we hope to get across with this new exposition — the diversity and importance of manufacturing in Iowa," Selby said.

In addition to industrial exhibits and demonstration, the nine-day exposition will feature entertainment attractions. An attendance total of 100,000 to 150,000 is predicted.

Sponsors besides the development commission, are the Iowa Manufacturers association, Iowa State Education association, Iowa Press association, Iowa Daily Press association, Congress of Industrial Organizations, State Federation of Labor, Iowa Commercial Organization Executives, State Junior Chamber of Commerce, Des Moines Chamber of Commerce and Iowa Business and Industry Magazine.

WOUNDED

Kenneth Lorenzen, 14 year old Rock Rapids youth, received a rifle wound in the face recently. The bullet creased his chest, entered his face near the eye and lodged under the brain. His condition is satisfactory. He can't remember just what happened, thinks he fell across the rifle as he carried it into the barn.

PANSIES

Mrs. Pearl West of Clarksville can prove that it has been a mild winter so far. On December first she picked a bouquet of pansies from her flower garden.

FAITHFUL DOG

When Harry Davies of near McGregor failed to return home from a coon hunt, neighbors started searching. They saw Davies' dog and the animal led them to the body of his master, over which he had kept an all night vigil, Mr. Davies had died from a heart attack.

BUNGLED

Some thieves bungled the job at the Nora Springs Cooperative company recently. The safe had been intentionally left unlocked. Before the burglars discovered that fact, they managed to lock the safe. It contained only a few checks and some pennies, anyway.

TOO MANY RABBITS

Two jackrabbits combined to cause a wreck near Waverly recently. Arnold Haebing, of near Klinger, was driving along when a large jackrabbit got up in front of his headlights, leading him down the road at a merry pace. Another jackrabbit joined in the fun, running down at the side of the road, and Mr. Haebing got so interested in them he ran his car into the ditch and it rolled over. The rabbits, as far as he knows, are still running.

JOHN DEERE DEALER to ENTERTAIN FARMERS and THEIR FAMILIES

JOHN DEERE DAY IS Monday, Jan. 9

"Roots in the Soil"

Rochelle Hudson and Richard Travis share star billing in "Roots in the Soil," feature picture to be shown in The New Belmond Theatre on Monday, January 9, at 1:00 p. m The movie headlines the free John Deere Day entertainment and educational program for farmers and their families which is being sponsored by The Farmer's Implement Store.

"Roots in the Soil" is the story of a small-town bank cashier (Richard Travis) who can't say "no" to anyone with a hard-luck story. His generosity affects the lives of his wife (Rochelle Hudson), his three children, in fact the entire community, though it sometimes backfires. You and your family will enjoy every minute of this true-to-life story plus the beautiful singing of a chorus of nearly fifty voices.

In addition to "Roots in the Soil," several other new, all-talking pictures will be shown. "What's New in John Deere Farm Equipment"—a preview of new John Deere machines you'll want to know about... "Beyond the Price Tag"—the story of the new John Deere Model "MT" Two-Row General-Purpose Tractor with its working equipment for smaller acreages... "Farmer of the Year"—an informative dramatized picture on soil conservation... "First Choice of Farmers Everywhere"—the story of the John Deere No. 5 Power Mower as written by farmer owners the country over.

According to Harley Thompson, local John Deere dealer, admission to the John Deere Day Program is by ticket only. Any farmer who has not received his tickets or needs more can get them free at The Farmers Implement Store before the day of the show.

TYPING

During the past week the students in typing class have been typing and studying business letters. We are on our fourth different style letter. The class has had eleven business letters in all during the week

They had one of the hardest time tests of the year last Monday. It was a ten-minute test. Most of the people in the room were glad when the instructor said stop.

Home Economics News

The first year Home Ec class is working on the different cuts of meat. They will be working on this for a while or so yet.

The advanced class will be starting knitting for their next project. They are just finishing up on Home Furnishings." A miniature model house is in the making

The Hec Mec club had their Christmas dinner Saturday evening Dec. 17 at 6:00. Fourteen people attended the supper. It was an informal supper with candle light. After the supper we exchanged gifts, then we went caroling, after which we all came back to school and had cold chicken.

BAND

On December 14 the band played for the big school program. Before the main part of the pagent, they played several Christmas Carols.

When the candle lighters came in "It came upon a Midnight Clear," was played. At the end of the program the whole audience sang "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" with the band accompanying them.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week the band was featured at the basketball games. Tuesday with Franklin Cons. and Wednesday with Meservey.

By Richard Kaduce

What's Doin' In Music

The Christmas program was a success. We want to thank each and every one of you for coming, to make it a success.

The mixed chorus sang the following numbers in the Christmas program: "Silent Night", "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", "O, Little Town of Bethlehem" and "O Come All Ye Faithful."

The girls glee club sang one number "Luther's Cradle Hymn."

Two solos were sung. Marvin Draper sang "The Birthday of the King." Larry Myers sang "The First Noel." Both boys did real well.

"We Three Kings" was sung by the girls sextette. This was the first public appearance of the sextette this year. The girls that are in the sextette are Norma Madsen, Ruth Benson, Phyllis Vestweber, Edith Schulte, Carol Johnson and Beverly Smith.

HARDWOOD HI-LITES

Number 3 is my interview from the girls basketball team. She is Carol Johnson. Carol is 5' 5½" tall, is 15 and a junior in high school. She has played basketball three years and earned a letter two years. During these three years she has played her position as forward, 69 points has been her total in eight games. She is fast and has a wonderful hook shot. If you want to keep your dribble get away from No. 3.

Kenneth Norem is my interview from the first five this week. He comes to the ruler at 6' 8", a sophomore in high school. He earned a letter in his first year of basketball and is working hard for one this year. Kenny has scored 42 points in nine games. Guard has been his position on the floor these three years. He has two years left and we hope you will see him hitting many more points. Good luck, Kenny.

SENIOR NEWS

The seniors have had very little activities lately.

The government and speech assignments are just the same, except they are now working on the different types of speeches, impromptu and extemporaneous.

In business arithmetic they are working on reducing fractions to decimals.

The boys in manual training are just completing their projects.

JUNIOR NEWS

As the Christmas vacation rolls closer and closer every day, the Juniors are studying hard and getting ready for our vacation.

In typing we are taking some more long time tests and working on our letters. Most of us get a little weak towards the end of the test.

In speech we are learning about impromptu and set speeches and are also studying current events out of the American Observer.

In manual training the boys are working on their projects and some of them are finishing up their projects.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomores are doing very well in all their subjects. In two or three weeks they will begin to review for semester tests The Christmas vacation will be a good rest from their subjects.

In English they are studying narrative poetry. Some of the poetry is very interesting such as "Gunga Din" by Rudyard Kipling, and "Lady of the Lake" by Sir Walter Scott.

The Sophomores are studying the Readers Digest articles from the December issue. They are having supervised reading and special reports on articles read.

In Geometry they are in the workbook on Unit II which is over proposition proofs, bisectors and congruent theorems.

In mechanical drawing the sophomore boys are working on their separate projects.

In biology the sophomores are studying mammals such as whales, cattle, human beings, elephants, etc., and how they adopt themselves to their living conditions.

The Sophomore girls in home economics are studying the different cuts of meat, such as mutton, beef and pork. They are undertaking the preparation of the above meats.

7th and 8th Grade News

All the members of the 7th and 8th grades took part in the Christmas program.

Sandra Johnson and Oliver Olson played the parts of Mary and Joseph. They played them very well.

Gary Hofacre, Richard Showalter and Dennis Larson played the parts of thre three wise men.

Eldon Schulte, Wayne Bohning, Wayne Pastour, Marjorie Barkema all play in the band, so that kept them busy throughout the program.

The rest of the class were candleholders; these people stood around the gym floor holding lighted candles.

The candleholders were Karole Eden, Dorothy Larson, Joan Modderman, June Van Gerpen, Jerry Van Gerpen, Roger Wieman, Roger Hansel, Jo Ann Hopkey, Laurene Bobst, Marge Rother, Ruby Winfield.

The program was a success and enjoyed by everyone.

SIXTH GRADE NEWS

Our group is studying plant life in science. We have learned that plants need air and food just as we do. They also need sunshine and water. Our plants in the room help us in studying this unit.

All are now busy making gifts for our parents for Christmas.

Some presents have been brought to school and put under the tree.

With the money we won in the P. T. A. membership drive we bought a checker game, a game of horse shoe and alphabetical letters.

3rd and 4th Grade News

Wednesday, Dec. 14 was a red-letter day for us. It was on that evening that we gave our Christmas program. Everyone enjoyed it very much. Especially Santa and the treats.

On Friday we saw a cute show called "Husky and Skinny." The movie was about milk.

Karen Ann Bailey brought a nice book of stories. Our teacher read them to us.

Thanks to the boys and girls of the third and fourth grades for the fine job they did in cleaning up the school yard .

Many of us have been practicing for our church programs.

We are looking forward to our Christmas party and gift exchange on Friday but best of all vacation.

1st Grade News

We find the week before Christmas a very hard time to study. Our program is over, but now we have presents to finish and of course presents to shake under the tree.

In numbers we have finished grasping the number eight and ten.

One group is finished with the unit "Five at the Farm" now they will have a test. In this unit they learned to recognize the names of the farm animals and the sounds they make. They found that they could have much fun at the farm.

The other groups are doing nicely and show much improvement in reading with expression.

We wish all our readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Kindergarten News

We enjoyed taking part in the Chrismas program and were especially excited when we saw Santa.

All of our stockings are hanging on the fireplace now, some short, and some long

We enjoyed the movie "Skinny and Husky" Friday very much. It taught us to drink milk to be healthy and strong.

On Thursday each of us had our pictures taken.

We have been enjoying Larry's book "One More Story, Please' this week.

We are looking forward to our Christmas party and exchange of gifts Friday. Some gifts are under our tree now.

ATHLETIC NEWS

Alexander and Franklin Consolidated split a doubleheader here last Friday night. Franklin girls won 19-42, while the Alexander boys won a thriller 30-32. It was 26-30 in their favor with 45 seconds left to play then Roger Modderman sunk one from the side to make it 28-30, then Larry Myers intercepted a pass and drove down making it 30-30 with seven seconds left. Kenneth Norem sank one from the center which was the deciding factor.

The scoring was as follows:

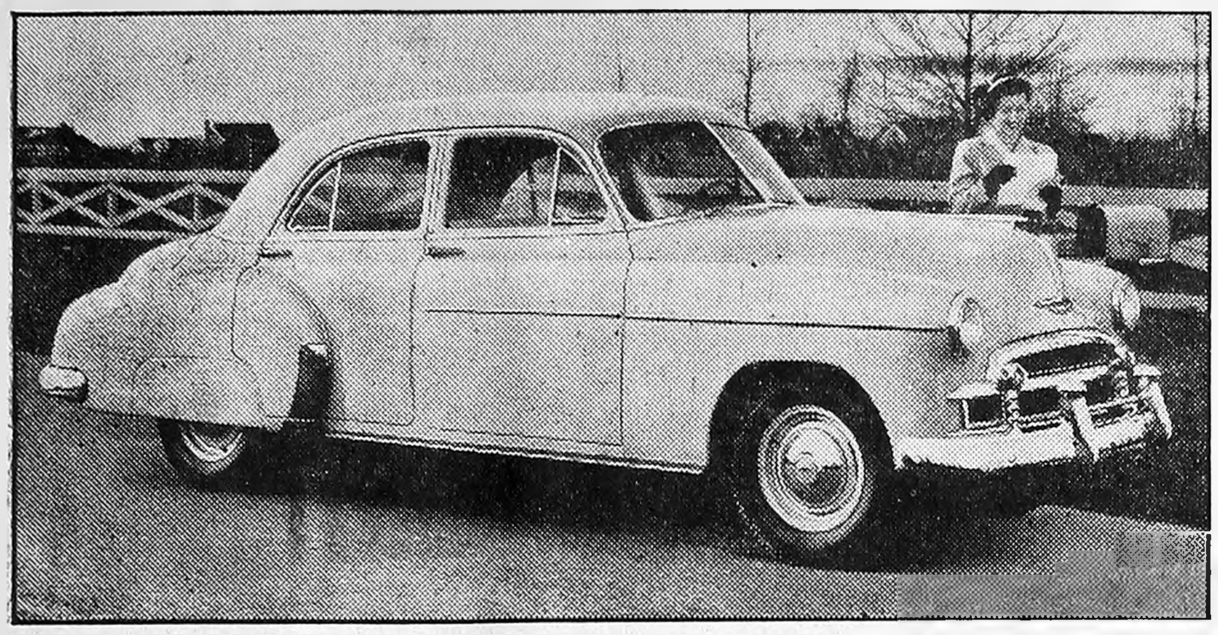
One of Two Sedans in 1950 Chevrolet Line



The Styleline, one of two individually designed sedans which have achieved immense popularity with Chevrolet owners, will have new beauty in 1950. Improved grille work, sturdier bumper guards and more tasteful ornamentation are some of the exterior improvements. New Chevrolets also offer increased power and comfort with the Powerglide automatic transmission as optional equipment on De Luxe models.

Deductions for Social Security Will Increase Starting With New Year

When your employer deducts one and a half cents from each dollar of your wages for social security taxes after Jan. 1, don't accuse him of an error in arithmetic. The increase comes as a result of Congressional action in 1947. The new rate applies to gross wages up to $3000 a year. The increase in employee tax is matched by a corresponding increase in the employer's contribution.

Workers who were employed temporarily in stores and industrial establishments during the Christmas shopping season are required to report their social security numbers to their employers. Employees who have never had a social security number should obtain an application form at their post office and mail the completed form to the Fort Dodge Social Security office.

Workers who have lost their cards should complete the same form, indicating they want a duplicate card and mail the application to the Fort Dodge office. Women who have married since their cards were issued should write the Fort Dodge office for a corrected card showing the change of name.

Persons who desire information about federal old-age and survivors insurance or wish to apply for social security benefits may contact George R. Replogle, field representative of the Fort Dodge office of the Social Security Administration, in the basement of the court house in Clarion on Thursday morning, January 5, between 10:00 and noon.

Wright County 4-H Again Taking Part in Foreign Youth Exchange Program

Wright county 4-H clubs will again participate in the International Farm Youth Exchange program, along with other clubs through the Hawkeye State.

After careful study of the continued need for this program, and its contribution to international understanding, the state International Farm Youth Exchange committee voted to continue the activity in 1950.

During the summer and fall of 1949, seven European farm young people were brought to Iowa to live with farm families and learn our way of life and farming methods. In addition, three young people went from Iowa farms to live on farms in Finland, Sweden and England.

The exchange project is sponsored by youth organizations of the state through the Iowa Agricultural Extension Service and the United States department of agriculture. It has been termed one of the most successful of post-war activities in international understanding. By participation in this program, 4-H members are given an opportunity to help create better relationships with our friends in foreign lands.

AWAY BACK WHEN

TEN YEARS AGO

With Jerry McNulty, Morris Dillon and Elmer Johnson on the committee, the Belmond Firemen are planning an invitation and dance at the I. O. O. F. Hall on Jan. 8.

Mounting expense of operating the national government, which in 1940 reached the stupendous figure of $13,351,786,493, seems likely to be the main consideration in the coming election.

—1940—

Temperature here on Jan. 1 reached a low of nine below zero.

—1940—

The federal Electric Home and Farm Authority now enables individuals to buy electrical appliances with only five per cent down, as long as 48 months to pay, and installments payable with your electric bill.

—1940—

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Luick returned home Tuesday after spending two weeks in San Antonio, Tex., with Mr. and Mrs. George Price.

—1940—

—1940—

Margaret Barry left Saturday for Des Moines, where she will resume her teaching duties.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Harold Romey was hired by the County Farm Bureau as county agent at its meeting last Saturday.

—1930—

Arlene Sheriff won first prize, a beautiful $18 doll, in the Christmas contest conducted by Adams Pharmacy.

—1930—

Miss Henrietta Pals and Bert Kalkwarf were joined in marriage on Dec. 26. They will live on a farm east of Belmond.

—1930—

George Ruka of Goodell brought the editor of he Independent a nice plump dressed chicken for New Years, a gift very much appreciated. (Ed's note: Oh, for the good old days!)

—1930—

Avery's Ambitious Aristocrats met at the home of Mrs. A. C. Arnold, Saturday, with Mrs. Eva Stokesbury as hostess.

—1930—

In the prize contest held by McBride's Bakery, the following children won first three awards for boys and girls, respectively: 1, Dean Doyle; 2, Howard Jacobmeyer; 3, Bobby White; 1, Arlene Sheriff; 2, Marjorie Hildebrand; 3, Henrietta Baker.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Fred Luick, 80, last of the original famly of early settlers of that name, died at his home last week.

—1920—

A. W. Martin recently purchased the John Greenlander residence in south Belmond at the reported price of $3,400.

—1920—

On Christmas Day, Eva Pals, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jelto Pals of Alexander, became the bride of Lambert Pals, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Pals.

—1920—

Capt. W. C. Tyrrell, former Belmond resident and now living in Beaumont, Tex., and president of the Chamber of Commerce there, has given a 500-acre tract of land to the city of Beaumont for use as a park.

—1920—

The 25th anniversary celebration of the first Mass of Rev. T. A. Barry of Webster City in his home parish of Belmond took place Dec. 30, 1919.

—1920—

The County Farm Bureau has just completed its annual drive and now has 743 members.

—1920—

Clair Christie, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Christie, has accepted a position in Buena Vista county as agricultural expert under the Smith-Hughes law at a salary of $200 a month.

FIFTY YEARS AGO—

Cal Brothers, proprietor of City Livery Barn — Feed and Sale Stable. A specialty made of the trade of commercial men. Careful drivers, moderate terms. A share of the public patronage is respectfully solicited.

—1900—

The contest for the county printing came off at Clarion today. The Democrat has a list of 876, the Monitor 841 and the Belmond Herald 840. The two former were declared the official papers. The HERALD did not count its exchanges as subscribers. The other papers did and won out by a narrow margin. Our list through some inadvertance was unsealed when sent over and by some curious coincidence, the Monitor came out one ahead.

—1900—

The opera house management is arranging to have a big dance on Jan. 24. Music by the Algona Harp Orchestra.

—1900—

Estelle Mendell says in the Library Department, "Perspicuity points ones paragraphs with truth and plainness." (Ed's note: what this paper plainly needs is more perspicuity!)

—1900—

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fox returned from their wedding tour Monday.

DYNAMITE

Students in a rural school near Guthrie Center had a class-room interruption recently, when a nearby dynamite blast sent a portion of a tree trunk, about one foot in diameter and three feet long, crashing through the roof. Three students were scratched and bruised. Thre county employees did the blasting, which took place about 200 feet from the schoolhouse. School was dismissed.

SUIT

For injuries suffered when she fell down a flight of stairs, Eva Lundeen of Wilton Junction has filed a suit for $25,000 against the White Way hotel-cafe at Muscatine.

GAME VIOLATORS PAY $24,000 IN NOVEMBER FOR NEW HIGH MARK

Seven hundred fourteen arrests for hunting, fishing, and trapping violations during the month of November resulted in fines and sentences totaling $24,188.50 in fines and 875 days in jail, according to the State Conservation Commission.

Both number of violations and total of fines reached an alltime record. The highest previous month was November, 1948, with 494 arrests, $13,000 in fines assessed. In November, 1947, 336 arrests were made and $9,000 in fines assessed.

Seventy cases resulting in fines of $100 ro 30 days or more in jail were heard in the courts last month with illegal fur being responsible for the bulk of heavier fines. During the period 12 hen pheaant shooters were assessed fines of $100 or more.

Four illegal trappers or fur buyers were assessed fines of $100, three $500, one $400, with other fines for fur infractions ranging up to $375 in penalties.

In addition to illegal trapping and hen shooting, maximum fines were assessed for shooting protected species, exceeding bag limits, impersonating an officer, illegal sale of fish, and hunting during closed seasons.

Commission officials attribute the increase to greater cooperation with conservation officers on the part of the non-violating hunting and fishing fraternity and farmers, plus the fact that licensed hunters and fishermen have reached an all-time high.

All fines collected for infractions of the fish and game laws are turned over to the treasurer of the county in which the prosecution is made and earmarked for use as county school funds.

"Family Living" Group Gathred Last Week For Its Bi-Monthly Meeting

The Farm Bureau committee on "Family Living" met for its bimonthly meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 13, in the REA office in Clarion. Thirty-two women, including the county committee, township chairmen, vice chairmen, and health chairmen, were present. Mrs. Gerhard Thompson presided at the meeting.

Interesting reports on the State Farm Bureau meeting and a health meeting at Ames were given by Mrs. Thomas Mathre and Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Jr. The chairman reviewed plans for the coming year's work. The group discussed Blue Cross, the cancer drive and the Christmas Seal drive.

It was voted that Farm Bureau women would support and sponsor the cancer drive, Red Cross and Christmas Seals, but no other drives or canvassing for other causes.

Mrs. Lettie Zuber reported on the attendance at the last extension lesson, "Better Light for Better Sight." It was given 16 times with the total attendance of 280. Of this number 229 were farm women, 51 were town women, and 29 attended an extension lesson for the first time.

Alice Moore gave an interesting talk on health. She told of a conference she attended in New York City and gave many important ideas and helps on our health and the health of our children.

The next meeting of the women's committee will be Feb. 7.

KILLED

A hunting accident took the life of Donald Hendrickson, 14, of Bevington recently. While out with a companion, Donald reached for his gun, which was laying on a log back of him. Taking it by the barrel, he pulled the weapon toward him. It discharged, the charge entering his heart.

GOLD PIECE

A. G. Madsen of Hampton was about to throw away an old billfold the other day. Looking inside he found a $5 gold piece wrapped in a small piece of paper These coins went out of circulation some sixteen years ago.

REUNION

At a family reunion at the Milt McCabe home at New London recently, sisters Mrs. Ray Self of Newport, Wash., and Mrs. Nellie Howell, Wellington, Kan., saw each other again for the first time in 30 years.

VOL. 31 NO. 13 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, January 12, 1950. OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Well, we're off. Took a look at the calendar for the wrong year, so when we wrote the day upon which Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wilson of Goodell held open house to celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary we noted the 29th as Sunday (which it is—in January) rather than Thursday (which it was—in December).

According to the Iowa Press Association bulletin for this week, we've got company. One Iowa editor started out the year by reporting a women's club enjoyed hearing some "biological" sketches of famous persons; another told his readers of a man arrested and fined for possessing "obscure" literature . . . and another (horror of horrors) ran the results of a women's club election wrong!

—M-S—

If occasional mental stimulation appeals to you, we urgently recommend you enroll in the Current Affairs class that is being added as a new Adult Education course this year. The committee members in charge are not satisfied with the title, but haven't settled upon a more satisfactory one yet.

Anyway, challenging topics of local, state and national interest are being outlined for the 10-week course, which will be discussed in round-table fashion. It will be strictly every man for himself, and if the classes are one-half as interesting as the committee meetings (and they promise to be much more so), the course should be a humdinger.

A few speakers may be lined up, if there is a demand for it; but the stress will be on personal participation. The class certainly promises to provide a pleasant and profitable way of spending 10 Monday evenings.

—M-S—

Belmond parents were just breathing a sigh of relief that the mumps epidemic seemed to have run its course — and now the ailment is beginning to make inroads amongst the adult population. By latest reports the victims include Minnie Geitz, clerk at Brady's Appliance; Carroll Bamford, of the post office crew; and Bob Townsan, out at the General Mills plant. Take it from George, who had 'em while in the Navy, the "grown-up mumps" are no joke.

—M-S—

Legion Commander Mac Jensen and Auxiliary President Jean Bamford were highly pleased with the response to their second plea for toys to be shipped overseas via the "TOT" campaign. Over last weekend they packed two big cartons full of toys for shipment to Europe. And enough toys not adaptable to overseas shipment were left over to fill another large carton, which was dispatched to the state hospital at Woodward to gladden the hearts of unfortunate young inmates of that institution.

—M-S—

This week The Independent's masthead appears in altered form to recognize the addition of a new partner to the Belmond Publishing company. The boys in the back shop were assigned responsibility for seeing that the proper changes were made. So how did the finished product read?

Duane, Bob and Sofie get the work done.

Exercising the oppressive power characteristic of employers the world over, who are forever endeavoring to keep from public knowledge the fact that it is the poor wage slave that makes the wheels go 'round, "da bosses" deleted the final line before it could get into print.

A round of applause was given Dr. Harold Morgan of Mason City at the hospital meeting Monday night when Chairman Clark McNeal revealed that the likeable visitor was the individual responsible for instituting the blood test currently employed to determine if a drinker has attained a state of intoxication. The test has saved the law many a headache. Suspects rarely refuse to submit to the test, and it offers "cut and dried" evidence of either passable sobriety or definite inebriety.

If analysis reveals 1.5 cubic centimeters of alcohol per 100 cc., the imbiber has had one too many. The most recent test made in town showed a very conclusive 2.-plus cc's upon analysis!

To be specific, the guy was squiffed enough for two people.

Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Kearney and family of Algona, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Behrends and family of Britt and Mino Behrends of Emmetsburg were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Behrends.

Hospital Planning Board Named; Gene Woolley Chairman

Enthusiasm High At Meeting Held On Monday Night

Project Approved by All But Three of Over 200

Gene Woolley, manager of the local General Mills plant, was chosen by members of the hospital planning board elected at Monday night's public meeting at the high school auditorium to serve as chairman of their organization.

Twenty-nine members make up the planning board, which from this point on will be in charge of the campaign for financing and constructing a new hospital to serve Belmond and surrounding community.

Great general enthusiasm for the project was evidenced by an informal ballot cast by the crowd of some 200 public spirited citizens on whether they favored undertaking the proposed campaign. Only three negative votes were cast.

Temporary Chairman Clark McNeal was in charge of the meeting and after briefly outlining the purpose of the gathering he introduced the various speakers.

First to be heard was Dr. S. P. Leinbach, who quoted statistics to demonstrate the importance of having an adequate hospital in a community of the size the new structure will serve. He also touched upon the inability of the present hospital to handle all the sick and injured really needing hospitalization and pointed out that the recent Davenport tragedy dramatized the importance of fireproof construction.

Dr. Harold Morgan, prominent Mason City pathologist, was present and expressed the belief that Belmond could construct just the kind of hospital it wants, within the budget available, if public determination is sufficiently great.

Next Ted Johnson, former Belmond school superintendent, told the audience how his present home community of Granite Falls, Minn., went about acquiring a new hospital. He emphasized that many economies are possible if the building committee watches every corner in letting contracts and purchasing materials.

Adult Education Classes Get Under Way Next Monday Night

Registrations at 7:30 p. m., Initial Sessions Follow

After a week's delay due to conflict with the hospital organization meeting, the first Adult Education classes of 1950 will convene next Monday evening at the high school auditorium starting at 7:30 o'clock. After a short general session, the various groups will adjourn to their respective class rooms for registration and to conduct their first meetings.

Ceabern Squires, high school principal, has prepared the following prospectus in regard to the classes and their subject matter.

Arts and Crafts—will include the following general areas of work, with possibly other types of work if the group wishes: sketching, textile painting, block printing, linoleum carving, plaster of paris molding, figurines, painting and original designing.

Bible Study—devoted to the study of Bible and Bible history; partly discussion and partly study by use of visual aids.

Photography—dependent upon class demands, phases offered will include:

(1) Camera procedure—operation, maintenance, action pictures, baby pictures, inside photography.

(2) Dark-room procedure—film types, developing, printing.

(3) Enlarging and vignetting.

(4) Movie camera procedure—light meters, developing, portrait lenses and filters.

(5) Picture contest and exhibit.

Contemporary Affairs — open forum discussion of topics with particular local, state and national significance, selected by class members; occasional outside speakers will be obtained upon class request.

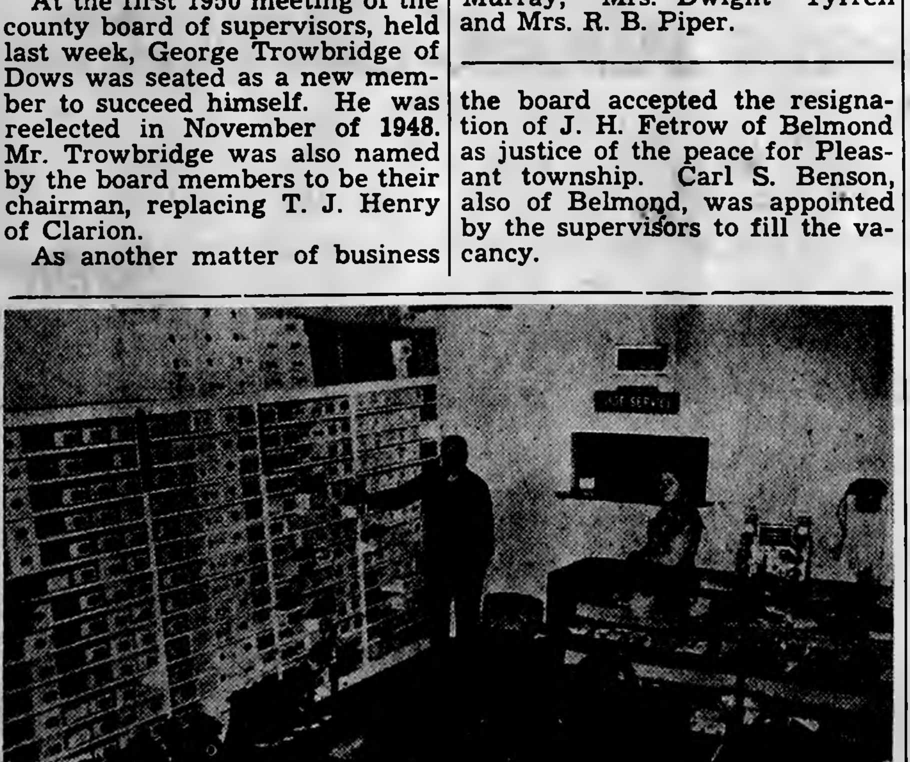
All the above subjects have been added to the curriculum this year. Previous classes which will be repeated, if there is sufficient demand, are Typing, Agriculture, Sewing and Physical Training (for men). The latter class will offer a variety of activities this year, instead of confining itself to basketball as was the case last year. Luin Cox has been obtained to direct the class.

Ten evenings of stimulating and informative activity and study is promised by the Adult Education directors and they hope for a large turn-out when enrollment gets under way Monday night.

Name George Trowbridge Chairman of Supervisors

At the first 1950 meeting of the county board of supervisors, held last week, George Trowbridge of Dows was seated as a new member to succeed himself. He was reelected in November of 1948. Mr. Trowbridge was also named by the board members to be their chairman, replacing T. J. Henry of Clarion.

As another matter of business the board accepted the resignation of J. H. Fetrow of Belmond as justice of the peace for Pleasant township. Carl S. Benson, also of Belmond, was appointed by the supervisors to fill the vacancy.



NEW IMPROVEMENTS in his shoe store and repair shop are viewed with pride by Ted Behrends, shown here with Mrs. Behrends looking over the store's interior upon which remodeling work has just been completed. As a result of a month's labor, Ted now has rack space in the front of the store for over 1,100 pairs of shoes, about treble the number he formerly could stock. He also added the fitting chairs for customers' use. The Behrends have been in business here since 1940, with three and a half years' time out while Ted was in the Army.

Miss Watermiller Elected Belmond Basketball Queen

Marlys Watermiller, high school junior, was crowned as Belmond's Basketball Queen in a halftime ceremony during the Bronco-Forest City game last Friday night. The coronation was conducted by Keith Greenfield, president of the Student Council.

Each of the high school classes, and the junior high students, by popular ballot nominated two queen candidates.

Selection of the Queen hinged on season ticket sales, each student selling an adult ticket being permitted to cast a ballot worth 200 points and each student ticket earning a ballot worth 100.

Miss Watermiller was high-point winner on the basis of salesmen's votes.

Other candidates for the crown shared in the crowning ceremony. They were: Seniors—Joyce Waddington, Darlene Rierson; Junior — Doris Kickbush; Sophomores—Mary Lou Baker, Frances Palmer; Freshmen — Shirley Bohning, Avis Pierce; Junior High—Ramona Thompson, Mildred Smith.

Assisting in the coronation as flower girl and crown bearer, respectively, were Diane Kessler and Michael Armour.

Thompson Elected Church Moderator

R. B. Thompson was elected moderator of the Congregational church at its annual business meeting held last Sunday afternoon. This office, whose holder is business head of the church and calls and conducts all business meetings, has not previously been filled locally.

The following trustees were elected: W. P. Tyrrell, Ellis Elliott, Dr. Glenn J. Hruska, C. C. Christie, George Elder, Luin Cox and Steve Hinman.

Deacons elected included: Dwight Boughton, Fred Gordon, Dwight Tyrrell, Gunnar Ahlstrom, Ben Fetrow, Norman Hofmeister, Henry Larsen and C. I. Williams.

C. N. Hildebrand was named treasurer; Carol Miner, clerk; Norman Hofmeister, Sunday School superintendent; Mrs. Lucille Chapman, assistant superintendent. The music committee will consist of Mrs. Laurence Murray, Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell and Mrs. R. B. Piper.

New Model Plymouth On Display at Hub Garage

The 1950 Plymouth car, with important style changes, improvements for safety and riding comfort, was to go on display here and throughout the country today, according to L. C. Tudor, local Plymouth dealer.

There are new lines in the silhouette which gives the new Plymouth a longer, lower, more streamlined appearance. The changes are readily apparent whether viewed from front, rear, or side.

The new Plymouth may be seen here at the Tudor brothers' Hub Garage.

JUNIOR, SENIOR HIGH CLASSES IN 2ND TERM WILL START EARLIER

Effective the second semester, beginning Jan. 16, Principal Ceabern Squires announces that a new time schedule will be adopted by the junior and senior high school classes. Morning classes will begin at 8:37 and run through 12:05.

The purpose of this schedule change is primarily two-fold. First, it will allow more time in school for rehearsals of both band and vocal music groups; and secondly, it will allow time for school-time meetings of school organization groups such as Student Council, F. F. A. etc.

In most cases the busses will not need to leave on the morning pick-up any earlier than now, but the driver will notify his load of any change in schedule if it proves necessary. School will continue to be dismissed at the regular time

IOOF, Rebekahs Install Jointly

Joint installation of 1950 officers of the IOOF and Rebekah lodges was held Tuesday evening at the IOOF hall, with visiting deputy grand officers serving as installing officers.

Glenn Thompson was installed as Noble Grand of the IOOF lodge and Mrs. Mike Luick took office as Noble Grand of the Rebekahs. The installing officers were District Deputy Grand Master Andrew Huntley and District Deputy Rebekah President Mrs. Lela Hanson, both of Clarion.

Other officers assuming their new posts were (for the IOOF and Rebekahs, respectively): Vice Grand—Keith Dunton, Mrs. Bernard Davenport; Secretary—Otto Hanson, Mrs. Cortland Luick; Financial Secretary—Wilmer Burk, Mrs. Jack Ketchum.

Treasurer—Floyd Doctor, Mrs. L. M. Helland; Warden—Andrew Miller, Mrs. LuVern Smith; Conductor—Harold Van Ness, Mrs. Else Pals; Inside Guard—Albert Stadtlander, Mrs. George Crawford; Outside Guard—Ed Hopkey, Mrs. Keith Dunton.

MRS. McALPINE LIES HELPLESS 24 HOURS AFTER BREAKING HIP

Mrs. Josephine McAlpine, former stage figure and long-time Belmond resident, is reported in "satisfactory" condition at the Belmond hospital after a near scrape with death a week ago.

Some time on Wednesday evening of last week she fell in the bedroom of her home and broke her hip. For some 24 hours she lay helpless until her niece, Mrs. Guy Withers, was informed of the lack of activity around the elderly lady's home.

A neighbor, Harve Meachem, called Mrs. Withers and told her he was afraid something was wrong. He was asked to try the door, and when he could not gain entrance Mr. and Mrs. Withers got Officer Adolph Dorr to break into the house by means of the rear entrance.

They found Mrs. McAlpine on the bedroom floor, helpless. Fortunately, her home has automatic gas heat, so it was warm despite the severe cold outside.

The ambulance from Fulton Funeral home was called to take Mrs. McAlpine to the hospital. There her condition was found to be remarkably good in view of the ordeal she had passed through.

The hospital reported Wednesday afternoon that Mrs. McAlpine—who according to her niece is around 92 years old—is making fine progress toward recovery.

ANDERSON BABY DIES

The many friends of Everett Anderson, elevator manager at Olaf, and his wife join them in mourning the death of their infant son. Paul Lynn was born the forepart of last week and passed away at the age of two days.

OPEN HOUSE TO CELEBRATE their Golden Wedding anniversary will be held Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Purcell (above) of Belmond at the home of their daughter, Mrs. L. M. Helland. Their many friends have been invited to visit them during the afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. and help them observe the notable occasion.

Married at Garner on January 18, 1900, the Purcells resided at Garner the first two years of their married life, spent the following year in Missouri, and since then have made Belmond their home.

Two of the Purcells' three children will be with them for their anniversary, since both live in Belmond — Mrs. L. M. Helland and Ronald Purcell. Another daughter, Mrs. L. Opperud of Watertown, So. Dak., will not be able to come.

Besides the three children, the Purcells' immediate family includes six grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

BOYD WINS PROMOTION

Headquarters, Vance Air Force Base, Enid, Okla., recently announced the promotion of Pfc. Eldon L. Boyd of Belmond to the grade of corporal. He has 20 months of service to his credit and is at present airplane and engine mechanic at Vance Air Force Base.

'Stu' Smith Gets Fine of $300 on Drunken Driving

Stuart Smith of Belmond, who was arrested a week ago Friday on a drunken driving charge after a head-on crash south of town on Highway 69, pleaded guilty in district court Monday to county attorney's information. He was sentenced by Judge G. R. Hill to pay a fine of $300 and costs or spend 90 days in the county jail.

Failing to pay the fine, Smith is now "laying out" the sentence; he gets credit for the 10 days he waited in jail for hearing by the district court. His driver's license was suspended for 60 days and his liquor book confiscated.

Two other defendants were heard Monday by Judge Hill on OMVI charges, after likewise pleading guilty. They were Clyde Pohlman of Eagle Grove and Oswald Reiland of Clarion. Each of them paid the $300 fine and costs, received similar license suspensions and had their liquor book picked up.

In a fourth hearing, Judge Hill sentenced Felix G. Allie of Eagle Grove to six months in the county jail on a charge of false drawing and uttering of a bank check. The judge directed that Allie be paroled at the end of three months to his attorney, John Henneberry of Eagle Grove.

Since the accused was driving a stolen car at the time he was picked up in Fort Dodge at Sheriff Bob Blecker's request — after leaving a trail of forged checks—Sheriff Blecker anticipates he may get a "hold" order on Allie before his time is up.

Illinois police have evidenced interest in the young man, as the car had been stolen in Chicago; and FBI agents are concerned, because the vehicle was involved in interstate traffic.

Eleven In This County New Draft Registrants

Eleven young men of Wright county in December attained the age of 18 and registered for selective service, according to Elaine Schmidt, secretary of the Wright county local board at Clarion.

Included in the group were Dean LaMar Dorr and Curtis Loren Mennenga of Belmond and Garold Edward Martin of Rowan.

Other registrants were: Bernard Johnson, Eagle Grove; Sterling Meyer, Galt; Galen Fjetland and Gerhard Knutson, Goldfield; William Champlin, Holmes; Carroll Dahlgren, Alvin Arthur and Jack Lee Turk of Clarion.

Karinen Named Club President At GMI Banquet

Sports Award Winners For '49 Get Recognition

Election of Ray Karinen, refinery superintendent, as president of the GMI Men's club for the current year was announced this Wednesday evening as General Mills employees and their wives met at the IOOF hall for the club's annual banquet.

The new president has been with GMI for about two years, coming to Belmond as a supervisory trainee. He was promoted to his present position last summer. Mr. Karinen succeeds Glenn Martin in the presidency.

Ray Wright, a refinery operator, was named as the new secretary-treasurer. Men elected to the board of directors were: Leo Reno, maintenance foreman; Al Larson, supervisory trainee; and Bernard Smith, extraction and milling operator.

Special guest of honor at the get-together was Whitney Eastman of Minneapolis, president of the chemical division of General Mills.

The banquet marked start of the club's fourth year of activity. It boasts approximately 100 members. Point was made of the fact that the past year saw completion of payment on the fine athletic field south of the GMI plant. The club expended $2,300 altogether on the project, besides donations of labor by a number of members. General Mills gave $800 toward the field's construction.

Among matters on the club docket for the coming year is improvement of lighting for the trap-shooting field, to the west of the ball diamond.

Russell Schall, chairman of the banquet committee, served as master of ceremonies and gave recognition to the winners in various sports activities conducted by the club during the past year.

The award winners were: bait-casting—(1) Harold Shobe, (2) Leo Reno; golf—Trevor Williams; trap-shooting — Harold Shobe; horseshoes — Melvin McManus; most valuable softball player—Merle Obrecht.

Fishing—largest northern (a 12-pounder), Laverne Smith; largest walleye (six pounds) Ted Townsan; largest trout, Harold Shobe.

VETERANS HONORED

H. Trev Williams was honored at last night's GMI Men's club banquet with the award of a pin showing him a Twenty Year Veteran in the service of General Mills. Plant Manager Gene Woolley designated eight other men to receive five-year pins. They were Lester Bergman, George Kyser, Orville Bielland, Ellico Nunez, Carl Robbins, John Robertson, Bernard Smith and Harold Wolf.

Film Will Show Hybrid Flocks In This Locality

Movies of neighboring farmers with hybrid flocks they have raised from chicks purchased from Alexander Hatchery will be a feature of a free film program that establishment has scheduled for next Thursday, Jan. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hensel, proprietors of the hatchery, have invited all poultry raisers of this vicinity to come and enjoy the movie program, which will also include educational films of general interest to poultrymen.

From 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. the hatchery will serve free cake and coffee to all visitors. If the weatherman is considerate, the Hensels expect a large crowd to take advantage of their invitation.

Geo. Christensens Win Distinction As Parents Of First New Year Baby

To Mr. and Mrs. George Christensen, who live just west of town, goes the distinction of being the parents of the first "Belmond baby" of the new year. A seven and one-half pound son was born to them on Jan. 5.

Omitted from "Hello World" last week by some oversight was Timothy Merril Walrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Walrod, who tipped the scales at seven pounds 14 ounces when he was born here Dec. 29.

Another newcomer reported by the hospital is a baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. Jay Johnson of Kanawha, on Jan. 8, weighing nine pounds and four ounces.

Also of local interest is birth of a daughter, Jan. 2, to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hake of Iowa City.

Norway Township Asks By Petition for Survey On School Proposition

County Supt. W. C. Sankey has received petitions signed by 54 residents of Norway township representing every rural school district, requesting a survey of the school preferences of persons living in that particular area.

States the petition, "We, the undersigned residents of Wright county, petition that a school reorganization survey be made in that part of Wright county which might possibly fall in a proposed district with Kanawha as the central school."

The petitioners further urge that the survey be conducted promptly so that a vote on any proposed district could be taken at the March election.

Supt. Sankey has been vacationing in Florida since Dec. 14 and yesterday had not yet returned. Juanita Richardson, his administrative assistant, says he has been absent since before the petitions were received so she does not know what action will be taken.

She stated, however, that some sort of survey of the entire county to determine preferred school centers is contemplated and will likely be conducted not long after Mr. Sankey's return.

Analysis of W Should Precede Of New Water Sof

Have the farm water supply analyzed to determine its hardness before buying a water softener, County Home Economist Lettie Zuber, cautioned Wright county farm families today.

She explained that if this measure isn't taken , the softener may not work. Iowa well water is usually quite hard and often contains considerable iron. Some well water contains minerals that can't be removed by softeners.

Water softener dealers usually take a sample of well water and send it to the manufacturer for ananlysis before selling a softener. But, Mrs. Zuber pointed out, it is the family's responsibility to demand this service if it isn't offered.

The softener should have sufficient capacity so that it will not need to be regenerated more than twice a month, according to Iowa State college agricultural engineers. A brine solution is used to regenerate the zeolite type of domestic water softener. They also say it is wise to buy a softener complete with a separate brine tank.

Indians Defeat Broncs, Remain In League Lead

Belmond ran out of steam in the second half and saw its share of the North Iowa conference leadership go a-glimmering last Friday night as Forest City took a 35-23 decision. The Broncos, actually played one of their better games in some respects—but the Indians' guns were simply of larger calibre.

Charlie Langerud, at center, and Jackie Soderling, guard, were continual thorns in the Broncos' sides. These two hold-over stars from last year's state runner-up crew were ably supported by Jim Anderson, lanky blond forward.

Langerud and Anderson kept Duane Trager well under control throughout the fray and the big center was able to get only six of the 15 or 20 points he is accustomed to netting. The Broncs' offense, generally, reflected the tension they were playing under. While short, open shots were few and far between, several of those that did develop failed to produce points as the Bronc involved rushed his effort.

Although Belmond enjoyed a lead only once in the game—a 4-2 edge in the early stages—the entire first half was a dog-eat-dog affair with the Broncos remaining well in the running. Once Forest City pulled in front 12 to 6, but Trager tallied a hook shot and Rollie Kinseth registered on a set shot to shave the Indians' advantage to two points at the mid-game rest period.

Shortly before halftime, Trager acquired his fourth foul and' Coach Jim Scott held him out of the game most of the third quarter. Although the big fellow had not been accomplishing much on either rebounds or scoring, his presence was obviously missed and in the third stanza the visitors lengthened their lead to seven points, 21-14.

In the last half, and particularly in the final quarter, little Charlie Soderling put on a dribbling exhibition that the tiring Broncs seemed incapable of coping with. While the shifty, half-pint guard gave some of the onlookers the impression that no one thought more highly of his ability than he himself, there was no denying his ball-handling skill is far above average.

Time after time the clever visitor drove for the basket and either sifted in for a shot, passed off to give a team mate a good opportunity, or drew a foul from an opposing Bronco.

Belmond got no more than two or three baskets on close-in shots, whereas a large majority of the Indians' counters were from right under the hoop.

Inability to hit from the free throw line was a noticeable failing of the Broncos in the first half. They missed nine consecutive tries and scored not a point on charity efforts. Forest City's accuracy wasn't much better, but they caged four out of 12 efforts. In the last half Belmond improved, breaking even on 10 attempts, as the winners made five and missed 11.

Sonny Greenfield played some fine ball for Belmond, and Jack Riggs also did yeoman service. All the boys tried hard, but they simply didn't have a finesse to match that of the Indians.

In the freshman-sophomore game, the visiting Papooses gave a preview of what was to come, trimming the Colts by a 17-12 count. The Belmond boys fought their hearts out, but they couldn't quite make the grade.

The winners forged into a 9-1 lead quite early in the game. The Junior Broncs hacked away at the lead until they had it pared down to 14-12 in the final quarter, but they ran out of gas at that point.

Odean Severseike put on one of the scrappiest exhibitions imaginable, to stand out like a beacon for the losers. Helland and Busick topped the Belmond scorers with four apiece, Severseike accounted for two points and Madsen and Larkin one each. Tom Graham and Al Hass each tallied six and turned in good all-around performances for Forest City.

Mary Gordon Totals 235 To Set New Bowling High

Two women's bowling marks went by the boards last week, with members of the Belmond Greenhouse team—as usual—being responsible.

Mary Gordon cut loose with a 235 in her second game to obliterate the former high game score of 202 set several weeks ago by Billy Stokke.

With Mary's record mark contributing materially, the Greenhouse team combined efforts to produce a new high total of 744. The previous best team game was 696, also rolled by the Greenhouse quintet.

Marriage "Boom" Over? Number of Licenses Off By 20, From 1948 Total

Wright county records at the end of 1949 indicated that the wartime and post-war marriage "boom" is apparently on the downgrade. The number of marriages recorded last year totaled only 140, compared to 160 in 1948.

Divorce figures were about on a par with 1948. In that year 18 couples came to a legal parting of the ways and last year 19 spouses sued for release from their marriage vows.

At the treasurer's office, H. E. Sullivan reported Tuesday that auto registrations to that day stood at 3,504. Since total car registrations last year reached a figure of 6,661 Mr. Sullivan is anticipating a rush of better than 2,000 late license applications in the next couple of weeks.

Renewals at the first of a year never reach the year-end totals because of removals from the county and junking of jaloppies that have passed their usefulness, he adds in explaining why 3,00 more applicants aren't expected.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. McNulty spent Sunday in Iowa Falls.

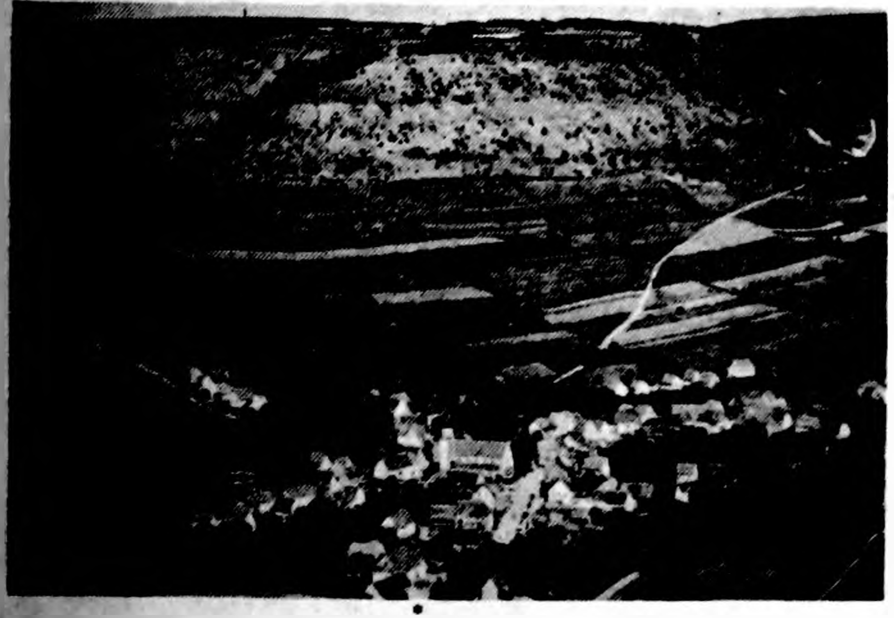
Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher



Villages such as shown above are the centers of rural home life in Germany. The farmers live "in town" and go daily into the adjacent fields and orchards to work. The typical "farm house" incudes under one roof the family living quarters, granary, hay mow. livestock stalls, machine shop, etc. The home of Joe Ziller's parents is shown, lower center, directly behind the roof indicated by asterisk (*).

Joe Ziller, well-known Belmond farmer, says that the common belief in this country th Europe has brought current food shortages on itself by adhering to inefficient and out-dated agricultural methods is very largely without foundation. American farming methods are simply not adaptable to a majority of European farms, he says, and pointed out the conditions that prevail in his "home" district in Germany to demonstrate.

—RFD—

Before launching into his reasons for believing American critics are "barking up the wrong tree", it might be to the point to explain that Joe was born and raised in a German farming community and didn't emigrate to this country until 1924. He started farming in 1929, in Nebraska, and for the past 12 years has been farming in this vicinity. Only about two years ago he returned to Germany to visit relatives, so he knows not only what conditions used to prevail in typical European farm areas, but what conditions exist today.

—RFD—

To illustrate why the type of farm management and production methods are not adaptable to many European farms, Joe described the farm of his own father in Allied-occupied Germany. The elder Mr. Ziller owns approximately 60 acres, but that total consists of 16 separate parcels of land. Some of them are a mile or more apart.

There's no place for large scale farming methods in a set-up like that. Moreover, such a farm must be almost entirely self-sufficient. On its various tracts are grown wheat, oats, rye, barley, edible beans, cow beets, potatoes, cabbages and a wide variety of other vegetables. Some of the land is in orchard, too.

—RFD—

A typical problem farmers in such an area have to bear in mind is that of what particular crop they MUST raise on a particular patch of ground to which they have access only by passing through the fields of other farmers. For example, you own five detached acres a mile from your home. You know that several of the fields you must pass through to reach this plot are going to be in oats. You certainly can't plant your field in alfalfa, because you couldn't bring hay in to the barn until the intervening fields of oats have been harvested. You're pretty apt to decide that your field must go into oats, too, so your crop won't be ready for harvesting before you can get to it.

—RFD—

The owner of one of these typical small farms must raise on it practically all the food his family is going to require, which allows for only one or two "cash crops." Joe's father makes some extra money on his cows. He had six, two years ago, but since the past summer was unusually dry Joe suspects that the herd likely had to be sold down to four this year.

To buy clothes and other essentials, the farmers do road labor during off seasons, cut wood in the winter—and expect unmarried, grown children who are not needed on the farm to work and contribute to the family finances. Usually there's no difficulty in keeping all the children busy right on the home acres; the average farm wife has to spend long hours in the fields, too

—RFD—

Of course, there are some large land estates, upon which modern, mechanized agriculture might be possible. The manner in which these operate, Joe concedes, might be open to American criticism. Farm labor is quite widely unionized in Germany and the workers usually limit themselves to one specialized function. The result, in some instances, is something less than efficiency.

The swineherd will not harvest grain, and the dairyman refuses to plow the fields. Also, where it is feasible the farm workers insist on payment by piecework. All this adds up to pretty poor farm management, Joe admits — but these large estates are the exception rather than the rule, and the small, individual farm is the more common agricultural unit.

—RFD—

A large share of the big estates, according to Joe, were located in what is now Russian-occupied territory. While no one can say for sure what transpires behind the Iron Curtain, it is common gossip that these large holdings have now been broken up and are being turned over to Russian and Polish farmers, piece by peice.

—RFD—

The large estates in western Germany are still intact. That's one reason, Joe says, why it's virtually impossible to rent a farm in "allied" Germany. Individual farms are usually passed on from one generation of a family to the next. If there are no younger men to inherit a farm it may be offered for sale; but the likelihood of its being rented is practically nonexistent.

—RFD—

Joe says that European farmers—or, at least German farmers—were quite a ways ahead of their American brethren in early employment of scientific methods and even in mechanization. on the estates where mechanical methods were practical. But he says that the past 20 years has seen little further advancement.

The farmers there have for many years paid close attention to soil conservation and fertilization. Arable land is at such a premium, they have to. Intensive farming is very much the rule. Fertilizers are used liberally; and every last inch of crop land is put into production. Even land bordering railroads and highways is commonly utilized clear up to the right-of-way grade.

—RFD—

Through cooperatives, tractors and sometimes other pieces of heavy farm equipment are made available for such cultivation and harvesting operations as larger fields permit; but most of the planting, cultivation, etc., are limited to hand-operations by the nature of the small farms. That, Joe points out, leaves little room for modern "scientific farming"; and American critics should take this into consideration before blaming European food shortages on obsolete methods.

—RFD—

Joe adds that, with decent farm land in Germany selling at from $250 to $800 or more per acre American farmers — with their tractors, harvesters, corn planters and pickers, etc., and up-to-the-minute advice on farm management and good crop and soil practices—just can't appreciate too deeply their good fortune in living in a land where "the hand guiding the plow" has become "the hand at the tractor wheel."

Says Farm Bureau Prestige Growing Through Promotion of General Good

Farm Bureau is gaining prestige and influence because the organization has adopted policies promoting farm programs which are for the good of the general public, as well as for the benefit of agriculture, according to Cornelius Thompson, voting delegate from Wright county to the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation convention.

Mr. Thompson credited a Buena Vista county resolution for part of the wording in the state federation policies as adopted recently. In that section, he said. was outlined the ultimate goal of farm legislation: "It should be a self-supporting program which will give the farmer a fair share of the national income in the market place."

Also quoted by Mr. Thompson were the following paragraphs from the Farm Bureau resolutions on agricultural policy: "We believe farm programs should be based upon an economy of abundance. 'Full production' is not a sign of ill health.

"However, experience has taught us that it often brings disastrously low farm prices to farmers, especially during post war periods and periods of high unemployment. Because of these economic situations national farm programs which help cushion periods of economic distress are of real benefit to agriculture and the whole economy.

"We insist that any farm program should be developed on a bi-partisan basis and administered in a non-partisan manner. We regret the uncertainty that has existed during the past two years, regarding our long time farm program.

"The assumption that our votes will be sold to the highest bidder is an insult to our intelligence and an indictment against our unselfish spirit of fair play.

" In accomplishing our long time goal of parity income to agriculture, we reiterate our faith in flexible price supports which would provide a floor for farm prices during periods of distress, minimum cost to the government, and a minimum of government control.

What's Doin' In Music

This week I am going to ask a few students the question, "Why do you like music?"

Helen Larson—Because I like to sing.

Edith Schulte—It affects your moods.

Norma Madsen—It makes you feel good.

Marvin Draper—I don't know, I just like it.

Billy Beenen—I don't know.

Alberta Dirksen—It takes part of your school time up.

Home Economics News

The Home Ec. girls are now settling down to cooking and carving. The first year class is doing the cooking and the advanced class is doing the carving. They are making a miniature model house, to which the first year class will contribute just a touch.

Then comes knitting. That will mean whenever you meet one of the girls in the hall, all they have to say is, "Knit one, pearl two."

HARDWOOD HI-LITES

Alberta Dirksen is the subject this week. She has played basketball three years, which leaves her as a junior, and has earned a letter two years. Post guard is her main position on the court. Her height is 5' 7¾", which leaves her as one of the taller girls on the squad. We hope to be seeing Alberta or No. 6 on the team next year.

Roger Modderman is also a junior in high school. Forward has been his position three years and he has earned two letters. With his height 6' 1½" he can easily drop the basket through the hoop. He has played in 12 games and he has a total of 50 points.

ATHLETIC NEWS

Alexander split a twin bill at Popejoy Tuesday night. The girls lost 24-35 while the boys won 41-33. The girls game was hard fought all the way through, while the boys had no trouble in downing the Popejoy boys.

All Bulldogs saw action excepting Larry Myers who was out due to a bad cold.

MANUAL TRAINING

The manual training class is now winding up their projects and starting on new ones. Many of the boys are now on their third or fourth project.

SENIOR NEWS

Right now all the seniors are working at the school paper to get it out in time.

It is now just about the second semester so they are really going to work on the annual.

In speech they are trying (you know what I mean when I say "trying") to memorize the 11 different devices.

Not only the seniors, but we all will be taking it easy for a few days because Mr. Hussong is ice-bound in Minnesota.

JUNIOR NEWS

Now that Christmas vacation is over the Juniors are trying to get back to work. Mr. Hussong isn't here so we aren't having any speech or government classes so far. In typing we are still working on letters and will be for some time in the future.

5th and 6th Grade News

We received a couple letters from the orphans home, thanking us for the toys and clothing which we sent them for Christmas.

C. J. Stoffer treated us the Thursday before vacation to celebrate his birthday which was the 24th.

We have been laving lots of absences because of sickness.

Friday afternoon was the time all of us were very happy, for then we opened all those gifts under our Christmas tree. Our stockings on the fireplace were filled with candy. We enjoyed watching our teacher open her many lovely gifts. After the gifts were opened we enjoyed Hershey bars and drum sticks.

Three Lakes In County Open to Fishing During Rest of Winter Months

Elm, Morse and Big Wall lakes in Wright county are among 36 Iowa lakes that by administrative order of the State Conservation Commission are opened to fishing for game species this winter.

Investigations by the commission employees have indicated that some of the lakes have a high population of fish, and in many shallow lakes the water levels are so low that it is feared oxygen will be insufficient to carry the fish through the critical winter months.

The three Wright county lakes will be open to fishing until March 1 for any and all species of fish, provided they are taken in accordance with the provisions of the state fishing laws for inland waters.

Little Wall lake in Hamilton county and Crystal and West Twin in Hancock are open for the same period and fishing governed by the same provisions.

State's Farm-to-Market Road Program Advancing Steadily, Report States

County engineers in Iowa durthe past year have made satisfactory progress in the state farm-to-market road program, according to a report issued by John Butter of the Iowa Highway Commission. The report was sent to county engineers from the Engineering Extension Service of Iowa State college.

Comparative figures mark the progress made in the past year. For the year beginning Des. 1 1947 and ending Nov. 30, 1948, contracts were let for $8,600,000 worth of farm-to-market roads. From Nov. 30, 1948, to Nov. 30, 1949, $12,900,000 worth of contracts were let for the road network.

During the first nine months of 1949, the highway commission and counties have contracted for five times the amount of work of Nebraska and South Dakota, two and one-half times that of Minnesota and two times as much as Wisconsin, Illinois, and Missouri. All of this work, according to Butter, has been at a price lower than that of surrounding states

At the same time, the law specifies that there shall not be more than 35,000 miles of secondary road. At the last official check, the total of farm-to-market road miles in Iowa amounted to 34,893. Again, said Buter, this shows the strides taken by Iowa in establishing such a system.

Problems of proper surfacing for all kinds of weather continue to crop up in the road program as do problems of having at hand large enough crews to take care of all the construction in maintenance work seasonally.

ISC AGRONOMIST SAYS—

Changing Variety of Corn Planted Won't Solve Dropped Ears Problem

Choosing a different variety of corn for planting in 1950 may not be the answer to avoiding excessive loss from dropped ears and broken stalks, according to Charles Hutchcroft, Iowa State college agronomist.

Tests in 1949 with 326 commercial varieties showed that not a single one was significantly better than the average of all varieties in any section when compared for dropped ears.

There were noticeable differences between varieties, but the test indicates that date of planting, soil fertility, maturity of the hybrid and other factors are probably more important than the varietal differences in the number of ears dropped.

A farmer may be able to make some improvement over the variety he is now planting by choosing different varieties next year. But chances are the improvement will not be as striking as he might have expected from the appearance of varieties after the Oct. 10 windstorm.

For example, two fields of corn planted to the same variety sometimes showed a great difference in the number of dropped ears and broken stalks. These differences may have been due to factors other than variety.

Between three and four per cent of the varieties tested were significantly below average in their ability to hold ears. A farmer planting these poorer varieties could make an improvement by changing to a better variety in 1950. In other words 99 out of 100 fields planted to these varieties would have more dropped ears than average.

There seemed to be more difference between varieties in broken stalks. In the same tests of these 326 commercial varieties, between two and three percent of the varieties were significantly above average in resistance to stalk lodging. Also in 99 out of 100 fields one could expect four to five percent of these 326 varieties to perform significantly, worse than average in stalk lodging, Hutchcroft says.

The selection of a variety should, therefore, be of more importance for stalk lodging resistance than for dropped ears. But, the tests show that differences are considerably smaller between varieties than one would expect by the appearance of the corn when walking through the field.

A large part of the stalk lodging and most dropped ear damage is due to the second brood of corn borers.

The ear shank is smaller than the stalk and the damage of one or two borers can be expected to be comparatively greater. This may mean that resistance to stalk lodging will be easier to develop than resistance to ear dropping.

OBITUARY

MRS. JESSE UNDERKOFLER

Mrs. Jesse A. Underkofler, a resident of Belmond since childhood, passed away Dec. 23 in Mason City, after a week's illness Hannorah Johnson Underkofler, daughter of Nicholas J. Johnson and Hannorah Finn Johnson, was born in New York City, Oct. 18, 1863. In 1869 she came to Iowa with her parents and lived in Belmond almost continuously until the time of her death.

Here she received her education in the public schools, was graduated in 1879 and taught in Wright county the following two years. In 1882 she was united in marriage by the Rev. J. Brannon to J. A. Underkofler. To them were born two sons, Jesse A., who preceded her in death, and Steve G., who now resides in Marquette, Iowa.

Mrs. Underkofler was a faithful member of the St. Francis Parish, a devout and daily attendant at Mass. She was interested in all activities of the community and until a few days prior to her death took keen interest in current affairs.

Besides her one son, Steve, she is survived by four grandsons, five granddaughters, and 19 great grandchildren. Her brothers, John Nicholas Johnson and Thomas A. Johnson, and her sisters, Carolyn Johnson Jones, Mame Johnson Tracy, Anna Johnson Kenefick and Cora Johnson Neimeyer, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Dec. 26, in St. Francis church, the Rev. R. A. Ormsby officiating at the Requiem High Mass, with The Rev. Duane Brady in the sanctuary. Casket bearers were George Brady, Jim Barry, Pat Quigley, Charles Hass, Jim Finn and A. J. Dorr.

The following out of town relatives and friends attended the service: Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Underkofler, Joyce Underkofler, and Bill Underkofler, Marquette; Mr. and Mrs. Cletus J. D. Deitering, Stephen Deitering, Richard Underkofler, Mrs. H. V. Clark and Jim Clark of Bancroft; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Recker, R. S. Recker, and Phillip Recker of New Hampton; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roche, Bradford; Mrs. C. F. Ralston, Meservey; A. T. Stockdale and Pearl Brandon Crawford, Hampton; Naomi and Thelma Kenefick, Eagle Grove; Maye L. Tracy, Mrs. L. R. Stark, Mrs. G. R. Broncos Keep Share of 2nd Place Trounce Garner Quintet, 41 to 24

Belmond got back in the win column Tuesday night and protected its share of second place in the North Iowa standings by thumping Garner, 41 to 24. Jack Riggs, assisted by Dick Kriens in the first half and Bob Berns in the second, provided the scoring punch.

In the first quarter neither team seemed able to click. Four minutes and 20 seconds had passed before Garner broke the ice with a free throw and over five minutes were gone before Riggs netted a follow-in to tally the first basket. Riggs counted again very shortly and Sid Swenson converted a free throw to give the Broncs a 5-1 edge.

Dale Dankbar scored for the Cards and Kriens retaliated with a neat set shot to make the quarter score 7 to 3. The second period started out to be a replica of the first, but midway through the stanza the Broncos began to draw away and the halftime found them in front 18-11.

Garner was never in the ball game from that point on. The Cardinals about held their own in the third quarter, counting seven points to Belmond's eight; but after the rest period the Broncs steadily added to their 26-18 advantage to make it a run-away.

Berns, who saw little more than a quarter of action, was the big gun in the final period. He picked off a couple of nice set shots and counted two more times driving in to the basket to rack up eight points.

Riggs counted consistently to total 16 points, and Kriens first-half pot shots accounted for six. For Garner, Dankbar —with seven points — and John Peck and Jack Schisel, with six each, carried the load.

Coach Scott used 11 men, and all but two of them got in on the scoring act. Only Don Faris and Rollie Kinseth failed to tally.

After trailing 5-to-4 at the quarter, the Belmond frosh-soph team came back strong to defeat the Garner juniors in easy fashion 29-16. By halftime they had nosed ahead, 11 to 8, and at the three-quarter mark their lead had swelled to 20-11.

Claude Larkin contributed heavily to the scoring outburst in the second half, netting eight points on four beautiful shots.

Dave Helland was second-high scorer with seven points, two of which were gained on a long toss that split the net as the halftime buzzer sounded. Odean Severseike accounted for five points, Al Meyer and Don Busick for four apiece and Eddie Reno for one. Little Larry Schisel, with five points, and lanky Gary Urick looked best for the losers.

INDIANS BASH BRITT TO TAKE UNDISPUTED LEAD IN CONFERENCE

Forest City's Indians sent Britt tumbling from the ranks of the undefeated in North Iowa conference play Tuesday night, 53 to 34, to take over undisputed leadership in the loop. The Eagles' defeat lowered them into a second place tie with Belmond, as the Broncos chalked up their fourth win in five NI starts with a 41-24 conquest of Garner.

Northwood edged into fourth position on Tuesday by nosing out Lake Mills, 29 to 25. Buffalo Center was the idle team in conference activity Tuesday and remains in sixth place.

Just as the past week clarified the race for the league crown, with Forest City tangling with both Belmond and Britt—previously undefeated — the second-place contest will resolve itself this Friday when Belmond takes on the Eagles at Britt. On the basis of past performance, the Broncos should be the favored team but Britt is notoriously hard to beat on its home floor so a first-class struggle can be anticipated.

Mrs. Nelson Dies at 90; Funeral Services Here This Afternoon at 2:00

Caroline Esther Nelson, 90, mother, of Mrs. A. E. Thompson, Mrs. T. A. Thompson and Hector Nelson of Belmond, passed away Monday of this week at Minneapolis, Minn., after a brief illness.

Mrs. Nelson lived for many years in this community but for the past four or five years had resided with two of her daughters Lena and Pearl Nelson, in Minneapolis.

A remarkable fact in connection with Mrs. Nelson's death is the fact that it is the first one in the immediate family since her husband passed away in 1930. All eight of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson's children are living.

Besides the three children in Belmond and the two daughters Mrs. Nelson had been living with, she is survived by three other sons: Carl, of Minneapolis; Walter, of Houston, Texas; and Nels, of Kanawha.

Services for Mrs. Nelson were to be held here at the Trinity Lutheran church this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, Rev. O. M. Severseike officiating. Burial was to be made in Belmond cemetery and Boone Funeral home was in charge of the funeral.

Pall bearers were Nels Nelson, Carl Nelson, Alvin Erickson, Talford Thompson, Melvin Thompson and Harley Thompson.

Hope Diamond—Not a Jinx Gem But a Marble Carrying a Hex

By BILLY ROSE

The members of the gang squatted in a small circle on a patch of green a block away from the subway station at 242nd street. Their eyes were in fixed focus on a shiny object at their feet—the Hope Diamond . . . .

Let me end the suspense here and now by announcing that the gang was made up of boys who had gotten together to decide the marble championship of the Upper Bronx, and that the shiny object at their feet was not the unlucky stone of great price you've been reading about for years, but a legendary agate known to small fry from the Triborough Bridge to Spuyten Duyvil as the Hope Diamond shooter.

Billy Rose

Now, a shooter, or "real," as the afficionados call it, looks a lot like an ordinary marble, but any kid who knows a heist-shot from a knuckle-down can tell you the difference. The shooter is heavier, truer, more cunningly fashioned than the ordinary immie, and, even more important, there exists between it and the thumb and forefinger of its owner a spiritual affinity which makes it more precious to him than all the other marbles he owns. When a player loses in a "for-keeps" game, he pays off with common, earth-bound miggels—he would no more think of parting with his shooter than a good family man would with his life insurance.

NOW, IT FIGURES that by this time you're bustin' to know something about the owner of the Hope Diamond shooter, and how the fabled marble happened to wind up at the feet of a bunch of kids on the day of the big tournament. Well, for you to get the complete picture, it is necessary for me to sketch in some of the background of the shooter—a story which, I might add, in many respects, parallels the history of its super-jinxed namesake.

As the ten-everything set recalls it, the Hope Diamond was first brought to the Bronx by a player who originally hailed from Chepachet, Rhode Island. After a series of backyard triumphs, he won the right to participate in a semi-final, but the morning of the contest one of the ball-bearings in his skates got stuck and, in the header which followed, his shooting finger was so badly bruised that he had to withdraw.

Then, for a while, the malevolent marble was owned by Irv Sondergaard, but shortly after he acquired it, the boy developed a game leg and was forever barred by his doctor from kneeling on the damp earth.

Finally, Whitey Wizcoczki, reputed to have the most skillful thumb north of the Harlem river, latched on to the shooter, but two days before the big tournament, the jinx caught up with him and he broke a couple of ribs falling off the back of an ice truck.

The easiest thing, of course, would have been to throw away the hex-heavy shooter but, as you know, the ways of men and urchins under the spell of superstition are hard to explain. Harry Winston's Hope Diamond, too, is supposed to carry a curse with it, but as you may have noticed, Harry hasn't thrown it away either.

AND SO, five minutes before the contest, Charlie Hersch, Whitey's closest friend, dropped the Hope Diamond shooter in front of the contestants with the dire words, "Wizcoczki says anybody wants it kin have it, only he oughta make sure his family kin afford the doctor bills."

Eleven of the players regarded it with awe and distrust, but the twelfth—a dark horse from the swanky Riverdale section—was not impressed. He picked it up, tried a test shot, and said, "If nobody wants the Diamond, I'll use it."

"Ya be lucky if ya don't bust a leg," said Hymie Michernick.

Well, for most of the contest it looked as if the rich kid was a cinch to win. Not only did the Diamond connect with everything it went after, but it seemed to hex the other shooters that attempted to hit it. Inspired and made confident by its performance, the kid from Riverdale sighted long and carefully, considered the topography of the ground and, when the situation called for extreme measures, even shot from the stomach position.

However, as the match entered the tenth and final round, a station wagon pulled up and a hefty Swede of a nursemaid got out.

"Ja-ackie," she shouted. "Dinner's almost ready and look at your clothes. You're a sight!"

"Wait a minute," said the kid, squinting at a marble four feet away.

"Albert!" yelled the nursemaid.

A chauffeur with big shoulders got out and walked toward the circle. Jackie dropped the Hope Diamond in disgust, said "Aw, nuts!" and climbed into the station wagon. And, as it drove away, the bloodshot eye of the blue shooter seemed to wink at the other players.

Hymie Michernick picked it up. "This is the last time it's going to put the squitch on anybody," he said, and threw it as far as he could.

Now, if the Hope Diamond had been an ordinary shooter, the story would end here. But, as I have gone to some pains to make clear, it was not. Propelled by the Michernick muscles, the little ball of fire sailed through the air for 50 feet, bounced off a tin can onto the sidewalk, and was picked up an hour later by an intern on his way to the hospital.

"I know someone who'll get a real kick out of this," he said, handing the Hope Diamond shooter to one of the nurses. "Will you give this marble to the patient in room 218. Whitey Wizcoczki—the little boy who broke his ribs."

FARM BUREAU DRIVE OFF TO GOOD START; 160 WORKERS ON JOB

Wright county's personal contact drive for 1950 Farm Bureau memberships got off to one of the best starts ever with the kick-off dinner on Tuesday of last week, according to Gerhard Thompson, who presided.

Harry Bryson, of the American Farm Bureau, was the feature speaker and both the past county president, Laurence Woodley, and the new president, Lynn Thompson, spoke to the 160 membership workers present.

Pound boxes of candy were awarded to eight townships having the highest attendance, and 15 prizes of useful farm tools were awarded as drawing prizes. Even Gerhard Thompson, who had been ineligible in the past because he was organization director, won a ten-inch crescent wrench.

The only known casualty was a pair of galoshes belonging to W. H. Curry of Goldfield, one of the membership workers. Someone seems to have taken the wrong pair in the hurry to get home to the chores. He'd like to trade back.

IOWA DEMOCRATS CLAIM---

By FRANK MOORHEAD
Publicity Director
Democratic State Committee

The editor of a prominent labor newspaper writes us: "Republican Attorney General Larson has again and again pointed out that as long as a law is on the statute book it should be enforced and, even if found unpopular, should be enforced with the same vigor that 'we enforce laws against murder, rape and robbery.' He seems to be devoting his entire time and attention to the anti-gambling drive. There are a number of laws that are not being enforced. Why does Larson follow this 'pick and choose' method of law enforcement?"

We looked up some of the things the Attorney General has been saying lately and found these: "I don't make the laws. My job is to help the authorities enforce them." "I have no power to suspend, veto or repeal any law."

Are there any Iowa laws which the Attorney General has not been enforcing lately? Somebody asked Larson about the laws against the sale of liquor by the drink and his reply was "I am shooting with a rifle, not a shotgun," which seemed to some people to be an ambiguous way of intimating that he was satisfied to bring down a bingo sparrow rather than a flock of Old Crows.

Dancing, hunting, trap-shooting, shooting, buying or selling property "of any kind" on Sunday, operating movies on Sunday, operating ice cream parlors on Sunday, operating bowling alleys on Sunday, playing baseball on Sunday, driving or riding in an automobile for pleasure on Sunday, or engaging in any labor except that of necessity on Sunday are crimes and have been crimes in Iowa for the past 90 years. These laws are flagrantly violated every Sunday in every county in Iowa, yet General Larson busies himself outlawing church bingo parties

A smart lawyer to whom we put this matter said: "By ordinance in many Iowa cities it is unlawful to ride or drive a horse at a speed in excess of 10 or 12 miles per hour. There is a case reported of manslaughter, where the defendant was riding his horse recklessly in the city or Muscatine, when it struck and killed a pedestrian. Maybe "Bob" Larson could dig up this case and start the ball rolling toward better enforcement of such ordinances."

Is the Republican party guilty of "petty "Larsony" when it seems to allow one of its chief elected officials to rob people of their private rights to innocent pleasures, as set forth by the able editor of the Grundy Register:

"When the public school is advised that a fish pond or paddle wheel arrangement to raise money for the school band must be abandoned, that Community clubs must forego giving turkeys and geese at Christmas because of the gambling involved, and that the church cannot offer a door prize to encourage attendance at their church suppers, something has gone wrong either with the legislative functions of our state government" or the executive function, or both.

We think the best word on this "petty Larsony" was said by the same editor, in mid-December:

"Come Christmas morning I almost expect to find an official hand on my shoulder and hear a voice warning me not to open those gaily-wrapped packages. If Christmas presents aren't a gamble, what is?

IOWA G. O. P. MAINTAINS---

By GERALD BOGAN
Publicity Director
Republican State Committee

Iowa quietly observed its 103rd birthday last month. The end of the third year of the state's second century went almost unnoticed. But the steady growth made in the state did not. As we approach the midway mark of the 20th century it is a good time to remind Iowans that "of all that is good, Iowa affords the best."

The Iowa Development Commission, created by a Republican administration to promote Iowa agriculture, industry and recreation, has made an interesting report of the third year of Iowa's second century. The commission reported that—

Iowa industry had its brightest year in 1949. The value of industrial production climbed to a new high total of an estimated two billion dollars, compared with $1,850,0000,00 in 1948.

The steady industrial climb was underscored by 40 new manufacturing businesses established in 30 counties and nine major expansions These activities added approximately $14,000,000 to the state's industrial investment, bringing the estimated total added since 1945 in excess of $164,000,000.

The new plants created 2,000 new jobs and added $2,000,000 to the annual industrial payroll.

Since the end of World War II, the industrial growth chart shows more than 340 new manufacturing businesses established, 22,000 new jobs and payrolls increased an estimated $52,000,000.

The population estimate for 1949 was up to 2,643,000.

Despite a downward trend in farm production, the farm mortgage debt was reported at the lowest level since the turn of the century. Farm market cash receipts were slightly behind 1948, but Iowa again led the nation in cash farm income.

Iowa continued to produce 10 per cent of the nation's food supply.

Retail sales, always a barometer of business conditions, were estimated in excess of $2,564,000,000.

Iowa approaches the mid-century mark, a leader in many field. Sound government practices by Republican administrations during the past decade have played a major part in the excellent record of which Iowa, now in its 104th year, san be justly proud.

Iowa Leads 'Em All

Iowans have a right to be proud when word is received that the Hawkeye state "leads 'em all."

Gov. William S. Beardsley told a recent Good Roads Association meeting that he was "gratified to learn at the governor's conference that Iowa's new road legislation places it at the very head of the list among all states but it cost Iowa less. White re-

Iowa's road program is "on the way." The highway commission reports that 16 million dollars worth of primary road contracts can be let this year and from 20 to 26 million dollars worth in 1951. Between 15 and 16 million dollars worth of farm-to-market contracts will be let in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, and lettings in 1951 will be stepped up to 18 millions.

Highway commission Chief Engineer Fred White reports that Iowa placed under contracts during the first nine months of 1949 four times as much primary and secondary federal aid road projects as Nebraska or South Dakota; two and one-half times as much as Minnesota and twice as much as Missouri, Wisconsin or Illinois.

Not only was more work done, but it cost Iowa less White reports that the weighted average unit contract prices for work in Iowa are five percent below Minnesota, 10 percent below Nebraska, 11 percent below Wisconsin, 19 percent below South Dakota, 24 percent below Missouri and 42 percent below Illinois.

National Bankruptcy

From the Mason City Globe-Gazette: 'Eighteen years ago it cost $4,600,000,000 to run the federal government.

"Today it cost $41,858,000,000.

"During Hoover's presidency there were 300 federal agencies.

"Today there are 1,800.

"We are heading straight for bankhuptcy and the demoralization of constitutional government. We are going straight down the path that the Soviet government wants us to take, toward economic collapse of the United States, which they have predicted and believe to be inescapable.

"And if we keep on borrowing and spending, and do nothing to tighten up the management of this country, those predictions will come to passs"

That "Down" Corn

That big wind which hit Iowa last fall did more than blow down a lot of corn.

It proved what grand neighbors Iowa people are.

All over the state, young fellows . . . and even girls . . . went out from town to help farmers salvage their corn.

That's Iowa for you. Town folks help the farmers; farmers help the town folks. Yes, neighborliness really means something in Iowa.

And I think that's why we Iowans are noted for our tolerance and good will. We recognize that our neighbors have a right to their way of life, just as we have to ours. If neighbor Jones enjoys back-yard barbecues, that's O. K. by us. If neighbor Smith likes a temperate glass of beer after dinner, that's his privilege. A fellow who wants to dictate what a person eats, or drinks, or wears, or thinks . . . just doesn't belong in our neighborhood, or in Iowa.

When helpfulness and neighborliness step in, intolerance and meanness step out.

License Sales in State For Hunting and Fishing Come to Nearly $694,000

Hunting license sales in the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949 rang up new record-breaking totals both in the number sold and in revenue received, according to figures released by the U. S. Department of the Interior.

During the 1948-49 season, hunters paid $34,966,687 for an all-time record total of 12,758,698 licenses. License sales increased 1,366,888 over the previous total of 11,391,810, while fees sky-rocketed $5,152,360 from the previous high record of $29,814,327.

During this period hunters in Iowa purchased 347,351 hunting and combination hunting and fishing licenses, for a total of $693,883 in fees. Non-resident hunting licenses brought Iowa a total revenue of $34,36025.

The higher over-all revenue recorded for 1948-49 can be attributed principally to increased hunting fees put into effect by many states.

Michigan held first place in the "big ten" license sales line-up with 977,879 licenses and $2,847,013 in revenue, while Pennsylvania stood in second place with 878,669 licenses and $2,122,378 in fees. Other states placing in the top ten according to number of hunting licenses sold include: New York, Ohio, Minnesota, California, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Washington.

Farm Bureau Urges Naming State PMA Officials on Elective Basis

The Farm Bureau has suggested that state officials of the Production and Marketing Administration be elected, rather than appointed from Washington. It is also suggested that these officials be given more local authority and be subjected to and direction from administration officials in Washington.

The Wright County Farm Bureau voting delegate, Cornelius Thompson, of Clarion, this week calls attention to the official resolution of the Iowa Farm Bureau which makes the suggestion.

Mr. Thompson was one of a hundred voting delegates from all counties in the state who helped write and adopt the resolutions at the annual meeting of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation The resolution states:

"This government agency has and will play an important part in the administering of our price support program. We believe that if the principle of the county-elected committee were extended to the state level, with more authority to formulate and develop programs, it would receive greater support by the rank and file farmers who now oppose professional planning from Washington.

"We commend Congress for providing funds to expand our crop insurance program and urge that it be continued on a sound actuarial basis.

"We also believe that incentive conservation payments should be used only on those farms where it will accomplish the greatest results in establishing conservation practices."

Obituary

MATT MEHLOW

Matt Mehlow, son of Mathis and Carolina Schlodder Mehlow, was born in Duchausen Brondenberg Province, Germany, Oct. 21, 1884, and passed away at his home in Belmond on Jan. 2, 1950, at the age of 65 years, two months and 12 days.

After finishing the grade school at the age of 14, he came to America in April of 1898, coming first to Topeka, Kan., where he made his home for a few years with his uncle, Fred Schlodder, coming to Iowa in August of 1914. He arrived first in Lee county, later moving to Marshall county, where on Feb. 15, 1916, he was united in marriage to Marie Koche at St. Anthony. The following year they moved to a farm southwest of Zearing, where he started farming for himself.

To the Mehlows were born five chldren: Ralph, who died in infancy; Clarence, who lives southwest of Zearing; Lucy Carolyn, who passed away at the age of seven; Eugene, who lives northeast of Nevada; and Edward, at home. The wife and mother passed away Nov. 23, 1937.

He left the farm in the spring of 1947 and on May 23, 1947 he was married to Seba Rahfeldt and made his home in Nevada until Sept. 1, 1949 when they moved to Belmond. Here he and Eugene Kadolph bought the former F and F Food Market, now known as the M and K Foot Market.

On Nov. 5 he was taken to the Belmond hospital where, following examination and surgery, it was discovered he was a victim of cancer. Thereafter everything possible was done to give him comfort and relief. Following his return home he was a very patient sufferer and all the finest care that loving hands could give him was done by his wife and children and Mrs. Mehlow's sister, Mrs. Ben Fickes of Detroit, Mich.

Besides the above named sons, he is survived by three grand children; four brothers — Fred and Chris, in Germany; William, who recently moved to Nevada from McCallsburg; Henry, at McCallsburg; and six step children, Lee Rahfeldt at home, Frank Rahfeldt, Nevada, Mrs. Clyde Miller, Hubbard, Mrs. John Schaper, McCallsburg, Albert Rahfeldt, Jr., Lansing, Mich., and Mrs. Eugene Kadolph, Belmond; also a host of friends and relatives both in Story and Marshall counties and at Belmond, Iowa .

Short services were held Jan. 6 at Bronhard Funeral Home and at the Presbyterian church at McCallsburg. Burial was at Clemons cemetery.

MINNIE PALS FREEKS

Mrs. Minnie Pals Freeks was born at Ackley, Iowa, March 2, 1872, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Pals, and passed away at the Lutheran hospital at Hampton Dec. 27, 1949, at the age of 77 years, nine months and 25 days.

As a small child she moved with her parents to Belmond. She was united in marriage with John Freeks at Belmond, Sept. 5, 1896. To them 10 children were born, four of whom preceded her in death. They were Mrs. Chris Stadtlander, Lamter, Sena and Dick Freeks.

Surviving are her husband, John Freeks, and the following children: Katie Freeks, Fred Freeks, Mrs. Edmond Brandt, John Freeks, Jr., Minnie Freeks, and Mrs. Clara Myers, all of Alexander. She also leaves 12 grandchildren and five great grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Ella Herriot, Hampton; and one brother, Dick L. Pals, Alexander.

Mrs. Freeks spent her entire life in Franklin county.

Funeral services were held Dec. 29 at the home and at the Reformed church, with the Rev. B. T. Vander Woude in charge. Pallbearers were George Schulte, Hannas Pals, Charlie Winwood, Henry Johnson, Floyd Myers and Chris M. Madsen. Interment was at the Immanual Reformed cemetery, east of Belmond.

Hank Eide, who attends Iowa State College at Ames, spent the weekend at the Donald Stoffer home.

Alexander Folks Return From Vacation Trips Through South

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peters have returned from a 10 days trip which took them to Carbondale and New Burnside, Ill., then through Tennessee and Mississippi to Winter Haven, Fla. At Sebring, Fla., they visited a former Alexander pastor, Rev. and Mrs. L. N. Moody.

On their return trip they called on Mrs. John Arends and son, Robert at Tallahassee, then took the coast line drive along the gulf to Pensacola and across to Mobile.

The Peters say there was a great contrast between the below-zero weather and icy roads here and the unusually high temperatures in the south. Another unusual thing was prominent use of fireworks there during the holiday season much as they were used here some years ago on July 4th.

They also spoke of the unusual beauty of the clinging moss on the trees at this time of year, and also of seeing many large cotton fields, in which the reddish brown stocks and white bolls of leftover cotton still stood.

Mr. and Mrs. George Barkema and children and Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Pals have also just returned from a vacation trip—through to Hot Springs, Ark., Louisiana and along the Gulf of Mexico, then back to Wacco, Tex., where they visited with their niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilson.

The Quaker Oats family party held at the school house Saturday evening was enjoyed by a packed house. The program was good and the crowd seemed very appreciative.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman of Dinsdale and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Baker and three children of Memphis, Tenn., were guests at the William Vestweber home Saturday evening.

Mr .and Mrs. W. T. Campbell were callers at Hampton Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Bonnie Tucker of Cedar Falls, Barbara Tucker of Hampton and Max Benson of Grand Meadows, Minn., spent several days the past week at the J. C. Arends home. Barbara Tucker will remain here part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myers and sons were callers at Belmond Saturday afternoon.

INFANT DIES

Arlette Joy, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Halfwassen, passed away at a Mason City hospital Dec. 31. Funeral services were held Monday of last week, conducted by Rev. O. G. Poppen of the Immanuel Reformed church. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Westaby Honors Sister's Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Westaby entertained the following at a birthday anniversary dinner honoring Mrs. Connie Olk of Latimer: Mr. and Mrs. Connie Olk and children, Mr. and Mrs. Marlo Westaby and son and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Myers and daughters Mrs. W. C. Westaby and Mrs. Olk are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Peters received word of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Anderson, formerly of Alexander but now of Minneapolis. The Andersons have a small daughter also.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schmidt were Hampton callers Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark and children and H. E. Clark of Dumont were visitors at the Bennie Arends home Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell and children of Belmond were visitors at the parental Clarence Bohlen home Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Larsen and Cynthia were Belmond callers on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dale Cole and three children of Renwick were guests of the F. D. and Robert Rodemeyer's Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Mason City were Sunday afternoon and evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Art Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Bell and sons and Mrs. L. B. Bell were callers at Meservey Monday.

HENRY BOHMAN DIED SUNDAY; FINAL RITES HELD LAST TUESDAY

Henry Bohman, 63, passed away at his home north of town early Sunday morning. Mr. Bohman had been suffering from a serious throat ailment for some time and had been to Rochester, Minn., some months previous. The condition grew rapidly worse the latter part of the week.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. at the house and 2:00 p. m. at the Reformed church, with the Rev. B. T. Vander Woude in charge. Fulton Funeral home in Belmond was in charge. Burial was at Alexander.

Mr. Bohman was born at Ackley on Sept. 1, 1886, a son of Henry and Gebke Bohman. In 1888 he moved with his parents to Franklin county, where the family settled on a farm near Latimer. In the spring of 1895 they moved to a farm one and a half miles northeast of Alexander.

On March 6, 1912, Mr. Bohman married Gertie Modderman in Alexander. Three children were born to them.

Surviving are his wife and children—Mrs. Arnie Olson, John and Bernard Bohman. Also surviving are five grandchildren, besides a number of relatives and friends.

Two Birthdays Honored At the Rodecap Home

The following attended a birthday anniversary party honoring Mrs. Joe Rodecap and son, John, at the Rodecap home: Mr. and Mrs. Willard Latham and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Johansen and children, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Johansen of Latimer, Mrs. G. R. Richards, Mrs. Howard Schoenwetter and George Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schulte and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Barkema and daughter Janelle were visitors at Thor Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Gobeli and children attended the 32nd wedding anniversary surprise party held for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Spillman at Clear Lake. A basket lunch brought by the guests was enjoyed very much by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slining Jr. and son Terry Lee spent a few days the past week in Nora Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tinkey and Mrs. Dilene Drury and children, Vicki and Marc, were Sunday dinner guests at the Menno Frohling home at Goodell. They also visited at the Pete Pals home at Belmond.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schulte and Calvin were Mason City business callers Friday.

Miss Rosalee Hemmes of Hampton and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schmidt and Dickey of Latimer were dinner guests at the Dick Schmidt home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt and daughter, Linda Kay were guests in the afternoon.

Ernest Jones of Hampton spent Sunday with Donald Rector at the Charles Rector home.

George Richards drove to Ames to meet his sister, Mrs. Howard Schonewetter of Urbana, Ill., who came Thursday morning for a two weeks' visit here.

E. R. Harris and son, Merle, drove to Sheldon Friday, where they visited at the Robert Johnson home until Sunday evening. Mrs. Harris who spent the past week there returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pastour and children of Belmond were visitors at the Jelto Dirksen home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Dilene Drury and children were visitors at the Frank Drury home near Rowan Saturday. They accompanied Mrs. Frank Drury to Clarion Saturday afternoon.

ome Tax Overpayments ke Profitable "Mistakes"

The Iowa Taxpayer, publication of Iowa Taxpayer association, in its t issue thoughtfully questions the riety of both the state and federal rnment paying six per cent interest come tax overpayments. Conceding the interest rate might not have out of line in 1912 when the federal was first levied, or even in 1933 when introduced its first income tax law, r Joe Long remarks:

"It is a high rate even for short loans y and just why should anyone either b enough to substantially overpay amount of tax due, or crooked gh to intentionally exceed the unt due, be paid a premium for his ey?"

Although no interest is paid for the 60 days, Mr. Long hints that the oposition is still attractive enough to ake "mistakes" profitable and suggests that our legislators reduce the interest consideration to one or two per nt. Sounds logical, doesn't it?

rn Program May Be Test f "Smart" Farmer's Good Judgment

Success of the forthcoming corn allotment program is going to depend to considerable extent, we suspect, upon e handling of allotments to those farmers who have been conscientiously employing soil conservation practices. here a man has been wisely sacrificing ediate gain for long-range benefits sticking to sound rotation principles, going to be keeping a very sharp on the relationship between his allott and those going to owners of similar farms who have been "mining the soil" to take full advantage of high postwar prices.

Personally, we are completely unenvious of the spot the township production and marketing committeemen are going to find themselves in when the time comes to apportion township allotments. It appears to us that anything less than the wisdom of Solomon is going to be inadequate to do the job fairly. It is certain that a straight percentage cut "across the board" will not be readily accepted by a good many farmers—and justifiably so.

On the other hand, very general adherence to the final allotments is going to be essential to safeguard against the necessity of future marketing quotas, which the farmers are naturally unanimous in hoping to avoid.

Equitable apportionment of the corn allotments, with a view to allowing for wise or extravagant soil conservation practices during the three base years, is a must if those who have been planting conservatively are to be kept happy. And keeping them sufficiently satisfied to throw their lot with the PMA program is essential if the threat of marketing quotas is to be reduced to a minimum.

The saving grace in all this, as we see it, is the fact that those men who are wise in use of their soil are pretty apt to be all-around smart farmers. This being the case, even in instances where sound farming seems to some degree to have been penalized, so long as the penality is not radically severe we expect the victim will "go along with the crowd." He may grumble, but he'll realize that he has a big stake in the program succeeding.

One thing President Truman neglected to explain, when he forecast in his State of the Nation address that the average family income in 2000 would be $12,000 a year—if the present federal deficit spending continues till then, that $12,000 won't be worth $1,200. Not even by 1950's semi-inflated standards.

———0———

It's a relief to have Rita's baby now a reality rather than a matter of mathematical conjecture. Now we can direct our inquisitiveness to such trivialities as, (1) does Einstein really have something in that new theory of his? -- (2) has Joe reached the point of stock-piling atomic bombs? -- (3) has Uncle Sam passed the point where he can balance his budget without busting a gussett?

We've never heard that alcohol was fissionable, but in that accident on Highway 69 week before last that ultimately involved seven vehicles it demonstrated its ability to produce a chain reaction.

———0———

Clark Gable's new bride gave her age as 39. A review of the files by some industrious newspaper reporter brought to light the fact that she was 36 in 1943 and 32 in 1936. We've heard of middle age creeping up on a person, but in her case the tempo of passing time has hardly been a self-respecting creep.

———0———

This machine age has remarkable effects on the human mentality. Those mornings that were so cold the old bus wouldn't start, more than one Belmond business man started out for town afoot, feeling a veritable pioneer.

Time to Start

FIGURING TAXES

It's the first of the year and time to start figuring how much income tax your family must pay. Every homemaker will benefit by understanding how her family's tax money is calculated and where this tax money goes.

Perhaps no public affairs topic gets talked about more than taxes, and rightly so, says Fannie Gannon, extension home management specialist, Iowa State college. No one really enjoys paying taxes, but everyone benefits from the privileges they bring.

Homemakers should be interested in taxes for two reasons, says Miss Gannon. Often homemakers find that meeting the taxes requires careful management of family income and adjustments in family spending. They are often responsible or managing sizeable estates.

Every time a homemaker buys groceries for her family, shops for cosmetics, buys gasoline for the family automobile, or takes the youngsters to the movies, she's contributing a little bit of her family's income to taxes. It's to her benefit to know the reasons behind the main taxes which her family pays and where the most of that tax money goes.

At the present time a high proportion of our tax funds goes for protection. Much goes to the armed services for federal security, and a lesser proportion to the highway patrol and for local police services. Education, including library service, is a main benefit derived from taxes.

Primary and farm-to-market road systems are maintained and improved at public expense. Tax money also goes for hospital and medical care, for welfare purposes, and for those services we expect of our government such as the postal service. Taxes also finance farm price supports, federal and state agricultural research and other aids to farmers.

The three main types of taxes we pay are income, property and personal.

The sales tax is our everyday tax. Many states depend on it as an important source of their revenue. Points in its favor are that it is a good source of revenue and that it is easy and cheap to collect. On the other hand, the sales tax tends to burden lower income much more than higher income families.

There also are federal excise taxes on cosmetics, furs, luggage, telephone, travel and certain other items. These excise taxes are sales taxes on a federal basis.

The general property tax is a main source for obtaining money to be used mostly for local benefits and improvements. Property taxes are levied by local governments. Iowa has not had a state property tax levy since before the war.

Property taxes usually account for more than half of the state and local tax income. Since property values don't waver as much as personal income, the amount of money raised each year is fairly regular. This helps our government, but it may work a hardship to owner families in h perty ing factor ment are also

Another and state re come tax, down into al pocket.

This tax is bas that the amount of as the ability to pay a point in its favor good point is that it is everyone. But, on the the income tax is so "fair weather" tax. In come years the gove to find other means for expenses.

BELMOND LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brewer were Sunday evening supper guests at the Wm. Sheriff Sr. home at Goodell.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Riekens and Lowell Hoke visited Mrs. Grover Downs at the Mercy hospital at Mason City Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Benson were Sunday visitors at the Mrs. A. B. Landon home.

HOSPITAL BOARD . . .

E. Palmer, Granite Falls hatcheryman, confirmed the ex-Belmond man's contentions and expressed confidence that the attitude displayed at the meeting forecast success for the project.

Attorney Roy Henderson dwelt briefly upon the legal angles involved in petitioning for and voting on a municipal bond issue to partially finance the hospital's construction.

He stated that Belmond's present limit of bonded indebtedness is approximately $150,000, and expressed the personal opinion that not more than a third of that amount should be voted for hospital purposes. He pointed out that other civic improvements in the near future may require municipal financing.

It was not possible to predict with any degree of accuracy what sized hospital the planning board will decide practical, or what goal they will set for the public-subscription campaign. It was generally agreed that the structure likely should provide somewhere between 30 and 40 beds and that the cost would run not less than $200,000.

Except for the addition of the name of John Greenlander to the list of Belmond representatives on the planning board, the recommendations of the temporary committee in regard to its membership were promptly and unanimously accepted by the gathering.

On the permanent board are the following members: Belmond — Gene Woolley, George Hansen, George Elder, Rev. O. M. Severseike, B. C. Hewlett, Dr. S. P. Leinbach, Dr. H. J. Classick, Mrs. Margrette Thompson, Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Jr., and John Greenlander.

Rowan — Mark Ihm, Charles Keith; Alexander—Willard Latham, Donald Hensel; Meservey—Herman Fischer, Lovell Diddy; Goodell—Carl Green, H. R. Urbatsch.

Pleasant township — Lambert Pals, Bernard Koenen; Iowa—Clarence Vestweber, Joe Ziller; Norway—Mrs. Thomas Mathre, John Rietema; Belmond—L. B. Oberhauser, Harold Simerson; Grant—Jack Ketchum, C. C. Woodin, Lynn Thompson.

Gene Woolley announced at a brief gathering of the board, following the meeting, that he would call the members together some time during the next week to draft initial plans for proceeding with the project.

GOOD DEED

In one of the largest "mass performances" on record, 89 men gathered recently to pick up corn belonging to Mrs. Velma Kretlow. The big crew made short work of the chore, which came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Kretlow.

"Cobbers"

New Zealand soldiers call marines "Cobbers," meaning pal or buddy.

Cement Sacks

The paper or cloth sacks in which portland cement is shipped are securely sealed before being filled with cement. They are filled through a small opening in the bottom of the sack which is closed by the weight of the cement inside when the sack has received 94 pounds of cement and is turned right side up.

Complete Ticket Takes Out Papers for City Election

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Through the medium of our exchanges we learn that the old vacuum cleaner racket has been making an appearance in this general vicinity. While the perpetrators will likely renew their operations in distant parts after the publicity they have received hereabouts, a warning still might be to the point.

The stunt was recently employed at Buffalo Center and Britt, following the customary script. After a knock on the door, the "repairmen" ask to look at the housewife's cleaner. Whatever the make, THAT is the company they work for. If it's been working perfectly, they request permission to obtain the serial number.

By the time their investigation is completed, the machine DOES need repair; and if it's entrusted to the tender care of the "repairmen" the housewife can expect to get back (1) a cleaner inferior to the one she parted with; (2) one with a motor of poorer quality; or (3) no machine at all.

A word to the wise, etc.—if a caller at your door launches on this line of chatter, get rid of him as promptly as possible; and then call the law.

Once more the eagle screams. The first checks in payment of National Service Life Insurance dividends were received in town Monday—four in number. The post office is not allowed to tell who receives what mail, but operatives report that two of the recipients were Dick Ter Hark and Marvin Pals . . . Nice to be able to look forward to arrival of another of those pretty, blue checks, isn't it, vets?

—M-S—

Incidentally, the P. O. crew is hoping maybe a gesture made Tuesday by Henry Pals will establish a trend. Henry bought a couple of stamps from Carroll Bamford and produced a quarter in payment. When his change was returned, he tossed Carroll the dime and instructed, "Go get yourself some ice cream." Do you suppose Postmaster Brady will have to hang signs admonishing the public, "Please do not tip the help," in order to stop this sort of thing?

Greater love hath no woman than that lately displayed by Mrs. Lois Hammond when her son, Bradley, was confined to their home with the mumps.

Each morning she was up before any self-respecting roosters were stirring to deliver papers over Bradley's Des Moines Register route. She had better than 25 papers delivered by 7:15 and was back home to get breakfast before reporting for her job at the Belmond Auto company. She also took care of the chore of collecting, after hours, for the week's papers; and delivered the Sunday Registers, too.

Mrs. Arlo Stoltenberg pinch-hit for her son, Arlo Wayne, in similar fashion in December. She got a break in that her stint didn't fall during the bitter cold snap, like Mrs. Hammond's did.

—M-S—

Con Hoppel, who farms east of town, doesn't yet have his new dial phone—but he isn't particularly impatient over the delay. He says that his present crank model has been hanging on the wall for a little matter of 44 years, now. A few weeks more or less, makes little difference; and for a little while longer, Con can cuss central when he gets a wrong number.

—M-S—

Winter has definitely descended when you can look out of a store window on Main Street and see a bevy of high school lassies cutting down the middle of the thoroughfare on ice skates, as was the case last weekend.

—M-S—

We've had lying on the editor's desk for a matter of some weeks now an essay on duck hunting written by Max Benson, a senior in Elkton, Minn., high school and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Benson, formerly of Belmond. It was published in his high school paper and is really a clever piece of writing. We were unable to get it into the paper when it would have been timely, and we've finally decided it's haunted us long enough. But before consigning it to the waste basket we want to say "thanks" to whomever left it here for us and to express regret that we were unable to get it into print.

CROP Campaign Lagging Badly in Wright County

According to a report from the state headquarters of the Christian Rural Overseas Program, contributions in Wright county are lagging badly during the present campaign.

The county committee has informed the state board that total value of cash and commodities received to the first of the year was only $1,079 — representing [illegible] per cent of the five-car-[illegible] in money and [illegible] by Wright county.

Hospital Group Met Last Night To Form Plans

A meeting of the hospital planning committee was held last night at the city hall to lay strategy for conducting the coming building campaign.

Headed by Chairman Gene Woolley, the members discussed what financial goal would be appropriate and the amount of municipal bonded indebtedness that should be sought by petition.

Initial plans were also laid for formation of four essential committees to expedite the project:

(1) Political Sub-Committee, to assure public approval of a municipal ballot to bond the city for partial payment of the hospital cost. This committee will first have to obtain petitions endorsed by a sufficient number to establish the bond issue as a special question in the March election.

(2) Finance Sub-Committee, to plan and carry out the money-raising campaign and act in capacity of treasurer.

(3) Advertising Sub-Committee, to disseminate all promotional and educational information.

(4) Building Sub-Committee, to select a building site, assist city officials in obtaining and negotiating all building contracts, and in all ways oversee actual construction of the hospital.

Announcement of the actual personnel composing the various sub-committees should be possible next week.

ATTEND SALES MEETING

Ellis Elliott, Keith Dunton and Carroll Hensel of Elliott's Hardware and Appliance attended a Frigidaire sales meeting at Sioux City yesterday. There they saw the new 1950 models, which will be received for display by local distributors in the near future.

MRS. LIVERMORE DIES

Mrs. C. G. Johnson received word last Sunday that her mother, Mrs. Emma Livermore of Portland, Ore., had passed away the previous day. Mrs. Livermore was a former resident of Belmond.

THIEVES BREAK INTO THREE SCHOOLS LAST THURSDAY; STEAL $80

Thieves entered the high school buildings at Alexander, Rowan and Woolstock sometime Thursday evening or early Friday morning of last week. About $65 in cash was taken from the Woolstock school and $15 from Rowan. As near as school officials could determine, nothing of value was stolen from the Alexander school.

At Alexander the interlopers had to go on a glass-breaking spree to gain admittance. They forced a window in the manual training room to enter the school and then broke glass panes in the office doors of Supt. E. E. Johnson and Principal G. C. Hussong to gain admittance to those rooms.

Sheriff Bob Blecker is investigating all three cases but reported Tuesday that no headway had been made up to that time toward identifying the thieves.

Charlene Edwards Asked To Speak on Youth Panel

Charlene Edwards, Little Liberty Ladies, has been asked by the state extension office to be on a panel Wednesday, Feb. 15, on the Farm and Home program at Iowa State college. The program will be in the MacKay auditorium in the home economics building.

The panel discussion will be "Helping parents understand some of the personal needs of young people that make for behavior problems." Charlene will represent the rural high school age.

Several other young people will also be on the panel, representing the rural youth out of school. and the rural youth who has left the farm to work in the city.

WELDING DEMONSTRATION

Helland and Long announce that a demonstration of welding at low heat, employing the new flux-coated gas and "Frigidarc" weldrods, will be held at their store this coming Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A new type of oxygenless cutting electrode, requiring no special equipment to cut a wide variety of metals, will also be shown. In an ad in today's paper, Helland and Long cordially invite the public to attend the demonstration.

Rep. James I. Dolliver Announces Intention to Run For Reelection

JAMES I. DOLLIVER

James I. Dolliver of Fort Dodge, sixth Iowa district representative in congress, yesterday announced that he is a candidate for reelection.

Representative Dolliver is married and has four children, one in high school and three in college. His son, James, a veteran of navy service in World war II, is studying law. His second son, Mac, is a student at Iowa State college, Ames. His daughter, Peggy, is a student at Oberlin college, and Robert, the youngest, goes to public high school in Washington. Mrs. Dolliver, the former Rachel McCreight, is the daughter of the late Dr. A. H. McCreight of Fort Dodge.

Representative Dolliver practiced law in Fort Dodge for 20 years before his election to congress, and is a former county attorney for Webster county. He served on the Fort Dodge Board of Education and on the Morningside College Board of Trustees. Last year he received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Morningside, where he took his pre-law course.

Dolliver is a veteran of World War I, and has long been active in servicemen's affairs. He is a past commander of the Iowa department of the American Legion, and has served on national committees of that organization.

The Fort Dodge man is a Republican member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, a group that has the widest jurisdiction of any congressional committee. Concerned with all transportation, communications and radio, the committee has a voice in matters vitally affecting the nation's economy. Among its other assignments this committee has under its jurisdiction the highly controversial national health insurance measures.

In considering this legislation, Representative Dolliver was designated with other members of the committee to go to Europe last fall to look into the workings of socialized medicine abroad.

Dolliver's major legislative interests, in addition to his committee assignments are veterans' affairs and legislation affecting agriculture and education.

Picks USO Co-Chairmen For Wright County: 1950 Campaign Goal at $1,557

Carl Weeks, chairman of the executive committee of the USO Iowa Campaign Committee, announced today the selection of Harold Kamm of Eagle Grove and Bill Guthrie of Dows as Wright county co-chairmen. The Wright county quota has been set at $1,557.97. The citizens of Wright county know the fine work of the USO during the war to help make American men and women in service feel at home all over the world.

Now, with hundreds of thousands of young Americans again in service here and overseas, the work of this organization is as vitally needed as it ever was, Mr. Weeks points out.

USO now has a total of 170 clubs, lounges, and service centers in the United States and overseas. In 1950 it is planned to increase this number to 242. USO centers are located near military installations. Centers are established only on request of the military.

Veterans hospital USO camp shows are bringing entertainment to 100,000 veterans in 120 military and veterans hospitals.

Cunninghams Take Limelight During Lodge Ceremonies

Cunninghams very largely dominated the joint installation ceremonies of the Masonic and Eastern Star lodges held last Thursday evening at the Masonic Hall.

Lloyd Cunningham was installed as Worshipful Master of the Masons and his wife, Erma Cunningham, took office as Worthy Matron of the Eastern Stars. Lloyd's brother, Harold Cunningham, became the Worthy Patron of the Stars, with Lloyd as Associate Patron. Harold completed the act by taking the Masonic post of Senior Deacon.

Others installed in Masonic offices were: Carence Whitten—Senior Warden; Helmer Svendsen—Junior Warden; C. L. Williams—Secretary; C. C. Benson—Treasurer; Larry Gunderson—Junior Deacon; Albin Larson—Senior Steward; C. N. Hofmeister—Junior Steward; Walter Hotvet — Chaplain; Ray Green, Tyler.

Star installees were: Rhea Campbell — Associate Matron; Mary Hildebrand — Secretary; Helen Karinen — Treasurer; Madylon Elliott — Conductress; Lela Boone — Chaplain; Irene Squires—Marshall; Onnalee Benson—Organist; Bonnie Hofmeister—Ada; Mary Kessler—Ruth; Adele Fetrow—Esther; Marian Stokke — Martha; Marvis Tideback—Electa; Mina Waddington—Warder; Henry Larsen, Sentinel.

The Masonic ceremony was conducted by J. J. Cook of Goodell as Installing Officer and George Richards, the retiring Worshipful Master, as Installing Conductor.

The Eastern Star ceremony was in the charge of Ruth Townsan, as Installing Officer; Mary Hildebrand, Installing Marshall; Emilie Larson, Installing Organist; and Grace Luick, Installing Chaplain. All the Eastern Star officers wore corsages presented to them by the Worthy Matron.

ROWAN H. S. TO HOLD ADULT NIGHT SCHOOL

As a new venture for the community, adult night school classes will be inaugurated at Rowan high school next Monday evening starting at 7:30 o'clock. Because of the late start, the courses will extend through only six weeks. If they prove successful, though, next year they will likely be held over a 10 or 12 week period.

The classes will be held each Monday and last approximately two hours.

Courses offered are as follows: farm and shop welding, Mr. Lansing; wood working for women, Mr. Pesch; typewriting, Mr. Toyne; photography, Mr. Evart of Clarion.

A new arc welder, torch and oxyacetylene tank have been purhased by the school for use in the adult classes.

An enrollment fee of $2.00 will be charged. At present 22 persons have registered for the night school work.

VACCINATION SCHOOL

Farmers of Wright county—21 years of age or over—who wish to attend a winter vaccination school should leave their names with Walter Wilson, Farm Bureau Fieldman, at the Farm Bureau Service company office at Clarion. When a sufficient number of requests have been received for a vaccination school. the county extension service will be asked to schedule one as soon as possible.

Government Has—

Best Seller

—New Tax Guide

"Your Federal Income Tax," the official guide for taxpayers published by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, has established itself near the top of national best-seller lists, according to information released today.

Over 200,000 copies of this 138-page tax book, which is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, at 25 cents a copy, were sold during the first five weeks since publication.

This new and improved edition of "Your Federal Income Tax" covers, in a series of short articles, questions which may come up concerning tax returns; it covers the latest laws, bureau rulings, and court decisions.

Chapters have been added which cover installment sales and the important appeals procedure. Also included are facsimiles of tax forms and a detailed index.

Adult Education Classes Draw 116

Registration at opening sessions of the Adult Education classes Monday night at the high school totaled 116, according to Harold Simerson, chairman of the committee in charge. This compares to a total of 99 enrollees on opening night last year.

Heaviest registration was for the Agriculture course, which attracted 38. Next in popularity was Arts and Crafts, with 24. Fourteen men enrolled for physical training.

Principal Ceaburn Squires was surprised that only six enrolled for typing, whereas last year there were almost more registrants than typewriters could be provided for. He says that this class can accommodate another dozen or so members.

Both the sewing and photography classes could also add a few more members, although enough signed up for them to assure their success.

Three classes — Shop, Contemporary Affairs and Bible study—attracted so few registrations that they may have to be abandoned unless more interest is shown.

Registrations will still be accepted when the classes meet again next week.

Farm Bureau Executive And Buget Committees For Current Year Named

President Lynn Thompson has appointed Wright County Farm Bureau's budget and executive committees for 1950.

Appointments to the executive committee include: President, Lynn Thompson, Clarion; vice president, Rammer Goeman, Belmond; secretary, Bernard Collins, Clarion; treasurer, Charlie Trask, Renwick; directors, Floyd Dahlgren of Lake Township, Jack Ketchum of Grant Township and Casper Hahn of Dayton Township.

The 1950 budget committee includes: director, Gerhard Thompson of Norway township; treasurer, Charlie Trask; secretary, Bernard Collins; and Laurence Woodley, past president, of Iowa township.

Duea and Hauge Consign Gilts to Iowa Duroc Sale

Dale Hauge and Joe Duea of Belmond, and S. C. Schroge of Eagle Grove, widely known Duroc breeders of Wright county, consigned bred gilts to the Iowa State Show and sale held at Marshalltown this Wednesday, according to word received from Willard Klein of Iowa Falls, state association president.

The 40 leading Duroc breeders of Iowa consigned top bred gilts from each of their herds to this state-wide event. Ton Litter and Production Registry breeding were featured, and a large crowd of farmers, breeders, FFA and 4-H boys and girls attended both the show and the sale. Mr. Klein reports that more advance requests for catalogs were received than for any previous State Duroc Sale.

HOOD PROMOTED

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hood that their son, Kenneth, was promoted to a corporal's rating on Wednesday of last week. At present stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C., with the 82nd Airborne Division, Kenneth enlisted in the Army 21 months ago.

TAKES IOOF POST

George Coburn of Belmond was installed as Chief Patriarch at the IOOF Encampment and Encampment Auxiliary which held joint installations at Clarion last Thursday. Floyd Doctor also attended the Encampment.

Mrs. Crabbe Appointed Cancer Drive Chairman

Announcement of the appointment of Mrs. Maurice Crabbe, wife of the publisher of the Eagle Grove Eagle, as fund chairman for the cancer control program in Wright county was made last weekend by H. B. Hook of Mason City, state campaign chairman of the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society.

She succeeds Mrs. Lynn C. Thompson of Clarion, who raised 254 per cent of the quota for Wright county, giving the county second ranking in the state in the 1949 campaign.

Workers representing all towns and rural areas in the county will be named by Mrs. Crabbe to assist in the 1950 campaign, which will be held in April, designated by congressional resolution as Cancer Month.

Youth Committed To Eldora School

Alfred V. Wirth, alias Alfred Thorson, 17-year-old Humboldt youth, was heard in juvenile court at Clarion a week ago Wednesday on a charge of juvenile delinquency and upon conviction was committed by Judge G. R. Hill to the Industrial Training school at Eldora.

Wirth was originally charged with breaking and entering and larceny of an automobile, as a result of a series of thefts at Belmond, Goodell, Garner, Goldfield and a number of other towns. He broke into two filling stations here on Dec. 22.

Because of his youth, he could not be heard on the original criminal charges. He was not represented by counsel, so the court appointed Ralph Austin of Clarion to serve as the boy's attorney.

FIRE TUESDAY NIGHT DAMAGES FARM HOME

Belmond's Fire Department, along with those from Goodell and Kanawha, was called about 6:00 o'clock Tuesday night to the farm home of Ed Haupt, a mile north and four and a half miles west of Goodell

Before arrival of the fire-fighters, the flames had gained considerable headway and several thousands dollars worth of damage was done before the blaze could be extinguished.

The stairways, from cellar to attic, were burned out, a large hole burned in the roof and extensive fire, smoke and water damage was done throughout the interior of the house.

Two hours of hard work were required to put the fire out.

Stoltenberg Boys' Father Died Last Monday at 87

H. P. Stoltenberg, 87, of Hayfield passed away at his home on Monday of this week . He was the father of Arlo and Henry Stoltenberg of this community.

Funeral services are to be held at the Hayfield Methodist church this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Mr. Stoltenberg was preceded in death by his wife. Besides his sons living in Belmond, he is survived by one other son, Andrew of Fairmont, Minn.; and by three daughters — Mrs. Anna Schulz and Mrs. Elsie Taylor, both of Hayfield, and Mrs. Emma Alexander of Lead, S. Dak.

Vandalism Places Five 'On Griddle'

Five Belmond youth were "on the griddle" at the city hall last night for a number of juvenile antics that they perpetrated some time before the first of the year. Also present, when the five were questioned by Sheriff Bob Blecker and County Attorney Harlan Larson, were the parents of the young men.

According to Sheriff Blecker, the youths have admitted being guilty of acts of vandalism at Toft schoolhouse, dragging several outhouses behind their cars and tipping over a number of outdoor toilets. Four of the boys are in the 16 and 17-year age range and therefor are not subject to criminal prosecution The fifth is 22 years old.

The sheriff stated that criminal action was not planned at this time but that the guilty parties will be kept under close surveillance in the future.

J. Greenlander Will Run For Post of Mayor

Activity in the municipal election campaign got off to a running start last week when nomination papers were obtained by members of a full ticket of candidates, headed by John Greenlander, for mayor.

The two councilman-at-large candidates are R. B. Thompson and Ardell Johnson. Jim Mariga seeks to represent Ward 1 on the council; George Infelt, Ward 2; and Glenn Martin, Ward 3. Bert Hewlett is the ticket's candidate for city treasurer.

Mr. Greenlander, being a native of the community, is well known to all Belmond residents. He was for some years an employee of the old First National Bank. Later he was connected with the H. J. Klemme Lumber company. For 24 years he operated the Greenlander Lumber company, retiring in 1948 after sale of the concern to Spahn and Rose.

At present Mr. Greenlander is a member of the Belmond school board, a position he would have to resign in event of his election as mayor. His affiliations in town include membership in the Masonic lodge and he is a Chamber of Commerce member.

R. B. Thompson, head of the Thompson Hybrid Seed Corn company, established that business here in 1935. At present it hires about 30 year-around employees and in 1949 processed 70,000 bushels of seed corn. He is a member of the Belmond Fire Department and on its board. In the past he has been active in 4-H work and this fall was made an honorary member of the F. F. A. He, too, belongs to the Chamber of Commerce.

Ardell Johnson is now serving his third year as chief of the Fire Department, after four years as assistant. He is active in the Chamber of Commerce, has been in business on Main street for 14 years and is a native of Belmond. He is a Mason and also belongs to the I. O. O. F.

Jim Mariga has lived in Belmond for 11 years and for eight of those years has been affiliated with the Fire Department. He, too, is a board member and serves as the organization's secretary. Since coming to Belmond he has been bulk agent for the Sinclair Oil company.

George Infelt, though a resident of this community only the past four years, has firmly established himself as a real booster and is currently president of the Chamber of Commerce. A graduate of Grinnell college, he spent three years in the Navy and was a PT boat "skipper" in the Pacific during the war. A year ago he was active in Scout work.

Glenn Martin, also a World War II veteran, is plant engineer for the General Mills plant and just ended three consecutive years as president of the GMI Men's club. He has lived here for five years and has been very active in Scout Work. At present he is Scoutmaster of Belmond Troop No. 1.

Bert Hewlett, president of the First State Bank of Belmond, has been so long active in innumerable worthwhile community projects that he really needs no introduction to the voters.

So far no other candidates for city office have taken out papers, but it is expected that there will be at least another ticket in the field before filing time arrives.

LAND AUCTION SALE

Tuesday, February 21, has been claimed by the W. A. Gartz farm as date of its land auction sale. The property is located seven miles northeast of Belmond.

MARCH OF DIMES

Manager Gene Bradley has obtained a theatre "trailer" to promote contributions for the annual March of Dimes Drive which will be conducted from Jan. 20 through 30. He also expects that provision will be made for collection of contributions at the theatre. County fund campaign officials have not yet provided local business men with recepticles for campaign offerings, but they are expected to be in place in Belmond stores by the first of the week. A cooperative advertisement, sponsored by local merchants and urging support of the campaign, appears in today's issue.

CHURCH AT GOODELL SENDS $179 DONATION TO OTTERBEIN HOME

The Goodell E. U. B. church, which has a membership of 179, was assessed a dollar per member as a Christmas offering to the Otterbein Home in Lebanon, Ohio. This is a home for the aged and children of this denomination. It is self-supporting but asks the churches for this annual offering.

The local Missionary and Ladies Aid societies gave a $25 donation and the quota has been sent in.

Last spring local folks gave a cash donation to be used for spring clean-up and 15 pounds of home made candy. Mrs. Boston delivered the gifts when she and her family attended the national meeting and visited the home in May.

The Otterbein Home suffered a severe loss this winter when one of its large barns burned to the ground.

Goodell folks always been deeply interested in the home as Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Miller and John lived at the Home seven years when the Millers were in charge of it. Rev. Miller was a former pastor of the Goodell church and now lives at Gladbrook.

Broncs Keep 2nd In NI Standings; Whip Britt, 51-43

Belmond acquired exclusive claim to runner-up spot in the North Iowa conference standings last Saturday night at Britt, drawing away from the Eagles in a last-half surge that gave the Broncos a 51-43 verdict.

Duane Trager engineered the blast that practically eliminated Britt from NI title consideration, dumping in 23 points in the final two periods. Dick Kriens was the only other Bronco to hit a field goal (he got one) in the second half.

Belmond, however, hit on seven out of nine free throw tries in the last two quarters, to bolster Trager's performance from the floor. The Broncs realy did themselves proud from the charity line—for the first time this season; altogether they dumped in 11 out of 14 gratis chances.

Throughout the first half the Eagles held Belmond practically even. At the end of the first stanza the Broncos held only a two-point edge, 11-9; and they were unable to extend their margin in the second quarter, which ended with Britt trailing 20 to 22. Jack Riggs and Sonny Greenfield kept the Broncos in the running by producing seven and six points, respectively. Trager was held to four points up to the rest period.

However, when play resumed, there was no holding the big Bronco center. He hit from the post position, he hit on follow shots; he even counted on all three free throws he was awarded.

Britt could not withstand the brawny pivot's one-man attack and by close of the third quarter the losers had dropped behind 34 to 38. Midway in the final period Belmond had marched to an 11-point lead, 46-35, and they maintained this advantage to the end of the game.

Although he contributed no scoring to the cause, Marlyn Watermiller was singled out by Coach Jim Scott for particular praise because of his excellent defensive play. Time after time the Bronco forward coralled the ball on rebounds, doing it so neatly he was called for only one foul during the entire contest.

Britt honors were quite evenly divided, Garman, Miller, Cosgriff and Sheets contributing about equally.

Led by Allan Meyer, the Belmond frosh-soph quintet came from behind to down the Eaglets, 19 to 11. The Britt juniors led at the end of the first half, 6 to 5, but the Colts rallied in the third quarter to jump ahead, 14 to 7. Meyer, with the help of a couple of baskets by Dave Helland, boosted the Colt's margin still further in the final quarter. The Eaglets were held to a single free throw in the concluding stanza. Meyer accounted for nine of Belmond's points, Helland for six, Larkin two, Seyerseike and Madsen for one apiece.

TRAGER TOTAL OF 92 HEADS LOOP SCORERS

At the end of six games, Duane Trager was well in front of rival North Iowa conference scorers in the contest for individual honors. The Bronco center, following the Britt game, had a total of 92 points for an average just in excess of 15 per game.

Alvin Anderson of Northwood had 83 to his credit for an average just a shade under 14. He was followed by Charley Langerud of Forest City, who through last weekend had played only five NI games. His 61 points gave him a 12-point average.

Jack Riggs is Belmond's only other representative among the 10 high scorers in league competition. He has accumulated 49 points against NI rivals to average eight per game.

Following are the individual standings prior to Tuesday's games, including six tilts unless otherwise designated.

Trager (Belmond)	92

WIND CAUSES BREAK IN POWER HIGHLINE

Alexander was without electricity for several hours Saturday evening, much to the inconvenience of every one. There was quite an array of kerosene lamps, candles and flashlights pressed into service.

The highline leading into town from the north was snapped by a combination of ice and wind, causing the disruption in service. The break occurred at about 5:00 p. m.

A repair crew was summoned from the Central States Electric office at Belmond, but the icy condition of the roads made their trip to Alexander a slow and precarious one.

Markwardt-Schulte

Miss Lola Markwardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Markwardt of Alexander, and Calvin Schulte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris C. Schulte, also of Alexander, were married at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the sanctuary of the Reformed church at Alexander. Rev. B. T. Vander Woude Jr. performed the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with large bouquets of yellow and white mums and white candles. Nuptial music preceding the ceremony was furnished by Miss Marilyn Johnson. Mrs. Vander Woude sang, "Oh Promise Me", "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown with a fitted buttoned bodice and a small standing Victorian collar. There were capelets on the shoulders of the sleeves which tapered into points over the wrists. The long train fell from a very full skirt. Her fingertip veil which hung from a Juliet cap of lace was of imported illusion. She carried an orchid surrounded by white carnations.

Mrs. Laurell Burger, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a gown of sheer pastel yellow and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white carnations with green streamers. Miss Joye Vestweber, friend of the couple, was bridesmaid. She wore a green satin gown and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white carnations with yellow streamers.

Frances Burger, niece of the bride, and Susan Bier, niece of the groom, were flower girls and dressed in identical gowns of yellow silk jersey. They carried small colonial bouquets of yellow and white carnations.

Roger Stoffer was best man and Merle Harris was groomsman. Roger Stoffer and Kenneth Harden of Oxford Junction acted as ushers.

Mrs. Markwardt, mother of the bride, wore a wine dress and Mrs. Schulte, mother of the bridegroom, wore an aqua dress. Both wore corsages of yellow and white carnations.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony. The table was decorated in yellow and white centered with a four tiered wedding cake which was decorated with yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and grooom. The luncheon was served by Miss Shirley Kuper of Hampton, Miss Loretta Wieman of Mason City, Mrs. Otto Ostendorf and Mrs. Simon Stoffer. Mrs. Foster Barkema cut the cake and Mrs. Merlin Bier had charge of the guest book. There were about 60 relatives present.

After a wedding trip to Texas the couple will be at home on a farm near Alexander.

GRANT GO-GETTERS

The January meeting was called to order by President Judith Woodin. Roll call was answered by our favorite color scheme. The calendar program and outstanding sheets were given out and discussed. At noon we enjoyed a covered dish dinner. Our hostess served a delicious dessert. Barbara Barnes was the assistant hostess.

Judith Woodin gave a talk on "Color in the Home." Rosann Nigg presented our study picture, "Sistine Madonna" by Raphael. Mrs. Ed Didio led workshop on mixing colors for home use. Kay Kastler had charge of recreation.

IOWA HAWKEYES

The Iowa Hawkeyes 4-H club decided to donate $5.00 to the International Youth Exchange at the regular meeting held on Jan. 11. The club also decided to buy a first aid kit to be used in the club. Twenty-four members and two leaders answered roll call.

Arthur Hibray, of the County Extension Office, talked on keeping record books up to date, and explained how to enter an estimate feed budget in the record books.

A demonstration on tying of common knots was given by Jerry and R. E. Aldrich ; another on how to clean a common hen's nest was given by Richard Lyons and Eugene Frohling.

A movie was shown by Arthur Hibray on nutrition, entitled Feeding Farm Animals."

GRANT GROWERS

Twenty-five persons attended the Jan. 9 meeting of the Grant Growers held at the Benny McGrath home. Bob Feller, president, conducted the business meeting in which plans were made for the Dad's night in February. A contribution of $5.00 for International Farm Youth Exchange was passed; and a list made of members who would go on the Boone Valley Co-op. tour.

After the business meeting, Willis Muhlenbruck gave a report on "My Trip to the International at Chicago" followed by a discussion on farm safety entitled "Corn Harvest Accidents", led by Richard Lindvall.

Lunch was served by the host and several games played before going home.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

Homemakers club of Iowa township met on Jan. 10, with Mrs. I. H. Ainslie for a lot luck dinner at 1:30 a. m. Roll call was answered by Belated New Years Resolutions or Favorite Poem. A very instructive and interesting lesson on "Better Grooming" was presented by Mrs. Lettie Zuber. The lesson was enjoyed by 40 members, the largest attendance the club has had to date. The February meeting will be held Feb. 17, at the home of Florence Aldinger. Mrs. Kyseth will be guest speaker. Pot luck dinner at 11:30.

CRUSHED

While working under the front end of a portable feed mill, Ernest Latare of Oxford Junction was crushed to death when the machine rolled over.

Training School on Farm Safety For 4-H Leaders Scheduled for Next Week

Did you know that there are about 470,000 time-lost farm work accidents annually in the United States and nearly one per cent of these result in fatalities? The average time lost for all reported farm accidents was about 20 days and direct medical costs per accident averaged $43.00.

This year the Boys' 4-H clubs are participating in a Farm Safety campaign . In launching this very important program, a Leaders' Training School has been scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 25, at the American Legion hall in Clarion from 10:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Norval J. Wardle, farm safety specialist from Iowa State college, will conduct the meeting. Discussions, demonstrations, and films comprise most of the day's program. In the afternoon the training group will visit a nearby farm and inspect the home, buildings and machinery for hazards to safety.

All boys' and girls' committee members, 4-H club leaders, and at least one or two representatives from each 4-H club are urged to attend.

SHORT STAY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slessor of near Traer moved into their brand new farm home recently. Five days later, they moved out again. A defective electric connection set fire to the house, which was badly damaged.

NOTICE OF DRAINAGE ASSESSMENT

Drainage District No. 215

To the following named owners of the following described lands and to every person in actual occupancy or claiming any right, title, or interest in any of said lands:

You and each of you are hereby notified that the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, acting as provided for by Section 455.45 Code of Iowa, appointed Mr. Emil Bock and Mr. C. F. Axon, disinterested resident freeholders of Wright County, and Laurence W. Murray, competent civil engineer, as commissioners to assess benefits and classify the lands affected by Drainage District No. 215, and to apportion and assess the costs and expenses of constructing the said drain according to law and their best judgment, skill, and ability. The said commissioners have filed their report in the auditor's office showing the amount of assessment of costs and expenses of construction apportioned to each owner as follows:

Many Friends Defy Weather To Help Celebrate Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Helland was the scene of the celebration of the Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mrs. Helland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Purcell, on Sunday, Jan. 15.

In spite of the inclement weather, about 45 guests regis- Thompson of Ellsworth, Ernie Walton of Rowan, a nephew of Mrs. Purcell, and Mrs. Helen Casperson of Garner, an old classmate of Mrs. Purcell—the only folks able to come from out of town.

As the guests arrived a souvenir golden paper bell was pinned on each one by Mrs. Orland Finn, a granddaughter of the Purcells, who also had charge of the guest book.

During the afternoon there was a short program which included an original poem written by an old schoolmate of Mr. Purcell and was dedicated to the couple on their 50th anniversary. It was read by Mrs. E. F. Bailey. Rev. J. H. Miller of the Methodist church gave a short, effective talk on the value of the Christian home and honoring a couple who had reached this milestone. He concluded the program with a prayer.

Mrs. C T.. Scott of Canon City, Colorado and Mrs. Margaret Bailey assisted Mrs. Helland in the serving of the refreshments, which consisted of a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in white and gold, brick ice cream with a golden bell center, and coffee. The napkins used were white with the word Purcells and the years 1900 and 1950 printed in gold.

Mrs. E. F. Bailey, a sister of Mrs. Purcell was receptionist.

The honorees received many nice gifts, flowers and cards and a purse of money from their many friends and relatives.

Broncos Nose Out Vikings, 39 to 37, In Real Thriller

Belmond's Broncos traveled to Northwood on Tuesday evening, expecting the toughest sort of a battle with the Viking cagers—and they were not disappointed. When the smoke had cleared, the scoreboard read: Belmond 39, Northwood 37. The Broncs were more than happy to settle for that two-point margin.

Sid Swenson and Duane Trager provided the bulk of Belmond's scoring power with contributions of 17 and 14 points respectively; but four timely points by Dick Kriens did just as much to save the day.

The fray was a see-saw affair from the outset. The first quarter ended in a 10-all deadlock, but by halftime the Vikings had crept ahead, 21 to 19. Right through the third period, which ended 30-27 for Northwood, the Broncos managed to keep abreast most of the time.

When the final stanza got underway, though, it looked like Belmond's number was up. The Vikings forged into a 33-28 lead and the outlook was pretty dim.

At about this point Kriens swished in his pair of counters from the side and Swenson clicked on a drive-in- and a perfect set shot, cutting Northwood's margin to 36-35 at the automatic time-out.

Belmond's rally took some of the sting out of the oppositon and Swenson finally put the Broncs in front with a looper from far out on the floor. Northwood retaliated with a free throw to knot the count at 37-all

Trager came through with one of his familiar pivot shots to give the Broncos their winning margin, and for the last 90 seconds Belmond froze the ball to protect that advantage.

"Andy" Anderson, Northwood's clever forward, kept the Broncos on edge throughout the evening with his excellent floor play and 17-point scoring performance.

After sticking close to the Junior Vikings for a half, Belmond's frosh-soph quintet fell behind in the final two periods to lose 24 to 20. Low, Viking center, jammed in 11 points and Russell tallied seven to lead the winners. For Belmond, Severseike and Meyer rung up six points apiece, Madsen and Helland four each.

COURTHOUSE NOTES . . .

Members of the grand jury made a survey of the county jail last week and found "the general condition of the building is poor," according to Foreman Clarence Johnson of Kanawha. The group's recommendations included the construction of a second exit as a safeguard in case of fire.

The group also suggested purchase of a larger hot water heater, since the one presently in use has proved inadequate; and that several additional blankets and mattresses be bought.

During the court session last week Drs. Weston and Barg of Mason City were awarded a judgment against Otto and Collette Dorr of Belmond in the amount of $174.44. The defendants in the civil action were also directed to pay the court costs.

On Monday of this week Alberta J. (Thayer) Middleton, formerly of Belmond, was awarded a divorce from Richard G. Middleton, Clarion, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. The plaintiff was awarded custody of the couple's two minor children and the defendant was ordered to pay child support of $26 per week.

ICE CAUSES CRASH

A Central States Electric Co. truck was a minor casualty last Friday afternoon as the streets were made treacherous by a coating of ice. Driven by Melvin Swenson, it failed to negotiate a west turn at the corner of First avenue and First street, sliding into a parked truck owned by the Forest City Motor Supply Co. Damage amounting to about $65 was done to the Central States truck; none to the truck that was parked.

Tests Reveal Proper Rotation Pays Well In Larger Crops

Wright county farmers may profit by taking another good look at the crop rotation they are following and see whether it is giving as high a yield of corn as the farm is capable of producing, Aaron E. Bowman, county extension director said today.

He pointed out that crop rotation studies conducted over a period of years by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station show that corn yields can be almost doubled on some Iowa farms, if well-planned rotation is followed.

In the tests, continuous corn yielded 38 bushels per acre for the five-year period of 1942 to to 1946. In 1947, the yield dropped to 22 bushels per acre and in 1948 the yield was 44 bushels. First year corn grown in a corn-corn-oats and meadow rotation yielded 62 bushels per acre over the five-year period and 82 bushels per acre in 1948. The plots received no fertilizer.

The plots receiving manure at the rate of two tons per acre year and lime as it was needed showed somewhat different results. For the five-year period, continuous corn averaged 54 bushels per acre as compared to 86 bushels per acre for first year corn in a four-year rotation.

In 1948, continuous corn showed a yield of 64 bushels while corn grown in the four-year rotation averaged 104 bushels per acre.

Raising corn in a good rotation will pay bigger dividends in a bad year than in a good year, Bowman pointed out. Corn suffered from adverse weather conditions in 1947. A wet spring followed by a hot, dry summer slashed yields. Corn raised in a four-year rotation that year came through the growing season in much better shape than corn grown continuously on the same ground.

Bowman said that no one rotation will fit the needs of every farm. Each farmer should fit his rotation to his soil and farming system. This winter, he says, is a good time to look over your rotation to see how well its doing the job, so you can plan changes before you're ready to move into fields next spring.

WA G. O. P. MAINTAINS---

By GERALD BOGAN
Publicity Director
Republican State Committee

In typical Truman fashion, the president extended a velvet gloved hand to most Americans in his state of the union message. But close inspection shows that the velvet glove covered a mailed fist.

"I am happy to report to you today," said President Truman in his message to Congress, "that the state of the union continues to be good."

While offering syrupy phrases of the Utopia which lies ahead, a red ink-splashed budget was being prepared.

The budget presented to the congress by the president shows a deficit of 5.5 billion dollars. It is the second straight fiscal year in which the government has gone in the red by an increasing amount.

Is this "good?" Is it wise that a government continue to spend more than it takes in? Is that sound business?

The true facts were glossed over. The president didn't tell the people that a mounting public debt — which probably will reach 263 billion dollars next year—undermines the stability of a nation.

Neither did the president explain why deficit spending is needed despite the fact that taxpayers are pouring more than eight times as much into the treasury as before the war.

Any thinking persons will agree that a government can't continue to collect additional taxes fast enough to catch up with a budget that is failing to make ends meet in the prosperous times by about 13 per cent annually.

Americans won't continue to be fooled by this political now-you-see-it-now-you-don't hokum. They want the truth. They don't want a bunch of irresponsible Washington Socialist - Democrat planners playing politics for vote-getting purposes with our national economy and well-being. They don't want to pay more interest on the public debt than they paid to run the entire government a few years ago.

Here are more syrupy words from the address:

"Businessmen must continue to have the incentives necessary for investment and for the development of new lines of enterprise. In the future growth of this country lies possibilities for hundreds of thousands of new and independent businesses."

But what's the record?

His burdensome taxation cut down incentives? Are Americans afraid to invest risk capital because of government oppression of business?

A recent busines survey showed that if most of our corporations were not already in existence, it would be impossible to create them. Their stock could not be sold for a high enough price to replace the present assets.

Equity capital which fostered the growth of American industry has been virtually taxed out of existence. Taxes and a tremendous jump in the cost of living have virtually wiped out most of the risk capital which once fed industry. Tax rates as high as 77 per cent make the potential investor stop, look and listen before he leaps.

And the tax rate on the incomes of small business—for which the Truman administration professes to have a bleeding heart—is 53 per cent compared with 38 per cent on large corporations.

"Many times, business leaders say, they must start paying income taxes before the business as a whole is out of the red. Many investors don't want to sink money in a venture in which taxes will make it impossible to get a fair return.

As one financial writer said: "The public has not yet grasped the fundamental fact that wealth invested in industry is good for everyone. We still do not understand that funds saved and invested in American business pay $10 in wages and salaries to employees for every $1 in dividends to the owners—in other words, the pay-off is ten times as great as the pay-off to the individual who saves and invests.'

A velvet glove of "business must continue to have incentives," covers the mailed fist of cessive taxation.

IOWA DEMOCRATS CLAIM---

By FRANK MOORHEAD
Publicity Director
Democratic State Committee

For the second consecutive year, under Republican state administration, taxes are not being collected according to law in Iowa. In 1949 the fault was with the Republican Attorney General; in 1950 the fault is with the Republican State Tax Commission.

Under Section 445.36 of the Code of Iowa "it shall be the duty of every person subject to taxation to attend at the office of the Treasurer, at some time between the first Monday in January and the first day of March following and pay his taxes in full or one-half thereof before the first day of March . ." Iowa taxpayers have been unable to comply with this law, because of Republican delay.

In 1949, after the tax books had been made up and the county treasurers were ready to collect taxes, the Republican Attorney General came out with a belated order that the state property tax levied that year should be included in that year's tax collections. This caused an enormous amount of new figuring, re-shuffling of tax amounts and general delay. Tax collections were held up for a month or more. Legislative action was taken that year to legalize the delay.

In 1950 the delay of the Republican State Tax Commission in certification of its tax equalization work held up the establishment of tax rates in various counties. The result is that Iowans who wished to pay their taxes when they were due (on Jan. 1) found themselves unable to do so and confront a delay of several weeks.

The legislature is not in session this year to legalize the 1950 delay. The last two Iowa legislature have had to legalize acts of Governor Blue and Governor Beardsley, so why kick county officials, when high state officials set the pattern?

Iowans paid $153,250,320 in special states taxes in 1949 (over and above all taxes on real estate, personal property, monies and credits, etc.) This was an increase of more than $4,000,000 over the preceding year. The state treasury is again bulging with surplus funds, while Iowans dig deeper and deeper into their depleted pocketbooks in order to pile up unneeded surpluses.

Not even the professional Republican guessers in the state house and the office of the state tax commission (who out-Gallup Gallup in being wrong) know what the regular property taxes for 1950 will be, but in 1949 they were $170,115,404.05 (who got that last nickel?) The combined taxes for this year (on the basis of property taxes of last year) will be $323,365,724.

Using the last census figures, every man, woman and baby in Iowa pays an average of $127.40 a year in taxes. The average family of five is compelled to pay $637 a year in taxes in Iowa. Never before was the tax burden so high. And all this under continued Republican state administration.

The cost of state government a person increased in Iowa from $34.79 in 1946 to $48.85 in 1947 and to $61.25 in 1948. These were all Republican-governed years in Iowa.

Iowa's farm land taxes in 1948 amounted to more than two and one-half times the national average, under Republican administration. The average tax paid on Iowa farm land in 1948 was $1.59 an acre, compared with the national average of only 57 cents.

The farm land tax in Iowa went up to 10 per cent in 1948 over 1947, under Republican administration. All other Corn Belt states, except Illinois, had lower farm land taxes than Iowa.

Iowa stood third among West North Central states last fiscal year in total taxes collected and per capita payments. Kansas, North Dakota, Nebraska, and South Dakota all paid smaller taxes than did Iowa.

"The grand old state of Iowa is apparently run by a group of people who operate the state . . to make money," says the Sigourney Review. "The principal objective should be to render services to the people of the state that the people need and want, then levy enough money to get the job done. In Iowa we don't do that way. The state levies as many taxes as it can think of, then gives the people as few services as it can."

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

We would like to hear you farmers declare yourselves on the controversy over the Brannan Plan vs. the current principle of parity price supports. There is no question in regard to how the farmers' organizations stand. Except for the Farmers Union, they have been most outspoken in opposition to the Brannan proposal. But a number of bigwigs keep insisting that the organizations do not truly represent the individual farmer's feeling in the matter. Are they right?

—RFD—

Cornelius Thompson, whom the Wright county Farm Bureau elected as its voting delegate to the state convention, sums up the delegation's attitude by citing five criticisms of the Iowa Farm Bureau in regard to the Brannan plan:

(1) A large portion of the farmer's income would depend upon Congressional appropriations.

(2) It would establish a "cheap food philosophy" in the consumer's mind.

(3) Because of the necessity of adding cost of government overhead to regular prices, the end result would actually be higher food prices in the long run—regardless of whether the increase was direct or in the form of higher taxes.

(4) Rather than an outright farm subsidy, it would be a consumer subsidy charged to the account of agriculture.

(5) Since the farmer receives less than 50 per cent of the consumer's food dollar, there is a grave question as to whether the plan WOULD materially reduce ultimate consumer price.

—RFD—

To sum up, the Bureau questions both the methods proposed and the probable effectiveness of the Brannan Plan. One of its points it does approve — that of supporting price of perishable commodities. In this connection the Bureau feels that the Secretary of Agriculture should be authorized to use production payments if no other support method appears feasible.

—RFD—

Mr. Thompson cites that it is the Bureau's belief that a price support program should be only a phase of a wider program to assure long-range farm prosperity.

"We believe," he says, "that more emphasis must be placed on increased consumption of agricultural products — through improved diets, school lunch programs, the Food Stamp Plan, etc. and more attention given to efficient processing and marketing of farm products, to increased world trade, to full employment and to sound national fiscal policies."

"To make the parity principle of determining fair farm prices work for long-range good, the Bureau recommends the building of soil reserves during periods of [illegible] production and price supports. It feels that this has been an important adjunct of the current farm program and that its emphasis should not be to any degree reduced. The Bureau further approves the principle of the ever-normal granary that has been an important by-product of the present program.

—RFD—

"We feel," continues Mr. Thompson, "that our economy is justified in using—through the Commodity Credit Corporation—a sizeable appropriation to provide storage for carry-over of storable food products to prevent disastrously low agricultural prices and to assure a high level of nutrition for all our citizens through good and lean years.

"We commend Congress for providing additional storage facilities through the CCC for handling commodities, but at the same time, we urge more emphasis in the future be placed on storing corn on the producer's farm."

—RFD—

The above opinions are YOUR opinions, if the Farm Bureau is correct in its assumption that it accurately speaks the mind of the large bulk of American farmers. Unfortunately, we haven't an army of poll-takers to send through the countryside to confirm or disprove this assumption. We would, though, like to know what our farmer-readers think individually in regard to this conflict of support philosophies.

—RFD—

Is it true that the Bureau very generally reflects the average farmer's stand on the matter? Does the Brannan Plan actually have few, if any, backers in this area? Do YOU feel the subject is important enough to justify expressing yourself publicly on it?

If your answer to the last question is a "yes", please drop us a note with your answers to the first two. If there are phases of the Brannan Plan that you DO like, tell us. If there are any overlooked reasons why you believe the parity principle should be retained, tell 'em to us. We'd like to hear from you—a LOT of you.

unicipal Election Campaign
etting Off to A Good Start

In today's issue of the Independent is nounced the formation of a complete ate of candidates for the municipal ection this coming March. Obviously, ood deal of study went into drafting the ticket. Its membership is made up men who have been active in the com- ity, who are well known, very gen- lly well liked, and highly respected.

We'd say the city campaign is off to admirably good start with the forma- n of this ticket. There are a lot of ngs we want to know in regard to the en's opinions on a number of questions vital civic importance. We expect m, in the weeks intervening between w and election day, to make their nd clear on these various issues.

If they miss any points we're inter- ted in, we won't hesitate to ask them at their intentions in those regards y be. We feel that the voters should ke free to do the same for themselves, dividually.

Belmond has progressed about as far it can without drafting a definite plan further development. Therefore, it ighly essential that a forward-look- g administration be placed in office this ring.

The prospect of accomplishing this oks good with such a ticket as the one far announced entered in the race.

ator Hickenlooper
ed An Awkward Choice

What's wrong with the Republican ty is quite accurately demonstrated t here in Iowa in the by-play between tor Don L. Berry at Indianola and ator Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

While we're not too impressed by probable motives behind the threat ry wired Hickenlooper, to get off the Guard" band wagon or look out for ble, the action itself points up a lem that more and more Republican didates are going to face.

It's about reached the point where a gunning for a Republican nomina- stands in a very good position to lose port of the growing liberal element he party if it appears that he'll be fied to serve as a wheelhorse for the ent party policy-makers.

All in all, it looks as if Editor Berry ented Senator Hickenlooper with a difficult choice. While we're not just how much influence Berry can lly exert in the June primary, we now that the Spangler-Gabrielson n still carries a lot of weight with arty-liners. As a logical result, re- ess of Hickenlooper's decision, he an excellent chance to be "damned did, and damned if he didn't."

Since the Atomic Energy Commis- fiasco, Hickenlooper has lost a good of prestige. We're inclined to agree Berry that his candidate, Mrs. Ray- Sayre of Ackley, would stand a than fair chance of upsetting nlooper's applecart if she would to enter the contest for nomination. would have a strong following farmers, due to her Farm Bu- She is a pleasant, highly and is well informed on matters of both national and international scope. AND, as an additional qualification upon which Berry no doubt would count heavily to further her popularity with the voters, she would enter the race free of commitments to the old guard standard bearers.

One thing is certain, this further evidence of an open split in the Republican ranks, must have the Democrats smiling to themselves and murmuring, "Go to it, boys!"

Why Slam A Man When He's Doing His Job?

Frankly, we're getting pretty sick and tired of all carping that has prevailed since Attorney General Bob Larson opened his anti-gambling drive and followed up with conscientious efforts to make it stick.

The way we figure it, Bob Larson—with his headquarters in Des Moines—found himself in a position that was decidedly awkward. Other Attorney Generals have been on the same spot, but were thick-skinned enough that it didn't bother them.

There's no denying that organized gambling has become more and more firmly entrenched in Iowa's capital city in recent years. It all developed no doubt, from the fact that Des Moines merchants liked the idea of their city being a convention and shopping center — and felt it obligatory to see that their visitors had a good time.

This entailed opening the town somewhat wider than the law allows. And, the truth to tell, Des Moines began to find things getting more than a little out of hand.

A city which permits law-breaking as openly as Des Moines came to, is fetile ground for organized racketeering; so the racketeers descended. And since you can't handle soot without it clinging to you, the effect of the city's collusion with law-breakers soon became apparent in the city government itself.

The situation in Des Moines was plainly more than Bob Larson could stomach and keep his self respect. Naturally, it must have been plain to him—as it should be to anyone—that he was either going to have to enforce the gambling laws as they stand, or let the avalanche continue to gain momentum.

The result, we will concede, has had its unfortunate aspects. Church bingo parties are innocuous enough. But don't think for a minute that the racketeers would ever be satisfied to concede the slightest difference between a church bingo game and a bookie joint. The law puts them in the same classification.

To sum up, let us say this. The legislature is elected by the voters and its members make the laws. They can also un-make 'em. So if a majority of the people in this state want some of the minor, border-line varieties of gambling legalized, within definite limits (and there's the poser!) they should tell it to the law-makers. In the meantime, don't condemn a man for living up to his oath of office and trying to do his job right. Maybe if some of Larson's predecessors had been a bit more conscientious, the contrast between their administrations and his wouldn't be so striking.

Sometimes we wonder if President Truman isn't confusing Uncle Sam with Santa Claus. Do you suppose that Pa Truman neglected to tell him, when Harry reached the age of enlightenment, that both of these fellows dip out of the same pocketbook?

We wonder just how many industrial firms the nation over have taken or are contemplating taking the step announced recently by the Sheffield Brick and Tile Co. The plant's president states that after April 1 the Sheffield firm will use oil for fuel in place of coal. "Beetle Brows" Lewis may discover that he's finally cut loose with one strike too many, if such action develops into a wide enough trend.

With coal dealers—in communities depending primarily on that fuel for heat—ladling out chunks of the black stuff like they were diamonds, we should make it a ritual to salaam three times before that good old gas meter each night before retiring.

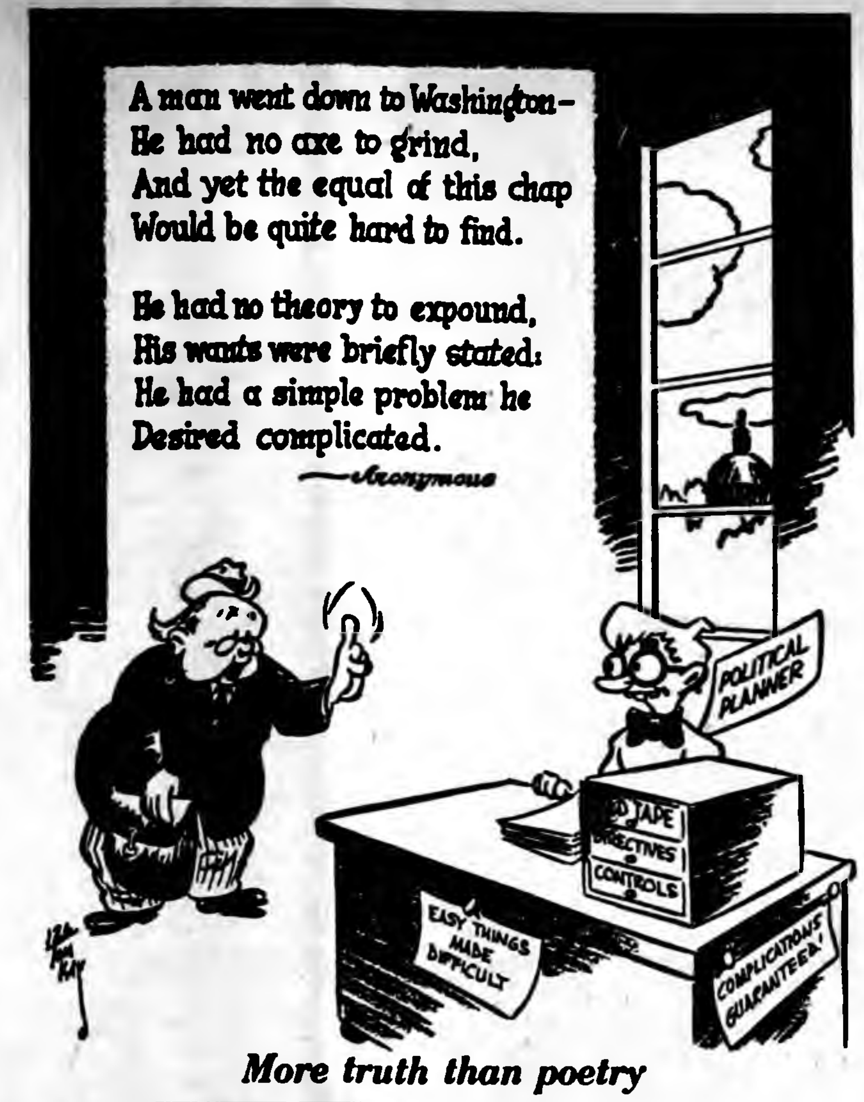
Congress, in studying whether or not to extend the draft, is in much the same position as a man trying to decide whether it is good—or false—economy to carry an expensive accident and health insurance policy. The expense of keeping it is undoubtedly high; but, again, it's not so high as the cost would be if you needed it suddenly and didn't have it.



A man went down to Washington—
He had no axe to grind,
And yet the equal of this chap
Would be quite hard to find.

He had no theory to expound,
His wants were briefly stated:
He had a simple problem he Desired complicated.

TEEN-AGERS' DRIVING RECORD ACTUALLY WAS IMPROVED LAST YEAR

Iowa teen-agers were the only driver group in the state to show a decrease in fatal accidents last year when they were involved in 30 per cent fewer death acidents than in 948, according to Frank Ulish, safety education director of the state safety department.

Ulish said 90 teen-age drivers were involved in fatal accidents last year compared to the 130 in 1948. In connection with the sharp decrease, he said that a record number of Iowa high schools—200—are now offering driver training courses.

"Add to that the splendid cooperation of the press and radio, the stricter penalties the young offender faces in many traffic courts, the aroused attitude of parents and you have some principal reasons for this saving of many young lives", he said.

"Credit must also be given to the young driver who has made a real effort to improve his driving habits in the light of these recent developments," Ulish said.

He pointed out, however, that 14 percent of the total 656 drivers involved in fatal accidents last year were of the teen-age group which holds only about three per cent of the drivers licenses in the state.

SNAKE BITE

Mrs. Walter Green, of Clarke county, was treated for a rattlesnake bite last week. This type of mishap doesn't happen very often but Mrs. Green's husband operates a snake show. She opened the compartment where the snakes were kept, thinking the reptiles were hibernating. One of them wasn't.

County Pest Control Clinic Slated At Eagle Grove on Monday, Jan. 30

Plans for the Pest Control Clinic to be held at Eagle Grove on Monday, Jan. 30, are beginning to point toward more and more bad news for the 1950 crop of corn borers and weeds, Aaron R. Bowman, county extension director, reported this week.

The half-day clinic will be held in the Eagle Grove high school gymnasium, which will accommodate at least 400 people. The formal program will be staged from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m. However, Bowman pointed out that the Iowa State college extension service exhibits will be in place and operating by 11 a. m.

Commercial exhibits of weed and pest control equipment, too large to be placed in the high school gymnasium, will be displayed on the school playground before and after the program.

Some small articles of commercial equipment can be displayed in the school gymnasium.

College exhibits will feature spraying, dusting, and residue destruction in corn borer control; the life cycle of the corn borer; a comparison of corn harvested from treated plots and untreated plots; and losses sustained by Iowa farmers because of borers.

Weed control will include selective in-crop spraying, fencerow and roadside spraying and the foundation stone of any good weed control program—cultural practices that combat weeds.

Assisting Aaron R. Bowman in arranging the Pest Control Clinic are the Eagle Grove school officials, vocational agriculture department, equipment dealers and others.

Sponsored by the agricultural extension service of Iowa State college and county extension personnel in cooperation with local agencies, the Pest Control clinic will stop in 38 Iowa communities this winter.

The event is being included in the extension service program this year because of the serious losses that corn borers and weeds are causing farmers.

Bowman described the Pest Control Clinic as one event that will be profitable for every farmer in the county to attend. Corn borers and weeds, he said, do damage in every field when not controlled. Vocational agriculture classes, G. I. farm-training classes and 4-H club members also are invited to attend.

McNeal to Seek Nomination for State Representative

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

After last week's piece on the vacuum cleaner slickers appeared in Main Street, Mrs. Kenneth Meyers phoned us from Alexander to say that our advice arrived a little too late in that community.

Two men—apparently the same pair that had been operating in other towns around here—paid a visit to Alexander nearly a month ago. They spent some little time at the pool hall getting a line on things, and then paid several calls.

—M-S—

They concentrated their attentions on elderly people, apparently on the assumption that they could intimidate older folks easier than the younger housewives. Among the homes visited was that of the parents of Mrs. Meyers' husband, Mr. and Mrs. Orie Meyers.

Their cleaner, which had been working perfectly, developed a very vicious "short" under the ministrations of the visiting "repairmen." When the elder Mrs. Meyers refused to pay $35 to have the difficulty corrected, the men departed in a blaze of temper and expressing the hope her home would burn to the ground as a result of the short circuit.

The Meyers have learned since that a friend at Allison, also elderly, was a victim of the same racket. She paid $35 for a repair job, then got suspicious and ordered the bank to stop payment. An innocent service station proprietor, who'd cashed the check in the meantime, got caught in the middle of that deal.

—M-S—

One thing we really admire is truthfulness in advertising. That is why we single out Mason City Nash company for a pat on the back. Last week the Nash folks were advising the public of a Used Car 1c Sale they were conducting. "Buy one of our better used cars at regular low price and get one of the following cars for only 1c."

The ad then listed a half dozen jaloppies of vintanges ranging from 1934 to 1937, and noted in what we assume was an outburst of frankness, "These won't last long."

—M-S—

And a little child shall lead them . . . The Coffee Shop's "bowlers" (and, believe us, the quotes are used advisably, in this case) last week against Tip Top averaged a roaring 113 pins per game. Captain Keith Chandler mangled the maples for scores of 100, 92 and 79. The child we suggest they negotiate with is Keith's 10-year-old son, Jerry. The day after his dad's outfit performed, Jerry dropped in at the Bowl-Mor and scored a 162 game.

—M-S—

Billy Murray, 9, and Kenny Marty, 10, stopped in our office last weekend to leave a man's ring, which they reported they found near the George Infelt residence.

Since the local jewelers assured them that the stone is a "genuine synthetic" ruby, and it says right inside the band that the ring boasts a "sterling shank", the boys figure somebody should be pretty anxious to get it back.

The owner can get it at the Independent office; and we suspect that without any arm twisting, the boys could be induced to accept a modest reward.

—M-S—

George Brady is enthusiastic about the manner in which the first broadcasts from WOI-TV at Ames were received by a television set at his appliance store Tuesday afternoon and evening. This was the station's first day on the air.

Mr. Brady says that reception of both the test pattern sent out by the Ames studio and a couple of films that were telecast was highly satisfactory and definitely indicated that Belmond is well within receiving range of the Iowa State station.

We see TV antennae extending [illegible]m the roofs of both the Elliott [illegible]ardware and Gamble stores, [illegible]ese days, in addition to Brady's. [illegible]o doubt there will be a number [illegible]ore in evidence before long, [illegible]w that first-class reception will [illegible] possible in Belmond with the [illegible]uguration of a regular telecast [illegible]hedule from Ames.

—M-S—

[illegible]pparently lots have been [illegible]wn by Iowa's Republican [illegible]ticos and everyone is either [illegible]ppy or resigned. Governor [illegible]rdsley's formal announcement [illegible] intention to seek a second term [illegible] officially released today, fol[illegible]ing Senator Hickenlooper's [illegible]-tossing act on Tuesday. Goal for Hospital Set Tentatively at $200,000

Woolley Assigns Four Committees To Project Jobs

John Greenlander Heads Group on Construction

Committees have now been named by Gene Woolley, chairman of the Belmond hospital planning board, to take charge of all phases of the project to finance and construct the new hospital for this community.

At the board meeting last week, $200,000 was set as a tentative campaign goal. Of this amount, the board hopes $50,000 will be supplied through a bond issue by the city of Belmond.

A political committee, headed by George Hansen and including Roy Henderson and Mary Gordon, has been directed to see that petitions are circulated to establish the bond issue as a special question in the city election, March 27.

John Greenlander has been appointed chairman of the building committee; Harold Simerson heads the finance committee and Pat Gallagher is in charge of the publicity committee.

The building committee will study plans, confer with architects, survey potential sites and supervise letting of all contracts. All of its activities will be conducted in collaboration with city officials, in view of the hospital's virtually certain technical status as a municipal undertaking.

Included on this committee are: Rev. O. M. Severseike, Glenn Martin, Larry Murray, George Hake, C. J. Papousek, Mrs. R. B. Thompson, Gene Woolley, Dr. G. J. Hruska and Dr. A. M. Nelson of Belmond; Mark Ihm, Rowan; Willard Latham, Alexander; Lovell Diddy, Meservey; Harley Urbatsch, Goodell.

Also Lambert Pals, Pleasant township; Joe Ziller, Iowa; Jack Ketchum, Grant; L. B. Oberhauser, Belmond township; and Mrs. Thomas Mathre, Norway.

On the finance committee, which will oversee the gathering of funds by public subscription, are: Bert Hewlett, Dr. H. J. Classick, Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Jr., Dr. S. P. Leinbach, W. H. Trafford and Preston Tyrrell of Belmond.

Other members are: Harold Simerson, Belmond township; Charles Keith, Rowan; Don Hensel, Alexander; Herman Fischer, Meservey; Carl Green, Goodell; Bernard Koenen, Pleasant township; Clarence Vestweber, Iowa; John Rietema, Norway; and C. C. Woodin, Grant.

On the advertising and publicity committee are: Jack Shepard, George Elder and Clark McNeal, all of Belmond.

The next meeting of the planning board has been scheduled by Chairman Woolley for Feb. 8 at the Belmond city hall.

Funeral Rites Held For Mrs. Minnie Halfpap, 72

Mrs. Minnie Halfpap, who lived her entire life in the Meservey community, passed away Monday of this week at the age of 72. She would have been 73 on March 13, having been born in 1877.

She was preceded in death by her husband, several years ago. Surviving are two sons—Leo, of Mason City, and Alvin, near Belmond; one daughter, Mrs. Lydia Sprau of Mason City; 10 grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

Rev. A. E. Wilken officiated at the funeral service held yesterday afternoon at the E. U. B. church at Meservey, followed by burial in Meservey cemetery. Fulton Funeral home was in charge of the service.

Belmond Couple Escapes Death In Plane Crash

Mr. and Mrs. David Sappenfield had a near brush with death about 4:00 p. m. last Sunday when a plane in which they were taking off from the Belmond airport went into a stall and crashed to the runway.

A multiple, compound fracture of the jaw was suffered by Mr. Sappenfield and he will be hospitalized for some time. Mrs. Sappenfield received only minor lacerations and bruises about the head and face and her release was expected within a day or so.

The Sappenfields were brought to Steele Memorial hospital by Harvey Newman, who was at the airfield washing his plane when the accident occurred. He did not see the plane fall, but the occupants estimate it had reached an altitude of about 25 feet when it went into the stall.

Mrs. Sappenfield, who holds a private pilot's license, had been at the controls and was making a routine 90-degree cross-wind take off. Her husband reportedly took over the stick in an attempt to avoid the crash, but one wing dragged into the ground and defeated his efforts.

Mr. Sappenfield, presently a General Mills employee, is an experienced pilot and recently served as a student instructor in Clarion. He owned the plane, a 1929 Monocoupe, in partnership with Glenn Crapser.

Mr. Crapser says that the plane is a total loss and will be scrapped. No insurance was carried on it.

Dies Three Days After Reaching 80th Birthday

John McIlrath, Belmond resident who for the past year or so had been making his home with a niece, Mrs. Mary Whitten of Rowan, passed away Monday at the Hampton hospital. Born Jan. 20, 1870, he had reached his eightieth birthday last Friday.

Funeral services were to be held at Fulton Funeral home this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with Rev. J. Heber Miller of the Methodist church in charge. Burial will be made in Belmond cemetery.

Funeral Services Friday Afternoon for Miss Ely

Miss Agnes Ely, who moved to Belmond a number of years ago after retiring from a position as buyer for a Chicago department store, died early Tuesday morning at Steele Memorial hospital.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Boone Funeral home, with Rev. Alfred B. MceKith officiating. Burial will be in Belmond cemetery.

--In Quiz Program Next Week--

City Slickers Meet Farmers

It will be the "city slickers" vs. the farm folks when eight prominent personalities from Belmond and the adjoining countryside meet in a battle of wits next Wednesday evening at the high school auditorium as participants in the Town and Country Quiz.

The event, which starts at 7:30 o'clock, is being sponsored by the Boy Scout and Explorer troops of Belmond. Scoutmaster Glenn Martin, who is in charge of the program, urges advance purchase of tickets from the Scouts and Explorers who are selling them.

There will be a door sale, the evening of the performance, but tickets will be sold only up to auditorium capacity, and a full-house appears likely.

Membership of the two contesting teams was determined by popular vote, through ballots which appeared for three weeks in the Independent. On the town team are: Miss Gladys Darrah, junior high school principal; Mrs. R. B. Thompson, who has been too active in a wide variety of community affairs to require introduction; Rev. J. H. Miller, pastor of the Methodist church; and Roy Henderson, prominent Belmond attorney familiarly known to his friends as "Judge".

That the country team will have to ask no odds of their city adversaries is obvious from the high calibre of its personnel:

Harold Simerson, well-known farmer and head of the Adult Education program; Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser, a farm wife whose answers should be both ready and accurate; Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen, widely known for her club and church activities; and Arthur Chelsvig, Kanawha farmer whose friends recommend him for his ready wit.

Following the quiz Clay Rusk, announcer for radio station WHO, who will serve as quizmaster, will conduct a half-hour "Memory Course". He has not elaborated on the nature of this portion of the program other than to specify that it involves audience participation.

Musical entertainment by local talent wil complete the program. A male quartet composed of business men, Ellis Elliott, Luin Cox, Dwight Boughton and George Infelt, will be featured.

ALEX SMITH INJURED IN BAD FALL ON ICE; RESTING IN HOSPITAL

Alex Smith, member of the county board of supervisors, is in Steele Memorial hospital recovering from the effects of a fall on the ice Monday afternoon as he was returning from downtown to his home here.

Mr. Smith's left side was temporarily paralyzed and he was in a stupor, as a result of a brain concussion when he was admitted to the hospital. Yesterday, however, these symptoms had completely cleared up.

While he received a bad bump on his head as a result of the tumble, he had not believed that any significant injuries had resulted and had driven with Mrs. Smith to visit his son, Bob, who farms northwest of Goodell.

As the couple were returning to Belmond, Mr. Smith was taken violently ill as they reached Highway 69 at Goodell and he was forced to stop the car.

His plight was discovered by Jack Shepard, who was driving by, and he picked the Smith's up and delivered Alex to the hospital.

Girls Cage Team 'Weak Knighters', Seeks Candidates

A notice is hereby issued to young ladies of the community, athletically inclined, that plans are afoot to organize a "Town Girls" basketball team. Although said team is at present only in the formative stages, it has already received a challenge from a sextet representing Park Hospital at Mason City.

Iris Clark and Lucille Dickinson have assumed responsibility for rounding up a squad of candidates and announce that up to 10 more girls of high school age will be welcome to report for practice.

"Weak Knighters" is the name that has been chosen for the aggregation, which will practice each Thursday evening from 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. at the high school gymnasium. Supt. Don Faris, who earned a statewide reputation as a coach of championship girls teams, has agreed to coach and advise the Belmond belles.

Misunderstanding Arises on Asking Homestead Credit

Some misunderstanding has arisen from the letters the county auditor's office has been mailing out in regard to personal property assessments, says Auditor J. Ross Henry, resulting in the impression that no provision will be made this year for signing homestead exemption applications other than at the courthouse in Clarion.

In a notice appearing in today's issue, Mr. Henry clarifies the misconception with the explanation that, "If you have been unable to apply for your homestead credit within a reasonable period, we will establish headquarters for a limited time in your city hall or some other convenient location and will ask you to appear there and complete the blanks."

While personal property state-

BIG TURNOUT URGED

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are advised by Secretary Luin Cox that the meeting of that group scheduled for today noon at the library basement will be of special importance. The officers urge a large turnout so that members can acquaint themselves with and help lay plans for a trade promotion project that is scheduled to start soon.

Eagle Grove Man Named as Deputy

Evron Braumann, 24, Eagle Grove policeman and a veteran of World War II, has been named by County Sheriff Bob Blecker as his deputy. The sheriff said today that Mr. Braumann will take over his duties next Wednesday, Feb. 1.

The new county officer is a graduate of Eagle Grove High school and last spring was graduated from Eagle Grove Junior college. His service time of two years was spent in the U. S. Navy.

Braumann's interest in a career in law enforcement was inspired by a period of duty as Shore Patrolman while in uniform. He has been a member of the Eagle Grove police force for two years, serving in the capacity of night officer during the time he was attending junior college.

The young deputy is married, but has no children. He and his wife will move next week to Clarion, where they will reside in a recently purchased trailer home

Famous Conductor Will Bring Augustana Choir Here Feb. 6

Dr. Carl R. Youngdahl, noted church music director, will lead the Augustana college choir of 60 voices in an appearance at the Trinity Lutheran church, Monday evening, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p. m.

Founder of the choir, Dr. Youngdahl was appointed director of music at Augustana college in Sioux Falls, S. D., in 1921. He He is a pioneer in a capella singing; at that time there were less than 10 colleges in the nation having a capella choirs.

Interest in unaccompanied choral singing has advanced to such a degree that more than 200 individual try-outs are held every year as new students seek membership in the famous choir.

This winter marks the 29th consecutive year Dr. Youngdahl has taken his group on tour. Over 60,000 miles have been traveled as the choir has appeared in leading cities all over the nation and in Canada.

Dr. Youngdahl, who holds an associate degree with the American Guild of Organists, has studied under a number of famous artists and teachers. He is also a prolific composer of church music. Two of his best-known compositions are the stirring "Jerusalem Road" and the tender "Christmas Lullaby."

Dr. Youngdahl comes from an illustrious family. His brother, Luther Youngdahl, is governor of Minnesota. Peter, an older brother, is an attorney in Los Angeles. Serving as Dean of the College of Social Service at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., is Ben, another brother.

Oscar, a brother, now deceased, was a Congressman from the state of Minnesota.

Youngest in the family, Reuben Youngdahl, is pastor of Mount Olivet Lutheran church in Minneapolis, the largest congregation in the Augustana Synod, and this week named one of the 12 leading churches in the nation.

Louis E. Wilson States He Won't Run Again in '50

Belmond Business Man Republican Candidate

Concurrent announcements were made yesterday by Louis E. Wilson of Eagle Grove, that he will not seek reelection as State Representative from Wright county; and by Clark McNeal of Belmond, that he will be a Republican candidate for nomination for the post.

Mr. Wilson, who was first elected as representative in 1946, has served two terms in the legislature. He made no statement in regard to his future plans. In a call to the Independent he requested that the following remarks be addressed to the public:

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank my constituents for the privilege of serving them in the General Assembly. It is my sincere belief that I represented the finest county in the finest state in the union."

Mr. McNeal, who seeks the office Mr. Wilson is relinquishing, is a native of Wright county, having been born near Clarion. Except for a two-year interval when his family lived in Rockford, Ill., the Wright county seat was his home up to the time of his graduation from college. He received his high school diploma in Clarion in 1935, at the age of 16.

He took his undergraduate work at Cornell college at Mount Vernon, being awarded a B. A. degree by that institution in 1939. The following two years Mr. McNeal took graduate work in public administration at the University of Michigan, from which he received his M. S. in 1941. For a year folowing he was in the employ of the Beneficial Management corporation of Ann Arbor, Mich.

In 1942 Mr. McNeal came to Belmond to take over management of the real estate, farm management and insurance business of the R. E. Courson Agency. Two years later he went into partnership with R. W. Courson, forming the Courson-McNeal Agency which succeeded the business which had been formed by Mr. Courson's father.

Mr. McNeal has been active both in community affairs and in county and state Republican politics. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and of the Methodist church and is a past president of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce.

He has been a Republican county committeeman for the past six years and in 1948 attended the party's national convention in Philadelphia as an alternate delegate.

Herman Fischer, Sr., 74, Died Friday at Meservey

Herman Fischer, Sr., father of H. C. Fischer, Jr., Meservey implement dealer, died suddenly last Friday at his home in Meservey at the age of 74. He was an old settler of the community and had engaged in a variety of business enterprises in Meservey over a 52-year pariod.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at the E. U. B. church at Meservey, with Fulton Funeral home in charge. Rev. H. M. Raecker and Rev. A. E. Wilken officiated jointly over the final rites. Burial was in Meservey cemetery.

Pallbearers were John Lauen, Elmer Pals, Mervin Morris, Lester Dorenkamp, Lewis Dorenkamp and Wayne Waddington.

RED CROSS CHAPTER WILL HOLD MEETING MONDAY AFTERNOON

An election meeting of the Belmond Chapter of the American Red Cross, will be held this coming Monday afternoon, starting at 2:00 o'clock, at the City Hall. Luin Cox is present chairman of the chapter, which draws its membership from Belmond, Norway and Pleasant townships, as well as Belmond proper.

Albert Hanson is currently vice-chairman of the organization; Mrs. A. M. Larson, secretary; Bert Hewlett, treasurer. Members of the board are: Mrs. Gerhard Thompson, Norway township; Mrs. James Barry, Pleasant; and Mrs. Orphie Anderson, Belmond.

Mr. Cox says that in addition to electing officers, the chapter will lay plans for the annual fund campaign in March. He stresses that all who gave to the Red Cross last year from this territory are members and welcome to attend the meeting.

March of Dimes Campaign Seeks to Refill Treasury

The 1950 March of Dimes gets under way in Wright county and throughout the nation this week and will continue for two weeks. Bill Mack, of Rowat and Murray Engineers, has been appointed local chairman.

Terming the 1950 March of Dimes the most critical in the history of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Robert Kay—Clarion attorney who is county chairman—says that the fund-raising machinery is all set to launch the greatest March of Dimes every undertaken.

"It is imperative," Mr. Kay said, "that all know the seriousness of today's polio situation. More than 40,000 cases were reported during 1949, the worst polio onslaught in the history of the disease in this country.

"With the polio epidemic the last two years depleting county, state and national funds, an all-out effort is necessary to carry on the work of the foundation. Particularly important, in addition to the aid to polio victims is the national foundation research program working toward developing a polio vaccine."

Locally, the year 1949 was the worst year for polio in Wright county and despite the fact that more money was raised in this county in the year 1949 than in any other year it was necessary to borrow additional sums from the National Foundation and at the present time the local Treasurer has unpaid bills in his hands totaling nearly $5,000.

"One Wright county polio case receiving aid has already cost the chapter over $3,000 thus far, with continued treatment and aid needed. It is through the March of Dimes campaign that hospitalization, treatment and other aid is provided those stricken with infantile paralysis," says Bill Mack, in urging Belmond citizens to contribute liberally.

Containers will be placed in Belmond business houses to receive donations; or checks may be mailed direct to Mr. Mack, the Belmond chairman states.

DAIRYMEN

With snow and cold weather eliminating pasture and other forage, your cattle are dependent on the feed you give them. It is to your interest, both for milk production and maintenance of body weight of the herd, that this feed contains the proper level of minerals, vitamins, and proteins. For a feed rich in these necessary nutrients, we suggest you use

BIG GAIN
32% SPRING PASTURE DAIRY CONCENTRATE or
18% GRAIN BASE DAIRY FEED or

Bulldogs Tumble To Broncs After 1st Quarter Lead

Trager Keys Rally That Brings Victory, 41-27

Belmond got off to a mighty slow start against Lake Mills here Friday evening but began hitting in the last half to record its seventh North Iowa victory and tenth win of the season, 41 to 27. Again it was Duane Trager, the loop's top point-maker, who provided the Broncos' margin. Held to a single free throw before the halftime buzzer, the big fellow tallied 14 points in the last two stanzas.

In the opening quarter, it looked like the Broncs might be in for a rough evening. The visitors jumped into a 7-1 lead and the period was well along before Sonny Greenfield hooped Belmond's first basket.

Dick Kriens pushed in a follow shot and Rollie Kinseth hit on a set shot to slice Lake Mills' edge to 7-5, only to have Eldean Matheson rack up a two-pointer to leave the Bulldogs in front by 9 to 7 at the period's end.

However, that took care of the Lake Mills scoring for the next eight minutes. The Broncos ran up a 16-9 lead before Matheson counted the visitors' next points just before halftime.

When play was resumed, Belmond steadily increased its advantage until the margin stood at 29-17. Again, just before the quarter ended, Matheson scored to leave the Broncs ahead 29-19 as the final period started.

Trager accounted for eight points in the closing quarter and Hanson netted four, as Lake Mills battled without success to reduce its deficit. Other than Trager, none of the Broncos marked up more than four points. Matheson was the Bulldogs' big gun, with a total of 10.

Besides improving on their scoring efforts, the Broncs' ballhawking was considerably more effective after the halftime recess, which contributed materially toward turning the tide.

The Belmond frosh-soph aggregation chalked up another win, trimming the Lake Mills underclassmen 24 to 14. The opening quarter, which ended in a 1-all deadlock, could just as well have been omitted. By halftime the Colts had gained a 10-5 bulge, and from there on kept control of the situation.

Helland was good for six points, Madsen five, Meyer four, Larkin three, Severseike, Pals and O'Connor two apiece. Severseike played his customary fine floor game to serve as king-pin in the Colts' defense.

A Special Message To You . . .
Mr. Farmer
. . . About Your Farm Machinery

When Spring rolls around . . . you'll want ALL your farm machinery to be in TIP TOP operating condition, won't you?

That way you'll be all set to go when the weather breaks . . . without costly delays waiting for parts or repairs . . . and without the risk of breakdowns in the field.

Now let's count noses! There are almost 1,300 farms in the Belmond trading vicinity . . . and only four farm implement dealers in Belmond doing service work.

That means all the farm machinery needing work from 325 farms will have to be cared for by EACH individual dealer . . . in the next 60 to 70 working days.

It can't be done! There just aren't enough hours in the day . . . so some farmers will have to wait.

YOU can be safe! You can be SURE your machinery is all set to go when you NEED IT . . . by simply visiting NOW . . . or phoning your dealer listed below. Ask him to set the date for your work.

Be an early bird . . . do it THIS WEEK . . . and play SAFE!

SCHOOL FASHIONS OF THE DAY

Did you go to school in the day of long hoop skirts and high boot-like shoes? If you did go to school in that fashion age, I certainly do feel sorry for you and I think everyone else in school agrees with me. But, you probably didn't mind it at all, did you, for you never thought of going to school in comfortable clothes. You didn't know what comfortable clothes were.

Some of you probably think it's terrible the way your daughters now come to school in jeans half of the time. But really, when you stop to think, jeans are very practical. If you were to ask a number of girls why they wore jeans to school, they would simply say, "They're comfortable." Could this be said about clothes you wore to school 30 years ago?

Why has there been such a change in the school styles in the last 30 to 36 years? Simply because everything else is changing in the world, including the school itself, the activities and the surroundings of the younger generation.

Since you mothers have become used to it, you probably don't mind a bit. It really is sensible as far as the budget is concerned, too. I'll bet you hurry through that weekly washing and ironing in fewer minutes, don't you? I can just hear you breath a sigh of relief after seeing there are no fancy dresses and frilly blouses with several rows of ruffles to iron or no stiff collared shirts to contend with. You like the economy end of it too, don't you dad?

And who should you thank? Why, just thank us and The School Fashions of the Day.

HONOR ROLL

These are the students in Junior high and high school who have earned a B average or better in the last semester of school.

In Junior high school there are only two, Oliver Olsen and Marjorie Barkema. In Senior High school: there are no freshmen on the honor roll for the first semester; sophomores—Kenneth Norem, James Larson, Iola Fekkers; juniors—Phyllis Vestweber and Carol Jean Johnson; Seniors—Denise Ainslie.

Views on the News

How old do you think you should be before receiving a driver's license?

Mr. Bulka—18, as youngsters haven't much sense of responsibility under 18.

Denise Ainslie—16, as I really don't think it would do much good to change the age limit to 18 or 21 because the younger kids will drive anyway.

Edith Schulte — I agree with the present age limit.

William Beenen—18, because most 18-year-olds and over have more sense of responsibility.

MANUAL TRAINING

The boys are starting in on new projects. Duane Blau and Larry Myers are making lamps and Gordon Paullus is making an end table. Robert Brandt is making a hall tree. Roger Modderman and Marvin Draper are finishing bookcases. Lowell is making an end table. Billy has just finished his ping pong table. Richard Kaduce is making a bedside table.

What's Doin' In Music

Boys from the junior class are Billy Beenen, Marvin Draper, Robert Brand and Larry Myers. There are no boys in this section from the senior class.

BAND

The band is now practicing new numbers for the pre-state band contest at Clear Lake.

The band has a new member, Sandra Johnson, who plays an alto saxophone.

The band played in the contest last year and received a number II rating. Since ratings run from I to IV, the members were quite elated, but hope for a I rating this year.

Home Economics News

The first year class members are getting ready to sew and have been conducting some burning tests to tell the different types of fabrics.

The second year class is still working on home furnishings, but soon will begin on sewing. There is a new member in this class, Denise Ainsie.

HARDWOOD HI-LITES

Phyllis Vestweber of the girls' basketball team, is after her third letter. Her freshmen year she played guard, and in her second year and this year, she has played forward. Her height is 5' 3½". She has scored 38 points this year.

A fine substitute for the boys team is James Larson. This is his first year of basketball. He is a sophomore and his height is 5' 10". Forward is his position on the team. His improvement has been great this year and we are sure that within the next two years he will be a fine player.

7th and 8th Grade News

Best spellers for the semester in the 8th grade are Marjorie Barkema and Oliver Olson. Marjorie missed no words in her final weekly tests and Oliver missed only two. The top speller in the 7th grade is Sandra Johnson.

5th and 6th Grade News

Miss Hassebrock had a birthday, and the students surprised her with a lovely atomizer and two handkerchiefs. She treated them with ice cream and cookies.

3rd and 4th Grade News

During the past two weeks, we have celebrated three birthdays. Janice Fekkers, Steven Greenfield and Marlene Rodecap. The class says, "Thanks for the treats."

We have just finished redecorating our room, making winter pictures out of cloth. They are very pretty.

The third and fourth grade plan to give a short play at the next P. T. A. meeting.

2nd Grade News

There were four boys in our room that were neither absent nor tardy during the first semester.

John Rodecap treated the room to candy and gum last week on his birthday.

Kindergarten News

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Bohning visited our room.

Friday Jeanine treated our room for her birthday.

Students who have been neither absent or tardy this semester are Norman Bohning and Thomas Mitchell.

ATHLETIC NEWS

Both Alexander girls and boys lost their games to Hansell a week ago Tuesday night. The Hansell boys won 58 to 29 and the girls by a 70-32 score.

The Geneva-Alexander game which was to be played here last Friday night was postponed on account of the icy roads. The game will be played Friday, Jan. 27.

The Alexander girls played Hansell in the Franklin county tournament last week, losing 55 to 33.

Old Lamp

Dr. Jr. R. Dewey of Schaller found an old time gas streetlamp in his garage some years ago and has had it mounted in his yard, wired for electricity. Except for that modern addition, the lamp is just the same as it used to be when the "village lamplighter" turned it on before the turn of the century. Carefully made, the lamp has four wrought-iron sides, with glass panes of tinted rose and amber.

NOTICE OF DRAINAGE ASSESSMENT

Drainage District No. 215

To the following named owners of the following described lands and to every person in actual occupancy or claiming any right, title, or interest in any of said lands:

You and each of you are hereby notified that the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, acting as provided for by Section 455.45 Code of Iowa, appointed Mr. Emil Bock and Mr. C. F. Axon, disinterested resident freeholders of Wright County, and Laurence W. Murray, competent civil engineer, as commissioners to assess benefits and classify the lands affected by Drainage District No. 215, and to apportion and assess the costs and expenses of constructing the said drain according to law and their best judgment, skill, and ability. The said commissioners have filed their report in the auditor's office showing the amount of assessment of costs and expenses of construction apportioned to each owner as follows:

Wagoner-Blau Marriage Rites Held Last Week

Miss Patty Wagoner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wagoner of Belmond, and Marvin Blau, son of Mrs. Reka Blau of Alexander, were united in marriage at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday evening of last week at the Methodist church in Belmond with the Rev. H. Miller performing the single ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a grey suit dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. She also wore a silver and rhinestone necklace, a gift from the groom.

Mrs. Ralph Jones, Belmond, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mr. Jones was best man.

A reception was held in the church basement following the wedding. The lunch was served by Mrs. Toby Hemmes and Mrs. Peter Koenen of Latimer, sisters of the bride. There were 35 guests present.

After a wedding trip to St. Paul Minn., the couple is at home in Alexander.

Two Local Girls Repeat Vows In Double Wedding

Last Sunday at 2:30 p. m. the Trinity Lutheran chuch at Albert Lea, Minn., was the scene of the double wedding of Miss Wanda Jenison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vere Jenison of Belmond, to Charles C. Caponi, son of Mrs. Lucille Caponi of Mason City, and Miss Christine Halversen of Belmond to Daniel Veeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Veeder of Belmond. Rev. Gertz officiated at the joint double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Veeder's brother, Howard Halversen, who attends Waldorf college at Forest City, gave his sister away.

Both brides carried rose corsages.

Mrs. Caponi graduated from Belmond high school with the class of 1946, attended Waldorf college for two years, has been an employee of the Central Telephone company, and for the past year has worked in the office of Central States Electric company at Belmond.

Mr. Caponi graduated from Mason City high school, attended barber school at Sioux City, served in the army during World War II and is employed as a barber at Mason City.

Mr. and Mrs. Caponi will be at home in Mason City after Feb. 1.

Mrs. Veeder graduated from high school in 1945 at Detroit, Mich., after which she attended Waldorf college at Forest City, where she and Mrs. Caponi became friends. She worked for Ford Motor Co., Detroit, Mich. and at present is employed at General Mills, Inc., Belmond.

Mr. Veeder graduated with the class of 1944 from Belmond high school, served in the navy during World War II, attended barber college at Sioux City and at present is the owner of Dan's Barber Shop.

Miss Gealow Wed To Guy Quasdorf

Miss Esther Gealow, daughter of Mrs. Marie Gealow of Belmond and Guy Quasdorf of Belmond, son of Mrs. Dora Quasdorf of Dows, were united in marriage Jan. 10 at the St. John American Lutheran parsonage with the Reverend H. P. Senft officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jante of Garner, friends of the bride.

The ladies wore rose corsages and the men white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Quasdorf has been living with her mother. Mr. Quasdorf served in the army during World War II and since has been employed by Peter Kalkwarf.

After a trip through Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska the newly married couple will be at home at the home of the bride's mother.

Broncos Trounce Clarion, 44 to 30

Belmond made a clean sweep of its home-and-home basketball series with Clarion by whipping the Cowboys Tuesday evening at the county seat, 44 to 30. After the first quarter there was little doubt as to the ulimate outcome.

Clarion made a determined effort in the opening stages to keep the Broncs within hailing distance, but the end of the opening period found the Cowpokes already trailing, 9 to 5. From that point on the gap widened steadily until by halftime the Belmond boys had built up a 24-15 advantage.

Sid Swenson was good for nine points in the first half and Duane Trager pitched in seven, the two accounting for enough between them to outscore the Cowboys by a point. Their joint totals for the entire game just exactly equalled the points made by the entire Clarion team, Trager piling in 17 and Swenson 12.

It was mainly through the efforts of the Belmond sharpshooting duo that the second half followed the pattern of the first. While Swenson's point production fell off somewhat, the Bronco center hit five times from the floor to keep the winners safely in the lead. Their three-quarter edge was 33-21.

Belmond's freshman-sophomore aggregation snatched a close one out of the fire in the curtain-raiser, 37 to 35. The Colts saw a comfortable halftime lead of nine points—19 to 10—melt away, but managed to eke out a victory as three foes left the floor on fouls.

Severseike, "The Scrapper," was pretty much the difference between the two teams. The lanky blond forward whipped the net for 16 points, 11 coming in the last half. Meyer counted nine points for the Colts, Helland five, Madsen four, Larkin two and Pals one.

ments can be accepted by mail, applications for homestead credit must be witnessed by the auditor or a deputy. Mr. Henry explains that a considerable amount of assessment expense can be saved if as many property owners as possible stop at his Clarion office to sign their homestead applications, thus keeping down to a minimum the number that will have to be completed through local arrangements in various taxing districts.

"We do not necessarily expect taxpayers to make a special trip to Clarion for this purpose," Mr. Henry states. "But it will be of great assistance if all who have occasion to visit Clarion will make a point of disposing of this matter while in town.

So far, letters requesting the mailing of personal property information have been sent out to all residents in the two northern tiers of townships in the county. By Feb. 9, those in the remaining townships will have received the letters, and residents of the incorporated communities of the county will be contacted as quickly as possible, thereafter.

"All of these innovations are being made in the interest of economy,' Mr. Henry stresses. "If the auditor's office receives the completest possible cooperation from the taxpayers in these matters, it is certain to add up to considerable savings in dispatching the duties of that office."

KANAWHA FARMER SENTENCED TO PEN

Ben Johns, Kanawha farmer who was arrested Nov. 27 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, Monday was sentenced by Judge T. A. Beardmore in Mason City to three years in the state penitentiary on a previous similar charge.

The offense on which sentence was passed occurred last summer and represented the third time the defendant had been charged with drunken driving. He pleaded guilty as charged, in his Monday hearing, and a prison term was obligatory by law.

County Attorney Harlan Larson has made no disposition of the charge outstanding against Johns in this county and has not indicated whether or not the accused will also be brought before the bench on the fourth OMVI count.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

What are the farmers going to do with land taken out of corn production? Now there's a good question. We don't know the answer. We doubt if any handful of farmers would endeavor to guess what the majority of their brethren are planning to do. In an effort to get some line on the matter we paid a visit to Everett Anderson at the Olaf elevator to see what tack the conversation of his customers has been taking. He informed us that, individually, each one seems to be just as much up in the air as the next fellow.

—RFD—

"I will say this, tho," Everett commented, "there's been a lot of them hint — not come right out and say it, but just hint — that they plan to go right ahead and plant as much corn as they want to and take their chances on what the market price does. It has rather surprised me that so many show this inclination."

—RFD—

From what he's heard, Everett doubts that many will replace over-allotment corn with beans, as some of the "experts" seem to expect. He suggests as the reason for this, the fact that bean prices have shown a tendency to slump by considerable amounts at one fell swoop. He suspects that the farmers ai a little nervous as to just what the bean market might do if there was a general trend toward substituting beans on the acres taken out of corn production.

—RFD—

Processors of waxy maize, he says, tell their contract farmers that this type of corn will not be counted in figuring their corn acreage; and they hope to induce more farmers in this vicinity to plant that variety of grain. Not a great deal of waxy maize has been raised in this immediate area, but Everett says that quite a number of farmers somewhat to the south and east of Wright county have been going in for it and some of them consider it an especially good cash crop.

—RFD—

The maize, he tells us, is mainly processed to produce glue for postage stamps. There must be a story back of this. Tapioca starch from roots of the tropical cassava plant was once the main source of the adhesive—may still be, for all we know. Anyway, the maize produces a similar "tapioca starch" and perhaps made inroads on the cassava market during the war, as a substitute.

—RFD—

The farmer raises this grain under contract, with the processor providing the seed, so we were told. This past year maize-producers were paid either market price (of regular corn) plus 12 per cent, or government loan price plus six per cent. The farmer simply informs the contractor when he is selling and has the privilege of trying to guess the top market—providing, of course, that need for immediate cash doesn't force the sale. Everett says he understands the farmer can call the sale any time up to September of 1950.

—RFD—

The maize quite closely resembles ordinary corn, but Everett says he has found that it measures out better, when it's been shelled. He reports that the shelled maize will often measure 10 per cent higher than would ordinary corn from a crib of the same size. Maybe that's an additional reason why the grain has met with favor in a good many instances.

—RFD—

We see that the American Crystal Sugar Co. of Mason City, as it goes about signing up farmers this year, is emphasizing, "Sugar beet acreage fits in nicely with the 1950 Farm Program." Could it be that we may be seeing a reappearance of beet fields in these parts?

—RFD—

While speaking of corn, we might repeat what Everett told us about an unhappy experience one of his customers had with his pigs last fall, by turning them into his down corn. The critters were sufficiently finished to market when the price was still high, but their owner decided he'd just as well get those fallen ears into them and get his money out of the grain without breaking his back. While the pigs were enjoying themselves, the market began to plunge. The farmer hung on, hoping prices would turn the other direction—and ended up hardly able to get for his heavier animals what they would have brought if he'd sold them when they were first ready. About all he could say for the whole deal was, "Well, I got the corn out of the field." Must have been quite a few farmers caught in the same situation.

—RFD—

"Tiny," a pint-sized terrier belonging to Everett's two boys—Eddie, nine, and Denny, six—had us watching goggle-eyed as he skirmished around the elevator office cleaning up every stray kernel of corn that he could lay his tongue on. We've seen dogs with appetites that definitely were not finicky, but it was the first time we'd ever see one relish field corn the way Tiny did.

Everett told us he knew lots of dogs that ate corn. In fact, the way he said it, you'd think it was Fido's favorite tid-bit. Maybe so—but it was a new one on us.

"Why, that dog will eat anything," Everett bragged. "Anything he sees the kids eating at the table, he figures is good enough for him. Of course, some things that the kids don't particularly like and make a face over, he makes a face over it, too. But he'll eat it."

Next time we pay Everett a visit, we're going to take his pet half a peck of oats. And the durn fool dog will likely gobble 'em down and lick his chops!

BELMOND BUSY BEES

The regular meeting of the Belmond Busy Bees was held Jan. 14, at the home of Sandra Didio.. The meeting was called to order by President Mary Lou Baker. Ten members, three visitors and two leaders were present.

It was decided to send $3.00 to the International Youth Exchange Fund. After the regular business meeting, Sandra Didio, explained the picture "Sistine Madonna" and Joann Slining explained "Praying Hands." Mary Lou Baker demonstrated how to measure and draw a room plan. Mrs. Hommervold showed pictures on good and poor color schemes for a bedroom. Mrs. Strait explained expense accounts and Mrs. Donald Markham and Mrs. Hommervold demonstrated mixing different colors to get desired hues.

Lunch was served by the hostess, Sandra Didio and 'assistant hostess, Marjorie Gabrielson.

Keeping Good Records Of Farm Transactions Helps to Boost Profits

A good set of farm records will help keep Wright County farmers on the road to profits in 1950, observes County Extention Director Aaron Bowman.

He says a farm account book provides a basis for figuring out ways to make farming pay and, at the same time, avoid losses. A good farm record shows where money was spent in the business and it also shows which parts of the farming enterprise are yielding the best returns.

"With this information, it's easy to relate income and expenses, and then make plans that favor the part of the business that's the soundest," Bowman says.

He thinks every Wright County farmer ought to keep a record of inventory costs and depreciation costs on buildings and fences, fertilizer costs and an annual feed and livestock inventory along with all other expenses and receipts.

A record of actual expenditures may prevent paying for an item twice and a record book can serve as a financial credit statement. The book also affords a means of filing tax returns and fire or damage claims.

The county extention director says there are several methods of keeping farm records. One is to keep a small notebook and make entries as business is transacted.

Another method is to record every expenditure and payment by posting checks and deposit slips. However, it's sometimes easy to miss small items with this last method, Bowman says.

He thinks making entries in the book regularly each day at the noon or evening meal is a good idea. For those who do not yet have a 1950 farm record book he has some in his office that have been designed especially for Iowa farmers by H. B. Howell, farm economist at Iowa State College. Bowman says the books are available to Wright county farmers at cost.

Richard Hill Wins First In Record Book Contest

The Farm Project record book winners for 1949 were selected recently by the Wright county boy's 4-H committee. Richard J Hill, member of the Iowa Hawkeyes, Alexander, was again judged as having the first place record book, repeating his 1948 accomplishment.

Other winners include: Willis Muhlenbruck, Clarion, Grant Growers club; Glenn Lyons, Goldfield, Eagle Liberty; Beryl Reichter, Goldfield, Eagle Liberty; Larry Aldrich, Belmond, Iowa Hawkeyes; Rosemary Draves, Dows, Blaine Livewires.

All of these members have received awards from the Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn company, out of a $25.00 fund made available to Wright county for distribution.

Placing for these awards were determined on the basis of the pictures, clippings, stories, and completed activity and project inserts.

Farmers Can Learn How to Save Money, Backaches at Pest Clinic

The tremendous losses and backaches corn borers and weeds caused this past year is reason enough for every farmer in the county to attend the Pest Control Clinic at Eagle Grove high school gym next Monday, a spokesman for the local committee said today.

Corn borers alone took a toll of more than $150 million in the state, according to estimates made this fall. Average reduction in yield caused by borers in the county has been estimated to be 10-12 bushels per acre.

Corn borers damage the crop in a number of ways. They feed on leaves, break mid-ribs and destroy leaf surfaces, all of which results in reduced yields. They tunnel through stalks, cutting across food channels, starving the ear, weakening the plant and opening the way for stalk rot.

Direct ear damage is caused by borers tunneling in the shank, cutting off the food supply and preventing development of a normal ear. Borers feeding on the kernels, in the silks, and in the cob—they prevent pollination, promote disease and cause unsightly or lower grade kernels.

In addition to these losses, are the unmeasurable indirect losses caused by borers. These include wasted time in picking, picker accidents due to weakened stalks and plugged pickers, and lowered feeding value of borer-damaged corn.

Weeds, too, take a heavy toll. An estimate made before the war and based on prices then was that weeds take a $50 million slice out of Iowa farm income annually. E. P. Sylvester, extension weed control specialist at Iowa State college and recognized as the best authoritiy on the subject in the state, says that the carrying capacity of our pastures can be increased 15 to 25 per per cent by good weed control programs.

Crop yields are reduced by 10 to 15 per cent by weeds, depending on the moisture and plant nutrient supply.

In seasons of plenty of moisture and in fields where the fertility level is high, yield reductions are smaller because there is enough to go around to both crop plants [illegible] in fields of average [illegible] during dry seasons, [illegible] more than their share [illegible] food and moisture and crops [illegible]

In addition to the losses [illegible] yield caused by weeds, they increase cost of production by requiring the spending of time and labor in controlling them. They are unsightly and lower land values. They poison humans and livestock. They decrease the quality of the crop and make for unsightliness wherever they are found, be it around the farm-yard, garden, fence row, roadside, or fields.

Should a necessity carry a high federal tax?

Telephone service is generally considered to be a necessity. Yet the Federal tax on long distance and other telephone service goes as high as 25%! The tax on luxuries is only 20%. That means the necessary long distance telephone call you may have to make in an emergency will be taxed higher than luxuries.

And that is only part of the telephone tax picture. Federal tax increases your local service bill by 15%. Long distance calls of 25c or over are taxed 25%. Other forms of telephone service are taxed from 8 to 25%. This excise tax is imposed directly upon you as a telephone user. Your telephone company, at its own expense, acts as a tax collector.

These excise taxes are in addition to the corporation income taxes and other taxes which the company pays to the federal government either directly or indirectly.

We are sure your Senators and Representatives in Congress would welcome your views as a taxpayer and citizen in helping them to guide future action on this peacetime tax of a necessity.

An Important Suggestion

Do Not Cash Checks

For Strangers

BUT IF FOR SOME REASON YOU FEEL MUST CASH A STRANGER'S CHECK, FOLLOW THESE FEW SIMPLE RULES:

1. Have stranger sign his name on paper while you watch.
2. Ask for credentials bearing his signature. Keep in mind that credentials are often lost, or stolen.
3. Compare the sample signature with the credentials.
4. If you are not completely satisfied, don't cash checks.
5. Be especially careful if they ask for additional cash.
6. Remember—an honest man admires you for being careful—a crook does not welcome investigation.
7. Professional crooks carry impressive checks!
8. You run a business not a gambling house! Don't bet the profit on a sale against loss of property and money.

Homestead Applications

Some of you have asked if it is necessary to come to the courthouse in order to sign up for homestead credit.

We have suggested that if you are in Clarion for any reason whatsoever, that you take time to come to this office and file your homestead credit application.

If you have been unable to apply for your homestead credit within a reasonable period, we will establish headquarters for a limited time in your City Hall or some other convenient location, and will ask you to appear there and complete the blanks.

There are certain difficulties at the present time that make it impractical to handle these applications in any other way. However, we believe we have made the matter quite simple and not a burden to any one.

Again may we ask your whole-hearted cooperation that you, the taxpayer, save yourself some tax money.

Here's Why There's No Talk Of Federal Aid Toward the Hospital

We've been keeping a sharp eye out for the cost of constructing hospitals here and there and the thing that has struck us more than anything else is the high COST of ACCEPTING a federal handout. It has thoroughly convinced us with the incontrovertible fact that anyone who thinks he's getting something for nothing from the government is just plain nuts.

A typical comparison that we recall involved one town building a 22-bed hospital with strictly local funds and another building one to provide 33 beds, with a federal grant for one-third of the cost. In spite of the fact that bed space is probably the least costly part of hospital construction, the over-all expense of the larger building was about TWICE that of the smaller.

From a construction standpoint, space for those 11 extra beds should have made the cost of the larger hospital appreciably less than 50 per cent higher than the locally-financed project. Actually, the additional bed space was boosting the cost roughly 100 per cent. This was no isolated case; it's the general rule that federal aid COSTS dearly.

If you've been wondering why there's been no talk of accepting federal aid toward construction of Belmond's new hospital, there's the answer.

And wrapped up in this one example is a clear explanation of why federal deficit spending is becoming a matter of habit—and why higher taxes are going to be inevitable unless something concrete is done about government red tape, inefficiency and poor management.

If The Senator Really Wants To Speak for Us, Let's Help Him

We have received a personal letter from Sen. Guy M. Gillette which rather brightened our day—kind of made us feel that all is not lost so long as enough men of his calibre continue to hold seats in Congress.

Senator Gillette may have had in the back of his mind that such a letter going to each newspaper editor in the state might not be a bad stunt, from a publicity standpoint. If so, we don't condemn him for that, because we believe in the sincerety of the request which he made of us. We quote:

> "It is very helpful to me in my work here if I can have as much information as possible as to what the people I represent are thinking about the problems (facing Congress) and what conclusions they may have reached. I shall be very grateful to hear from you with any information or suggestions which might give me a picture of the thinking of the people in your circulation area and I would particularly like to have your own viewpoint."

Now that, to our notion, is a very ical (though, perhaps, un-Washington-e) approach to finding out the home s' opinion on matters of national and rnational importance.

Not only that, we're going to take his invitation and actually a letter, unburdening ourselves on some matters that have been riling us no little. Since we hesitate to speak for all our readers, we suggest that YOU, TOO, take pen in hand.

Just address your missive to: Hon. Guy M. Gillette, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. Bear in mind, there aren't very many people who give a darn what YOU think. We believe Senator Gillette really does.

So - - We're Telling You

The Iowa Dairy Industry Commission asks us to advise our readers that the national butter interests are to spend tens of thousands of dollars in February and March to promote their product in national magazines, metropolitan newspapers and Express posters. We looked carefully for an "ad order" for our paper, but could find none. Guess the publicity is to appear in the weekly papers on a gratis basis. . . Well, we've told you about the campaign. Now — three rousing cheers for margarine!

Farmers And Merchants Feed Kitty But Can Never Win the Pot

When Social Security taxes increased from two to three per cent at the start of the year, there was a good deal of publicity given the fact that those taxes —half paid by the employer and half by the employee—will not build up a fund large enough to finance actual payments under the Social Securitiy program. In other words, a deficit is sure to develop in the Social Security account that will have to be made up out of general tax revenue.

This has many a farmer and small business owner scratching his head and wondering just where he fits into the picture. We can tell 'em. The farmer gets into it "going"; and the business man gets it "coming and going."

In other words, the farmer is going to help make up that deficit; and the poor, benighted business man first tosses in the kitty and then has to help make up the difference because it comes out short.

Personally, we think that the principle behind Social Security is O. K. It helps an individual set up modest safeguards for his family, in the event of his death while there are minor children in the home; and it assists him in making modest provision for his old age, if he lives to be 65. Even insurance companies, with whom the Social Security program to a considerable extent competes, gives it their blessing.

But it does seem grossly unfair that large classes of people, who will have to help finance the program in the long run, are excluded from its benefits. They are forced to pay for something that they, themselves, have no part in.

To our notion that too closely approximates "taxation without representation." Farmers and small business men should have the privilege of directly contributing to the fund and participating in the benefits of Social Security, if they desire to do so.

Wallace's Farmer Stretches A Point In Attempting to Prove One

Wallace's Farmer recently conducted a poll of Iowa farmers to determine what their individual opinions were in regard to support prices vs. production payments as the best method of preventing drop of hog prices below support levels promised by the government.

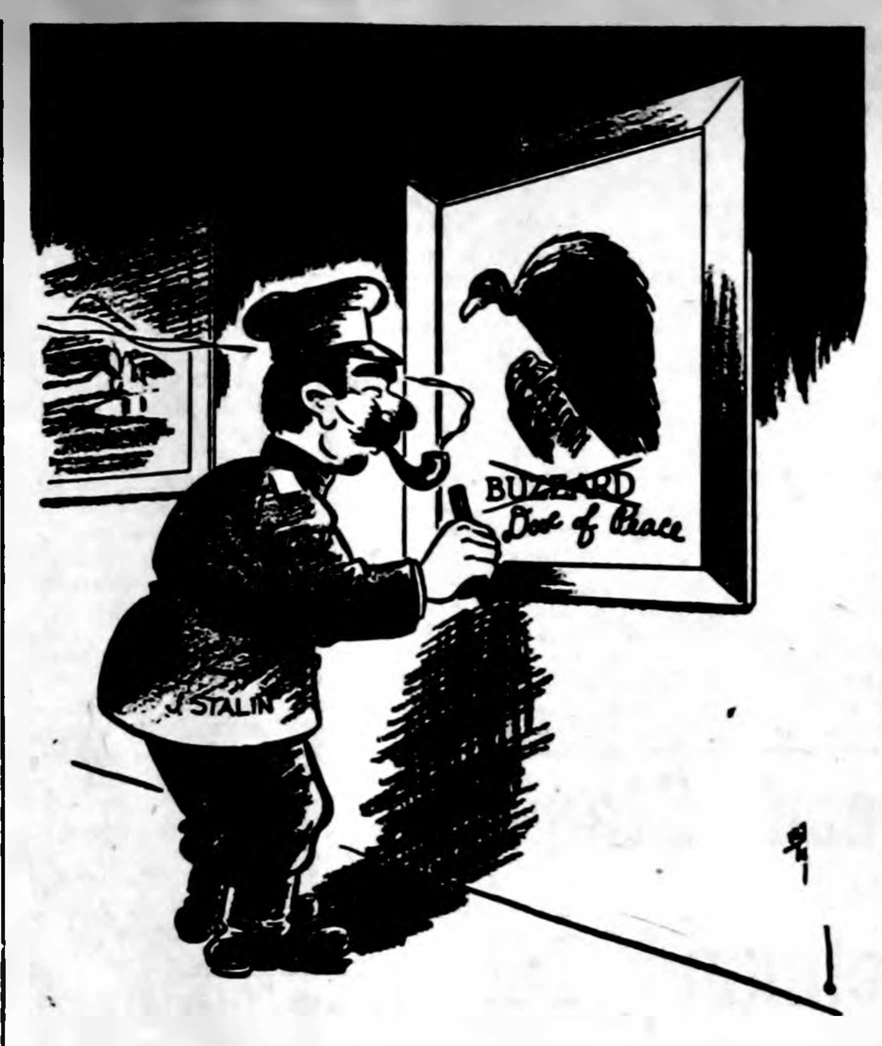
The magazine makes quite a point of the fact that Farm Bureau members who were questioned expressed preference for the production payment idea by a percentage margin of 46 to 35.

Like a chicken jumping on a bug, the journal pounces on the fact that both the American and Iowa Farm Bureaus have taken official stands against the production payment plan—which Secretary Brannan proposes to use in support of ALL products, storable AND perishable.

However, at the state Farm Bureau convention the resolutions committee put it on record that the Bureau feels the Secretary of Agriculture should be authorized to use production payments if no other support method for perishable commodities appears feasible.

This plainly refutes Wallace's Farmer's inference that even a majority of farmer-members of the Bureau are not in accord with the Bureau's opposition to the Brannan plan.

We'd say that either accidentally—or otherwise—the journal made a bum choice of product when it selected hogs as the basis of their poll; at least if it was intended to prove or disprove that the average farmer's viewpoint is not reflected by the Bureau.



Who does he think he's fooling?

Meat Production in 1949 Greatest On Record For A Peace-Time Year

Chicago, Jan. 17 — The year 1949 saw the largest peace-time meat production on record, a summary of the year's livestock market reveals.

The total of 22,636,000 pounds represented over a billion pounds or 19 percent increase over last year. It compared to the war-time peak of 25,178,000,000 of 1944. Meat experts expect that war-time levels of production will be reached next year.

They cite population gains and relative high consumer demand as causes for continued high production. They predict that more and more of the current huge corn supply will go into livestock production.

Beef production in 1949 at nearly 10 billion pounds was nearly half a billion pounds over 1948.

The half billion pounds of lamb and mutton produced were the smallest slaughter in a quarter of a century, but authorities are expecting high market incentive and an improved labor supply in the west to cause producers to increase their flocks.

The Chicago Stock Yards in 1949 handled the largest hog receipts in three years, due to the large pig crop but also a trend away from direct selling in the country.

The price break is not expected to curtail production of hogs, since the corn-hog ration is favorable to hog feeding. The average for the year was $18.25, a drop of $5.25 from 1948.

Though the cattle market broke badly early in the year, it enjoyed a large measure of recovery in later months. The price average of $25.90 was still the third highest average here on record.

The price range between the various grades was one of the widest on record. Very prime selections were scarce, and a new all-time record was set here November 25 when a load went at $43.50 per cwt.

Demand for feeder cattle was good. The figures indicates the July to November totals of cattle moving to feedlots were a new record for the period.

Some record prices were established on the sheep market. Slaughter lambs went to $32.25 in early spring. Native spring lambs sold for a peak of $35.00, and yearlings went as high as $30.00, both prices being records.

The year's lamb trade here averaged $24.40, the second highest average on record.

Editor's Note: The following letter was received in regard to the Brannan Plan controversy. We appreciated receiving it; but at the same time, we regretted that the writer did not see fit to make his name known. Our first impulse was to throw away the letter because of this omission, but in the hope that it might arouse further comment for publication, we decided to publish it. We will be pleased to print other opinions on the matter. However, in writing, PLEASE SIGN YOUR NAME!

Sirs:

I have been interested in reading your farm column. I noticed that in this week's paper you ask for opinions concerning the Brannan plan, for and against. I feel that the way the issue was presented is going to give many readers a mistaken idea of the two plans.

As it is written in this article, farmers are to give their opinion as to whether they prefer the Brannan plan or the parity principle. As I understand it, the Brannan plan is a parity plan—insuring a higher rate of parity than the present plan supported by the Farm Bureau leaders.

Farmers should be asked whether they prefer the Brannan full parity plan or the sliding scale plan which could let farm prices drop as low as 75 per cent of parity.

I do not believe that the Farm Bureau's stand against the Brannan plan reflects the average farmer's opinion on this matter. In fact, according to information which I have read recently, about 60 per cent of Farm Bureau's own members are in favor of the Brannan plan.

You mentioned in your article that the Grange was against the Brannan plan. I am enclosing a clipping showing that the Granges of these six states voted in favor of it — California, Ohio, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

To the question, "Does the Brannan plan have few if any backers in this area?" I would say, "Yes, the majority of farmers are in favor of it."

Respectfully,
A Local Farm Owner and Operator

SPURLING'S CAFE

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Good, Old Iowa Winter

When the ducks went south last fall, I don't mind telling you, I rather wished I was going with them.

But in another way, those tropical lands sometimes make a fellow appreciate Iowa even more. Without cold weather how could we enjoy the first days of spring? Without winter's coming, would we appreciate Iowa's fine autumns so much?

It's the VARIETY that makes Iowa such a grand state to live in. We Iowans enjoy that same breadth and variety in all our tastes and ideas. Of a winter evening, when neighbors come to our house, some like a cup of tea, some coffee, some a temperate glass of beer or ale. Some talk one kind of politics, some another. But we all respect each one's right to his own choice and preferences.

That's what makes good neighbors, a good community—recognizing that nature isn't always the same, and people's tastes aren't always the same . . . and it would be mighty monotonous if they were.

Charlene Edwards Urges Generous Giving Towards Youth Exchange Program

Charlene Edwards, Liberty towsnhip 4-H girl who received a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress last month for her outstanding record in 1949, urges 4-H members, leaders and friends to give generously in support of the International Farm Youth Exchange.

"The national 4-H theme for 1950 is 'A Better Living for a Better Word"; and I know of no better way to help promote a better world than through this program," Charlene says. At the national congress she says she had "the privilege of seeing how the Exchange movement is growing."

Through the program, young people from abroad are enabled to live for a number of weeks on American farms, and farm youths from this country go overseas to enjoy similar visits.

Last year 10 nations participated in the program; this year, six more have been added to the list. Three Iowa young people had the opportunity of participating in the exchange project last summer.

Contributions towards the 1950 program are to be turned in at the county extension office by Feb. 1.

Gunderson's delivery truck made a quick conversion from groceries to grade school kids last Thursday morning as the frigid weather made class attendance even less attractive than usual. As the truck stopped on east Main Street, the driver's offer of a "lift" brought a swarm of kids on the run, eager to avail themselves of the chance to avoid a jaunt through the cold. An expression of dissatisfaction over the quality of the Bible verses that a syndicated service was providing for the Independent's editorial column was expressed some weeks ago by Editor Pat Gallagher during a visit at his mother's Grinnell home.

It brought forth an offer from Mrs. Gallagher to send along some of her favorites —which have been appearing the past month or so.

If any of you readers would like to submit favorite verses to head the editorials, send them along and we'll place them on file for for future use. They should be brief and pertinent to present-day living. Verses offering "good advice" or having particular timeliness are mainly desired.

After struggling for a dozen weeks to maintain a game average in the vicinity of 120 pins in the Main Street bowling league, Rowat and Murray's keglers lit a fuse under the redoubtable Thompsen Clothiers quintet last Thursday night with an 804 game.

Led by Dave Hamilton's 212 performance, the engineers exceeded a 160 average for the one line and larruped Dutch's outfit without any need for their sizeable handicap.

Just goes to show, you can't trust NO-body, no more — no how.

—MS—

A team of Thompson Hybrid gals took a team of Thompson guys at Bowl-Mor last Saturday, with the two-out-of-three losers to pay for an ensuing feed. The ladies were granted a 175-pin handicap per game, but hardly required it in winning the first two lines. Behaving most peculiarly, pins came flying out of the pit with revolting (to the men) regularity to help the ladies chalk up strikes and spares galore.

When a pin even came bounding from an adjoining alley to complete one spare—and thereby brought a smug grin to the face of non-combatant Bill Trafford — the morose males were sure the "fix was in" and the pin-boys were not maintaining proper impartiality.

Either the boys' throwing arms got tired—or Bill ran out of quarters—in the third game, however, as the gents managed to snatch that one.

Hospital Finance Group Gets Busy

Harold Simerson and members of the hospital finance committee are making the rounds at present in pursuit of major donations to the hospital building fund.

For the time being, the committee members are employing pledge cards rather than asking for immediate cash contributions, pending action on the proposed city bond issue to provide for $50,000 of the hospital cost.

It is the hope of the finance committee that a fair percentage of the total building expense will be pledged by the time the bond issue is voted upon in the March municipal election.

"There will be plenty of slack for other donors to take up when the final drive for funds is launched following the election," the financial chairman predicts.

"We are hoping that all heads of families in the area the hospital will serve are giving plenty of thought to consideration of the size of donation they will make when the time comes. It will require generosity on the part of all whom the hospital will serve to make its construction possible.

"Provision will also be made, at the time of the general canvass, for individuals who can't give as much in cash as they'd like, to pledge a definite number of hours of work on the project. We want everyone to have the [illegible] to give up to the [illegible]."

PETITIONS OUT MONDAY

On Monday, a crew of workers assembled by Mary Gordon of the hospital political committee will canvass Belmond with petitions requesting establishment of the $50,000 hospital bond issue as a special question in the coming municipal election. Petition sheets also may be signed at The Independent office at any time during the day. The petitions must be presented to the city council at its Monday night meeting.

Red Cross Names Hanson Chairman For Current Year

A. C. Hanson was elected chairman of the Belmond Chapter of the American Red Cross at a meagerly attended meeting of members held Monday afternoon at the City Hall. Mr. Hanson served as vice chairman last year.

Elected to the vice-chairmanship for 1950 was Mrs. L. M. Helland. M. C. Jensen was named to succeed Mrs. Helland on the executive committee. His term will run four years. Mrs. Gerhard Thompson was reelected for a three-year term as Norway township's representative on the executive committee.

Other officers re-named to offices held last year were: B. C. Hewlett, treasurer; Mrs. A. M. Larson, secretary; and Mrs. Viva Parker, Junior Red Cross chairman.

Kenneth Kickbush, owner of the Western Auto Associate store, was appointed chairman of the fund campaign which will be conducted in March. Ted Behrends has agreed to serve as co-chairman for the drive.

The chapter members voted to continue the water safety program that has been conducted for the benefit of Belmond youngsters the past three years. Again this summer a six-week course of instruction will be held at the Clarion pool for local swimmers and would-be swimmers.

PREPS "TAG-ENDERS" ON H. S. HONOR ROLL FOR FIRST SEMESTER

Only seven freshman students of Belmond High school got off to a flying scholastic start during the first semester by qualifying for the honor roll. In announcing the names of those who "made the grade"—the grade being a "B" average, Principal Ceabern Squires pointed out that the race for top class honors was a close one between the seniors and sophomores.

The seniors, completing their next-to-last term, placed 13 on the select list, followed closely by the sophs with an even dozen. Nine juniors attained the sought for "B" average—leaving the freshmen bringing up the rear.

The following students were included on the first term honor roll:

Freshmen — Barbara Bohning, Shirley Bohning, Maxine Gartz, David Helland, Gertrude McLaughlin, Carol Thompsen and Alan Trees.

Juniors — Vernadean Berns, Don Faris, Paul Griesy, Lila Jean Johnson, Isabel Negrete, Darlene Thompson, Marilyn Ellis, Mildred Smith and Robert Toft.

NEW GARAGE COMPLETED

Arlo and Henry Stoltenberg, proprietors of the Belmond Motor company, have completed their new garage next to the Veterans Memorial building and are now open for business. They plan their formal opening at a later date when some finishing touches have been added to their new establishment.

High School Thespians Will Present Program Of Plays Friday Night

Three one-act plays will be presented tomorrow — Friday— evening at the high school auditorium by members of the Belmond High speech class, under the direction of Charline Miller, speech instructor. The program starts at 8:00 o'clock.

"The Perfect Gentleman," a comedy which will be Belmond's entry in the Iowa State Speech association contest in February, will have as its players: Irene Smith, Nancy Johnson, Eddie Reno, Marilyn Ellis, Paul Griesy and Marjorie Kenendy.

"The Dear Departed," a satirical comedy, will be presented by Joyce Waddington, Marian Loats, Jerry Hanson, Roger Hanson, Darlene Hanson, Carolyn Schleiffarth and Janet Beaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mackrill and girls of Forest City visited at the Roy Henderson home Sunday.

Appear Here Monday With Choir

The Augustana a capella choir is making its 29th annual tour. Classical sacred music will comprise the program of the 60-voice group. No tickets will be sold for the concert, but a free-will offering will be received for the benefit of the choir.

Italian Guests Here Saturday To Inspect Thompson's Plant

R. B. Thompson of the Thompson Hybrid Corn company was host last Saturday to Dr. Vittorio Marchi of Rome, Italy, who is in Iowa inspecting some of the major seed corn plants. Dr. Marchi was here as a representative of the Italian government, which has recently purchased 88,000 bushels of seed corn—largely from Iowa firms. The Thompson plant provided a full carload of seed corn for shipment to Italy.

Mr. Marchi was accompanied on his trip here by Ralph German, Economic Cooperative Administration technical assistant — a former Kansas county agent now with the ECA in Italy.

Two Des Moines men completed the visiting group, John Spence of Corn States Hybrid Service and Melio Tonini, a lawyer who acted as interpreter for Dr. Marchi.

The foreign guests have been buying seed corn grade-sizes which are not suitable for use in mechanical planters but are perfectly usable for hand-sowing by Italian farmers.

The overseas visitors reported tremendous increases in yields and plant growth by introducing the use of hybrid seed from this area.

Dr. Marchi and Mr. German were featured in a 15-minute interview which was transcribed Saturday morning at KGLO's Mason City studios and broadcast at 12:45 p. m. on the station's "Farm Forum." While the visitors ate lunch with Thompson Hybrid officials at Spurling's Cafe, Ed Spurling provided a portable radio which enabled the men to listen to their own interview.

LINCOLN DAY DINNER SET FOR FEBRUARY 10

George Kyseth of Clarion, county chairman, announces that the Wright county Republican organization will hold its annual Lincoln Day dinner a week from Friday, Feb. 10. The event will be held at Clarion Grill, starting at 7:00 p. m.

County candidates for Republican nominations will be present for the affair and Mr. Kyseth is hopeful that Sam Torgerson of Lake Mills will be able to attend. Mr. Torgerson has been prominently mentioned as a possible state chairman of the Republican party in Iowa.

Tickets may be purchased the evening of the dinner, and "everyone is invited to come," Mr. Kyseth says.

AUSTIN ANNOUNCES

R. Ralph Austin, lawyer who is in partnership with M. H. Morrissey at Clarion, in today's issue announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for county attorney in the June primary.

Driver's Luck Gave Out After 7 Years Without A License

Carl Madison of Goodell, a Thompson Hybrid Corn plant employee, was fined $10 and costs in the court of Justice of the Peace O. E. McGahey at Clarion yesterday morning on a charge of operating a car without a driver's license.

He admitted that he had been driving for seven years without a license because he was unable to pass the required vision test. He had been arrested in Belmond last Saturday evening by Officer Harry Lamb after he'd collided with a parked car owned by Raymond Kinseth, causing an estimated $150 damage.

Madison reported he had been blinded by the lights of an approaching car. He expressed complete willingness to pay for necessary repairs, but had to confess that he possessed no driver's license.

Judge McGahey said he was lenient in his sentence because of the defendant's cooperative spirit and good driving record in the past—even though ineligible for a license.

Patriotic Essay Contest Awards Amount to $17.50

Three cash prizes will be awarded to winning local entries in the 15th annual essay contest of the V. F. W. Auxiliary, being sponsored in this territory by the Ladies Auxiliary of Belmond and The Independent. Subject of the essays is to be "Peace, with Honor, For America"; and entries are to be turned in by April 1

Mrs. C. J. Papousek, chairman of the Auxiliary's contest committee, has announced selection of the following contest judges: Don Faris, superintendent of the Belmond schools; J. R. Gallagher, editor of The Independent; and Mrs. Ted Behrends, president of the local Auxiliary.

Ten dollars is offered as first prize, locally, $5.00 for second and $2.50 for third. State prizes, as yet unannounced, will also be awarded; and $2,000 in cash will be distributed among the national winners, with the first prize amounting to $1,000.

High school students at Rowan, Goodell, Meservey, Kanawha and Alexander, as well as those from Belmond, will be eligible to compete in the V. F. W.-Independent contest. Official contest rules can be obtained by mail or in person from Mrs. Behrends.

It is understood that junior class English students at Belmond High will be asked to write contest essays as a class assignment. If other schools in The Independent's circulation area wish to encourage entries in a similar manner, necessary supplies and information can be obtained on request.

City Sets Date for Receiving Bids on Third Street Paving

Farm Economist Will Speak Here On Monday Night

Public Invited to Attend Special Class Meeting

Carl Malone, head of the Iowa State college extension service department of economics, has been obtained to address members of the Adult Education class in Agriculture this coming Monday night.

His topic will be "The National Farm Program." He will discuss various proposals now under consideration and give a resume of just where the farm legislative program now stands.

In the belief that an authority of Mr. Malone's stature deserves a larger audience than the approximately 40 members of the class, Instructor Duane Sandage is issuing an open invitation to farmers of this area and the general public to attend that evening's class meeting.

Mr. Malone has gained a wide reputation as an expert on agricultural economics and has on several occasions been called to Washington to testify before committees concerned with farm planning.

CARL MALONE

He'll Talk on Farm Program

He writes extensively for publications on topics involving agricultural economy and keeps in close touch with problems of actual farm operation as director for all the Iowa State college farms in this area.

As field man for the North Central Farm Management association before the war, Mr. Malone became well acquainted with a large number of farmers currently operating in this territory.

As a follow-up topic, a week from next Monday night, Mr. Sandage says that the adult class in Agriculture will discuss the pros and cons of the Brannan Plan.

Due by Feb. 17; Bids on County Work by Feb. 15

Monday evening the Belmond city council passed a resolution approving construction of four and a half foot concrete strips on either side of the farm-to-market paving that is to be laid on North Third street this spring, and provided that bids will be accepted for the job up until 2:00 p. m. on Feb. 17.

At that time either the contract will be let or a definite time for letting specified. Bids for the 22-foot center paving which the county is constructing will be accepted by the state highway commission at Ames up to Feb. 15.

Plans of the city engineers, Rowat and Murray, to arrange for simultaneous receiving dates for bids on the two jobs were put out of kilter when the highway commission failed to advise local authorities in time as to the date it had selected for taking bids on the county job.

However, Larry Murray is confident that the dates are close enough together to assure that proper coordination of the two construction projects will be possible.

The council resolution set forth May 15 as the deadline for beginning the city's portion of the paving, and July 15 as the date by which it must be completed. The corresponding dates for the county's center strip will run earlier, as its completion must precede laying of the curbs and gutters.

About three-quarters of a mile of paving will be involved in the city project, running from Highway 69 to the east city limits. The new paving will follow the present street except for the stretch between the Rock Island tracks and what is known as Luick's Corner, a block east.

At present there is a jog to the south at that corner. By virtue of the purchase of a wider right of way to the west, the city will be enabled to slant the new paved street from the tracks to the corner and eliminate the jog.

Besides being a matter of satisfaction to adult Belmond residents, the paving job should provide an unusual attraction for juvenile "sidewalk superintendents" during the spring and early summer, since this is the first major street improvement to be undertaken in Belmond in some 30 years' time.

Funeral Services Held For Patrick Barry, 74

Patrick Barry, a pioneer resident of this community, passed away last Saturday in a Sioux City hospital at the age of 74. He had lately been making his home with a niece and nephew, Helen and John Beacom, at Jackson, Neb.

Mr. Barry was born here on Aug. 21, 1875 and lived here continuously up to two years ago.

Funeral services were held this morning at St. Francis church, Rev. R. A. Ormsby officiating, and burial was in St. Francis cemetery. Fulton Funeral home was in charge of the services.

Phone Rate Bo[illegible] Brings Complai[illegible]

Last Friday some 60 Alexander subscribers to service of the Central Telephone company met with Manager Lloyd C. Bruner to register a complaint over a proposed rate increase and "continued unsatisfactory service" allegedly provided by the utility concern.

Deeming that the outcome of the meeting was unsatisfactory, the subscribers are publishing in today's issue an open letter addressed to Central Telephone subscribers in Belmond, Rowan, Goodell, Meservey, Thornton and Latimer-Coulter.

Jerry Beenen, Alexander mayor, and Willard Latham, secretary, as spokesmen for the Alexander subscribers contend that the newly enacted federal minimum wage law—increasing hourly pay of telephone operators in exchanges the size of Belmond's from 40 to 75 cents an hour—does not justify "the proposed rate increase of 25 cents" per month.

The open letter further states that "long continued equipment failures and inadequate outlets have precipitated this re-examination of the whole telephone question."

Members of the subscriber group notified the telephone company of the action it was taking. Manager Bruner has advised The Independent that an explanation of the firms' situation is being drafted and will likely be made public next week.

Meservey's Girls Team Among Best

The third time was the charm as Meservey's girls basketball sextet last Friday night took the measure of Rockwell's previously undefeated lassies, 56 to 52. Twice previously Rockwell had thwarted the Meservey misses—once 41-39 and again, 39-31—to account for half of the latter's defeats up to Friday evening's fray.

Saturday night saw Meservey drop a spine-tingler to Hartley, 56 to 55. In an interview the previous afternoon, Coach Lovell Diddy had declared that he considered Hartley "in my estimation, THE best girls team in Iowa this year."

He and his proteges were, of course, disappointed to lose to the Hartley crew; but Coach Diddy had only praise for the manner in which his outfit performed. After a nip-and-tuck first quarter, which left Hartley ahead 17-16, Meservey fell behind slightly and did not succeed in making up all its lost ground until the automatic time-out was called with three minutes of playing time left.

Meservey had trailed at the half, 24-19, and at the third quarter, 35-30. Then, with the count 42-all at the official time-out, both teams began practically lighting sparks off the hoops. First one, then the other, edged in front. But with the final seconds running out and Hartley ahead 56-54, Mavis Faaborg was placed in the night-mare situation of having two free throw chances —and only one of them split the net.

In spite of this one unfortunate miss, Mavis did herself proud during the game. She accumulated 28 points to exceed her season's game average of 25. Phyllis Fekkers tallied 20 to nearly match her normal performance of a 21 average.

Last year Hartley was fourth-place winner in the state championship tournament, led by Alyce Hoeman, who was ranked one of the finest forwards in Iowa. Saturday night the Hartley star poured in 33 points.

Besides Hartley, victors over Meservey this year have been Steamboat Rock—54-49; Kamrar —54-53; and Rockwell. Steamboat Rock is virtually conceded a spot in the 1950 championship field, along with Hartley; and Kamrar is considered a very possible contender.

Meservey has whipped the '49 champions, Wellsburg, 71 to 50; and downed two other teams that made last year's final tourney—Knoxville 54-49, and Rockwell. The Cerro Gordo sextet has also

An Open Letter

TO CENTRAL TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS IN BELMOND, ROWAN, GOODELL, MESERVEY, THORNTON, AND LATIMER-COULTER:

We, the Alexander subscribers of the Central Telephone company have organized to protest the current proposed telephone rate increase and continued unsatisfactory service.

At a public hearing at Alexander January 27, 1950 with a company representative, attended by some sixty subscribers, these matters were thoroughly discussed. We believe the following to be the true facts of the case:

(1) The newly enacted federal minimum wage and hour law is being used as the excuse for this latest rate increase, and affects the local company very little

The facts are that the local company monthly increased wages of $384.00 per month in the last two years for maintenance help (including Belmond new equipment) has been largely caused by installation of automatic equipment and offset by elimination of switchboard operators. Our new equipment was no doubt adequately capitalized in our monthly bill before the latest two raises in the last twenty (20) months.

(2) After two successive years of reduced farm income, farmers and business men are less able to pay the increase. It cannot be justified on the ability to pay or passed on to the subscriber without ill effects. The "all the traffic will bear" point has been reached with a number of subscribers. An increase at this time, though rather small, will not yield a corresponding increase in total revenue.

(3) A public utility exercises a public monopoly and should therefore assume a public responsibility. The Central Telephone Company exercises absolute right to raise rates without approval of the Federal Communications Commission or any governing body An aroused public opinion and concerted action is our only weapon if arbitrary or unreasonable action threatens.

(4) Our community is grateful and proud of the modern equipment installed by Central Telephone Company. We are willing and anxious that the Company earn adequate revenue to pay their help well, maintain equipment, retire capital orderly and return a FAIR profit to company stockholders. We respect their right to run their own business and will endeavor to deal honestly and fairly with them.

But, even modern equipment regularly out of order or overloaded is a serious handicap and annoyance to the business and social life of a community and its neighboring towns. Long continued equipment failures and inadequate outlets have precipitated this re-examination of the whole telephone question.

After a sincere appraisal of the facts presented, we have taken the following action by unanimous consent:

(1) Each subscriber refuses to pay the proposed 25c rate increase.
(2) If the present equipment and service are not satisfactorily improved, further action will be taken.

The company has been notified of this action.

We ask you, our neighbors, who are served by Central Telephone Company, to carefully consider these facts and take similar action to solve our mutual problem.

downed Monona, 72-69, which boasts the state's tallest forward—a 6-foot-three giantess. Monona, too, is regarded as a top-flight championship contender.

Shirley Meints, freshman forward, with Faaborg and Fekkers is a member of the Meservey front line. She was the winner's top scorer in the Rockwell game with 21 points and has averaged 15 for the season. Gloria Pals is post guard in the starting line-up, flanked by JoAnn Pals and Lavonne Meints.

Two squad members are currently out of school with the mumps—Janice Kuhlers and Ione Smit, sophomore forwards. Since three regulars and Coach Diddy himself have never had the disease, a sharp watch is being kept on neck glands these days.

Of the starting six, only Fekkers and JoAnn Pals are seniors; the others, excepting young Shirley Meints, are juniors. Other squad members are: forward—Joan Lage, freshman; guards—Beverly Boelman, Alice Anne Fischer and Harriet Ostendorf, seniors; Shirley Ostendorf and Donna Dirks, sophomores; and Shirley Schmidt, freshman.

Alice Ann Fischer serves as team manager and Miss Sara Lou Lloyd is chaperone.

With only two scheduled games left to play, Meservey has an offensive average of approximately 60 points and has held its opponent to a 40-point average. Next week the girls will play in the sectional tournament at Rowan, which they're expected to take without too much trouble. The following week they complete their regular card with games against Ventura and Alexander.

Then comes the crucial district tournament, which will determine whether they are to get a crack at the state title. Likely district opponents include Rockwell and Hansell, the latter a highly respected foe who's been beaten by Meservey once this year by a 68-67 margin. But win or lose, the girls have established a record of which their supporters have every reason to be proud.

Sheffield Takes 50-46 Victory In Last Few Seconds

Sheffield's scrappy cage quintet dealt the Belmond Broncs their third defeat of the current basketball season, taking a 50-46 verdict in a foul-ridden contest on the Claydiggers' court last Friday night.

After trailing through much of the last half, the Broncos edged into a 46-45 lead with only about a minute of time remaining; but the victors chalked up their sixteenth win of the year—against a lone defeat—by a four-point surge in the waning seconds.

Belmond jumped into an early lead and managed to maintain an advantage of about four points during most of the first half Sheffield made the halftime score 24-21, for Belmond, by hitting on a shot that was in the air when the buzzer sounded.

The early stages of the third quarter were nip-and-tuck, with the Bronc still ahead 29-28 after four minutes had passed. Then Belmond went into one of its familiar third-period slumps and the Claydiggers tallied 10 points during the balance of the quarter to enjoy a 38-34 margin as the final stanza began.

Four more minutes added another two points to Sheffield's lead, 45-39. Then, led by Duane Trager, the Broncs rallied to gain their 46-45 edge with something over a minute to go. As Belmond endeavored to freeze the ball, a Bronc was called for traveling and the Claydiggers got possession.

Peter, Sheffield forward, broke up the game by hitting on a nifty pivot shot to send the Claydiggers ahead once more. In the battle for the ball in the last seconds, both Riggs and Swenson fouled out of the fray and Sheffield added a couple of more points on free throws.

Trager tied with Peter for the evening's scoring honors, each hitting for 17 points—12 or Trager's and nine of Peter's coming in the last half.

Belmond's frosh-soph combination had little trouble with the tall but ungainly junior Claydiggers, winning by a 40-27 count.

After missing 19 of 26 free throws against Clarion, the Colts improved their performance Friday by clicking on 16 out of 26 gratis attempts.

Odean Severseike scored 13 points for the winners, Vernon Meyer nine, Allen Madsen eight, Claude Larkin four, Dave Helland and Arlen Pals three apiece.

SECTIONAL TOURNEY BEGAN ON TUESDAY AT ROWAN H. S. GYM

The Rowan High school gymnasium has been selected as the site of one of the sectional tournaments as eliminations get under way this week to determine who the 1950 girls championship team will be. Nine sextets will compete in the tourney, which started Tuesday and will continue through Saturday.

In the opening games Tuesday night—the results of which will be found elsewhere in this issue—Alexander met Chapin, Rowan opposed Sheffield and Swaledale clashed with Thornton.

Last night Goodell was to meet the Alexander-Chapin winner and Meservey was matched with Klemme.

A free throw contest is being conducted in conjunction with the meet, each team being eligible to enter two girls. This competition is held between halves of the games.

Meservey is highly favored to take top sectional honors here. The winning team will advance to one of the 16 district tournaments, in which the title contenders to meet in the championship tourney at Des Moines will be established. The winning free throw artist will also advance to district competition.

Bible Study met Tuesday with Mrs. Clarence Lindsey with Rev. Egeland leading. There were 16 present.

Mac Churchill of Des Moines was among the 269 graduates from Drake University Sunday receiving a Bachelor of Science degree having majored in commercial science. He is a brother of Mrs. Russell Olson.

Mrs. Ellen Rosman of Council Bluffs is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Estelle Fowler and Mrs. Wm. Bingham, and brother, Joe Rowen.

Second Son of Bradys Appointed to Teach at Loras College, Dubuque

Roger Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brady, has accepted a position on the faculty of Loras college at Dubuque and assumed his duties as instructor in psychology on Monday of this week.

At Loras he will also complete work for his degree as Doctor of Philosophy. He received his Bachelor's degree from Loras and his Master's at Catholic university, Washington, D. C.

At the time of his appointment to teach at Loras, he was part-time instructor at Catholic U. and also was taking work toward his Ph. D.

The Bradys now have two sons on the Loras faculty. Last September Rev. D. A. Brady, Ph. D., went to the school as instructor in philosophy. He, too, took his undergraduate work at Loras and recived his Master's degree at Catholic U. He was awarded his Ph. D. at American college in Rome last April.

Roger's offer of a teaching position at Loras came very suddenly, to fill a vacancy. He arrived in Dubuque only last Saturday with his wife and little daughter, Jane Frances.

Broncs Lose 2nd In Row; Hampton Winner, 37 to 30

Hampton presented an offense that was a bit too smooth and a defense that was a bit too rugged for the Broncos to overcome Tuesday night, with the result that Belmond suffered its second loss in a row, 37 to 30.

Never were the Broncs able to draw ahead of the host team, and only once did they draw abreast of the Bulldogs. The end of the first quarter saw the game deadlocked at 7-all, but in the second period Forward Ivan Davis and Center Paul Schipper joined forces to keep Hampton a notch ahead throughout.

The two Hampton hot-shots were as neat a combination as the Broncos have been up against this year—and that is not excluding Langerud and Soderling of Forest City.

After the half, Belmond once again suffered the third-quarter blues and was able to add only two points in the eight minute stretch. Hampton boosted its total at a point-per-minute rate to enjoy a 26-18 advantage entering the final canto.

The Broncos played the Bulldogs even for the first five minutes of the last quarter, trailing 27-21 when the automatic time-out was called with three minutes remaining.

In spite of the tight guarding he was up against all evening, Trager succeeded in piling up 14 points to tie with Davis for high scoring honors. Schipper had 10 for the evening and Sid Swenson was runner-up for Belmond with eight.

WES BRANER WINNER IN CORN YIELD TEST WITH 104.5 BUSHELS

Wes Braner has been announced as winner of the corn yield contest conducted last year by the Belmond High school chapter of Future Farmers of America. His yield of 104.5 per acre, achieved with a planting of Thompson Hybrid, topped four other entries and will bring him a trophy from the F. F. A. and an award from radio station WHO for exceeding a 100-bushel average.

Since the contest was not announced until August, the entrants had no opportunity to plant specifically for contest purposes. Mr. Braner, however, had power-checked his hills at 28 inches, which helped him attain his high yield.

Duane Sandage, F. F. A. advisor, says the local chapter will conduct another 10-acre yield contest this year, in conjunction with the Corn and Small Grain Growers association. With advance notice given, he hopes more farmers will lay plans for special plantings and submit entries.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

Modern science is a boon to agriculture. It has made possible high yields even though soil has become depleted of plant nutrients in varying degrees through the years of cultivation, and in spite of increasing threats by crop pests.

Proof of science's contribution to agriculture can be found in a look at this past growing season. In a year when weather conditions were not best for corn production and when pests — corn borers in particular — were extremely bad, some farmer harvested good crops mainly through the application of modern products of science.

Take for example just one major contribution scientists have made to modern corn culture—methods and techniques of controlling corn borers. By applying DDT to corn, farmers raised their yields of corn by as much as 24 bushels per acre in 1949.

—RFD—

The story is about the same throughout the state. These reports of farmers who treated but left a check upsprayed illustrate the point. Down in southwest Iowa, W. E. Jacobson in east Pottawattamie county harvested an average of 123 bushels per acre from treated corn, compared to 100 bushels per acre from an untreated check.

In western Iowa, Melvin Buss in Monana county got 104 bushels per acre from treated corn, compared to 80 from an untreated check strip.

—RFD—

Swinging up to northern Iowa, J. Waddingham in neighboring Hancock county, harvested 66.5 bushels from DDT-treated corn and 59.5 from untreated.

In northeast Iowa, on the Howard county experimental farm, treated corn yielded 97 bushels per acre, compared with 67 from untreated.

Moving down to southeast Iowa, E. Nelson in Jefferson county harvested an average of 92 bushels per acre from treated corn, compared with 76 from untreated. In Monroe county, in southern Iowa, Dan Spears got 55 bushels per acre from treated corn and 36 from unsprayed.

—RFD—

The black spot on this picture is the fact that too few farmers made use of the information supplied by modern science and failed to apply DDT. They generally took the correspondingly lower yields.

That's the reason why Wright county workers are going all out this winter to provide every farmer in the county the latest information on controlling corn borers. At that special half-day clinic held Monday at the Eagle Grove high school gym, Iowa State college specialists presented information that can help greatly to minimize corn borer damage to this year's crop if properly followed The farmers who attended the clinic should be well repaid.

—RFD—

Don't delay ordering your baby chicks for this spring any longer, advises A. W. Nordskog, Iowa State college poultry husbandman.

Reliable hatcheries may be sold out later in the spring, says Nordskog. So he advises ordering now to make sure you get the quality and breed yon want.

—RFD—

Nordskog suggests a few points to keep in mind when you order spring chicks. First he thinks one should buy from a hatchery which has established a good reputation for itself. This is simply because ultimate success in brooding and rearing depends largely upon the quality of the chicks.

The specialist points out that reliable hatcheries are careful to see that chicks come from a pullorum-free flock. Pullorum is one of the poultry diseases definitely known to be transmitted from the hen to the chick through the egg. It can be controlled by blood-testing the birds in the breeding flock.

—RFD—

Some farmers prefer to bny started chicks rather than day-old chicks. Nordskog thinks, though, that with proper management best results are obtained by buying day-old chicks.

Started chicks cost more money to begin with. And although the poultryman may avoid losses which occur during the first two or three weeks, there's greater danger of disease among started chicks. There's more chance of Newcastle disease with started chicks.

—RFD—

The net cost of raising a pullet from straight-run chicks is less per bird than from sexed pullet chicks, studies have shown. This is especially true with the heavy breeds, but also applies to Leghorns, Nordskog says.

—RFD—

Rotated pastures for hogs have helped boost incomes in three different ways on Iowa State College Foundation Farms throughout Iowa.

James J. Wallace, manager of the farms, says the pastures lowered some of the other feed requirements, produced healthier pigs through improved sanitation and brought larger yields in crops following the hogs.

He says these last two advantages didn't show up when permanent pastures were used. Records kept on the farms show that 12 to 14 pigs are about as many as an acre of good pasture should handle.

—RFD—

Good pasture actually replaced some expensive protein feeds, but grain requirements for each 100 pounds of feed remained about the same, Wallace says.

The seeding mixture that has worked best is six pounds of alfalfa, five pounds of brome, three pounds of red clover, three pounds of timothy and one-half pound of ladino clover.

Red clover and timothy are included to fill in where alfalfa and brome fail to catch. The brome provides earlier pasture in the spring, but hogs don't eat it after the clovers and alfalfa appear, the farm manager observes.

He says brome also improves the soil structure and prevents muddy conditions underfoot. The ladino clover is especially good in fall and late summer when the alfalfa and red clover fade out.

—RFD—

Other management problems that had to be solved in using rotated hog pastures were water supplies and fencing.

On one farm a well was drilled at a point from which 12 different pastures could be supplied by a pressure pump. Wallace says scooped pits worked out all right on farms with tight subsoils. Tank wagons are used to haul water on some of the farms.

Temporary fences are used for rotation hogs pastures on Foundation Farms. They are made of short steel posts and 32-inch woven wire, and are moved once or twice a year. Wallace says seven-foot steel posts can be cut in two to make practical posts for temporary hog pasture.

STILL GOING

A 50-year old "merry Oldsmobile" is still rolling at Elkader until recently, when it was shipped by trailer back to Detroit. The 1900 Olds has been owned by J. B. Conlan, Elkader dealer, who made a few trial spins in it before shipping it to Michigan.

SHOT TOES

When 10 year old Larry Rutledge of Tama got a new 410 guage shotgun for Christmas he put it to work right away. His first shot on a hunting trip ripped off the end of his new four-buckle overshoes and the tip of his toes.

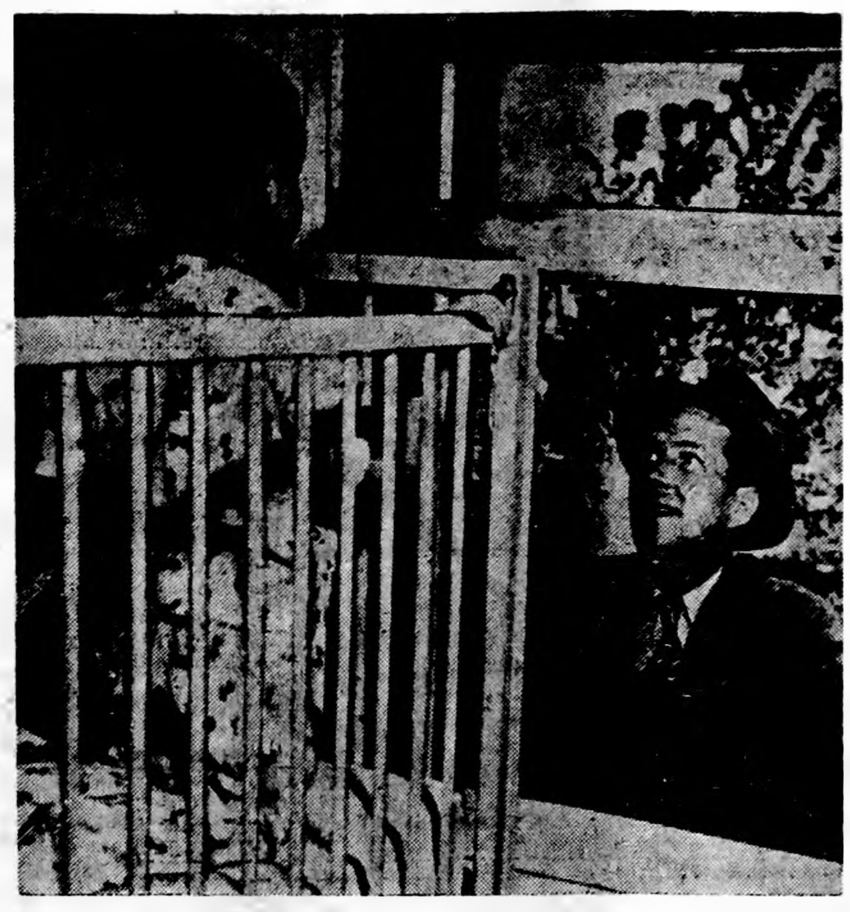
Clarion, Iowa, January 11, 1950

I, H. E. Sullivan, Treasurer of Wright County, Iowa, do hereby certify that the [illegible] above is a correct summary of the business transacted by me as said [illegible] for the period therein specified.

H. E. SULLIVAN, County Treasurer.

Hey, That's My Daddy!



Don Fisher of Chariton, Ia., stands atop a 14-foot ladder for a look at his three-year-old son Johnny through a window of a Des Moines hospital, where the little fellow is in the polio isolation ward. Scenes like this were repeated many times this past year, as record infantile paralysis swept the nation. In Wright county the 1949 fight against infantile paralysis drained the local treasury and piled up a deficit of almost $5,000. Consequently, a generous response to this year's March of Dimes campaign is critically important.

Des Moines Had 62,000 Population - -

At Turn of The 20th Century

- - There Were No Income, Sales Taxes

(The following article is reprinted from Iowa History News Flashes, published by The Iowa State Historical Society.)

As we enter upon the second half of the twentieth century, with its rapid transportation, its radio, television, and atomic bomb, we may well look in retrospect at the first half of the century—those "Good Old Days"—"The Horse and Buggy Days." What were the conditions in Iowa 50 years ago? Who were the prominent, stalwart Iowans of that day?

In 1900 Iowa was chiefly an agricultural area with but few large cities. Des Moines had a population of 62,000. The second largest city in Iowa was Dubuque, with a population of 36,000. Davenport had 35,000; Sioux City 33,000, Cedar Rapids and Council Bluffs each 26,000. Burlington and Clinton each had less than 25,000. Iowa City had less than 8,000.

On the national political front, William McKinley was President of the United States, and Iowa had a galaxy of distinguished men in the United States Congress. John H. Gear of Burlington and William Boyd Allison of Dubuque were United States Senators from Iowa.

In 1900 Iowa had eleven congressional districts and each was represented by an able congressman. All of the 11 Representatives, as well as the two United States Senators from Iowa, were Republicans. Thomas Hedge of Burlington represented the first district; Joe Lane of Davenport, the second district; David B. Henderson, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was a resident of Dubuque, in the third congressional district.

Gilbert N. Haugen of Northwood represented the fourth district; Robert G. Cousins of Tipton, the fifth district; John F. Lacey of Oskaloosa, sixth district; John A. T. Hull of Des Moines, seventh district; William P. Hepburn of Clarinda, eighth district; Smith McPhearson of Red Oak, ninth district; Jonathan P. Dolliver of Fort Dodge, tenth district; and Lot Thomas of Storm Lake, the eleventh district.

In January, 1900, Leslie M. Shaw of Denison was inaugurated Governor of Iowa, to serve for a term of two years at an annual salary of $3,000. An additional appropriation of $600 was allowed the Governor for house rent.

During the opening months of the new century, from January to April, 1900, the Twenty-eighth General Assembly of Iowa was in session. In the Senate, Warren Garst of Coon Rapids was serving his second term, perhaps quite unaware that within ten years he would be Governor of Iowa.

In the House of Representatives, George W. Clarke of Adel and Nathan E. Kendall of Albia, two other men who were later destined to be Governors of Iowa, were rendering legislative service. Other men in the House of Representatives who were destined to attain wide distinction were Gardner Cowles of Algona, distinguished publisher and executive, and Burton E. Sweet of Waverly, later a member of Congress.

The laws that were passed by the Twenty-eighth General Assembly were different from those of today. No mention was made of motor vehicles, hard surfaced roads, gasoline tax, sales tax, or income tax.

In 1900 the fields of Iowa history and literature were as yet undeveloped. Herbert Quick was a lawyer and mayor of Sioux City, but he had not yet written "Vandermark's Folly," "The Hawkeye," or "The Invisible Woman." Hamlin Garland had written "The Trail of the Gold-Seekers," and "Main-Traveled Roads." But he had not yet written "A Son of the Middle Border." Emerson Hough had gained some renown as a writer, but he had had not yet written "Fifty-four Forty or Fight" or "The Covered Wagon."

In education tnose were the days of the "Little Red Schoolhouse." The first consolidated school in Iowa was established at Buffalo Center in 1896. There are now more than 400 consolidated districts in Iowa.

At the beginning of the twentieth century Rural Free Delivery of mail was in its infancy. "Tomato cans, cigar boxes, drainage pipes up-ended, soapboxes, and even sections of discarded stove pipe were used as mail boxes." Mail routes were laboriously traveled by man and his good friend—the horse. These were, indeed "The Horse and Buggy Days," but days not soon to be forgotten!

GOT REPLY

Mrs. Johnny Smith, Grand Junction, occasionally writes her name and address on one of the many eggs she sorts as an employee of a produce company. Recently she received a letter from a soldier stationed in Hawaii, who received the egg and sent Mrs. Smith a friendly note.

TALK

Jean Labrat, 18, French youth who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slessor of Reinbeck, talked to his parents in France a few days ago. The three-minute call cost $15 and Jean says it was worth it. Jean has been in the States for the past two years.

Our Blind Spots

Jim nearly had an accident last week. The streets were slippery, but that wasn't the trouble.

Ed swung right out in front of Jim in a line of traffic, and there was nearly a crash.

Now Ed isn't a reckless driver. He just happened to be thinking of something else. And when he gets day-dreaming, he sort of gets a "blind spot" to what's going on around him.

Lots of us have "blind spots" like that, without realizing it. And it's mighty important to be on guard against them.

We've got to be sure we're respecting the rights of the other fellow . . . or some day he may forget to respect ours. If Jim likes classical music, while Ed likes the movies, that's their right of choice. If Jim prefers a pleasant glass of beer, while Ed enjoys coffee, that's their right, too.

Those sound like little things, but such "blind spots" can add up to big things if we don't watch them.

Reports for the quarter ending December 31, 1949, of the following officers were placed before the Board: Auditor, Sheriff, Recorder and Clerk of the District Court, whereupon it was moved by Smith, seconded by Trowbridge, that the said reports be approved and placed on file. Motion carried.

It was moved by Smith, seconded by Pinkham, that the annual report of the County Superintendent be approved. Motion carried.

Minutes were read and approved.

On Motion meeting adjourned to 12:00 o'clock noon of the present day.

T. J. HENRY, Chairman,
ROGER H. CHARLSON, Co. Auditor.

Clarion, Iowa, January 3, 1950
12:00 O'clock Noon

The Board of Supervisors met as per adjournment at the Courthouse in Clarion, with the following members present: A. W. Smith, T. J. Henry, Geo. S. Trowbridge, H. C. Pinkham, and Wm. Fisher. The County Auditor was in attendance and called the meeting to order.

Geo. S. Trowbridge, having been duly re-elected for the term of three years beginning January 1, 1950, and his Bond having been duly filed and approved, it was moved by Smith, seconded by Pinkham that Mr. Trowbridge be re-seated for his ensueing term. Motion carried.

Motion was made by Smith, seconded by Fisher, that Mr. Trowbridge be appointed Chairman of the Board of Supervisors for the year 1950. The motion carried and Mr. Trowbridge assumed the Chair and took charge of the meeting.

Chairman Trowbridge appointed committees for 1950 as follows:

Courthouse and Jail, County Farm, and Roads and Drainage, composed of the Board as a whole.

It was moved by Smith, seconded by Henry, that the members of the Wright County Board of Social Welfare for the year 1950 be appointed as follows: Mary E. Hildebrand, Belmond; Wm. Fisher, Eagle Grove; H. C. Pinkham, Goldfield. Motion carried.

It was moved by Henry, seconded by Smith, that bank depositories for the County Officers be as follows, and not to exceed the amount as shown:

Motion carried.

Moved by Henry, seconded by Pinkham, that the official newspapers of Wright County be designated as follows: Wright County Monitor, Clarion, Iowa; Eagle Grove Eagle, Eagle Grove, Iowa; Belmond Independent, Belmond, Iowa. Motion carried.

The Bonds of Robert L. Blecker, Sheriff, and B. H. Moklebust, Troy Township, Clerk, were placed before the Board and on motion by Smith, seconded by Pinkham, and duly carried, said Bonds were approved and ordered placed on file.

Motion by Henry, seconded by Smith, that the following amounts be appropriated from the Poor Fund of Wright County for reimbursement to the State Funds: $1,242.25 for Aid to the Blind, $3,101.50 for Aid to Dependent Children. Motion carried.

Motion was made by Henry, seconded by Smith, that non-resident notices be served on the following: Joe Biddle & family, Rowan, Iowa, from Story County; Mrs. Amanda Brooks, Belmond, Iowa, from Hancock County; Frank Everhart & family, Eagle Grove, Iowa, from Cedar County; Mons Evje & family, Goldfield, Iowa, from Humboldt County. Motion carried.

The resignation of J. H. Petrow as Justice of the Peace in Pleasant Township, and a petition recommending Carl S. Benson for the same position were placed before the Board and it was moved by Smith, seconded by Pinkham that the said resignation of Mr. Petrow be accepted and that said Carl S. Benson be appointed Justice of the Peace in Pleasant Township to fill the vacancy, said appointment to be effective January 1, 1950. Motion carried.

Whereas, there was appointed Mr. Emil Beck and Mr. C. F. Axon, disinterested resident freeholders of Wright County, and Lawrence W. Murray, competent civil engineer, as Commissioners to assess benefits and classify lands affected by Drainage District No. 215, and to apportion the costs and expenses of constructing said drain, and

Whereas, said Commissioners have filed their report in the Auditor's office showing the amount of assessment apportioned to each land owner,

Now therefore, be it resolved, that a hearing on said report of Commissioners be fixed for February 15, 1950, at 1:30 o'clock P. M., said hearing to be held at the Courthouse in Clarion, Iowa. All objections to said report must be in writing and filed with the County Auditor at or before the time set for bearing.

The adoption of the foregoing resolution was moved by Smith, seconded by Pinkham whereupon the Chairman put the motion to vote and on its being carried declared the resolution duly adopted.

Minutes were read and approved.

On Motion the meeting adjourned.

GEO. S. TROWBRIDGE, Chairman,
ROGER H. CHARLSON, Co. Auditor.

Use Insulation, Not Air Draft, To Dry Out Damp Hen Houses

Too many poultry producers believe that the way to dry out a damp laying house is to open the windows more or put in a fan. Actually, in most cases, insulation is what is needed.

Aaron R. Bowman, Wright county extension director, says dampness results from moist air condensing on cold walls. Thus, the answer is keeping the walls warm.

Loose fill, blanket or board types of insulation are recommended. Ground corncobs, chopped cornstalks, wood carvings, sawdust or commercial insulation material, if kept dry, are all satisfactory.

A vapor-proof barrier must be used on the inside (warm) face of the insulation to prevent collection of moisture in the insulation. The inner vapor-proofing material must be either a more vapor resistant paper than the outer, or a completely impervious material, such as metal sheets.

This is necessary because using material of the same degree of vapor resistance, such as tar paper, on both inner and outer walls will permit vapor to penetrate the fill and cause early decay of the structure.

Besides causing decay, the effect of the fill material also is cancelled when it is wet. Good practice is to put red rosin building on the outside of the fill and glossy tar paper on the inner, or warm side of the insulation.

Bowman says that shiplap or native lumber is suitable for inner wall covering. Metal sheets might be used in place of boards, but in this case the wall fill must be thicker to make up for the insulation that would be provided by the board.

March of Dimes Needs Support More Than Ever

Once again it's time for the dimes to march, and we doubt that the public will need much prodding this year to give generously to the infantile paralysis campaign. Footing the bills for 1949's nationwide epidemic of "polio" has dangerously drained the coffers of not only the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, but local treasuries as well.

It has always confused us just a bit as to how the National Foundation came to underwrite the medical expense of the victims of this one, isolated disease. But the public obviously approves this policy; and there is no question but what the expense of an individual fight against this crippling scourge could in many instances be ruinous. One thing's certain, if the burden of paying for "polio" treatments on a personal basis is to be eliminated in the future—as in recent years, it's up to all of us to be open-handed in our support of the March of Dimes campaign.

What seems to us of even greater significance than the payment of doctor and hospital bills is the research program which is part and parcel of the Foundation's long-range goal. If the cause of this blighting disease can be discovered, the nation's annual "polio" bill willl be slashed to a very small part of what it amounts to now.

Such a search is an extremely costly proposition, when the scientists don't even know precisely what they're looking for. The annual Christmas Seal campaign has advanced so far toward wiping out tuberculosis that, last year, the National Heart Foundation was "cut in" on the proceeds derived from the seal sales. That's prooof of how effective a concentrated campaign against disease can be. With enough dimes for bullets, we should be able to "kill off" infantile paralysis—just as the seals have knocked the props out from under TB.

There seems little reason to suspect that Alger Hiss, convicted of giving secret state department information to the Russians, actually sought the downfall of the U. S. government—which, in many respects, he had served efficiently and honestly. To our notion, the case simply indicates that misguided idealism can be just as vicious as deliberate treachery.

Legion's Missing An Opportunity To Set A Good Example

We have a lot of respect for the American Legion—for that matter, we'll say the same for this nation's veterans organizations in general. We know that the Legion has accomplished much good, from the community, state and national standpoint. And, like any well-knit organization whose members have a common background or purpose, we expect them to stand guard over the interests of those members.

However, we'd like to raise our wee, small voice to point out that the power endowed to a group like the Legion, by virtue of its numbers, carries with it responsibilities and obligatons that are above and beyond the interests of its members alone. As soon as it establishes a reputation for putting selfish considerations ahead of the nation's long-range welfare, it begins to reduce its usefulness. We cite as case in fact the United Mineworkers—whose right to better conditions for its members has never been questioned, but whose employment of power to tyrannical ends is earning the union the ill will of the country at large.

The Legion's prestige suffered considerably last year when the national convention went on record asking for pensions at 65 for ALL veterans, regardless of need or disability. It was an absurd and ill-advised move and confirmed in the minds of many of its critics the belief that it exists first and foremost for money-grabbing purposes.

Over the years the, Legion has done too much good in protecting the interests of disabled veterans and of the veterans' widows and orphans to deserve such condemnation. But it should jealously guard the good name it has widely earned.

Flat condemnation of the Hoover Commission's recommendations by the Legion, because they would infringe somewhat upon the existing autonomy of the Veterans Administration, we feel is too much in the spirit of the pension proposal. If greater economy in federal government is to be achieved, it must be sought "across the board." Privileged groups are going to have to sacrifice some of their costly privileges.

We believe that within the framework of the reorganization suggested by the commission, all justifiable demands of the veterans' organizations for aid to their disabled brethren and to the widows and orphans of their deceased buddies can be worked out. Other concessions, asked more on the basis of political strength than actual need, might very possibly have to be refused or modified.

Somewhere, sometime, the ice-jam of self-interest must be smashed if this nation is to return to sane and sound fiscal operation. Maybe the Legion feels that there is no point in one group sacrificing its own solid front in the hope that others might follow. But as one who has always been more prideful than apologetic over membership in the Legion, we'd like to see the Legion call off it's dogs where the Hoover recommendations are involved, and set an example for other organized minorities to follow.

It appears that the last stronghold of Jim-Crowism in the field of sports will tumble shortly. The courts are leveling their sights on the American Bowling Congress, which limits its sanction to events open only to white bowlers. Since Negroes are now commonly accepted in contact sports, it's hard to see how ABC has a leg to stand on.

We'd feel considerably more confidence in the state department's decision to leave Formosa to its fate and to renege on financial aid to Korea if we didn't remember so clearly the ultimate price paid for what Prime Minister Chamberlain called "peace in our time."

ICIAL NOTICE — NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

aled proposals will be re- ed by the City Clerk of the rporated City of Belmond, , at his office in said City, 2:00 P. M., on the 17th day February, A. D., 1950 for the truction of the following ribed improvements in said , to-wit:

sq. yds. pavement with Integral Curb sq. ft. Sidewalk Re-

provements to consist of the 22 foot paving program by the placing of a 4.5 ft. of concrete pavement, with integral curb on each side, including the widening through intersections and other incidental related items of work. The location of the work to be Third Street N. E. (Hathaway Street) from the east edge of the existing concrete pavement at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street N. E. east on Third Street N. E., to the east property line of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Work to be commenced on or before May 15, 1950 and to be fully completed on or before July 15, 1950.

All bids must be accompanied in a separate envelope by a check certified to by a bank in Iowa, payable to the Treasurer of said City in the amount of ten per cent (10%) of the bid submitted, which certified check will be held as security that the bidder will enter into a contract for the construction of the work and will furnish the required bond, and in case the successful bidder shall fail or refuse to enter into contract and furnish required bond, his certified check may be retained by said City as agreed and liquidated damages.

The cost of said improvement shall be paid to the Contractor in monthly estimates based on ninety per cent of the Engineer's estimate value of the acceptable work completed on each contract, in warrant drawn on any fund from which such work may be paid. Such warrants shall draw four per cent interest per annum from and after the date of presentation for payment. If such fund is depleted, anticipatory warrants shall be issued. All as prescribed by the Code of Iowa, 1946, and Chapter 168, Street and Sewer Improvements, Laws of the 53rd General Assembly.

The Contractor shall give bond in a sum equal to the contract price in the form to be supplied by said City, obligating the Contractor and his bondsmen to the faithful performance of the contract and to keep said improvements in good repair for the period of four years from the date of the acceptance thereof by the City Council, and to punctually pay all laborers employed on said work and all persons furnishing materials therefor.

All proposals must be made on blanks furnished by the City Clerk, and each bidder will be required to state his prices for doing all the items in each section on which he makes a bid.

The City reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, unless all bids are rejected, or the Council for cause shall find it necessary to throw out one or more bids.

Copies of the plans and specifications are on file with the City Clerk, Belmond, at Belmond, Iowa, and with Rowat & Murray, Engineers at Belmond, Iowa. Plan deposit of $10.00 is required.

All bids will be opened in open Council at a meeting to be held at the Council chambers on the day and hour above fixed, and contract will be awarded at that time, or at such subsequent time to which the Council may adjourn.

Published by order of the City Council of said City, and dated at Belmond, Iowa, this 30th day of January, A. D., 1950.

CARRIE COURTNEY
City Clerk 16t2

RESLUTION ORDERING CONSTRUCTION OF PAVEMENT WIDENING

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the Incorporated City of Belmond, Iowa that a pavement widening be constructed as follows:

Said improvements to consist of the widening of the 22 foot width of concrete paving proposed to be put in by the Wright County Farm to Market program by the placing of a 4.5 ft. of concrete pavement with integral curb on each side, including the widening through intersections and other incidental related items of work. The location of the work to be Third Street N. E. (Hathaway Street) from the east edge of the existing concrete pavement at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street N. E., east on Third Street N .E. to the east property line of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

That the method of construction shall be by contract and in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with the City Clerk.

That the cost of said improvements shall be paid to the Contractor in monthly estimates based on ninety per cent of the Engineer's estimate value of the acceptable work completed on each contract, in warrants drawn on any fund from which/ such work may be paid. Such warrants shall draw four per cent interest per annum from and after the date of presentation for payment. If such fund is depleted, anticipatory warrants shall be issued. All as prescribed by the Code of Iowa, 1946 and Chapter 168, Street and Sewer Improvements, Laws of the 53rd General Assembly.

That proposals will be received for furnishing labor and materials for the construction of said pavement widening at the office of the City Clerk up to the hour of 2:00 P. M. on the 17th day of February, 1950, and will be opened by this council at a meeting to be held at that time in the Council chambers and acted upon at that time or such later time as then may be fixed.

The work shall be commenced on or before May 15, 1950 and be fully completed on or before July 15, 1950.

The city reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

That the City Clerk is ordered to advertise for bids for said construction in the manner and for the time provided by Chapter 168, Laws of the 53rd General Assembly, Iowa.

PASSED, ADOPTED and APproved this 30th day of January, 1950.

Dear Editor:

Recent letters in your paper indicate that many supporters of the Brannan plan either do not understand it, or wish to cause trouble among members of the Farm Bureau.

Let's get the facts straight. The Farm Bureau believes that the farmer is entitled to 100 per cent of parity with other groups, but they are not foolish enough to believe that such parity could be obtained without strict acreage or other governmental controls to control surpluses. That is why they favor a sliding scale plan which would cause farmers to reduce crops in surplus by planting other crops, thereby keeping controls at a minimum and avoiding ruinous surpluses.

As far as the claim that 60 per cent of the Bureau members favor the Brannan plan, this definitely is not borne out by the facts. When Farm Bureau resolutions were voted on last fall, either at township meetings or by questionnaires sent to all members, the majority favored the sliding parity scale over the Brannan plan. These resolutions were voted on at the annual county meeting and county voting delegates were instructed to support these resolutions at the state convention where all counties in the state had delegates who voted likewise.

The vigorous opposition of Allan Kline to the Brannan plan was purely his own until after the national convention at Chicago, where Farm Bureau representatives from all states voted in the majority to oppose the Brannan plan and recommend a sliding parity price support.

On Feb. 17 and 18 at the National Farm Institute at Des Moines, Kline will speak again—this time as the voice of the Farm Bureau. Secretary Brannan will also speak from the same platform; and any person who has any interest in agriculture owes it to himself to attend this meeting or listen by radio with an open mind to these men.

Differences of opinion are common in our democracy, but none should be critical of something about which he knows little or nothing.

The National Grange has also opposed the Brannan plan. How they arrived at this decision, I do not know, since I am not familiar with their organization.

The Farmers Union favors the Brannan Plan, largely because its members have no program of their own to offer the farmer—and since the members are few, their policies are dictated by their leaders. Since they have nothing to offer, they have nothing to lose by claiming anything.

The Farm Bureau is always ready to defend itself against unjust criticism by uniformed persons who seek personal gain or wish to discredit the Farm Bureau, whose democratic principles have made it the Voice of Organized Agriculture.

Sincerely
Kenneth Myers

202 Hy-Line FLOCKS
AVERAGE 212 EGGS
per Hen Housed

Congratulations to these farm poultry raisers! In the 1948-49 Hy-Line Farm Flock Laying Contest, 202 flockowners in 11 states kept daily records on more than 51,000 Hy-Line pullets. Final tabulations for all completed notarized records reveal that their flocks averaged 212 eggs per bird housed.

National winners are: Mrs. Howard Lyman, Maroa, Illinois. Her 234 Hy-Lines averaged 283.5 eggs per bird for twelve months. William O'Malley, Milford, Illinois, was national runner-up with 276.8. Iowa entries produced three of the top five national records.

"There's one good thing about taxes — They keep us aroused an' anxious t' vote."
—Abe Martin

One of the subjects most dear to the hearts of the people is taxes.

That's as it should be. Taxes are collected to run government, whether on a local, state or national basis, and for that reason everyone has a stake in tax collections.

Most taxes are hidden. A few are out in the open. Everyone is a taxpayer whether he realizes it or not, and no one likes burdensome taxation.

Some misinformation on state taxes has been used by a few individuals in an effort to divert attention from the excessive taxation in the federal fields. Efforts have been made to twist the figures, but close scrutiny reveals the true facts. State tax collections are a drop in the bucket compared with those collected by the federal government.

For example, in the fiscal year of 1948 the federal government took from the pockets of Iowans $446,799,761, or an average of $161.92 for each of the estimated 2,640,000 persons living within the orders of the state.

Compare that with the $84,973,604 collected by the state of Iowa, exclusive of liquor profits and highway taxes, the latter being used exclusively for highway work in the state. That's an average of $32.15 per person.

That means that the federal government takes more THAN FIVE TIMES AS MUCH IN TAXES FROM THE PEOPLE OF IOWA AS DOES THE STATE GOVERNMENT.

In addition, only a small part of state taxes actually is used for state government. The state is virtually just a collection agency for local purposes. THE STATE RECEIVES no money from property taxes except the $6,375,000 it got for the soldiers bonus. And the largest amount of taxes received from special levies goes to homestead tax credits and the state's half of old age assistance, AND THE SMALLEST TO THE STATE GENERAL FUND.

Too, the general fund supports state departments, state schools and institutions; and returns to local school districts $22,647,500 per year.

Under Republican administration of the past 10 years the state has:

Eliminated the state property tax.

Reduce the state income tax.

[illegible] with the reductions, Republican administrations have been able to:

Balance the budget.

Set up a $30,000,000 "rainy day" fund.

Pay a World War II bonus with only a slight property tax levy.

Increase appropriations to state schools, mental institutions, provide more money for social welfare work, and boost state aid to schools.

Contrast that with the Demo-Washington.

They haven't cut taxes. Instead they plan to add some more.

They haven't balanced the budget. Instead they're going into this fiscal year with another 5.5 billion dollar deficit .

They haven't any "rainy day" fund. Instead they plan to borrow more, and tax more to have more and more for fantastic socialistic schemes.

Comparison proves: Republican government is the best Government for ALL the people.

Don't be fooled by propaganda that state government in Iowa is "bleeding the taxpayer."

FEDERAL TAXES AMOUNT to 74 per cent of the total government dollar. The average American family of four pays $1,488 in taxes, of which $1,096 goes to the federal government and $212 for state taxes.

When you pay your taxes, remember that the federal government is taking FIVE TIMES AS MUCH FROM THE POCKETS OF IOWANS AS IS THE STATE GOVERNMENT.

Another example of the efficient operation of departments with the people's best interest at heart is the manner in which the bonus board has administered the payment of the World War II bonus. The administrative cost of paying the bonus—including salaries, printing and all other expenses—is 92 cents per claim.

Other states are spending from $1.60 to $2 a claim for administrative purposes.

Board secretary Ed Kallemyn and his efficient staff should be congratulated. He says that although the board didn't start payments until last July, it already has advanced faster with the job than other states in the same amount of time.

IOWA DEMOCRATS CLAIM---

By FRANK MOORHEAD
Publicity Director
Democratic State Committee

Charges that dropping horse racing at the state fair, by the Republican state fair board, hits directly at numerous Iowa industries and might conceivably add to Iowa juvenile delinquency and fatal highway accidents are made by horse lovers, strong in their condemnation of the new policy.

Horsemen point out that Iowa horses eat Iowa oats, Iowa corn, Iowa hay and Iowa bran and use Iowa straw. Their owners employ Iowa veterinarians.

They buy Iowa-made serums, Iowa mineral supplements, Iowa-made sulkies and carts, and sometimes race in Iowa-made harness. Iowa horses wear shoes fashioned by Iowa blacksmiths out of steel purchased through Iowa retailers. Even their manure is spread over Iowa truck gardens!

"Iowa horse breeders already are shipping their animals to Florida and other Southern states, taking them out of Iowa, shutting off their buying here," says this Iowa breeder.

"The idea of no horse racing at our state fair has much of the same effect as having no turkey on Thanksgiving or no celebration of the Fourth of July," says Ross H. Stottart of Chariton. "A horse is a living thing which needs much care, skill and training to respond to the driver's or rider's hands. While many of our horses have come from Iowa farms, those who haven't do consume products from Iowa farms Horse racing education on Children's Day, to our way of thinking, is far better than making youngsters automobile speed crazy."

Part of the tradition of the Iowa State Fair has been the horses," says Mrs. John Sloane, wife of a well-known Des Moines horse breeder. "I would be safe in saying that the people in the grandstand don't give a hoot whether they see world champions racing or not. A race in slow time that is well matched and ably driven is just as entertaining and just as thrilling to watch as a Grand Circuit two-minute mile.

"So what if the horses don't make any money for the fair, as the state fair board gives as an excuse for dropping them? At least they are not suggesting to impressionable youngsters what a thrill it might be to take an automobile and see how fast it will go! Of course, stock-car racing is popular with the young set, so is chasing through the streets of Des Moines and other cities at 80 miles an hour, or racing their own stock cars on the highways."

Mrs. Sloan answers Republican state fair board argument that horse racing loses money for the State Fair, by saying:

"Were it possible to ask everyone who stayed away from the State Fair last year, or who stayed out of the grandstand on the afternoons of horse racing, why they did so, there would not be one-tenth of one per cent who would answer, "Heck, who cares aout harness racing?"

"They would probably say that the unkempt appearance of the grounds in general, the lack of adequate free drinking water facilities, the doorless and dirty women's toilets, the amateurish and insulting manner of handling traffic, the utter lack of glamour in the afternoon grandstand shows and the suspension of "passes" were the combination that kept too many Mr. and Mrs Iowans and their children off the state fair grounds."

"Maybe the people whose paid admissions and whose tax money goes to support the state fair should test out the power of the people," concludes Mrs. Sloane, "and see if by expressing themselves in letters and postcards to Governor Beardsley they can do something about the situation. After all, the Governor is a member of the state fair board."

OBITUARY

MRS. WM. C. NELSON

Caroline Esther Mason, daughter of Hector and Anna Mason, was born July 2, 1859, in Polk county, Iowa, and passed away in Minneapolis, Minn., on Jan. 9, 1950 at the age of 90 years, six months and seven days.

She was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith in childhood.

In October of 1876 she wed William C. Nelson To them were born eight children, all of whom are living. They are: Hector, Lottie Thompson and Anna Thompson, all of Belmond; Nels of Kanawha; Carl, Pearl and Lena, all of Minneapolis; and Walter of Houston, Texas.

In the spring of 1895 the Nelson family moved from Polk county to Wright county and lived on farms near Kanawha and Belmond, Mr. Nelson died in 1920 and the last few years Mrs. Nelson had lived with her daughters in Minneapolis.

Survivors, besides the children, are: three sisters — Mrs. Bertha Brown of Bemidji, Minn., Mrs. Signe Nelson of Des Moines and Mrs. Gena Barnes of Slater; one brother, Thor Mason of Slater; six grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

JOHN C. JOHNSON

John Christian Johnson, son of Chris and Gurine Johnson, was born Dec. 14, 1868 near McCallsburg, Iowa, in Story county.

In 1889, he moved with his parents to a farm southwest of Kanawha. He resided there until 1910, when he came to town in the employ of the Farmer's Elevator.

He was baptized in the Lutheran faith and was confirmed in St. John's Lutheran church.

On Sept. 17, 1919, he wed Blanche Collins of Prairie du Chien, Wis. One son, Robert, was born to them.

After 37 and one-half years of faithful service as manager of the elevator, he was forced to retire, due to a stroke he suffered in June, 1947. He sought medical aid at the Mayo clinic, which proved beneficial for a brief period.

On Dec. 27, he was striken with a second and paralytic stroke and his condition grew steadily worse. Death came to him at his home in Kanawha on Friday morning, January 13.

His parents and one brother, Carl Albert, preceded him in death.

Those who mourn his passing, are his wife and son Robert; two brothers—Gundvel and Edwin of Kanawha; three sisters — Mary, Mrs. Edwin Varo of Kanawha, and Clara, Mrs. Frank Anderson, and Alma, Mrs. John Dorn of Fort Dodge; besides a host of relatives and friends.

The entire community mourns the loss of a true and generous friend, who was ever willing to help those who enlisted his aid.

Funeral services were held at the Kanawha Lutheran church Sunday afternoon, Jan. 15, in the Kanawha cemetery.

Friends Surprise K. Johnsons On Silver Anniversary Date

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson observed their Silver Wedding anniversary Tuesday of last week and were pleasantly surprised that evening by 35 friends who came to their home with well-filled baskets to help them celebrate. A short program of music, poems and talks, followed with a social time, were enjoyed.

Mrs. John Lauen, in behalf of the group, presented the Johnsons a purse of silver dollars to purchase something for their home. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson responded. Among other gifts was a bouquet of American Beauty roses from their children.

A lovely decorated wedding cake made by their friend and neighbor, Mrs. Arald Riekens, was the feature of a two-course lunch that was served.

Kenneth Johnson of Forest City and Agnes Schleusner of Garner were married Jan. 24, 1925, at the Methodist parsonage in Algona by Rev. Robert Forrester. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schleusner, now residents of Waterloo. The Johnsons farmed for many years in the Forest City vicinity and eight years ago came to Goodell and farm the 160 acre farm at the edge of town now owned by Harvey Harberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are the parents of four children, Dean, Betty, Donald and Shirley. They are members of the local E. U. B. church and are real community folks.

Two Sisters Honored By Birthday Party

Mrs. L. W. Sherwood and Mrs. A. C. Carpenter were honored on their birthdays, which occurred last week, when ladies came to the latter's home Friday to help them celebrate. A social afternoon was enjoyed and a lovely lunch served. The honorees were each presented a pretty picture. Those present were Mesdames J. J. Cook, Newgord, L. H. Wilson, Anton Ahrenkiel, McNutt, Savogue, Nielsen, Laton Avery and Amos Hanson.

The local missionary ladies will hold their Women's Day program next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. at the E. U. B. church. The Rev. James T. Stewart will give the address and the offering will be sent out for mission work.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Van Heifte and two daughters of Chicago, Ill., spent a few days last week in the Lester Wilkins home, visiting Mrs. Van Heifte's mother, Mrs. [illegible]inger.

Mr. and Mrs. Hauko Barkema, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Barkema of Klemme spent Friday evening in the Arnett Ostendorf home. The former is father and Leo a brother of Mrs. Ostendorf.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Evenson spent Wednesday and Thursday at the Danner home at Northwood. They also went to Kensett to see the former's sister, Mrs. Leonard Medlang who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kropp drove to Kanawha Sunday and enjoyed the evening with friends, the Chris Hansons.

The Hancock county spelling contest is dated for March 18 and will be held at the Garner school. School pupils are busy getting prepared for the day.

Mrs. O. Sandberg's 84th Birthday Celebrated

Earl Jenison, Elna and Mrs. Hogenson of Belmond enjoyed supper and the evening Friday in the O. Sandberg home. They helped Elna's grandmother, Mrs. Sandberg celebrate her 84th birthday.

Appear Tonight at Goodell Church

Phil and Louis Palerno (above) of Minneapolis, Minn., American-born Italian evangelists who were used to start Youth for Christ in Italy in two lengthy tours of that country, will present a musical program and a brief message at the Evangelical United Brethren church this evening—Thursday—at Goodell, starting at 7:30 p. m.

The two young singing evangelists who are official field representatives of the Youth for Christ movement which now exists in 59 countries of the world, have traveled through Italy and Sicily in a jeep station wagon, donated for their use by Minneapolis Youth for Christ. They have used their musical ability in evangelistic work for the last 10 years, speaking and singing in all parts of the United States and Canada.

Louis Palerno is an outstanding accordionist, and will be playing an $800.00 instrument purchased in Italy. He is also an expert on the trombone. Phil is a preacher, and also a good musician.

The pastor, Rev. James T. Stewart, extends a cordial invitation to all, and especially to young people. There will be no admission, but an offering for missions will be taken.

Rev. Emerson, One-Time Goodell Resident, Dies At Roanoke, Louisiana

Mrs. L. W. Wesenberg received a message Tuesday of last week that her brother, Rev. Glen Emerson, 72, had passed away that day at a hospital in Roanoke, La., after a three weeks illness which followed a stroke. Burial was at Roanoke.

Alexander News

By Mrs. Grace E. Richards

Ronald Andrews, Tennessee Girl Wed January 6th

Miss Hannah Marlow of Chattanooga, Tenn., daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Marlow of Chattanooga, became the bride of Ronald Andrews, son of Mrs. L. M. Andrews of Alexander, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. B. W. Mahoney, at Chattanooga on Friday, Jan. 6. The bride's father performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a suit of burgundy wool and a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. John Marlow, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, assisted Mrs. Mahoney at a reception which was held for the immediate families and a few close friends following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Central high school and the McKenzie School of Business at Chattanooga and has held positions in several states. It was while in California that the couple met. For the past two years she has held a secretarial position with the Pure Oil company at Chattanooga. She is a member of the Red Bank Baptist church of Chattanooga.

Mr. Andrew si a graduate of the Rowan Consolidated high school and served three and one-half years in the U. S. Army Medical Corps. Since returning from service he has been engaged in farming with his mother. He is a member of the Congregational church at Rowan.

The newlyweds have returned here and will make their home after March 1st on the Chris Marshall farm, now occupied by Mrs. Louise Jury.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Belmond, Iowa, Jan. 30, 1950

City Council met in special session in City Hall, members all present, Mayor Hass presiding. Mayor declared this meeting is called for the purpose of conferring with Engineers relative to paving project on Third St. N. E., and to transact any other business that might properly come before it.

Councilman Meints presented the following Resolution and moved its adoption; Councilman Bonte seconded the motion to adopt:

RESOLUTION NO. 220

RESOLUTION ORDERING CONSTRUCTION OF PAVEMENT WIDENING

BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of the City of Belmond, Iowa, that a pavement widening be constructed as follows:

Said improvement to consist of the widening of the 22 foot width of concrete paving proposed to be put in by the Wright County Farm to Market program by the placing of a 4.5 ft. of concrete pavement with integral curb on each side, including the widening through intersections and other incidental related items of work. The location of the work to be Third Street N. E. (Hathaway Street) from the East edge of the existing concrete pavement at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street N. E., East on Third Street N. E. to the East property line of the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

That the method of construction shall be by contract and in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with the City Clerk.

That the cost of said improvements shall be paid to the Contractor in monthly estimates based on ninety per cent of the Engineer's estimate value of the acceptable work completed on each contract, in warrants drawn on any fund from which such work may be paid. Such warrants shall draw four per cent interest per annum from and after the date of presentation for payment. If such fund is depleted anticipatory warrants shall be issued. All as prescribed by the Code of Iowa, 1946, and Chapter 168, Street and Sewer Improvements, Laws of the 53rd General Assembly.

That proposals will be received for furnishing labor and materials for the construction of said pavement widening at the office of the City Clerk up to the hour of 2:00 o'clock P. M., on the 17th day of February, 1950, and will be opened by this Council at a meeting to be held at that time in the Council Chambers and acted upon at that time or such later time as then may be fixed.

The work shall be commenced on or before May 15, 1950, and be fully completed on or before July 15, 1950.

The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

That the City Clerk is ordered to advertise for bids for said construction in the manner and for the time provided by Chapter 168, Laws of the 53rd General Assembly, Iowa.

PASSED, ADOPTED and APPROVED this 30th day of January, 1950.

Charles H. Hass, Mayor

Suckers that we are, all it takes is a day like Monday to make us check up on our golf bag to see how many balls were left from last season. We begin to keep an eye out for robins and inspect patches of yard that are free from snow to see if any green shoots are perceptible.

Even if our youth is waging a losing battle, SPRING is our time of year.

Of course, we knew from past experience we were living in a fool's paradise — that the next blizzard was just around the corner and that we'll likely be trudging through drifts come St. Patrick's Day. That durned ground hog had more than ample opportunity to see his shadow.

But with the passing years we've attained a philosophical attitude toward these February thaws. Each day like Monday is a leaf off the calendar—one that's beyond the blight of sub-zero temperatures; and it leaves us one painless day closer to really-for-sure SPRING.

Why the boys who bet on basketball go nuts (and it serves them right) is indicated by the point totals of Boone and Ames in Central Iowa conference play. Boone has been out-scored by its loop foes by a nine-point margin, 352 to 343; and Ames has likewise scored nine less points than its adversaries, 324 to 315. What's strange about that? Nothing, other than the fact that Boone is tied for top spot in the league with six wins and a pair of losses—and Ames is in fourth place with only three victories against five defeats!

Attention, golfers! Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, Iowa golf coach and current mentor of the Hawkeye basketball team, has invented a putter that should be the answer to many a duffer's prayer. It's a mallet type club with a shaft adjustable to a number of angles to suit a variety of players—or a variety of moods.

We particularly recommend the purchase of one of these implements by "Judge" Roy Henderson. Then, when those second putts start missing with revolting regularity, Roy, you can just shift into second or third gear and see if THAT helps.

The Bible verse which heads off this week's editorial column was submitted by Mrs. E. F. Bailey. Remember, we welcome contributed verses; just keep in mind they should be brief and significant.

As director of the Iowa High School Girls Athletic Uion for this area of the state, Meservey's Supt. Lovell Diddy was faced with the responsibility of drawing up the state sectional and district tournament arrangements that very closely concerned Coach Lovell Diddy.

Viewing the pairings for next week's district tournament at Waterloo leaves no room for question as to whether Coach Diddy was given any dubious breaks.

In Rockwell, Meservey's first round opponent, Diddy's proteges face a foe who has already trimmed them twice this year. If the Meservey gals survive this test, they must meet either undefeated [illegible]—or Hansell, whom they edged out earlier by a 68-67 count. No soft pickin's there!

Working Persons Now Permitted to Enroll for Blue Cross at Any Time

The Wright County Health Improvement association will now accept enrollment of eligible persons for Blue Cross hospital insurance at any time Mrs. Ber- [illegible] Anderson of Clarion, president, said today.

Any employed person, either self-employed or working with an organization where there are [illegible] or less employees, under 65 years of age and living in Wright county, is eligible to make application for Blue Cross membership through the Wright County HIA, she said. This provides for hospitalization only; it does not include Blue Shield surgical benefits.

Information and application forms may be obtained from [illegible] A. H. Bunn, secretary of the HIA, 215 Central Avenue East, Clarion. Upon acceptance by Blue Cross, applications received by the Des Moines Blue Cross office before the first of the month will be effective the first of the second month following.

Once a year a special enrollment period for combination Blue Cross-Blue Shield surgical will be held at a time convenient to both HIA and Blue Cross, Mrs. Anderson said.

Vets Launching Final Drive

Fire Department Aids in Battling Meservey Blaze

Belmond's Fire Department performed yeoman service early Tuesday morning in preventing spread of a fire at the edge of the Meservey business district which possibly could have swept the downtown section. As it was, damage was largely confined to the building which served as headquarters for the repair and trucking business of Herman Vierkant and was limited to a loss estimated at some $12,000 to $15,000.

Cause of the fire, which broke out about 11:30 p. m., is unknown. In battling the blaze that soon spread throughout the frame building—which Vierkant leased from Albert Hafermann—the Meservey Fire Department exhausted the town's 10,000 gallon water supply within about 20 minutes. The contents of two nearby cisterns was also dumped into the flames without effect.

The Belmond firemen were summoned about midnight and by the time they could rush to the scene the new brick warehouse of the Fischer Implement company, immediately adjacent to the burning building, was seriously threatened. Almost at the same time, the Belmond truck reached Meservey, another arrived from Thorton.

Both of the visiting trucks were equipped with tanks—Belmond's with one of 500 gallon capacity and Thornton's with 200—and as water supplies were exhausted the trucks raced to the country to refill from the nearest farm well.

According to some onlookers, the more ample capacity of the Belmond truck may well have made the difference between saving the implement warehouse or seeing it, too, go up in flames; and the entire business district would have been jeopardized if the Fischer building had been consumed.

Two trucks—a "semi" and a pickup valued at $5,000—and a used tractor were destroyed in the fire, along with some $4,000 worth of tools, oil and miscellaneous contents of the razed building. The structure itself was valued at about $3,500. Insurance, according to reports, fell considerably short of covering the loss.

Meservey businessmen had high praise for the efficient manner in which the Belmond firemen fought to prevent the implement warehouse from catching fire and gave them a large share of the credit for limiting the blaze to the one building.

Deaf-Blind Virginia Now Wears Glasses; Shows Fine Advance

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Ver Helst of Goodell have been informed that their little deaf-blind daughter, Virginia—whose story was told in the Christmas edition of The Independent — is showing fine progress at the Council Bluffs school for the deaf.

Last week Virginia—with her special teacher, a Miss Talbott, was at Iowa City to be fitted with glasses and submit to ear tests by specialists at the state university.

Many friends and well-wishers join with Virginia's parents in the hope that the strides she has been making signify that in due time she will be able to enjoy a near-normal childhood as she learns to make maximum use of her partial sight and hearing.

Quiz Funds Will Pay Two Scouts' Way to Jamboree

An excellent attendance of approximately 550 persons at the Town and Country Quiz last week assured, according to Scoutmaster Glen Martin, that two Belmond Boy Scouts can be sent to the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., next summer.

Candidates for the expense-paid trip will be selected by Martin and Russell Porter, leader of Belmond's new Explorer Post, on the basis of interviews with the boys' parents, pastors and teachers.

A handful of recommended names will be submitted for final judgment to a committee headed by Supt. Don Faris, which also includes A. P. "Dutch" Thompsen, Ellis Elliott, Gunnar Kling and Glenn Eccles.

At present, as Scouting in this country observes its fortieth anniversary, there are some 40 boys in this community active in the movement. Last month the first Explorer Post was chartered in Belmond, with I. O. O. F. Lodge No. 365 as the sponsoring organization.

The Explorers group is made up of boys 14 years of age or older and is intended to provide advanced activities for youngsters who have been engaged in Scouting for several years.

Don Nielsen is the I. O. O. F. representative on the Explorer Post committee. W. E. Burk is committee chairman, assisted by Alfred Stadtlander, William Meints and H. M. Thompson.

SEEKING SUFFICIENT CASH TO FINISH UP MEMORIAL PROJECT

A clean-up fund drive was launched on Tuesday to obtain money required to complete remodeling of the Veterans' Memorial building. It is the plan of Belmond's veterans to see all persons who have pledges outstanding and to contact all other individuals who as yet have had no opportunity to contribute to Veterans' Memorial project.

Only $600 remains in the building fund, which barely covers outstanding bills, according to C. J. Papousek, building chairman. A large portion of the remodeling work has been completed, but about $6,000 is critically needed to finish up the job.

Excavation for the cellar was completed a number of months ago and the basement is now virtually done. Girders and joists were erected last fall after the old floor was torn out, and the new one is now finished except for laying maple flooring.

The plumbing and heating contract was recently let to Madole and Kinseth and work has been started on the plumbing installation. First of the heating equipment will go into the building next week.

Clair Gagnon will supervise construction work on the veterans' building while Mr. Papousek is vacationing in Florida.

According to Mr. Gagnon, once the plumbing and heating contract has been fulfilled and the floor finished, redecorating the interior and coating the outer, tile walls with plaster will more or less complete the remodeling job.

At a special meeting of the Legion on Tuesday evening, the members agreed to lend the Memorial corporation $3,000 on a 20-year note if insufficient funds are donated to finish off the building. However, it is the sincere hope of the building committee that a sufficient number of pledges will be paid and enough additional unpledged donations received to make taking advantage of the Legion's loan offer unnecessary.

MESERVEY GIRLS WIN SECTIONAL TOURNEY

Meservey's girls basketball team marched into state district competition by downing three opponents in the sectional tournament at Rowan last week by an average margin of better than two-to-one. The sectional champs averaged 77 points per game to 34 for their foes as they took Klemme into camp 83-28, Chapin by a 70-33 count and Sheffield by a 78-41 edge.

This gave the Meservey misses a season's record to date of 21 wins in 26 contests, after playing as tough a schedule as any team in the state. Tuesday, night they added another victory, trimming Ventura 61-29 as the Meservey boys were dropping a 43-42 heartbreaker.

Next Tuesday evening in the state district meet at Waterloo, Meservey will meet Rockwell's girls for the fourth time this season. Rockwell has a two-to-one edge and Meservey hopes to take the BIG one and even the count. In the other bracket at Waterloo Elma plays Hansell. The two winners will meet Thursday night.

A CONSTANT HAZARD in any grain processing plant is dust. The canvas tubes which William Stadtlander (above) is shaking to free of accumulations, gather dust from various processing operations at the GMI plant in the manner of a vacuum cleaner. The dust is caught in the bin below Bill and later is used as a meal ingredient.

G M I Soybean Plant Has Won Enviable Position in Field

When Whitney Eastman, president of the chemical division of General Mills Inc., spoke to members of the GMI Men's Club at their annual banquet last month, he congratulated them on making the Belmond plant one that is widely respected as among the most efficient in its field.

He explained that competition in the soybean processing field has become so keen that, in these days of high bean prices, the selling price of the soybean derivatives has been driven down to a point where very few plants can operate at a profit In fact, many have been forced to shut down.

However, the Belmond plant has consistenly made money. Though the margin has been relatively small in the last year or so, the mere fact that a reasonable profit has been produced makes the local plant a subject of envy among most of its competitors. And this enviable position has been attained, Mr. Eastman emphasized, by the efficiency and loyalty of the Belmond executives and production staffs.

In December the Belmond plant entered into its sixth year of operation. Each year, since it went into production in 1944, its volume has gone up. Last year the plant processed some three million bushels of soybeans. In 1950, says Manager Gene Woolley, the goal is to process an additional half million bushels—or three and a half in all.

The rated capacity of the plant, based on a 365-day work year devoted to a 24-hour-a-day operation is three million bushels. Last year it actually was in operation about 340 days. Mr. Woolley admits that handling that extra half million bushel volume presents problems, but he is confident that increased efficiency and eliminating some existing bottle-necks will make it possible.

One thing that is particularly distinctive about a soybean processing plant is the fact that one sees around it nothing in the nature of a waste heap or slag pile. There is literally no waste. Moreover, there are not even any "by-products" to use up elements that might otherwise constitute waste.

"We produce only co-products," is the way Mr. Woolley puts it. "No particular, single product of a plant like ours is the major objective of the processing operations. Broadly speaking, the products fall into three classifications: oils, which may be devoted to either industrial or edible uses; phosphatides, whose various uses will be explained shortly; and bean meal, either used as the protein element in stock feeds or as the basic ingredient of certain other products."

Most people are familiar with the fact that oil is a major product of the soybean, but few realize the wide range of its uses. For example, one type of oil—mainly produced at the Belmond plant—is an essential ingredient in the alkalite enamels which make modern refrigerators, stoves and similar kitchen appliances the handsomest, whitest

BRONC TITLE HOPES HANG ON INDIAN TILT

Friday night at Forest City is the BIG one. Belmond will get its last chance on that occasion to draw even with the Indians and earn a share in the North Iowa conference championship laurels. All but the two, top rivals have been eliminated from the title picture, but the Broncos trail last year's champs by only half a game —with an 8-1 record compared to Forest City's nine-in-a-row. A large crowd of Belmond boosters is expected to accompany the Broncs up north to see if they can tip over the favored Indians. Next Tuesday, it's Garner here.

SMITH HAS RELAPSE; IN HOSPITAL AGAIN

County Supervisor Alex Smith was back in the hospital Monday of this week after suffering a relapse from the effects of a bad fall on the ice Jan. 23. He had been released about a week earlier after making an apparently good recovery from a bump on the head he received in the tumble.

A report from Steele Memorial hospital yesterday stated that Mr. Smith is being treated for a cerebral thrombosis, which was likely caused at least in part by the brain concussion he sustained when he slipped on the ice. His condition was described as "serious" but not "critical".

Thieves Get $120 From Store Here

Two Belmond business houses were broken into last Friday night. Harold Rierson, owner of the Gamble store, reported to Sheriff Bob Blecker that $120 in cash and some checks were taken from his establishment. At Waddington's store, the intruders were unable to gain access to the store proper, after entering an un-used room to the rear.

Both buildings were entered by means of windows at the back. Sheriff Blecker reported the middle of the week that as yet he had no leads regarding the identity of the thieves.

In other police activity over the weekend, three teen-age boys were picked up Sunday night by Sheriff Blecker after a passer-by had reported that lumber was being stolen from Spahn and Rose lumber company and loaded on a truck. He gave local police the truck license number, which was passed on to the sheriff.

After ascertaining the name of the truck's owner, Sheriff Blecker drove to Belmond to hunt up the truck. The three youths were found laying new, pine siding as flooring in a shack they were "fixing up."

It so happened that they had been unable to obtain the type of lumber they wanted at the Spahn and Rose yard and had later obtained the stolen boards —15 eight-foot 8x1's—from Fullerton Lumber company.

The lumber company was paid for the boards and Tuesday afternoon Sheriff Blecker and County Attorney Harlan Larson held a conference with the boys and their parents. Recognizing it was the first offense of each of the youths, the authorities filed no charges and the case was dropped.

Malone Outlines Farmer's Problem

Four possible choices lay open to the farmers of this nation in selecting a farm program that will protect them against the old bugaboo of depression prices, some 80 listeners were told Monday night at the high school by Carl Malone, Iowa State college extension economist.

His talk was presented before an open meeting of the Adult Education class in Agriculture and gave his audience considerable food for thought.

These possible farm programs were: (1) price supports, such as the existing farm program employs; (2) production payments, such as the Brannan Plan proposes; (3) income payments, which would assure national farm income against falling below a specified level; and (4) a consumer's program, which would in time of depression provide for purchase of farm products by the government for distribution to that part of the population unable to

BOB GARMS
Now Managing Implement Store

Bob Garms Joins W. Wesenberg As Partner in Store

Bob Garms has entered into a partnership with Wayne Wesenberg of Garner in ownership of the Farmers Implement store. Prior to sale of an interest in the business to Mr. Garms, Mr. Wesenberg had purchased the share formerly owned by Harley Thompson, whom the newcomer will replace as store manager. Mr. Thompson has not announced what his immediate plans for the future are.

Mr. Garms has had seven year's experience in the implement business, all with the John Deere company or its equipment — the line which is handled by Farmers Implement. For two years prior to his purchase of the local store he owned and operated the John Deere store at Monona, his home town.

He first went to work with John Deere in 1941, and excepting for two years in the Marines during the war, was in the companys' employ up to 1947. He worked at the Moline plant, at a branch in Aurora, Ill., and at a company-owned store at Osage.

Bob's stint in the Marines included a period of time in the Pacific area, during which he took part in the capture of Okinawa. He was discharged as a Private First Class.

At present Mr. Garms is looking for a home so he can move his wife and two children — Bobby, four-and-a-half years, and Emma Louise, two-and-a-half—to Belmond. For the time being he is staying at Hill's Motel.

Mrs. Garms spent Monday evening here so she could hear the Augustana choir in its appearance at Trinity Lutheran church. Her sister, Avenelle Quammer of Watertown, S. D. is a member of the organization.

Young Kanawha Farmer Killed Last Week When Tractor Goes Off Road

Harlan Ruiter, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruiter, who live about five miles south of Kanawha, lost his life on Wednesday of last week when he suffered a broken neck in a tractor mishap.

The youth's father had purchased a new tractor at Kanawha and Harlan was driving it home when the machine tumbled down a grade embankment. It had wandered too close to the edge of the road as the young man experimented with the tractor's controls and flipped over as he tried to jerk it back to a safe position.

L. C. Banker, who is preparing to move onto a farm two and a half miles south of Kanawha, said the tractor lights were blinking on and off as it passed the farm.

A passing motorist discovered the upset tractor in the ditch and the young man beside it. He reported to the sheriff's office and Coroner Richard Young was summoned.

Dr. Young estimated the youth must have died almost instantly. Sheriff Bob Blecker says this was the first highway fatality of the new year for Wright county.

Co-op Creamery to Hold Annual Business Meeting

H. E. Hemmingsen, manager of the Belmond Co-op Creamery, has been ordered by the board of directors to call the cooperative's annual business meeting for next Wdenesday at the Odd Fellow's Hall, starting at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. Hemmingsen urges all members to be present, as the report on the 1949 business will be read and two new directors will be elected. Lunch will be served at noon and a special program has been arranged for the afternoon.

Legal Authority Puts Proper Debt Limit at $36,000

Council by Resolution Approves Vote in March

At Monday night's city council meeting, the councilman by resolution made as a special question to be voted upon March 27 whether the city of Belmond should issue bonds in the amount of $36,000 to aid in construction of a municipal hospital. The step had been requested by petitions signed by 414 qualified voters.

A bond issue by the city of Belmond in the amount of $50,000, to be applied toward the expense of constructing the proposed community hospital, is not permissable under Iowa law.

To fall within the limitations placed by statute upon bond issues for such a purpose, the indebtedness which Belmond can assume for the hospital project is approximately $36,000.

These facts came to light last weekend when two representatives of the hospital political committee — Roy A. Henderson and George Hansen — went to Des Moines to confer with a widely known authority on municipal bonds.

As a result, the petitions circulated Monday to establish the bond issue as a special question in the March election set forth $36,000 as the requested amount, rather than $50.000.

E. B. Carpenter, known throughout the middle west as a specialist in bonding law, advised the Belmond men that the proposed $50,000 amount would be impossible for two reasons.

First, the mill-an-a-quarter levy permissable for municipal hospital construction applied to Belmond's assessed value of real and personal property value of approximately $1,900,000 would bring in only $2,375 per year—or a total of $47,500 in 20 years' time.

Out of this amount would have to be paid the face value of the bond issue, PLUS interest. This, obviously, would not allow for a $50,000 issue — as the hospital board had been aware.

The second stumbling block, about which the board did NOT know, is the fact that refunding of any unpaid balance of such indebtedness at the end of 20 years is prohibited by the Iowa code.

Consequently the entire amount of the bonds issued MUST be entirely amortized over 20 years. The board had previously believed that the unpaid portion of the proposed $50,000 could be re-

Three Belmond Youths Registered for Draft

Three Belmond youths were among 12 in Wright county who attained the age of 18 during January and registered for Selective Service. They are Bueford W. Kickbush, Edward Glen Eccles and Roger J. Kinseth.

Other young men from this county who registered were: James M. Mann, Donald G. Foster, Keith P. Bell, Bill L. Robinson and Stanley L. Olson, all of Clarion; Donald V. Kallem, Eagle Grove; Richard R. Graves, Woolstock; and Eugene T. Koltvet, Holmes.

Elaine Schmidt, clerk of the Wright County Selective Service board, announces that her office hours have been extended until further notice to include 8:00 a. m. to noon on Wednesday, the same period on Saturday, and Saturday afternoons from 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock. The change was made to give registrants a wider choice of hours during which they can sign up.

Grandparents By the Dozen Is Tots' Boast

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gaetzke of Meservey —Gregory, 20 months old, and eight-month-old Russalyn — are blessed with grandparents by the dozen.

Among the living grandparents the two tots can claim are all four immediate grandparents, five great grandparents, two great, great grandparents and one step-grandfather.

Four of the great grandparents are residents of this community —Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pals and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mennenga. The great, great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Broesel of Keokuk, who are age 91 and 88 respectively.

CHRIS STADTLANDER

Chris Stadtlander was born at Beshaten Oslfriesland, Germany, on Dec. 30, 1870 and passed away at Mercy hospital in Mason City on Jan. 25, 1950 at the age of 79 years and 26 days.

He came to American in the spring of 1888, settling near Belmond. In 1895 he was married to Christena Larsen. To them were born six children, two of whom died in infancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Stadtlander lived most of their married lives near Alexander, where each had joined the Methodist church in 1894. Mrs. Stadtlander passed away on Dec. 31, 1937. Mr. Stadtlander transferred his church affiliation to the Reformed church of Alexander on Jan. 16, 1944.

Mr. Stadtlander is survived by two sons and two daughters—Fred of Rowan, Leonard of Latimer, Mrs. Mae Johansen of Geneva and Mrs. Laura Muhlenbruck of Rockwell; three brothers — Karl of Mountain Lake, Minn., Joe and Bertus, both of Meservey; and two sisters—Mrs. Stena Dorenkamp of Goodell and Johanna Bekker of Belmond. He also leaves 11 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Jan. 29 at the Alexander Reformed church, Rev. B. T. Vandeer Woude Jr., officiating. Burial was in Alexander cemetery. Pall bearers were Charles Winwood, Clarence Smith, Jerry Ammerman, Chris Madsen, Ted Vierkant and Jelto Dirksen.

HERMAN FISCHER

Herman Fischer was born June 5, 1875, on a farm near Lansing, Iowa, and passed away at his home in Meservey on Friday, Jan. 20, 1950, at the age of 74 years, eight months and 15 days.

He came to Meservey at the age of 17 and worked on the farm of his brother George for a year. After going back to Lansing to spend one more year, he returned to Meservey to go into business in a local meat market in the year of 1894.

This was the beginning of a business career of 52 years in Meservey. Mr. Fischer operated in turn the butcher shop, a hardware store, the farm implement business, traveled as a salesman for International Harvester, and owned and operated a store of general merchandise, retiring from active business on Jan. 1, 1946.

On Nov. 15, 1899 he was married to Lydia Wickersheim. To them eight children were born, two of whom died in infancy—Lydia C. and Albert Henry. Care of the six remaining children—Marie, Herman, Agnes, Franklin, Lyle and C. Lydia—was left to Mr. Fischer when his wife died four weeks after birth of the last mentioned child.

In April of 1923 he was married to Amanda Raecker. Their companionship came to a sudden end when Amanda submitted to surgery from which she never recovered, passing away on July 14, 1932.

Mr. Fischer took an active part in the E. U. B. church, of which he became a member on Dec. 18, 1898. He was not only a member for over 51 years but served the church as a steward for 26 years, as a trustee for 21 years, and a class leader and Sunday School teacher.

Over the past Christmas holidays, Mr. Fischer enjoyed the pleasure of having all of his children with him: Mrs. Clare (Marie) Smith, with her husband and three children of Naperville, Ill.; Mrs. Walter (Agnes) Lanffier and husband, of South Milwaukee, Wis.; Franklin and his wife, of Gilmore City; Lyle, with his wife and five children, and Lydia, all of Clear Lake; and Herman C., with his wife and three children of Meservey. His brother John, of Ladysmith, Wis., had come to see him in the middle of January and was still visiting him at the time of his death. Mr. Fischer is also survived by a brother and sister in Freeport, Ill.; another sister, Mrs. John Becker, of Cannon Falls, Minn.; and 13 grandchildren.

JOHN McILRATH

John McIlrath, one of eight children, was born in Ireland, Jan. 20, 1870 to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McIlrath. Coming to Belmond at an early age, McIlrath spent the major portion of his life here. The father, Mr. Hugh McIlrath and one brother and one sister died in Ireland.

The remaining members of the family came to the United States and since have all passed away except one sister, Mrs. Sarah Patterson, who now resides in Lakota, Iowa. His mother and Mrs. John McIlrath departed this life in Belmond, the latter in 1936. John was united in marriage to Lena Ebby.

Ailing for some time with a heart condition, John spent the last year and a half of his life in the home of his niece, Mrs. Mary Whitten of Rowan, Iowa.

Upon becoming seriously ill he was removed to the Hampton hospital where he died Monday, Jan. 23 at approximately one o'clock at the age of 80 years and three days.

One sister and a number of nieces and nephews and many friends mourn his passing.

CHARLES C. GREEN

Charles Cyrus Green passed away Monday, Dec. 12 at 7 o'clock at the Belmond hospital following a heart attack Friday night before. He had been in excellent health and this past year had made three long trips one to the east coast, one to the west coast and the other to Wisconsin.

Mr. Green was in the grain business all his life until six years ago when the retired.

Mr Green was born at Elizabeth, Ill., the son orf Mr. and Mrs. James Green, on November 30, 1871. He moved to Sheffield, Iowa with his parents at the age of five, where he grew to manhood. When a young man he went into the grain business at Rodman, Iowa for ten years and in April 1899 he was united in marriage to Daisy Kelly of Ruthven, Iowa. To this union were born three children. They moved to Whittemore where Mr. Green managed the elevator ten years. From there they moved to Iowa Falls where he was manager of the Farmer's Elevator seventeen years. The family then moved to Clarksville where Mr. Green and his son, Carl, went into the grain business for six years after which he retired and moved to Rockwell for three and a half years, moving to Belmond in 1947. Mr. and Mrs. Green celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary this past week.

He had been a member of the Methodist church all of his life.

Besides his wife, Daisy, the three children survive, Lester of Rockwell, Carl of Goodell, and Mildred (Mrs. Bernard F. Brown) of Waterloo, and two brothers, Wilbur J. Green, Washington, D. C., J. Gilbert Green, Whittier, California.

His mother and father, one sister and one brother preceeded him in death.

Funeral services were held at the Boone Funeral home and at the Methodist church Dec. 14, with Rev. J. Heber Miller in charge. Burial was at Belmond cemetery.

BOONE HOME FURNISHINGS

Announcing

Change in Ownership

HARLEY THOMPSON, former partner in this business, has sold his interest to me—and I have taken into the business as a new partner BOB GARMS, lately of Monona.

MR. GARMS has had extensive experience with the JOHN DEERE COMPANY and with the repair of JOHN DEERE implements, and it is with pleasure I announce that he will serve as manager of this implement store.

His experience will enable him to give you the best of advice where the purchase of new equipment is concerned — and to assure you top satisfaction when you need repair work done. I am sure you will like BOB GARMS and his manner of doing business.

WAYNE WESENBERG

It is a pleasure to become associated with a firm that enjoys such a fine reputation as this implement store has won for itself. The high quality of the JOHN DEERE line of equipment is well known to all of you. You have my guarantee that the workmanship and service of this firm will continue to warrant your complete confidence. I'm looking forward to meeting all of you good patrons.

Spellers Currently Polishing Up For County Contest On March 4th

The annual Wright county spelling contest will be held at Clarion High school on the morning of March 4, according to County Superintendent C. W. Sankey.

Each rural, town, city or parochial school will be allowed a minimum of two entrants, with the larger school permitted to send one contestant for every 25 students or major fraction thereof enrolled in seventh and eighth grades.

As customary in recent years, both written and oral tests will be given. The 15 entrants scoring highest on the written examination will advance to the oral spell-down.

Again this year the Lions club of Clarion is providing prize money to be awarded the first four place winners in the county contest; $5.00 will go to first, $2.50 to second, $1.50 to third and a dollar to fourth. Ribbons from the county and certificates from the Des Moines Register, sponsor of the state competition, will be presented to all contestants.

Last year, Shirley Bohning, representing Pleasant No. 3, emerged the winner in the Wright county contest.

Mrs. Alpha Sandage is in charge of the Belmond elimination "bee" in which four entries will be selected to compete at Clarion, the local school having 110 students in seventh and eighth grades. The youngsters are currently polishing up on their words, but definite plans for the contest have not yet been announced.

Eldon Loats Advised of His Election to 1949-50 Collegiate "Who's Who"

Eldon F. Loats, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Loats of Belmond, is one of nine University of Dubuque seniors who have received notice of their election to the 1949-1950 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Published annually, "Who's Who" gives recognition to leading students from over 600 American schools. A list of nominees is prepared by a local campus committee and voted upon by the student body and faculty. This list is then submitted to the editors of "Who's Who" for the final decision.

Nominees are elected on the basis of four main qualities: scholarship, cooperation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the school and promise of usefulness to business and society.

Loats, who graduated from the university at mid-semester, has taken a position in the admissions department of the school. While on the campus, he was affiliated with the "D" Club, Athenaean Fraternity and Steffens House Council in addition to intramural sports and intercollegiate competition in football, basketball, golf and tennis.

Senator Bateson will be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the June primary .

General Mills--

and most effectively mar-proof in history.

The Belmond plant is exclusive supplier of such oils to the largest producer of these enamels, and recently has gained an "in" with its closest competitor and is now supplying the second firm with increasingly large amounts. The odds are very great that your own refrigerator or stove owes its glossy sheen to Belmond soybean oil.

The range of technical uses to which various soybean oils are put is extremely wide. The local plant officials don't even know what some of their customers do with the oils they order. For example, General Electric is a regular buyer. Mr. Woolley suspects their oils go into insulating materials, but that is only a guess.

He does know that some of the oils go into printers ink, some are used as a putty lubricant, and a very large portion of the entire oil volume goes into the manufacture of paints and varnishes. The soybean provides "core oil" used in foundries, in manufacturing castings (binding the sand used in the molds); and their oil contributes to the production of some of the synthetic resins from which plastic materials are produced.

No crude oils are sold by the plant — mainly because that elusive margin of profit is created largely by selling the derivatives that bring a higher price.

Much of the refined oil also goes to what the processors call the "edible trade." The oil directed into this channel reappears in mayonnaise, salad and cooking oils, shortening, oleo margarine and similar products.

An important co-product of the refined oils is lecithin, a phosphatide that is produced in the "de-gumming" process. You will rarely see a list of ingredients on packaged baked goods, confections or a variety of other food stuffs, without finding "lecithin" among them.

After the gum is removed from the crude oil, the residue is dried and bleached under vacuum to produce this food product. It is employed as a dough and shortening extender in baked goods and as an emulsifier and anti-oxident in confections. If you've ever wondered why nowadays you rarely see chocolates that have gone stale, turning chalky and white, lecithin is the explanation.

This product of many uses is also employed in manufacture of commercial feeds, in medicinal formulas — and even as a penetrant to make fence posts absorb creosote more thoroughly and effectively. This, rest assured, does by no means cover the entire range of uses to which the versatile lecithin is devoted.

After the oil has been extracted from the beans, the great bulk of the residue is roasted and used as a high protein ingredient in stock feeds. Another market for the meal has been developed by the local plant, which is important. A derivative is used as a basic ingredient in the binding material used by plywood plants in the Pacific northwest in manufacture of the non-waterproof types of laminated wood.

One other product, previously unmentioned, is created through the oil-refining process which creates the edible oils. After the phosphatides are extracted from the crude oil, the de-gummed oil is treated with an alkalai solution which reacts with the free fatty-acids to make a soap. The soap is centrifuged out of the oil by a "spinning" process and then treated with a sulphuric acid solution, which neutralizes the alkalais.

The result is a stable fatty-acid which can be re-mixed with the industry oils to adjust them to exact acid specifications.

There are few phases of daily life that don't bring you into direct contact with one or another of the products of the Belmond soybean plant; the paper you read to start off the day, the three meals you eat, the furniture you use, the refrigerator you raid for that midnight snack. All of these and a thousand and one other items have had their mark left on them by the men of GMI.

Broncos Wallop Luckless Bison By 60-35 Count

A comfortable half-time lead of 33-10 enabled the Belmond Broncos to add another defeat to the record of down-trodden Buffalo Center here Tuesday night. The Bison were outscored only two points in the second half as the Broncs made their North Iowa mark eight wins to a single loss with a 60-35 verdict.

Belmond established an early lead as Jack Riggs broke the ice with a well executed screen shot and Sid Swenson followed with three quick baskets. A free throw by Riggs made it 9-0 before Keith Thompson broke the ice for the visitors with a gratis toss. Quarter's end found the Broncos in front, 14 to 3.

Don Faris and Duane Trager were the big scoring guns as the host team expanded its advantage in the second quarter to 33-10. After topping off the first quarter offense with a neat drive-in shot, Faris added three more fielders before the half ended; Trager's contribution was five from the court and one from the charity line for 11 points

It seems to be developing into a custom for the well to dry up on the Broncs in the third quarter. Against the mediocre Bison, Belmond failed to score a point in over four minutes of the third stanza and the visitors outcounted the Broncos in this period, 12 to 8.

With their edge cut to 41-22 entering the final period, the boys found their shooting eyes again to out-hit the Buffs 19 to 13 and bring the ultimate tally to 60-35.

Larry Thompson and Bob Burger, Bison guards, were mainly responsible for their teams resurgence in the last half. The former hit for 10 points after the rest period and the latter for six, also playing a nice floor game.

Trager counted 12 points in each half for a 24 total and high scoring honors. He was followed by Faris with 10, and Jack Riggs with nine.

Belmond's frosh-soph aggregation almost caught a tartar in the Bison Calves. After enjoying a fair lead most of the game, which stood at 18-10 as the end of the tilt neared, the Colts were barely able to scrape out a 21-19 decision. Odean Severseike, at center for Vernon Meyers—who was out with sickness—topped the scorers with 10 points. Allen Madsen counted five, Dave Helland three, Claude Larkin two and Arlen Pals one.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Belmond, Iowa, Feb. 6, 1950

City Council met in regular session in City Hall, members all present, Mayor Hass presiding. Minutes of previous meetings read and approved; monthly financial statement received and read.

Motion adopted that Application of Mrs. Irene McMannus for Cigarette Permit and Class B Permit, together with Bonds covering same, be approved and Permits issued.

Councilman Tomson introduced the following Resolution and moved its adoption. Councilman Mennenga seconded the motion to adopt and the roll being called the vote thereon was as follows:

Ayes: Mennenga, Meints, Rierson, Bonte, Tomson; Nays: None.

Whereupon the Mayor declared said Resolution duly adopted as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 221

A RESOLUTION CALLING FOR AN ELECTION FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL AND FOR THE INCURRING OF DEBT THEREFOR.

WHEREAS, a petition for the establishment of a Municipal Hospital and for the incurring of indebtedness by the issuance of bonds therefor in an amount not to exceed $36,000.00 and the levy of a tax of not to exceed one and one-fourth mills for the payment thereof, reading:

> "TO THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF BELMOND, IOWA:
> The undersigned, qualified electors of the City of Belmond, Iowa, hereby petition your Honorable Body for the establishment of a Municipal Hospital, and petition that such proposition for the establishment of such Hospital be submitted at a Special City Election of the City of Belmond, Iowa, to be called for that purpose, the proposition to be submitted at such Special City Election to be substantially in the following form:
> "Shall the City of Belmond, Iowa, establish a Municipal Hospital by the construction of a new hospital building and procuring a site therefor, and issue bonds for such purpose not exceeding $36,000.00 and levy a tax annually upon the taxable property in Belmond, Iowa, not exceeding one and one-fourth mills per annum for the payment of such bonds and the interest thereon?"
> Respectfully submitted" has been presented to this Council of the City of Belmond, Iowa; and

WHEREAS, this council has examined said petition and finds that the same is signed by more than twenty-five per cent of the qualified electors of said City as shown by the poll list in the last preceding regular Municipal Election; and

WHEREAS, said petition is sufficient and complies with the provisions of Chapter 407 of the Code of Iowa, 1946, and should be granted, and this Council has jurisdiction thereof; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA:

Section 1. That as a special proposition to be submitted to the qualified electors of the City of Belmond, Iowa, at the next regular Municipal Election to be held on March 27, 1950, there shall be submitted the following proposition, to-wit:

> "Shall the City of Belmond, Iowa, establish a Municipal Hospital by the construction of a new hospital building and procuring a site therefor, and issue bonds for such purpose not exceeding $36,000.00 and levy a tax annually upon the taxable property in Belmond, Iowa, not exceeding one and one-fourth mills per annum for the payment of such bonds and the interest thereon?"

Section 2. At the said election the ballot to be used in voting upon said proposition of the establishment of a Municipal Hospital and the incurring of indebtedness therefor shall be prepared on yellow paper in substantially the following form:

polishing up on study for promotions or merit badges so they can appear before a board of review prior to the holding of a Court of Honor at Clarion this coming Sunday. It is hoped by local leaders that a contingent from this community can appear before the court to receive pins and badges for which they have qualified.

Glen Martin has about eight boys studying for Second Class tests, and Russell Porter has several in his older group who have been readying themselves to take examinations for various merit badges.

HOSPITAL BOND . . .

funded when 20 years had elapsed.

A special meeting of the hospital board was held Sunday to determine if the majority of the members felt that the necessary reduction in the amount of bond issue would have an adverse effect on the project.

It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the drive should be continued, as planned. They also agreed to accept the $36,000 figure which Mr. Carpenter had recommended as the maximum amount that could be set with complete certainty that the amount would be within legal limits.

Consequently, petitions requesting the reduced amount of bond issue were circulated and by Monday night were placed in the hands of the city council. The petitions were signed by approximately 85 per cent more than the number of voters required to make the issue a special question in the election.

To be approved in March, the bond issue must be favored by a majority of the voters casting ballots—and the number must also exceed by at least one vote a half of the total votes cast in the 1948 election. Since the total ballot in that year was 856, the bond issue must be approved by a minimum of 429 voters to assure the $36,000 municipal support of the hospital project.

MALONE OUTLINES . . .

The big drawback to the first two methods of stabilizing farm prices, Mr Malone declared, is that over the long run they would NOT necessarily stabilize farm income.

He illustrated how this failure could result under a price support plan in the following fashion. In heavy production years the government would buy up surpluses, which would be sold on the market in leaner years. The result of this government selling would be that prices in short-crop years would be held down to the level of normal or good years.

In a free market, prices in short-crop years (in relatively prosperous times) are sufficiently higher to bring farm income up to or beyond that of bumper crop years.

The same shortcoming exists in the production payment plan. If the farmer has plenty to sell, the "parity" price is most acceptable; but if he has very little to sell, a "normal" price may not bring him a sufficient income to provide for his family.

In addition to the questionable effect of either price supports or production payments on actual farm income, both establish the government up as THE price-setting authority for farm economy and must require government controls to prevent surpluses of embarrassing size, the economist pointed out.

This common stumbling block to effective administration of either of the first two types of program, said Mr. Malone, dramatizes the question of whether the farmer should expect or want any effort toward stabilization during good times—or whether the aim of a good farm program should be to safeguard him against the ravages of depression prices.

If the primary goal of a farm program should be to eliminate the possible return of 10-cent-corn days then some plan on the order of income payments or a consumers' program—or a combination of the two—should be the logical goal of farm legislation, to Mr. Malone's viewpoint.

He suggested that the funneling of a portion the rightful income of other economic groups into the farmer's pocket in good times, as well as bad—as both the price support and production payment plans require — is a questionable tactic if the farmer wants long-range legislative protection. Laws are logically made, he reminded, in the interest of ALL the people—not for selected classes, with complete disregard for others.

Mr. Malone summed up his remarks by suggesting that it might be to the farmer's best interest to expose prices to the normal fluctuations the market is subject to in times of prosperity; and confine his demands to a program that will assure him and his family an assured, decent living income in periods of seriously depressed prices.

Pierre, Great Hunter, Found Something He Could Not Kill

By BILLY ROSE

From the province of Manitoba in Canada comes the strange tale of Pierre Montevilain, the hunter. Your acceptance or rejection of it will depend on the kind of pixies under your hat. . . .

For many years, Pierre, a man with the strength of a caribou, lived in almost medieval splendor in a chateau overlooking Lake Winnepeg. Only two things interested him—hunting and drinking, and the measure of the man was that he was more concerned with the potency than the taste of his liquor, and cared little what it was he shot as long as he made the kill.

When he was forty, he married Emilie d'Arbesine, a girl of good family from the Winnipegosis district, and when she presented him with a son a year later he toasted his heir in Hudson Bay rum and predicted that he, too, would some day be a great hunter.

Billy Rose

His wife, however, hated the continual killing, and as the child grew older she was happy that he showed no inclination for the hunt. To encourage his love of wild life, she gave him a silver medallion of St. Francis of Assisi, patron saint of birds and beasts, and hung it around his neck on a thin gold chain. "I've heard it said that when people die their souls enter other living things, sometimes an animal," she told him.

A FEW MONTHS before the boy's ninth birthday, his father found a new-born fawn in the forest and presented it to his son. The lad named it Francois, bottle-fed it until the shakiness went out of its legs, and trained it until it followed him around like a puppy.

On his birthday a few weeks later, Pierre gave his son another present, a specially - constructed rifle, small enough for a boy to carry but in all other respects an efficient instrument of destruction.

"Tomorrow," he said, "we will go hunting."

The youngster said nothing, but later asked his mother what he should do.

"You must go with your father," said Emilie.

"You told me that when people die their souls go into animals," said the boy. "Wouldn't it be like killing a person?"

"Your father thinks differently."

"I won't shoot to hit anything," said the lad.

Pierre, who had been drinking on the porch, overheard the conversation. Addressing himself to his son, he said, "There will be no more women's talk. You will become a man and a hunter like your father. Tomorrow we go to the woods, but your first lesson will be tonight. Take your rifle and shoot the fawn."

Terrified, the boy nodded and went to the barn. He prodded the fawn with a stick and tried to frighten it into the forest, but the pet, thinking it was a new game, took a few playful leaps and then frisked back for more sport. Finally, the boy placed the medallion of St. Francis around the fawn's neck. It needed divine protection more than he.

HALF AN HOUR later, Pierre back on the porch, was roused from his rum by a shot and walked out to the barn, certain that the boy, like a true Montevilain, had obeyed his order. Instead, on the earth floor he found his son's body, blood oozing through the shirt, while the fawn, the medallion dangling from its neck, stood near by.

Crazed, Pierre picked up the rifle and pumped the remaining bullets into the animal's heart. Then he tore the talisman from the carcass.

Next day the boy was buried with the medallion of St. Francis again around his neck, and after the funeral Emilie went back to her own village.

From then on, the great hunter became the great butcher. Day after day, he killed as if bent on exterminating every animal in the forest, and at night he drank and cursed his wife for her ideas about souls and animals.

One evening the following summer he saw a giant stag at the far end of the garden. He reached for his gun and followed it down to the lake. At the water's edge the animal paused and Pierre lifted the gun to his shoulder, but instead of a giant stag he saw a frightened fawn. Its eyes reminded him of two other sets of eyes, but he fired, and the animal gave a little jump and fell dead. Attracted by something on its neck, he walked over to see what it was . . . .

The villagers were not surprised a few days later when they learned that Pierre Montevilain had died of a stroke. But there was much talk about the object found in the dead man's hand—a silver medallion of St. Francis of Assisi suspended on a thin gold chain.

Gold Ring

A Britt woman who bought a sack of roasted peanuts in a grocery there apparently won the grand prize. While her husband was eating peanuts, he crunched something hard and found he had bitten into a gold ring, apparently lost when the peanuts were sacked.

GHOST RIDER

At Osceola Bud Poortinga, his sister Donna and a second girl, Mary Ellen Reed, received a start when they got in their car and drove down the street; a man rose up out of the rear of the car and grabbed one of the girls. When Mr. Poortinga stopped the car, the intruder ran and made good his escape acrosslots.

YOUNG MOOSER

Bill Stukas, 11 year old Spencer youth, may be the youngest hunter in America to have bagged a moose. Bill, resting his gun on his dad's shoulder, fired two shots into a big bull moose in Canada, one bullet piercing the heart. The mounted moosehead is almost as big as Bill.

Ford's won it again!
The New York Fashion Academy
Gold Medal Award for the Fashion Car of the Year
See it... "Test Drive" it... at your Ford Dealer's Now!

WHAT sterling is to silver, the Fashion Academy of New York is to the world of fashion—the last word! And again for 1950, as for 1949, it has selected the Ford Car to receive its distinguished gold medal award as "Fashion Car of the Year." There is, we believe, no greater proof of the beauty of the '50 Ford. And there's no greater proof of its fine performance than a 10-minute "test drive." Your Ford Dealer will be glad to arrange it.

Belmond Masons Attend Impressive Consistory Meeting at Des Moines

On Thursday night of last week, A. E. Larson, Ray Green, Chris Groen, H. H. Larsen and C. J. Williams of the local Masonic lodge were guests at a Masonic meeting at Des Moines.

The Consistory had invited newly elected officers and Master Masons from all over the state to participate in the event, and 97 different lodges were represented. Out of the 2,500 men present, about 200 were lodge officers—who were introduced by Past Grand Master J. G. Schwartzlander of Indianola.

The first section of the Third Degree was conferred by a team composed entirely of Past Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of Iowa; and the second section was conferred by 60 Masons from Omaha.

Local Masons report that the ceremony was very impressive as the conferring officers were attired in robes copied after those worn by workmen at the time of the building of King Solomon's Temple.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

Senator Guy Gillette reports to The Independent by newsletter that a meeting was held the end of last month by the Senate Agriculture sub-committee, of which he is a member, to inquire into the drastic drop in egg and poultry prices. Congressman James I. Dolliver of the Sixth Iowa District, also attended the meeting. Roy W. Lennartson, deputy administrator for marketing in the agriculture department, was the "guest expert" at the confab.

—RFD—

Mr. Lennartson was asked to (1) explain why farmers are paid 20 cents for eggs while eastern retail prices are up to 80 cents; (2) outline the egg price-support program for 1950; and (3) present facts as to why rising prices in eggs on the farm are immediately reflected in upward retail prices, while a drop in the farm price is not followed by a similar drop in retail prices.

—RFD—

Senator Gillettet states, "Mr. Lenartson pointed out that six per cent of farm income derives from sales of eggs." Just why he pointed out that fact isn't apparent, unless he was suggesting that, since the relative income from eggs is so small the farmer just shouldn't worry about egg prices.

If that was his idea, he might take a trip out here "through the sticks" and see for himself just how important that "egg money" can be in a farm household. "Egg money" may represent mere "chicken feed" in comparison with the income from some other farm crops, but it doesn't even add up to decent "chicken feed" at a 20-cent-per-dozen price

The agriculture department spokesman proceeded to explain that present prices result from a heavy carrying-over of early hatched pullets which was seven per cent higher than the previous year. During December the department maintained a support price at 90 per cent, but because of the surpluses had to adjust it downward to about 75 per cent the first of the year. On December 30 the 1950 egg support program was announced, based on a price for dried eggs of 96 cents a pound to support the 25-cents per-dozen price paid to farmers.

—RFD—

Since dryers provide the only storage possible, eggs can be purchased by the government only from them. Some dryers, Mr. Lennartson indicated, "are currently not cooperating." The only way we, personally, can interpret that is to mean that the dryers are pretty much in agreement as to what they are going to pay for market eggs—and the poultryman takes the rap.

Mr. Lennartson states that "differences will soon be worked out with the majority of the dryers" and Senator Gillettet promises that his committee will follow the program closely to see that an effective egg-support program is forthcoming.

—RFD—

One interesting sidelight to the meeting was provided by Senator Frear of Delaware, who is not a committee member but voluntarily sat in on the investigation. He informed the committee that during four weeks in November and December of last year, retail prices in New York remained steady at 43 cents per pound while the price paid the farmer for poultry dropped from 27 to 18 cents. During a month's time this entire difference between decreased buying price and the retail selling price was absorbed by "middle men" somewhere along the line.

—RFD—

It is gratifying to know that government representatives who should be in a position to do something about it are interested in solving this mystery of why both producer and consumer come out the little end of the horn sometimes when farm prices skid.

—RFD—

Senator Gillette also had a word or two to pass along in regard to Agriculture Secretary Brannan's demand for a two million dollar increase in borrowing power for the Commodity Credit Corporation, which provides farm loan and purchase agreement funds. Mr. Brannan told the committee that, of 4.7 billion dollars now authorized for the CCC, 3.4 billion is outstanding in loans and price support agreements. He said the latter figure may rise to as much as 4.2 billion—and he feels that a meagre half billion (which still sounds like a lot of money to us) would be too small a reserve.

—RFD—

The agriculture secretary explained that he was worried about big crops that would cause a still greater outlay of CCC funds and also felt there was some danger that banks would not want to handle CCC paper if the corporation's reserves were "so nearly exhausted."

—RFD—

The committee's response to Mr. Brannan's plea was to ask what was the need for this extra couple of billion when much of the 3.4 billion now out on loans and purchase agreements will be repaid this year.

In other words, the CCC money should amount to a revolving fund, the bulk of all outstanding loans and purchase agreements maturing over the same period that new ones are required. Mr. Brannan's request fell on rather unsympathetic ears; the committee decided that if the CCC requires any more funds, at all, it certainly needs nothing like an additional two billion. "Mr. Brannan," writes Senator Gillettte, "still has to prove his case to us."

Farm Placement "Aides" Appointed to Give Help To Employment Manager

In order to facilitate farm placement activity this year, Dennis Crose, manager of the Iowa State Employment Service in Webster City announces that he has appointed certain business people in Wright county to work as volunteer farm placement representatives.

"These representatives", says Mr. Crose, "are the one who did outstanding work in 1949, assisting farmers and farm workers. Each was selected because of his knowledge of farm hiring needs and his wide acquaintance with farmers and workers.

"He volunteers his services without pay. His job is to help employers and farm workers get together when there are farm jobs in his locality to be filled."

The farmer is urged to place his job opening with the volunteer representatives — and the farm workers are also asked to register their names and qualifications with him. This service is free to both farmers and farm workers and is made available by the following business men in the Belmond area:

Clark McNeal, Courson and McNeal insurance agency, Belmond; and Richard Bowman, Bowman Tire and Repair service, Rowan.

VOL. 31 NO. 18 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, February 16, 1950 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

There's no accounting people's attitudes. Of that, we're convinced. It's been the Independent's standing policy when reporting juvenile misdemeanors to shield the perpetrators and their parents on first offenses, providing no charges are filed and the deeds in no way become a matter of public record. Maybe we're wrong, but we believe this practice does more good than harm; and in the past it has aroused no comment.

We've received considerable criticism for adhering to our customary policy in connection with the lumber pilferers whose offense was anonymously reported last week. In spite of it, we still think that youthful first-offenders involved in minor scrapes will react most favorably if given a "break."

This same leniency represents, of course, a "break" for the parents as well. In this regard, we feel that the parents should justify that leniency by making the punishment fit the crime—and withdraw privileges to an extent that will impress the young offenders that criminal irresponsibility is not a matter to be laughed off.

—M-S—

The way we hear it, Clarkie McNeal was recently regaling members of his Sunday School class with an account of the hardships undergone by the elder Clark McNeal when he was his son's age—'way back in the pioneer days around 1926.

Apparently in an earnest parental effort to get an errand performed, Pop was telling his offspring how he had to brave the elements to fetch in the coal and cobs, etc., etc.

Whatever the line was, it seemed to have made the desired impression . . . But watch it with your contemporaries, Clark. We KNOW you weren't born in a log cabin.

—M-S—

If a bit of levity can be forgiven in referring to an event that was both solemn and impressive—it must have taken quite a jug of water to do the job when an even dozen children of Mr. and Mrs. Vere Jenison were baptized at their home the 17th of last month by Rev. J. Heber Miller, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Those who were annointed were: Bradley, age 17, Adelaide 15, Audra 13, Geraldine 12, Oscar 11, Jon 9, Peter 8, Arthur 7, Hope 5, Jolene 4, Lorinda 3, and Gloria, one year old.

Mrs. Jenison says that her two eldest sons, Randall and Greydon—both at present serving with the U. S. Air Force—will join the ranks when they return home.

The Jenison's eldest daughter, Wanda—now Mrs. Charles C. Caponi of Mason City—is apparently a rugged individualist. She was baptized in the Lutheran church.

—M-S—

To catch up on other overlooked happenings of last month, in another department, the Bowl-Mor Lanes were the scene of a couple of record performances. George Sharp, the end of the month, turned in the best line of bowling that Belmond has witnessed since return of the sport. George larruped the maples for a score of 257—three pins over the previous high game.

And Paul Quigley, whose bazooka ball really sends wood flying thither and yon, accomplished the first 7-10 split pick-up reported locally. Quig caught the seven pin thin on the right, slammed it against the north pit partition, and picked off the 10 pin on a ricochet.

Just when you're ready to write off the human race as a bunch of complete bums, along comes an incident that helps restore in your breast a glimmer of faith in mankind. That's what [illegible] C. Green accomplished last Thursday afternoon when he came into the Independent office to leave a small, leather purse he had found. It contained over $20—and who couldn't use an extra 20 bucks these days? But after finding it on the street downtown, Mr. Green promptly turned it in and requested a classified ad to discover its rightful owner.

On Friday, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson of Goodell called the Independent to see if the purse had been reported found. It was hers and she was understandably anxious to get it back—particularly the money. Mrs. Johnson was delighted to recover the lost cash; Mr. Green was happy over doing a good turn; and we were gratified to be convinced anew that — when you come right down to it— there ARE lots of good folks in the world.

RIERSON HOSPITALIZED

Glenn Rierson and Harley [illegible] took Adolph Rierson to Des Moines last Thursday where he entered the Veteran's Hospital for treatment. "Duffy's" many [illegible] all pulling for his recovery and early return.

Alex Smith, 73, Died Sunday; Funeral Rites Held Yesterday

Had Served County for 12 Years as Supervisor

County Supervisor Alex W. Smith died last Sunday evening at the Belmond hospital after a brief illness that followed a fall on the ice last Jan. 23.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Congregational church. Rev. Alfred B. McKeith conducted the funeral, which was in the charge of Boone Funeral home, and burial was in Belmond cemetery.

Mr. Smith had been released after several days hospitalization following his tumble last month and appeared to be recovering nicely. However, weekend before last he was stricken by a cerebral thrombosis, from which he failed to recover.

He was born at Sheffield, Ill., July 18, 1876, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, and grew to manhood in that area. He was wed to Nellie Brewer on April 5, 1905. Two sons were born to them.

After farming for some time in Bureau county, Ill., Mr. Smith moved with his family to Iowa in 1918. He farmed in the Belmond area for a period seven years and later was engaged in the clothing business here. After his retirement he became a member of the county board of supervisors and had served as a supervisor for a period of 12 years at the time of his death.

Mr. Smith was a member of the Masonic lodge and the Woodmen. He attended the Congregational church and was especially active in church during the time that the new building was being erected. He contributed freely to the project in both time and labor.

Besides his wife, Mr. Smith is survived by his two sons—Alex, Jr., of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Robert of Kanawha. He is also survived by a grandson, Ronald, of Kanawha; and by two brothers and a sister.

Although Alex was approaching the age of 74, his passing comes as a great shock to his many good friends. His geniality and helpfulness will be missed by many.

Sale of Home-Made Foods Planned by Four Groups

Home-made goodies will be available in quantity in the next few days with sales being planned by four different groups as money-raising projects.

The V. F. W. Auxiliary will lead off with a bake sale this Saturday morning at Gunderson's market, starting at 9:00 o'clock.

Two others are scheduled for Saturday. The Belmond Busy Bees club will hold a pie and candy sale at the Tip Top market starting at 10:30 a. m., and the Culture Study Club plans a bake sale at the P. and G. Grocery at 1:00 p. m.

Next Wednesday at the Central States Electric office the Homebuilders Club will hold a cherry pie sale at 10:00 a. m, keeping in the spirit of Washington's birthday

Walter Witt spent the weekend at his home in LeMars.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Van Sickle and Oral and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walrod and Ricky spent the weekend in Des Moines visiting relatives.

Service Station Here Broken Into — Thieves Depart Empty Handed

Al Mennenga's Sinclair service station was broken into sometime late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, but the proprietor was unable to discover anything missing. The intruders kicked in a basement window to gain access to the station.

Mr. Mennenga says that the interior was pretty thoroughly ransacked as the interlopers apparently looked for secreted cash, but none of the station supplies were disturbed.

Clarion, too, was the scene of break-ins over the weekend. On Friday night the high school office was entered and $100 removed from a small safe. The large office safe was blown open and its contents scattered about, but no money had been left in it.

The same evening the International Harvester store was broken into and its safe torn open, but the thieves obtained only some small change to pay them for their efforts.

As yet, the sheriff's office has received no leads connected with these break-ins or those that have recently occurred in Belmond.

Meservey Gains Finals In District Cage Play

Meservey's girls took a big step toward gaining the state championship field by taking Rockwell into camp in their opening district tournament game at Waterloo on Tuesday night, 45-38. It was only the second loss by Rockwell, the other also administered by Meservey.

Thursday night Meservey tangles with Hansell, which downed previously undefeated Elma, 44-39. Since Meservey defeated Hansell by only one point, 68-67, in their only previous meeting this year, the game promises to be another genuine thriller.

ATTENDS CHICAGO MEETING

Rev. A. T. Rollene, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist church, was among 8,000 religious leaders from many states who recently attended the 44th annual Founder's Week conference at Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

Belmond Girl Scouts Get Pins In Ceremony Held at Garner

The Girl Scout troops of Belmond were guests of the Garner Girl Scouts at a Court of Awards last Sunday. Senior Scouts of Garner were in charge of the investiture ceremony at which time girls who have advanced from Brownies to Scouting were given their pins.

The following Belmond girls were invested: Betty Eccles, Marilyn Nelson, Vickie Pals, Karen Meints, Carol Ann Waddington, Caren Coulson, Carole Chinberg, Joan Kriens, Mary Alice Studebaker, Karen Hansen, and Katherine Dorr. Marjorie Sue Johnson and Carol Pals were ill so unable to attend and will be invested at a later date.

Second class and My Troop badges were awarded to Elinor Ellis, Arlene Stoltenberg, Anita Downs, Margaret Eccles, Alice June Koppernagel, Patty Ammerman, Janice Hanson and Mary Luick. These girls participated in the program by giving the "Conservation Pledge." Sharon Dickenson, Jeanette Johnson, Jo Anne Kaufman and Jo Ann Steenblock were unable to attend and will receive their badges at another Court of Award in the near future.

The 15 girls of the Wild Rose troop were awarded their gold star year pins. Swimmer and first aid badges were awarded to Carolyn Classick, Elinor Ellis, Margot Gowdy, Karen Hanson, Marlys Howell, Maryellen Johnson, Carol Ann Leinbach, Barbara Mariga, Sandra Simerson, Sharon Thompson and Eleanor Kay Wagner. Additional badges as follows were given: Outdoor Cook and Campcraft to Karen Hanson, My Community to Marlys Howell, Cat and Dog to Carolyn Classick, Junior Citizen and Musician to Margot Gowdy.

The Wild Rose troop presented two program numbers, a playlet on international relations called "Meet Your Relatives" and an Indian Squaw dance. The dance was directed by Mrs. David Hamilton.

Belmond Scout leaders and assistants attending included Mrs. Arlo Pitcher, Mrs. David Hamilton, Mrs. Gunnar Kling, Mrs. Glen Eccles, Mrs. Courtland Luick, Mrs. H. C. Hansen, Mrs. Ira Studebaker, Mrs. Lois Pals and Mrs. R. H. Gowdy. Several parents attended also.

At the close of the program the Garner Scout leaders served a silver tea, the proceeds of which were sent to the Juliette Low fund.

Herman Schultz Elected To Membership for Life By Chamber of Commerce

Herman Schultz, veteran druggist who the first of this year retired from business following sale of his store to Don Nolan, was honored at last week's Chamber of Commerce meeting by election to a life membership in the organization.

Mr. Schultz was in active business here for over 45 years prior to his retirement and an enthusiastic Belmond booster throughout his active business career. President George Infelt, in proposing the life membership for Herman, remarked that it had been suggested to him by a number of business men. The action was promptly approved by acclamation.

Mr. Infelt appointed a committee, headed by Dr. H. J. Classick, to investigate the problem of school reorganization in the Belmond area. Also on the committee are Roy Henderson and Pat Gallagher. The Chamber of Commerce has no intention of instigating a reorganization movement but wants its members familiarized with the factors that would be involved.

Crash Fatally Injures Youth; Helland Hurt

Four Others From Here In Collision on Friday

A St. Olaf college student sustained fatal injuries and L. M. "Lunk" Helland of this community was quite badly hurt in an auto collision shortly before 7:00 p. m. last Friday as a group of Belmond basketball fans were on their way to Forest City to attend the high school game there. The accident occurred on the north slope of a hill about four miles south of Forest City.

Five other occupants of the car in which the collegian was riding and four other passengers in Helland's car suffered injuries and bruises to varying degrees.

The student, William A. Johnson, Jr., 19, of Rutland, died in the Forest City hospital Saturday. Mr. Helland is in the same hospital, having received a broken nose and collar bone and six rib fractures.

Mrs. Jim Mariga sustained a fractured ankle but was able to return home Friday night, as were all members of the party except Mr. Helland. The latter's daughter, Mrs. Orland Finn, suffreed a broken nose and cheek bone fracture. Jim Mariga, who was riding in the front seat with Mr. Helland, got a severe bump on the head which produced a pair of super-deluxe black eyes. Mrs. Helland, the other occupant of the Belmond car, received only bruises.

The six students had left the college town of Northfield, Minn., to spend their weekend at home or visiting. Leonard Jacobson, 20, of Paton, and Jerry Larson, 18, of Rutland—who was quite seriously injured—were taken to a Mason City hospital.

Released after first aid treatment at the Forest City hospital were the driver of the students' car, Eugene Helmke, Lake Wilson, Minn., Lorraine Tevold of Badger, and another youth whose name was not taken by the Hancock county sheriff.

According to Helmke, he was driving south and had just started to pass a truck when he saw the car approaching from the opposite direction. As he tried to pull back into the lane, his car struck a patch of ice and swerved cross-ways of the highway. Helland's car struck the other one about at the right rear door. Two students were hurled to the paving as the impact wrenched the car door open.

MRS. FOSS ILL

Mrs. Blanche Foss entered the Iowa Lutheran hospital at Des Moines on Wednesday of last week. She has been suffering from a heart ailment. According to latest reports she is resting comfortably but her condition has not greatly improved.

NOLAN GRAND OPENING

Nolan Drug is holding its official Grand Opening this Saturday and is offering a host of gifts and prizes, which will be presented during the day. A miniature grandfather clock and hammered aluminum hostess set are the grand prizes; an electric iron and leather billfold will also be awarded. A Brownie camera will be the prize in a children's contest. Mr. Nolan issues a cordial invitation to all Belmond shoppers to visit his store during the day.

Belmond Broncs Gain Undisputed First Place In North Iowa Standings With Pair of Wins

Shock Forest City With Victory on Friday Night

Forest City fans may always feel that the absence of Charley Langerud due to sickness made the difference, but the fact remains that Belmond's battling Broncos soundly shellacked the Indians last Friday night, 44 to 24. Forest City sentiment notwithstanding, it was a well-earned victory.

The win deadlocked the two teams at the top of the NI loop standings and enabled the Broncos to gain the top rung all by themselves Tuesday evening.

Only the first quarter of Friday night's fray was close The Indians trailed by only two points, 10-8, entering the second stanza. Inspired by Sid Swenson's sizzling performance, Belmond steadily bolstered its margin during the remainder of the game. Halftime saw the Broncs ahead 24 to 12, and ending the third quarter their edge was 33-19.

Belmond's superiority on rebounds undoubtedly reflected the absence of Langerud, the Indan's star center. The Broncos hit six times on follow-in shots, and permitted Forest City only two counters from near the hoop. They completely stifled the efforts of Center Tim Anderson, allowing him a single point before he fouled out at the end of the third period.

Swenson was the spark-plug for Belmond. He hit 'em from all angles for a total of 20 points. Duane Trager contributed 14, to aid the cause materially. Jack Riggs and Rollie Kinseth tallied three each and Don Faris and "Sonny" Greenfield two apiece. Jack Soderling led the Indians with nine, followed by Bob Nelson with eight.

HELLO WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Allen of Kanawha are the parents of a six and a half pound baby boy born Feb. 9. He has been named Arden Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Draper of Dows are the parents of a nine pound daughter named Janice Ann, born Feb. 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Gabrielson are the parents of a son born Feb. 11. He is named Joel Wayne and weighed eight pounds and nine and a half ounces at birth.

Nancy Marie is the name of the five pound two ounce girl born to Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Zook on Feb. 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sturm are the parents of a seven pound, 11 ounce baby boy born Feb. 15.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hood of the birth of a granddaughter on Feb. 11. Vicky Jo who weighed seven and a half pounds at birth is the daughter of Pfc. and Mrs. H. B. Westendorf of Fort Knox, Kentucky. Mrs. Westendorf will be remembered as the former Mary Dean Hood.

State Sectional Cage Tournament Starts on Monday

Next Monday the lid will be pried off the 1950 boys state high school basketball competition. Belmond will join in the ceremony as a sectional tourney site, playing host to six Class B and three A teams.

On the face of it, the winner in both classes appear well fixed from the outset. On the strength of past performance, Belmond should have little trouble getting by Clarion and Dows, their only Class A opponents. Dows has not been enjoying a particularly good season and the Cowboys have already bowed to the Broncs twice this year.

Klemme is highly favored to race off with Class B honors. However, Meservey has played some good ball this season and might conceivably surprise the Shamrocks. Rowan, Goodell, Kanawha and Alexander, are the other B contenders.

Play Monday night throws the two smaller-school favorites together at 8:45. Before the Meservey-Klemme clash, Rowan and Goodell will have it out, starting at 7:30.

Tuesday night the Broncos meet Clarion for the third time this season, with game time 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday at the same hour Kanawha and Alexander are matched, and at 8:45 the Class B first round survivors will face each other.

Class B finals will get under way Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, with Dows facing the Belmond-Clarion winner in the concluding A game at 8:45.

Coop Creamery Butter Volume Boosted in '49

Although lower prices for dairy products resulted in some reduction in actual income of the Belmond Cooperative Creamery for the year 1949, the organization manufactured about eight per cent more butter than the previous year and showed a good increase in membership.

These facts were presented to the members of the cooperative at the creamery's annual business meeting held yesterday at the IOOF hall, as reports were read for the year just concluded and new officers were elected.

Lynn Thompson remains as president of the organization and Peter Bohning as secretary-treasurer. Gunnar Ahlstrom, vice president, is replaced on the board by Henry Mennenga. Ahlstrom was not again a candidate.

Rammer Goeman also withdrew as candidate for a directorship and was replaced by George Crawford. The directors remaining on the board are Donald Baker, H. T. Tudor and Jelto Boelman.

Butter production for 1949 totaled 468,088 pounds, compared to 428,626 in 1948; and net membership increased by 35, bringing the number of members at the end of the year to 530.

Income from all sources totaled $315,239, of which $286,640 was distributed among the members. Butter sales amounted to $278,821 and milk sales $37,227 — including $3,808 for buttermilk.

Following the morning business meeting, the co-op members enjoyed a free lunch at noon. During the afternoon program the dairymen heard Alvin Huinker of Hampton, quality improvement fieldman for the dairy association to which the co-op belongs.

The members also were addressed by Scott Ellis of Dallas Center, president of the Iowa State Dairy association, who explained plans being laid for advertising promotion of dairy products. Also on the program was Rev. W. B. Gamble of Clarion.

Local "Ag" Class Plans Trip to Des Moines to Hear Brannan and Kline

Duane Sandage, instructor for the Adult Education course in Agriculture, announces that the class is sponsoring a trip this coming Saturday to take in the Farm Institute program at Des Moines. Any farmers—or townspeople, for that matter—interested in going should call Mr. Sandage by Friday noon so he will know how many to provide cars for.

The plan is to leave about 8:00 a. m. so the group can hear the morning address of Claude A. Putnam, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Highlights of the trip, however, will be the afternoon talks by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Allan Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Their addresses will be followed by a panel discussion, conducted by a number of well known authorities on agriculture and economics, during which Messrs. Brannan and Kline will be invited to really "let down their hair"

Mr. Sandage says that the Adult Education panel on the farm bureau program, which had to be postponed last Monday because of the weather, will likely be conducted at a later date. Next Monday the agriculture class will hear County Agent Aaron Bowman talk on fertilizer availability and recommendations.

Get Going in Last Half To Defeat Garner, 53-36

Thanks to an assist by Britt—who scalped the Forest City Indians by 54 to 36 — Belmond marched into undisputed first place in the North Iowa conference standings Tuesday evening by downing Garner, 53 to 36.

The lone hurdle remaining between the Broncos and undisputed claim to the 1950 loop championship is Britt. The Eagles will pay a visit to the local gym Friday night—and encouraged by their conquest of the Indians, they may well give Belmond a run for its money.

It took the Broncos quite a while to get about their business of beating Garner, but a last half splurge led by Sid Swenson clinched the victory. Belmond bounced into a 14-5 first quarter lead, but the Cardinals more than held their own in the second period to pare the margin to 22-17.

After Garner drew within three points, 24-21, in the third quarter, the Broncs got to work and when the final stanza opened they possessed a 38-28 advantage.

Practically everybody got into the act in the final quarter as Belmond put the situation on ice. The Broncs' scoring was widely shared. Swenson marked up 13 points, Duane Trager 10, Don Faris, "Itchy" Kriens and Jack Riggs eight apiece, "Sonny" Greenfield, Jerry Hanson and Bob Berns two each.

Dale Dankbar and Jack Schisel tallied 10 apiece for Garner and Koolbeck netted eight. Garner made only 10 of 18 tries from the free throw line, while Belmond hit on nine out of 13.

As Allen Madsen poured in 14 points, the Colts held Garner's frosh-soph five without a field goal until midway in the final period to win, 29 to 17.

LAND AUCTION TUESDAY

The W. A. Gartz farm, of approximately 139 acres, will be sold at public auction next Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, with G. E. Raecker the auctioneer. The sale will be conducted at the farm, located four miles east and two and a quarter miles north of Belmond.

Cattle Feeders Meet Tuesday

Three prominent authorities on different phases of beef production will appear on the program which is to follow the Wright County Cattle Feeders' dinner at the Clarion IOOF hall next Tuesday evening, starting at 6:45 o'clock.

The speakers will be J. C. Holbert of Washington, Iowa, president of the Iowa Beef Producers association and well known buyer of feeding cattle; Jim Olson, vice president of the Hormel company of Austin, Minn.; and Rex Beresford, livestock specialist of the extension service at Iowa State college.

These men will present phases of beef production from the angle of feeder cattle purchasing, finished beef to packer, and research and outlook in beef production.

A beef producers' county association will be organized at the meeting if it is considered by those in attendance that such a step would be worthwhile.

Only 200 dinner tickets will be sold, because of limited accommodations. From one to three cattle feeders in each township of the county have tickets to sell, or tickets may be obtained at the county extension office at Clarion.

The men in the general Belmond area from whom tickets may be obtained are: Roy McClure, Harold Simerson, Rammer Goeman, Joe Ziller. Farmers in the Kanawha neighborhood can get tickets from Olaf Eliason.

Junior Auxiliary Holds Drive for New Members

Belmond's Legion Junior Auxiliary is conducting a membership drive, which will extend through next Tuesday. Two teams have been drawn to conduct the campaign and the losers are to entertain the winners in March.

The team captained by Bernadine Summers includes Elaine Summers, Patsy Tracy, Jeanette Johnson and Carolyn Classick. Darlene Rierson heads the other team, composed of Margot Gowdy, Sharon and Alice Koppernagel and Maryellen Johnson.

Results of the drive will be turned in at a meeting scheduled for next Tuesday at 4:00 p. m. at the Legion hall.

Wright County's 4-H'ers Contribute Total of $92 Towards Youth Exchange

Wright county 4-H clubs are doing their bit to help finance the International Youth Exchange. To date, 13 girls' and eight boys' clubs have contributed $91.00.

Last year one Iowa boy and girl were International Youth Exchange students. The plans are to send several Iowa youths to foreign countries again. Seven foreign youths came to Iowa to learn our way of living.

This year, the plans are to have at least the same number of foreign youths come to this country.

Girls 4-H clubs who contributed are: Little Liberty Ladies $5.00, Blaine Blue Ribbons $3.00; Iowa U-Go-I-Go $3.00, Woolstock Willing Workers $5.00, Belmond Busy Bees $3.00; Belles of Boone $5.00; Dayton Dandies $5.00, Eagle Red Peppers $3.00; Jolly Joy Makers $3.00, Lake Livewires $3.00; Lincoln Lassies League $2.00, Up and Coming Vernonites $5.00; Grant Go-Getters, $3.00.

Boys Clubs: Belmond $5.00, Eagle-Liberty $3.00, Grant Growers $5.00, Iowa Hawkeyes $5.00, Boone Valley Go Getters $5.00, Wall Lake Faithful Workers $5.00, Woolstock Jr. Stockmen $5.00, Blaine Livewires $5.00, Dayton Dynamiters $5.00.

Bowl-Mor Women's Team Establishes New Record

One bowling mark went by the boards last week as the Bowl-Mor women's team chalked up the highest team game total of the season. They tumbled a total of 756 pins to surpass the previous best game—rolled by Belmond Greenhouse—of 744.

Helen Karinen topped the individual scorers with a 165, followed closely by Grace Landon with 162. Eleanor Leebrick turned in a 144 and Edith McLaughlin and Rose Marchese 142 each.

The record effort, which represented a 151 average, apparently took a lot out of the girls. Their score for the next line was 491 pins—or an average of 98 pins!

FUNERAL RITES HELD LAST SATURDAY FOR MRS. JOHN RIEKENS

Funeral services were held last Saturday at the John Riekens home and at the Wright Christian Reformed church for Mrs. John Riekens, who died Wednesday morning of last week. The services were conducted by Rev. Bert Vanden Brink. Burial was in the Reformed church cemetery.

Mrs. Riekens was born Sophia Ruiter at Meservey on Nov. 9, 1888. She was baptized in the Immanuel Reformed church near Belmond. The early years of her life were spent at the place of her birth.

On Feb. 24, 1915 she was married to John Riekens. The couple moved to a farm southwest of Kanawha. There they engaged in farming until the family moved to Kanawha four years ago.

Mrs. Riekens became a member of the Wright Christian Reformed church during the ministry of the late Rev. Van Farrowe and was a loyal worker in church activities.

Never physically strong, Mrs. Riekens' health began to fail rapidly in the fall of 1949. She was a victim of heart disease and the early part of this month suffered a stroke which led to her death at the age of 61 years and three months.

Her parents, a brother and a a sister preceded her in death. She is survived by her husband, two children—Orlene, Mrs. Herman Christians, and another daughter at home, Grace; and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Hjalmer Janssen suffered a stroke the fore part of last week. She is being cared for in her home by her daughter-in-law, who is a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Thompson and son Mathew of Minneapolis Minn., accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Dean Carlson and daughter, also of Minneapolis, to Kanawha Saturday to spend the weekend at the respective R. E. Burnquist and Maynard Yeakel homes. Young Matt stayed over for a longer visit with his grandparents Burnquist. Mrs. Carlson is a daughter of the Yeakels.

Jerry and Jane Raber visited relatives at Fort Dodge last week while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Raber, attended funeral services of his grandmother, Mrs. Mohr in Illinois.

Mrs. Minnie Struck and Mrs. John Larson and Stevie left Friday for Fayette to visit in the James Berhow home. Mrs. Struck returned home Sunday and Mrs. Larson and son will visit until Friday.

Egg Production Depends On THREE Important Factors

1. Good Feeding
2. Good Care
3. Good Breeding

IN PARENT STOCK OF CHICKS.

Good breeding in chicks can make the difference between a small income and a GOOD income from your laying flock.

Here at the Alexander Hatchery we pledge ourselves to constantly improve the breeding back of our AAA White Rocks and White Leghorn chicks. This year when you buy chicks GET THE FACTS—know what you are buying. We hatch EVERY CHICK that we sell—our records are open to your inspection. Stop in or drop us a card for facts about these high quality chicks.

Hy-Line CHICKS

We hatch genuine Hy-Line chicks locally — the new kind of chickens developed by Hy-Line Poultry Farms. We are within easy driving distance from you. We plan to contact you soon for your 1950 supply of Hy-Line chicks. If you want to place your order before our salesman calls, phone or visit our hatchery. Hy-Lines lay 2 to 6 dozen more eggs per bird per year than standard-bred farm flocks, according to official state laying tests, Hy-Line tests, and customers. Raise these high egg producers in 1950.

Missionary Society Will Hold Father-Son Banquet

The Missionary Society will sponsor a Father and Son banquet to be held Wednesday evening, Feb. 22 in the E. U. B. church dining room. A three course dinner will be served at 6:30 with the Otterbein Guild Girls as waitresses. A fine program is being planned, including the picture "The Man Who Forgot God."

The Arthur Rukas' 33rd Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ruka were surprised by their children and their families at a party on Sunday in honor of their 33rd wedding anniversary. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ruka and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ruka and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Abbas, the latter two families from Kanawha.

Ethel Brunes of Belmond and Belva Brunes of Mason City spent Sunday in the home of their brother, Stanton Brunes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Urbatsch and Harley accompanied by his parents Mr. and Mrs Fred Urbatsch of Manly, drove to Ames Sunday where they spent the day in the home of the former's brother, Bob Urbatsch.

Mrs. Wm. Janssen went to Appleton, Wis., Thursday where she is visiting in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Given.

Harold Cunningham went to Belmond Friday and was a guest of the Des Moines Consistory at a banquet served at Spurling's Cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris and two children drove to Dows Saturday and spent the day in the Alvin Gardelen home. Mrs. Gardelen is a sister of Mr. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sellers and Donnie of Thornton came over Wednesday evening and Sunday to see the former's mother, Mrs. Everett Sellers, who is recovering from pneumonia.

Mrs. Laton Avery accompanied her sister, Mrs. Lee Milsap and daughter of Williams to Mason City, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gifford of Thornton spent Tuesday in the Wm. Dewey home.

Mrs. V. E. Harris left Tuesday night from Ames to Santa Cruz, Calif. ,where she will spend a few days in the home of her sister, Mrs. Bob Smith. Their mother, Mrs. C. M. Hardesty of Murdock, Kan., has spent several months there and has recently been ill. Mrs. Harris made the trip especially to accompany her back. Mrs. Hardesty will come to Goodell and spend some time in the Harris home. Mr. Harris met them in Ames Tuesday morning.

Home Ec. Dept. Activities

The annual Faculty-School-board dinner, which each year is prepared by the home economics department, was held Wednesday evening of last week. The deparment worked diligently on this project, wanting the food and the evening's entertainment to please everyone, especially Miss Te Selle.

The colors followed the Valentine motif in red and white; Cupids, hearts and flowers were used for decorative purposes. Flowers, red and white carnations, comprised the centerpiece. In accord with the theme, a large Valentine was located on the door entrance.

The area in the gym reserved for the banquet was given much attention. The tables were surrounded by red and white streamers of crepe paper. Overhead, a lattice work of red and white crepe paper, created a colorful roof. The place cards were little men made of pipe-cleaners and hearts.

The menu included fried chicken, green peas, fruit salad, coffee and lemon meringue pie. The appetizers were tomato juice and Ritz crackers.

The program included a duet sung by Miss Hassebrock and Miss Freecks — "Alexander", a novelty number; and a trio selection in which Miss Te Selle joined the aforementioned teachers, "The Lost Chord." The remainder of the evening was devoted to Canasta and Hearts.

Concerning Those Hospital Costs - -

WE'VE Got to Cut 'Em, TOO

A news story in Sunday's Des Moines Register points up the problem that faces the board in charge of financing and constructing of our new community hospital. In it Dr. Walter L. Biering, state health department commissioner, issued a statement to the effect that 31 Iowa hospital projects are currently approved and that in 19 cases construction is under way.

What presents a challenge to the board is the fact that per-bed construction costs for these projects run from a low of $9,500 to a high of $15,600. Seeing these figures, many may ask, "How does the local board propose to build a hospital of adequate size at a per-bed cost running from 25 to more than 100 per cent less than hospitals being constructed in other Iowa communities?"

It's a good question, and it deserves an answer. However, a single answer will not suffice.

First of all, investigation would likely reveal that the most—if not all—of those hospitals which are going to cost appreciably over $10,000 per bed are being erected with federal aid. As we've stated in this column before, that is the expensive way to get a hospital — and Belmond's having no part of it.

Secondly, local plans have been kept very elastic and will be maintained that way as long as possible. The board is going about its business governed by no preconceived ideas that might involve extra and unnecessary expense. Its goal is the greatest possible economy commensurate with adequate size and acceptably high standards.

Finally, the board KNOWS of a number of hospital projects that have been completed in the last year or two at a per-bed cost in the same range as that allowed for our hospital. They intend to study these cases carefully to discover just WHY these communities were able to build hospitals at costs appreciably under the average.

Generally speaking, they DO know, even before they complete their detailed investigation of these hospitals. The building committees, in these favored communities, at every step of the construction process looked before they leaped. They bought materials and equipment where they could get the best prices. They avoided insofar as possible any cost-plus contracts that might encourage inefficiency or leisurely performance by the contractors. They avoided costly false steps—making sure they knew what they were doing before committing themselves in any regard.

It all adds up to this. These building committees that did the best jobs did them the HARD WAY. And the local board is resolved that it will follow no course that is much more easy but, at the same time, more costly than a known alternative.

Don't think for a minute that it's go- [illegible] be a cinch to build for $200,000 a [illegible] that will be both large enough [illegible] and surrounding community and meet the high standards that will be required. But you may rest assured that the highly capable personnel of our hospital board will come as close to it as is humanly possible. And if intelligent planning has accomplished the "impossible" in a handful of other communities, we just figure we're as smart as the smartest—and can do it here, too.

Decision in Regard to Draft Must Be Made Very Soon

It is, perhaps, significant that members of local Selective Service Boards are among the strongest proponents of extending the so-called "draft law." They serve without pay (and, we might add, so anonymously that small prestige is attached to the job), and certainly selfish considerations do not influence their stand on the matter.

The 1948 Selective Service Law will expire on June 24, unless extended. For its inconsequential cost — in comparison with other government expenditures—the advocates of extension insist it is performing a very effective service.

Wright county board members point out that only seven young men of this county have been inducted into service under the law. No inductions have occurred since January 1949. On the other hand, more than 25 men—most, if not all, of draft-eligible status—have enlisted in one or another branch of service since the 1948 law went into effect. Another 35 have enlisted or enrolled in some reserve component.

The general effect of the law, say its supporters, has been to keep an adequate flow of recruits available to the services without the intensified recruitment that would have to be employed in the absence of the draft law. At the same time, the machinery for a large-scale draft is immediately available if such should be needed.

No branch of the service has had to draft any men since last March. In fact, since the war only the Army has had to resort to the draft in order to meet manpower needs—and it did so only fleetingly. However, the recruiting service feels certain that without the draft in being, the Army 18 months ago would have been hard put to keep up its roster by volunteers.

Critics of extending the draft law insist that even the relatively modest expense of maintaining selective service is not justified; that it is a relic of war-time regimentation; and — in some quarters—go a big step in the opposite direction and recommend it be supplanted by universal military training.

It is a problem that warrants careful study before a decision is made, either for extension or against.

The relationship between John L. Lewis and his miners reminds us of an indulgent mother and her stubborn child. "Now, now! Back to work boys," says Lewis, fully aware and unconcerned that they intend to do no such thing.

There's one thing about spending money that is like any other acquired ability—one gets good at it with experience. For example, it was first estimated it would take until June 1 to distribute that $2,800,000,000 in National Service Life Insurance dividends; but the pile has been dwindling so fast that it seems probable that the bottom of the barrel will be reached by April Fool's Day.

What a whale of a potato pancake Uncle Sam could make if he'd just lump all his surplus potatoes with all of his surplus eggs! In fact, we make that in the form of a motion. A little impractical? Well, it's as good as any suggestion we've seen yet.

We liked the reply of a WWII veteran to a brother vet who was sobbing about his "lost" war years and the little interest Uncle Sam has shown in his ex-fighting men. After citing the dozen-and-one benefits of the GI Bill, the former asked, "As far as real interest goes—isn't a free ration of unlimited opportunities enough for all of us?" To which we add a simple, "Amen!"

George Washington is supposed to have told Lafayette, "Nothing but harmony, honesty, industry and frugality are necessary to make us a great and happy people." Some modern day patriots would modify this a bit. Perhaps something like this: "Nothing but party harmony, patronage, opportunism, and extravagance are necessary to make a tractable and happy public." Either George was awfully wrong, or somebody else is.

Washington's Birthday

Bill Higgins, our school principal, got to arguing about Washington's birthday with Cousin Ed.

"You can have your Cherry Tree story," said Ed. "But, to me the great Washington story is Valley Forge.

"It was the turning point that led to winning American freedom; our right to govern ourselves, think for ourselves, live our own lives."

I agree with Ed. And I hope we never let go those rights which our forefathers fought to win — the right to live our own lives, believe our own beliefs, whether in politics, the work we choose or what we eat, or drink, or wear.

Ed works in a garage, drinks coffee, loves to go hunting. I work in an office, enjoy a temperate glass of beer after a day's work, and my hobby is fishing. That's fine with both of us, for each has the right to his own choice.

It's the American way. We fought hard for it. Let's hold onto it, equally hard.

..PRINTING
Isn't Package Goods

YOU CAN'T just reach up and take it off a shelf or rack.
IT TAKES TIME to produce good printing, and a good newpaper.

AT THE INDEPENDENT we try our hardest to apply printing skill and modern machinery so that good work can be produced fast. But it does help if we can have a reasonable allowance of time.

YOUR ORDERS for printing are always appreciated. And if speed is of the essence we bear down.

YOUR NEWS ITEMS and advertising orders are welcome too. The earlier in the week the better. We do turn out a whale of a lot of type those last hours before the final press run every Wednesday—but it will interest our friends to know that we start getting out the next week's Independent on Thursday morning. It helps MUCH if copy comes into the office EARLY. By "Early" we mean Friday, Saturday, Monday morning. And, remember, it is welcome at any and all times.

Greenlander New Supervisor; Christie to Run for Mayor

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

The throng of male Meservey [illegible] at the sectional game here Monday gave the appearance that their tongues were hanging out in anticipation of victory. Perhaps it was those bright, scarlet ties that emblazoned practically every male chest that created the strange impression. No doubt Des Moines will be seeing those crimson cravats, come next Tuesday night.

—M-S—

Spending the weekend in Des Moines, Bob Foss—the Independent's back-shop stalwart (if you call 127 pounds "soaking wet", stalwart) — saw the movie "Sampson and Delilah."

Bob reports, "What a show! And what a story! The guy that wrote the book sure must've made a mint of money!"

—M-S—

You pheasant hunters had better be looking out for your birds if you want good shooting next fall. The ring-neck, according to reports we've received, are having a tough time getting food. They are congregating along the highways in droves and many are too weak to scamper out of the way of passing cars.

A Des Moines sportsman who passed through Belmond last Sunday informed the D. M. Register that on Highway 69 between Garner and Jewell he counted 76 cocks and 27 hens. He also reported seeing 17 dead birds along the roadside.

The birds have had quite a long stretch of slim pickin's and a generous scattering of feed right now would likely pay big dividends in maintaining stocks for next fall's hunting . Town folks might well give the smaller birds a break by hanging out suet and by putting up some feed trays, too. Conditions are just right for a wholesale bird massacre if another bad storm should come along while many of the birds are weak from hunger.

Another Hammond electric organ was delivered in Belmond this week and the community has another budding organist in Dr. A. M. Nelson. Arrival of the handsome spinet-model instrument was duly celebrated Monday night by Mrs. Claude. Benson and Mrs. Harold Simerson helping "Doc" put it through its paces, with Claude, Harold and Ed Spurling lending a critical ear.

Since the middle of December "Doc" has been taking lessons from "Hap" Havinga, of Kamrar; and even his wife, Lillian, concedes that he has become remarkably adept considering the length of time he's been practicing. She is "getting the itch" to take lessons, too; so before long the harmony of organ duets may be emanating from the Nelson household.

STATE PAROLE AGENT WILL SPEAK MONDAY AT MEETING OF PTA

[illegible] Logan, state parole agent for Eldora State Training School for Boys, will be speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Belmond Parent-Teachers Association meeting, which will be held Monday at the high school auditorium starting at 7:45 p. m. His topic will be, "Youth Today—Leaders Tomorrow—[illegible] Where?" The program committee says that Mr. Logan is an authority on juvenile delinquency and also a very capable speaker.

He addressed a Methodist church group earlier this year and the fine impression he made led to his engagement for the PTA appearance. He will conduct a question and answer period following his talk.

First on the program will be a novel review of Belmond High school organizations, presented by a group of students headed by [illegible] Hanson and Marilynn Madson. The various organizations serving as extra-curricular activities will be introduced and briefly described by members of each.

Belmond Folk Will Hold Spotlight On A. C. Farm Program

Individuals from Belmond and the surrounding farm community will be featured on Allis-Chalmers' "On the Farm" program over station KGLO of Mason City next week, under sponsorship of Hub Garage.

Broadcasts are at 7:15 a. m. The Tudor brothers, proprietors of the garage, announce that local FFA members will be featured on Tuesday's program; interviews at the Belmond sales pavilion will be broadcasted on Wednesday.

On Thursday, Barney Koenen will be questioned on his views regarding the Brannan-Kline debate; Friday's program will be comprised of interviews recorded at the Hub Garage; and on Saturday Fred Vestweber will describe his beef cattle pro-

Hair-Raising Win Over Britt Gives Broncs Undisputed Title

Belmond's Broncos bagged that North Iowa basketball title they were after by beating Britt last Friday night 40-38 in a double-overtime barn-burner. But at game's end, many a Belmond rooter was uncertain whether to bless the Broncs for their valiant rally or blast 'em for making it necessary.

When the game started, it was very evident that the Broncos were depending on the Eagles to roll over and play dead. The Belmond boys first were lethargic, then puzzled — and, at last, desparately determined. By the time they'd attained the latter state of mind the first quarter had passed and the visitors were coasting along with a 15-0 lead.

That's right — 15 to 0! And the second quarter found the Broncos able to take up only a single point of slack. Belmond got the lid pried off its basket in that stanza, but halftime left them still in the rear by a 23-9 count.

Britt simply couldn't miss as the game started. A shot was the equivalent of a basket as they hit on five consecutive tries. The Eagles' percentage for the first 10 minutes must have been about eight out of 10. Jack Riggs broke the ice for Belmond as the second period started, but Kenny Cosgriff and Larry Miller promptly dumped in shots for the visitors to give them a 17 point margin—19-2—before the Broncos finally settled down to business.

In the third period Belmond clamped down on the Eagles, holding them to four points while the Broncos made 13 and reduced the margin to 27-22 by start of the final period.

It took six more minutes for Belmond to overhaul its adversary, and less than two minutes remained when the Broncs went into the lead for the first time —32-30—on a set shot by Riggs.

Capt. Redden made good a pair of free throws and Carman added another charity toss to give Britt a one-point advantage, which Riggs obliterated with another set shot as a meagre eight seconds remained. At the same moment Duane Trager committed his fifth foul and Miller made his gift toss count. End of the regulation time found the score 34-all.

Early in the first overtime Rollie Kinseth split the net with two free throws, but Redden immediately stole the ball from a Bronco guard and raced in to knot the count with a lay-up. With the extra three minutes rapidly nearing completion, Don Faris drove in for two Belmond points and it appeared the

Funeral Services Held During This Week for Three Belmond Women

The funeral was to be held at 1:00 p. m. today at the Methodist church for Mrs. Eve Rosell Renicker, 76, who passed away Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Sorenson. Mrs. Renicker was a long-time resident of this community. She was born Aug. 5, 1863.

Burial was to be made in Rose Hill cemetery at Eagle Grove and Boone Funeral home was in charge of the services.

Services were held Tuesday at Fulton Funeral home for Mrs. Cora Trees Madison, a former Belmond resident, who passed away Feb. 14 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. D. Hopes of Los Angeles. Mrs. Madison's date of birth was July 12, 1882. Burial was in Belmond cemetery.

Mrs. Pearl Nance Lamb died quite suddenly at Mercy hospital in Mason City last Sunday and funeral services were held at the Methodist church on Wednesday afternoon. Born on June 1, 1885, Mrs. Lamb was 64 at the time of her death. Boone Funeral home was in charge of the services and burial was in Graceland cemetery, Webster City.

Rev. J. Heber Miller, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated at all three of the funerals.

Implement company and is now active on the new job. Frank Caldwell, previous manager, resigned to return to farming and will operate one of George Hake's farms in Pleasant township.

Business Men Will Hear Farm Plan Debate Review

Wallace Ogg, extension economist on the staff of Iowa State college, will analyze last week's debate between Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Farm Bureau President Kline at the meeting of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce this noon at the library basement.

The program was arranged by Ronald Courson and Clark McNeal, and the men promise an enlightening discussion by the guest speaker. Mr. Ogg, they say, is an expert on agricultural economics and well qualified to evaluate the arguments of the two farm-plan foes.

Swine Expert to Address Agriculture Class Here

Carroll Plager, livestock extension manager for the Hormel company of Austin, Minn., will speak before the Adult Education class in Agriculture next Monday night on the topic, "Producing Hogs to Meet the Consumer's Demand."

Duane Sandage, class instructor, says that Mr. Plager is an outstanding livestock expert and one of the nation's leading swine judges. He believes the guest's comments will be of wide interest and cordially invites farmers who do not belong to the class to attend the meeting if they wish.

SCHOOL ELECTION

Official announcement is made in today's paper that school board election is scheduled for Monday, March 13. The term of Roy A. Henderson expires this year. It is understood that he intends to file for reelection. No other candidates have entered the field up to the present.

Jurors' List For March Drawn Up

Eighty names appear on the petit jury list drawn for the March term of district court. Twenty more jurors were named than for the January term in the expectation that during the farm planting season more will be asking to be excused, according to Clerk of Court R. V. Goslin.

Fifteen members of the list are from Belmond or immediate vicinity: Esther Stoltenberg, Thera Fitts, Fred Allison, H. N. Hill, Erma Elder, Henry Hokel, Albert Hunter, Chris Groen, Edna Aldrich, Paul Jenison, Ivar Oppedal, Harvey Nassen, Peter Barendregt, Mamie Rosheim and Jack Campbell.

Drawn from Rowan were Crystal Wenzel and Florence Haupt; Kanawha—Mervin Lee and Jennie Maage. Twenty-four of the jurors are from Clarion and adjacent area, and the same number from Eagle Grove.

The balance of the list includes: Goldfield—Wesley Rasmussen, Ruby Porterfield; Dows—Leonard Jacobson, Charles Snyder, Clara Hall, Herbert Capellan, Ben Hartsell; Galt—Addie Mae Weld, Francis Clark, Melvin Tysdal; Woolstock—Mrs. Glenn Schutt; Renwick — Ralph Stumbo; Blairsburg — Esther Meyer.

COUNTY BOARD SEATS NEW MEMBER TODAY; SMITH'S SUCCESSOR

At a special meeting of the county board of supervisors scheduled for today, John Greenlander of Belmond was to be seated as a new member of the group.

His selection was made Monday by County Auditor Roger Charlson, Recorder Grace Fletcher and Clerk of Court R. V. Goslin to fill the unexpired term of the late Alex W. Smith. According to Mr. Charlson, there were 10 other applicants for the opening.

Other than one or two items of routine business, the meeting of the board today was intended primarily to give Mr. Greenlander a grounding in the responsibilities of his new job and to acquaint him with matters of business that are on hand or in the immediate offing.

In view of his appointment to the board. Mr. Greenlander has withdrawn his name as a candidate for mayor in the coming city election.

Belmond Speech Students Earn Three Top Ratings

Students of Charline Miller, high school speech instructor, earned three top ratings in the preliminary contest of the Iowa State Speech association held last Thursday at Clarion. The winners advanced to the pre-district contest which will be held next week at a site not yet announced.

Belmond's play cast, presenting the one-act comedy, "The Perfect Gentleman", was given a I rating. The same rating was awarded Paul Griesy in interpretive reading. Nancy Johnson's dramatic declamation received a II rating, but since that was the highest won by any contestant she, too, is eligible for the pre-district competition.

Competitors from Clarion and Williams, as well as from Belmond, were entered in the contest at Clarion.

Transfer to New Building Prompts Gala Gathering Of Telephone Employees

Employees of the Central Telephone company enjoyed a gala evening together last Thursday evening in the company's new building to mark removal of operations to the new quarters and to pay honor to several newly married members of the staff. About 35 persons attended the pot-luck supper.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, nee Viola Quigley, was especially honored upon her retirement after a lengthy period of service with Central Telephone and was presented with a gift by her former fellow employees.

Other guests honored with gifts were Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Quandt, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tracy and Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Kriens —all newlyweds. Mr. Quandt, Mr. Kriens and Mrs. Tracy are all telephone employees.

After the supper and gift-giving, the evening was devoted to cards.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS SALE

The Agnes Ely estate, of which W. P. Tyrrell is administrator, will hold an auction of household furniture this Saturday at the former Ely residence, starting at 1:30. John Henn will be auctioneer and Gerhard Johnson, clerk.

Paving Project For 3rd Street Runs Into Snag

Five contractors called for plans on Belmond's portion of the Third Street N. E. paving project, according to city engineers Rowat and Murray, but none submitted bids because of a technicality involved in the bid-letting arrangements.

Bonding attorneys for the contracting firms recommended against their submitting bids because the contract was to be let under a new state law, the constitutionality of which has been questioned.

L. T. Murray of the engineering firm explains that the new assessment law under which the work was set up is deemed to improperly protect the constitutional rights of individual property owners, but it has not yet been tried in court.

The city is now setting up its phase of the paving project under the old assessment law and hopes to have it ready for letting in April.

Four bids were received at Ames on Feb. 14 on the county's farm-to-market portion of the Third Street paving—comprising the center 22 feet—and the low offer was that of Central Construction company of Indianola at $50,449.75.

The state highway commission has not yet approved this bid, however, apparently delaying action until the situation on the city's share of the project is clarified. Employment by the city of the old assessment law in requesting new bids is expected to eliminate objections of the interested contractors and enable action on the project to proceed.

Pvt. Jenison Matches Brother's Record On Test for Air Force

Private Greydon K. Jenison, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vere Jenison, has reported to Lackland, Texas, Air Force base to begin the basic airmen indoctrination course.

He will spend 13 weeks in basic training to prepare for entrance into technical training and assignment in specialized work.

JENISON

When taking the entrance examination at the Mason City recruiting station prior to his acceptance by the air force, Greydon gained the distinction of turning in one of the three perfect exam scores recorded at that station.

First of the other two was attained by Greydon's brother, Randall Jenison, now a corporal with the air force and serving at Fort Neubiburg, Munich, Germany.

Two to Receive Life Scout Pins

Two Belmond boys will receive Life Scout pins — the second highest award available in Scouting—at a district Court of Honor to be held Sunday at 3:00 p. m. at the courthouse in Clarion. The two Boy Scouts who have qualified for this honor are Dick Elliott and Edward Eccles.

A First Class pin will be presented to Kenneth Eccles; and Second Class pins will go to Roger Ubben, Paul Oberhauser, Samuel Leinbach, Jerry McMurray and Ronald Steenblock.

Merit badges will be awarded to five members of Belmond's troops as follows: Kenneth Eccles—Public Health, Physical Development, First Aid, Wood-Turning, Safety, Personal Health and Athletics; Kenneth Eccles—Home Repairs.

Stanley Eccles — Gardening, Carpentry, Electricity and Music; Dick Elliott — Rowing, Public Health and Carpentry.

Besides Belmond's Scouts, others from Rowan, Woolstock, Clarion and Eagle Grove will receive awards at the Court of Honor. It is planned to make this district Court a tri-yearly affair. The public is cordially invited to attend Sunday's gathering and witness the presentation of awards.

Wright's Corn Allotment High On Basis of Comparative Area

Wright county farmers, as a whole, are apparently getting a "good break" in the matter of corn acreage allotted to them for 1950. At least, Wright's 123,276 acres — compared with other counties' allotments on the basis of total area in the county—should leave no room for complaint.

Out of the 10 counties with the largest allotments, only two have a slight acreage advantage over Wright. Greene, of which Jefferson is county seat, is only 569 square miles in area but can plant 127,914 acres of corn.

Hamilton, with the same 577-square-mile area as Wright, is allowed 416 more acres than this county.

Greene ranks eighth in the state in acreage allotment, Hamilton tenth and Wright eleventh.

All of the other counties ranking among the first 10 in the matter of allotment size are among the largest in the state, so their percentage of corn acres in relation to amount of agricultural land runs far under that of the three mentioned above.

Kossuth, for example, has an allotment of 194,606 acres—but contains 979 square miles. Pottawattamie has the second largest allotment, 184,625 acres; but also has the second largest number of square miles, 946.

Other counties with allotments in the first 10, and their size in square miles, are: Plymouth 169,267 acres and 863 square miles; Woodbury 168,005 and 866; Sioux 156,379 and 766; Webster 141,729 and 718; Harrison, 137,526 and 693; and Monona, 127,091 and 689.

Allotments of counties adjacent to Wright, besides Webster and Hamilton, and their respective areas in square miles are: Hancock 108,646 and 570; Hardin, 110,826 and 574; Humboldt 92,468 and 435; Franklin 119,120 and 586; and Cerro Gordo 101,791 and 576.

The county Production and Marketing Administration committee is presently engaged in breaking down Wright's allotment by townships. Then the job of assigning individual allotments will be undertaken by the township committeemen. Farmers will have 15 days in which to appeal their individual allotments, in case they are dissatisfied.

Price support eligibility will be lost by those farmers who fail to plant within their corn acreage allotment.

FFA Week Appropriately Noted

Boys Launch New Project; To Raise Purebred Swine

In appropriate observance of National FFA week, Belmond's chapter of Future Farmers of America this week launched a new project which Adviser Duane Sandage believes will prove of very great value to the members.

Two registered Duroc gilts were purchased by the chapter from Joe Duea, which will enable the members in due time to engage in the sale and showing of purebred swine.

The Belmond FFA received its charter only a year ago this April and is one of 7,500 chapters active in the United States. The national organization expects to have 300,000 members enrolled by the end of the current school year. There are chapters in every state in the union.

Mr. Sandage says that the new undertaking is very representative of the constructive type of project fostered by the Future Farmers. The two, fine gilts the boys have acquired will farrow in about two weeks, and it is hoped that their progeny will give all future Belmond FFA members who have a hankering to raise purebred breeding stock the opportunity to get a start.

These first two gilts will be fed and cared for by Louis Oberhauser and Ronald Ketchum on their fathers' farms. The boys have agreed to keep comprehensive records on the litters and return the sows to the chapter at the end of 15 weeks.

The pigs will be retained by the two boys until the animals have attained individual weights of approximately 230 pounds. If the litters are entered in any shows, this must be done in the name of the FFA—but any prize money won can be retained by Louis and Ronald.

When the pigs have reached the prescribed weight, the chapter is to get back every other pig—and to have first choice. The chapter's limit is four pigs. All the rest go to the boys who raised them, in return for care and feed.

As the chapter's drove increases in size, every member wishing to take a gilt under the conditions set forth will be allowed to do so. The FFA will show the most promising animals and will sell as breeding stock those that are not required to fill the needs of the members.

In spite of the short time it has been in existence, the Belmond FFA has enjoyed remarkable success and has engaged in a number of worthwhile projects. Last summer the boys raised 1,150 pounds of popcorn — of which all but 100 has been sold—and also produced and sold 100 bushels of potatoes.

The members have manufactured some 70 cement hog troughs, which they marketed at a dollar apiece; and they are still in production. They have also produced about seven tons of mixed hog mineral, which has been bought by the boys themselves at a cost appreciably under regular market price.

AGREES TO HEAD UP "CITIZENS' TICKET" IN MARCH ELECTION

C. C. Christie has agreed to replace John Greenlander as mayorality candidate on the Citizens' Ticket, it was announced yesterday by a spokesman for the group which last month filed a full list of candidates for the March municipal election.

Mr. Greenlander withdrew his candidacy Tuesday, following his appointment to fill the unexpired term of the late Alex Smith on the county board of supervisiors.

Mr. Christie is a native of this community and has lived most of his life in Belmond and vicinity. He was graduated from Belmond High school in 1916 and completed a course in agriculture at Iowa State college in 1920.

He was in the Army during World War I and has been active in veterans' affairs. He is a past commander of the Belmond post of the American Legion.

Following completion of his college work, "Chris" was a federal employee under the Smith-Hughes Act for several years; he was a winter day-school organizer in Lee and Henry counties for several years and later was Smith-Hughes instructor for two years at Belmond High school.

While on the local faculty he also served as athletic coach. One of his baseball teams reached the semi-finals of the state tournament, and he also produced a top-flight basketball team.

Leaving the teaching profession, Mr. Christie farmed for two years and then joined the sales department of Swift and Company, serving the firm for 17 years.

In 1942 he formed his present partnership with C. A. Larsen in the business of livestock buying.

"Chris" has been active in civic affairs and was president of the Chamber of Commerce at the time General Mills chose to establish their soybean processing plant here. His efforts contributed materially to the firm's selection of Belmond as their plant site.

Mr. Christie is not a stranger to city politics, having served one term as a councilman. His other activities include membership in the Masonic lodge and a trusteeship in the Congregational church

Pat Stewart Candidate For County Sheriff Job

Pat Stewart of Clarion has announced that he will be a candidate for county sheriff on the Republican ticket in the June primary election. Mr. Stewart, who is married and has two daughters, has made his home in Clarion the past 15 years. For the last eight years he has been a fireman for the Great Western railroad.

He is well known in Iowa sports circles as a former state lightweight and welterweight boxing champion, back in the 'thirties.

He has served on the police forces at Centerville and Clarion. Last fall and winter he substituted for Chief L. L. Speedling at the county seat when the [illegible] was off the job following [illegible] attack.

TWO JOINT MEETINGS PLANNED TO OBSERVE WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Two joint meetings in observance of the World Day of Prayer are planned by Belmond churches for Friday afternoon. The Congregational and Methodist churches are combining their observance, and the women of Trinity and St. Olaf Lutheran churches will meet together.

An open invitation to all women of the community has been issued by the Congregational and Methodist churches to attend the meeting which will be held at the Congregational church starting at 2:30 p. m.

Ladies of the two Lutheran churches have been requested to bring with them contributions for "Bundles for Lutheran World Relief." Dress goods or smaller pieces of material, needles and spools of thread are suggested. The joint Lutheran meeting will be held from 3:00 to 4:00 p. m. at the Trinity church.

"Faith For Our Time" is the theme chosen for the 1950 Day of Prayer service by Michi Kawai, Christian educator of Japan who was its author. Though she was the daughter of a Shinto priest, Miss Kawai became a Christian early in life and, after graduating from Bryn Mawr in 1904, she returned to Japan where she founded the National Y. W. C. A. and later a Christian school for girls on the outskirts of Tokyo.

Taikai Sadakata, Japanese artist, painted the poster for the service.

Osby-Goeman Rites Perforned Thursday At Kanawha Church

In an impressive candlelight ceremony last Thursday evening, Miss Lois Juanita Osby, daughtetr of Mrs. Margaret Osby, of Kanawha became the bride of Donald Myron Goeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hio Goeman of Belmond.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock at the Kanawha Lutheran church, with the Rev. N. L. Wogen, local pastor, and Rev. W. Heyenga, a cousin of the groom, officiating.

The bride wore a suit of "true blue", with blue shoes, white hat and gloves and a corsage of red camelias.

Miss Mavis Goeman of Belmond, sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid and wore a suit of grey with blue hat and corsage of yellow carnations.

The groom was attended by Gordon Osby, brother of the bride. The groom and best man wore gray suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Gerald Swenson and Dick [illegible] of Belmond served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a grey suit with grey accessories and a corsage of red carnations; the groom's mother wore a blue dress with pink carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was served in the church parlors. Blue and white candles and a wedding cake with miniature bride and groom carried out the bride's chosen colors. The lunch was served by candlelight and a program enjoyed.

The bride graduated from Kanawha High school with the class of '49 and has been employed at the Emmons store. The groom graduated from Belmond high school with class of '44, enlisted in the army and served 18 months overseas in Germany.

The couple left on a two weeks' trip to Oklahoma and other southern points. On their return they will live in an apartment in Belmond and Mr. Goeman will [illegible]

Obituary

PATRICK C. BARRY

Patrick C. Barry was born at the farm home of his parents, John and Mary Barry, near Belmond on Aug. 21, 1875 and spent practically his entire life farming in this community. He passed away on Jan. 28, 1950, at the home of his nephew, John P. C. Beacom of Jackson, Neb. He was the last surviving member of the family of John and Mary Barry; a sister, Catherine Barry—his only remaining immediate relative, having preceded him in death by two months.

According to those who knew him best, punctuality, neatness and thoroughness were characteristics which were outstanding in Patrick Barry. Besides following the vocation of farming, he had a keen interest in carpentry and found great satisfaction in it as an avocation.

He was a life-long Catholic and a member of St. Francis church at Belmond, where throughout the years of his life he assisted at Holy Mass and where he twice received the Holy Sacrament of Matrimony.

His only surviving relatives are two nephews, John Beacom of Jackson, Neb., and Joseph Beacom of New York; and two nieces, Helen Beacom of Jackson, Neb., and Sister M. Lua, O. P., of Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were held at St. Patrick's church at Jackson, Neb., on Jan. 31, where High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Stanislaus; and additional rites were held n Feb. 2 at St. Francis church in Belmond with Rev. R. A. Ormsby officiating. Fu[illegible]ton Funeral home was in charge of the latter service and burial was in St. Francis cemetery.

Pall bearers were James Barry, A. J. Dorr, Pat Quigley, Jim Quigley, Tom Quigley and Harm Bushman.

HARLAN RUTER

Harlan Wayne Ruter was born at the present farm home of his er, southeast of Kanawha on parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rut- May 3, 1930. He died Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1950, of a broken neck suffered in a tractor accident on the road south of Kanawha. At the time of his death he was engaged in farming with his father.

He was a member in full communion of the Kanawha Christian Reformed church, having been baptized on June 16, 1930, by his present pastor and making public profession of his faith on June 6, 1948. He was also a member of the Sunday school, the Young People's Society, and the Young People's catechism class.

His departure is deeply mourned by his beloved parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ruter; his sisters: Genelle (Mrs. Alfred Assin), and Berniece; his niece, Sonja Assink, besides many other relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, Feb. 4, at the parental home and at the Kanawha Christian Reformed church with Rev. D. H. Plesscher officiating. Music was furnished by a local choir. The following youthful friends served as pallbearers: Christian Hemmen, Jack McNeish, Harry Peters, Eugene and Lawrence Smidt and Jay Veldhouse. Interment was made in the Kanawha Cemetery.

BELMOND LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Pletsch were Sunday evening visitors at the Fred Pletsch home.

Miss Josephine Gealow of Clear Lake spent a couple of days last week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Gealow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ubben and family spent Sunday in Northwood with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Nelson. Mr. Nelson has been ill.

NOTICE OF REGULAR ELECTION INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Independent District of Belmond, in the County of Wright, State of Iowa, that the regular election of said District will be held at the Belmond City Hall on the 13th day of March, 1950. (Second Monday in March), at 12:00 Noon and closing at 7:00 o'clock p. m.

A director will be elected for a term of three years to succeed Mr. Roy A. Henderson, whose term expires March 1950.

The meeting will be open for the transaction of such business as may legally come before it.

Dated February 21, 1950.

Signed Doris Easton
Secretary 19t2

NOTICE OF HEARING OF RESOLUTION OF NECESSITY AND HEARING ON PLANS, SPECIFICATIONS AND FORM OF CONTRACT

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given that there is now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Belmond, Iowa, a proposed resolution of necessity for the construction of pavement widening on Third Street Northeast (Hathaway Street) from the east edge of the existing concrete pavement at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street Northeast, thence east on Third Street Northeast to the east property line of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad right-of-way, said improvement to consist of concrete pavement seven inches thick and four and one-half feet in width with integral curb on each side of a 22 foot width of concrete paving proposed to be put in by the Wright County farm to market program.

Notice is also hereby given that the proposed plans, specifications and form of contract for the construction of said improvement, are also on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City.

In said Resolution of Necessity it is proposed that so much of the cost of said improvement, as the law permits, will be assessed against properties specially benefited by said improvement in the manner provided by law, and the remainder of said cost will be paid from the general fund, the improvement fund, the grading fund, or from the proceeds derived from the issuance and sale of certificates or bonds issued against any of said funds, and/or from the proceeds derived from the issuance and sale of bonds under the provisions of Code Section 396.22.

A hearing will be held in the Council Chamber in the City Hall in Belmond, Iowa, at 7:30 o'clock, P. M. on the 20th day of March, 1950, regarding the adoption of said Resolution of Necessity and also regarding the adoption of said proposed plans, specifications and form of contract.

Carrie L Courtney
City Clerk of Belmond, Iowa 19t2

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Belmond, Iowa, Feb. 17, 1950

Broncos Smear Clarion -- Gain Class A Finals

It wasn't until the final buzzer had sounded that Daryl Boelman's looper settled into the net to give Belmond a 50-26 win over Clarion—and chalked the twelfth Bronco name in the scoring column.

That final heave meant that every man on Coach Scott's tournament squad had contributed at least a point toward the victory.

Although the Cowboys tried hard, they were no match for the Belmond basketeers, from start to finish. The Broncos jumped into a 10-3 lead in the first quarter and pushed their margin to 17-3 before Clarion added another point. A minor rally by the Cowpokes reduced the difference to 17-9, but it was all Belmond from there on. At halftime the Broncs were in front 20 to 11.

After building up a 29-17 advantage in the third quarter, the Broncs started hitting from every part of the floor to win in a walk. Ten different Belmond players tallied during the last period.

Dick Kriens, with 10 points, and Sid Swenson with eight were the only Broncs to accumulate in excess of five points. Kriens turned in the standout performance for Belmond. George Mechem accounted for exactly half of the Cowboys' points, and also played a nice floor game.

Belmond's win advanced the Broncos to the sectional Class A final round in which they will face Dows at 8:45 p. m. Friday. The Tigers brought into the tournament an 8-8 record and shouldn't provide Belmond with too severe a test.

Last night the Class B finalists were determined in games that threw Meservey and Rowan—first round winners—together; and set Kanawha against Alexander. The winners of these two games meet at 7:30 Friday.

ROWAN SCORES EASY WIN OVER GOODELL

Goodell was no match for Rowan in the opening game of the sectional tournament at Belmond High gym Monday night and bowed to the Wright county team 43 to 20.

Rowan marched into an early lead and was never in danger. The winners' scoring power was very evenly divided. Dean Freese took top honors with 10 points, but three other Trojans tallied eight apiece — Larry Aldrich, Dale Johnson and Dennis Olson.

Larry Boller looked best for the Bears, counting seven points and playing a good floor game until he fouled out. Myron Waage made five for Goodell.

WIN OVER BRITT . . .

But with two seconds remaining, Britt got the ball out of bounds under its own basket and Miller grabbed the throw-in, pitched at the hoop—and the buzzer found team with 38 points.

The "sudden death" second overtime—in which the first two points scored would determine the winner—was all Belmond. Never once did Britt get possession of the ball. One Bronco after another had a try at the basket without success. After seven or eight efforts had gone astray and exactly one minute of time had elapsed, Riggs made himself definitely "hero of the evening" by sifting one through the net.

This was Jack's big game of the season. It was his six points in the first half that gave the Broncos hope of overtaking the rampaging Eagles; and before the tilt was over Riggs had 17 to his credit. Trager, after a miserable first-half demonstration, came to life and racked up 13 points when the chips were down to help the Belmond cause mightily.

Center Larry Miller was Britt's standout. Not only did he total 14 points, but twice he momentarily snatched the game out of the fire. It certainly wasn't his fault that the Eagles' upset effort wasn't successful. Cosgriff, too, turned in a nice performance; and Redden played a whale of a floor game.

In the frosh-soph game, Belmond led throughout but saw the Eaglets draw up to a 21-20 count in the third quarter. The Colts put a stop to that, though, and went on to win 29-21. Larkin was good for eight points, Severseike seven, Meyer and Madsen six apiece, and Helland a couple.

MESERVEY EDGES OUT FAVORED KLEMME FIVE

For the second time in as many years, Meservey snatched a heart-breaker from a favored Klemme quintet in sectional competition as the Rockets upset the Hancock county champs, 36-35.

With literally only one second to go, Jake Koenen pushed one in from near the corner to eliminate the doughty Shamrocks. The score had been knotted at 34-all with only 45 seconds remaining. Then Cal Joesten sent Klemme ahead with 20 seconds left by sinking one of two free throws. Koenen's shot was the only one Meservey got from that point to game's end.

Klemme grabbed an early lead and held it most of the game. Score at halftime was 15-11 for the Shamrocks. Midway in the third quarter they momentarily owned an eight-point lead, but at the three-quarter mark the margin was down to 22-21.

Meservey stepped in front for the first time with five minutes to go, 29-28. It was nip-and-tuck from then on, with neither team able to establish a safe lead.

Koenen and Bob Watermiller shared scoring honors for the Rockets with 13 each. LuVerne Ruiter contributed seven points, Jack Faaborg two and Larry Braga one. Joesten whipped in 11 for Klemme, "Dutch" Schmidt and Dick Kaduce seven apiece, Merlin Brinkman six and Norene Pearson four.

Mrs. Howard Forrestal of Des Moines, Mrs. Peter Holts of Los Angeles and C. J. Madison are visiting at the S. S. Sarber home coming especially to attend the funeral of Mrs. Cora Madison.

Mrs. Fred Ter Hark visited her daughter Mrs. Donald Peterson at Goodell Monday.

Rev. Egeland's Daughter Wed Feb. 11th As Father Performs The Ceremony

Rev. and Mrs. C. Wilbur Egeland announce the marriage of their daughter, Carol Marguerite, to Dale H. Bocklund, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bocklund of Marquette, Mich. The marriage ceremony was performed Saturday, Feb. 11 at the Methodist parsonage. The father of the bride officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The attendants were Rev. E. Morris Egeland and daughter, Sylvia, of Klemme

The bride wore a navy blue taffeta street-length dress with a corsage of red roses. The bride's attendant wore a biege dress, with a corsage of pink carnations. The bride's mother wore a gray street-length dress with a corsage of gardenias.

After the ceremony the bride's mother served dinner to the wedding party. The only guests were the immediate family and the attendants, with Mrs. Morris Egeland and son, Noel.

Dignity

The quiet dignity that distinguishes a properly conducted funeral service results from appropriate appointments and the thoughtful planning and supervision of a competent funeral director. A service of true dignity is one of impressive tranquillity, devoid of pretentious display, unmarred by ostentation.

Rural Women's Chorus Meets For Practice

The Rural Women's Chorus held its first practice of the year at the First Lutheran Church auditorium in Clarion last Friday afternoon. The next practices will be March 3 and March 10. Mrs. Robert Kay of Clarion directs the chorus and Mrs. Harold Simerson of Belmond is the accompanist.

Any rural woman who enjoys singing is cordially invited to join. The chorus practices on an average of twice a month for nine months. They do not practice in November, December and January.

The chorus will make its first public appearance on Rural Women's Day, April 18.

There are 25 women in the chorus and the members would like to increase the number to at least 40. It is the goal to have every township in the county represented.

Mrs. Thomas Mathre, county music chairman, is in charge of the chorus.

Blue Cross Plan Aided 70,000 Iowans Last Year

Des Moines—More than 70,000 Iowans were cared for in hospitals during the last year under Iowa's Blue Cross community-sponsored hospital care program, according to the final report for 1949 announced today by Frederic P. G. Lattier, director.

The Blue Cross allocated $4,814,948 for care of these patients during the year. In addition, approximately 21,380 persons were given medical care during 1949 under the companion Blue Shield medical program. The Blue Shield paid out over $748,312 in doctor bills for its members in Iowa.

A total of over 600,000 Iowans are now enrolled in the Blue Cross and Blue Shield programs, Mr. Lattner reported. The two plans are sponsored by the hospitals of Iowa and by the Iowa State Medical Society, respectively.

Army of Census Takers Needed For Giant Task

A force of approximately 408 persons will be employed to take the seventeenth decennial census in the 15-county Fort Dodge Census District, it was announced this week by Hugh D. McMahon, district supervisor, for the United States Bureau of the Census at Fort Dodge.

This force will be responsible for taking the 1950 census this coming April in Boone, Calhoun, Kossuth, Carroll, Crawford, Emmett, Greene, Hamilton, Humboldt, Hancock, Palo Alto, Pocahontas, Webster, Winnebago and Wright counties.

The largest segment of employees for the census in the local district consists of the enumerators, of whom there will be 361. These enumerators will make the house-to-house calls in the work of collecting official census information regarding the population and housing in urban areas and—additionally — agricultural activities in the rural areas.

Their work in the field will be supervised and checked by a force of 22 crew leaders. At the census district office headquarters, about 25 persons will compose the staff to edit the enumerator's reports, make preliminary tabulations and perform other office work in connection with the census.

Provisional results of the population census county will be announced locally by Supervisor McMahon when the district office staff has completed the preliminary tabulations.

Mrs. Hanson on County Easter Seal Committee Promoting Annual Drive

Mrs. Ida C. Fischer, Eagle Grove, has been selected to head the 1950 Easter Seal campaign for Wright county, which will be conducted between March 9 and Easter Sunday, April 9.

Mrs. Fisher will be assisted by R. W. Gibson, county chairman; Mrs. L. D. MacNaughton, R. N., M. J. Schaeferle, M. D., Eagle Grove; Mrs. John Eilers, Mrs. J. E. Kirstein, C. W. Sankey, Mrs. P. M. Simms, Clarion; Mrs. A. C. Hanson, Belmond; and Mrs. Bessie Knox, Dows.

The Wright county Easter Seal Campaign is part of the annual State and National Easter Seal drive which each year raises funds to aid the severely handicapped.

In Iowa alone over 650,000 letters containing sheets of colorful Easter Seals will be mailed. The returns from these letters provide one of the main resources for the service program of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

This Society serves handicapped persons in Iowa with wide and varied year round activities. Included in these services are speech correction, home employment; camping and recreation and cerebral palsy projects in addition to physical therapy and equipment .

Road Association Official Predicts Big Building Year

Wright county should in 1950 participate in "the greatest year in the state's history insofar as secondary road building is concerned," according to Claud Coykendall of Des Moines, executive secretary of Iowa Good Roads Association, Inc.

Mr. Coykendall offers figures showing $421,027 that should be available to the county for such road construction this year, exclusive of a $29,402 balance that remained in the county secondary road fund as of Dec. 31, 1949.

The two together represent a total of over $450,000, with receipts from property taxes for secondary road-building purposes not figured in.

In addition, Wright county may share in approximately $8,762,000 that is to be apportioned by the state among counties on a "need" or equalization basis, says the road association secretary.

Mr. Coykendall's break-down of fund sources shows that Wright's cash for secondary road construction will consist of $209,576 from the farm-to-market road fund and $211,451 estimated receipts from the secondary road construction fund via estimated receipts from 1950 road use tax.

The $209,576 farm-to-market fund consists of $37,553 unobligated balance as of the year's end, $54,373 estimated income from 1950 road use taxes earmarked for farm-to-market use and federal aid of $117,650.

Belmond is assured of sharing in some of the improvements made possible by these funds. The state highway commission last week was to let the contract for paving North Third street as a farm-to-market project.

State Will Watch With Interest Ballot on School Reorganization

Communities throughout the state will be watching with great interest the results of a ballot on reorganization that will be held March 13 in Mount Vernon, Lisbon and 15 surrounding rural school districts. To the best of our knowledge this is the first effort toward reorganization that has been attempted by any area since the current state law governing such action went into effect.

The two towns involved are approximately two miles apart; according to the 1940 census, Lisbon's population was a bit short of 900 and Mount Vernon's somewhat under 1,500. It is a fair guess that their combined populations today will exceed 2,500.

Both of the town's schools have become overcrowded as more and more rural pupils have enrolled as tuition students—and many of the rural districts have entirely shut down their schools for lack of sufficient students to justify their operation.

As is apt to be the case in many merger efforts that are "on the fire", one small nearby town—and the rural districts adjacent to it—is not participating in the reorganization plan. It is Springville, a village of some 600 to 700 about six miles north of Mount Vernon.

The news story stated that, should the merger fail of approval, the two towns will be faced with one of two alternatives: either going to the expense of erecting new, adequate school buildings —to be paid for by the townspeople, while the rural parents benefit equally by their construction—or notifying the outlying school districts that the two municipalities can no longer accept tuition-paying students.

We feel that the Linn county board of education deserves a firm pat on the back for calling the reorganization election and thereby taking the lead in an action that many other county boards will find it necessary to take within a relatively brief period of time.

The problems afflicting the Mount Vernon-Lisbon area are common to many communities in Iowa. Belmond is certainly facing the same ones and will have to do something about them before long.

When the time comes — and we hope it won't be too long—that a study is made of the ways and means for reorganization here, it will be nice to have an example to go by. Therefore, we hope the Mount Vernon-Lisbon ballot on the reorganization issue will meet with approval at the polls and that the venture, when undertaken, enjoys good success.

Truman Type of Socialism Is Hardly a "Moth-Eaten" Issue

President's accusation that the Republicans have insulted the intelligence of the American people by making a 1950 campaign issue of "the same old moth-eaten scare-crow of socialism" seems to us hardly apropros.

In the first place, an issue of barely more than 10 years' standing is hardly "moth-eaten.' Secondly, never has there been more justification for making an issue of stemming the socialistic trend in U. S. government than there is today.

Of his program, Mr. Truman says, "Of course this is not socialism. It is based on a firm faith in the strength of free enterprise. It is designed to strengthen the markets of free enterprise."

He'll have a tough time convincing the doctors his plan for free medical care is neither socialistic nor stifling to free enterprise. He'll find the going rough when he attempts to explain to investors just how taxing corporate profits AND corporation dividends encourages free enterprise. He'll likely find at least 80 per cent of the states more than a trifle confused as to how proposed extension of federal control over the realm of public school education can be regarded as other than "socialistic."

Some of the aims of the New Deal-Fair Deal type of government are desirable; and some of its attainments are entirely commendable. But the point has been reached at which great discrimination must be exercised. The public must not have either unwanted or unneeded assistance imposed upon it by a too-paternalistic government. And that is the state of affairs that is rapidly being approached.

—O—

On the face of it, it doesn't appear that Wright county farmers should have too much to complain about in regard to the 123,276 acres of corn allotted to them for 1950. Wright has the eleventh largest allotment in the state, whereas 35 counties boast more square miles of area.

—O—

Wonder if the Russian people can remember way back when the rising Bolsheviks were promising to free them from slavery under an all-powerful government? But no doubt it's against the law, now, to remember.

—O—

Senator Gillette puts in a nut-shell the problem Congress faces in trying to introduce economy measures. He says, "We find that every attempted curtailment brings loud protests from some section of the public: everyone wants cuts somewhere other than in his own pet interests."

—O—

The Iowa Taxpayers Association warns that the demand for federal aid to public schools—almost entirely propaganda-inspired — is growing steadily The states have been gradually surrendering prerogatives that they earnestly fought for at the time of this nation's founding. And nearly every time they give one up, they find the federal government paying $5.25 for just what they'd been buying at $3.75 as a state. From any number of standpoints, it doesn't add up.

Now! 29 Important Improvements

Ford TRACTOR

give you ☆ GREATER POWER ☆ SMOOTHER, MORE EFFICIENT AND QUIETER OPERATION ☆ EASIER HANDLING ☆ ADDED RUGGEDNESS ☆ LONGER LIFE

For many months, Ford Tractor engineers have been refining, developing and improving the Ford 8N Tractor. The result is that the Ford Tractor we offer you today is a better tractor than ever before . . . in 29 really important ways.

The Ford Tractor has always been an outstandingly good tractor and has made a lot of farmer friends around here. Now we think you will be interested in the ways the engineers have found to make the Ford Tractor still better. Now, more than ever, it is worth your while to ask us for a demonstration of the Ford Tractor.

We're Ready with PROOF on Your Farm

Just phone us. We'll bring out a Ford Tractor—the very latest, with all the improvements we've been telling you about—along with one or more Dearborn Implements. We'll give you a demonstration, then let you take the wheel. There's no obligation, and you are to be the final judge. Phone us today for your demonstration.

10 Engine Improvements
More powerful, smoother running, quieter, more efficient, better protected against rust and corrosion. Longer life has been built into pistons, sleeves, rings and other parts.

7 Transmission Improvements
Now still smoother and quieter. Shifting is easier than ever and more positive. Extra dependability and longer life.

Steering Improved
Easy, short-turn steering, still more accurate, more easily adjustable, even sturdier and longer lasting. Compare the way this tractor steers with any other.

4 Rear Axle Improvements
Added protection for more positive lubrication of bearings. Gives you added assurance of long and trouble-free operation.

7 Hydraulic Improvements
As in the past . . . effortless lifting, lowering of implements. Now, seven new improvements for even smoother, more positive performance. New rocker with no adjustment which gives more accurate response under different conditions.

Reporting Farm Doings

by "Pat" Gallagher

The Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders' association informs us that Harm Pals recently purchased a registered Brown Swiss bull—Dicksie Acres Ambassador—from Marion F. Dickson of Nora Springs.

—RFD—

Which reminds us that we still have to get out to the farm of S. W. and H. W. Pringnitz, northwest of Goodell, and get a picture of that prize Shorthorn bull they purchased last December in at the National.

We got there once, with our camera, but we'd given no advance notice. And getting a proud farmer to let you snap a picture of a prize animal when the beast isn't "prettied up" is like trying to work the same stunt with a proud mama when Johnnie's face is dirty and his hair isn't combed.

—RFD—

One of these days it's going to quit snowing; we'll be able to get the car going each morning (a little tough lately, with no garage); and we'll start making the rounds in the country again. But for this week we've got to pass along a second-hand story. However, we found it interesting and believe you will too. It was sent to us by the Iowa Development Commissioon, entitled "An Iowa Story":

A Coon Rapids, Iowa, farmer and businessman believes he is the first cattle raiser "in the country" to purposely feed corn cobs to cattle. He claims the results have cut his feeding costs in half and have increased his profits.

He is Roswell Garst, hybrid corn dealer, who also owns two farms near Coon Rapids where he feeds red and roan cattle on a diet consisting of generous amounts of ground corn cob bulk and balanced amounts of corn, soybean meal, protein and alfalfa substitute.

—RFD—

When interviewed recently, the lusty, outspoken cattleman surveyed his herd and made the following observation:

"Iowa could well raise more cattle if Iowa farmers would carry additional stock cattle and additional yearlings through the winter on rations consisting largely of ground corn cobs and protein. Iowa could well raise more sheep the same way.

"The whole trick is in the feeding. Cobs must be fed properly. Cobs do not contain protein so they must be balanced with protein food parts."

—RFD—

Garst is in the vanguard and perhaps one of the most fervent backers of a recent trend to utilize the cob as feed. Considerable research on the project has been conducted by college experiment stations in the middle west.

Agriculture experiment station researchers at Iowa State college have taken a mildly dim view of the project. Writing in Iowa Farm Science, experiment station journal, the researchers said, "It (feeding cobs) may be a good practice in years when corn is short. But cobs won't give maximum results."

Garst, however, believes otherwise. He is sold on cob feeding to the extent that the farm on which he lives has the appearance of a utility plant—with power machinery and overhead lines, aluminum buildings—a farm modern in every respect, with much equipment assigned to the cob project.

—RFD—

One aluminum building contains a huge bin where the cobs are stored "like a cake." Over each layer of cobs is poured a layer made up of shelled corn, protein and other parts of the cattle ration. A trough augur carries the compounded meal to an electrically powered grinder.

A large trough, with an augur in the bottom and fitted to a truck, carries the meal to the feed lot. The feed lot, on his other farm, has a sloping concrete floor and stationary feeding troughs to facilitate feeding by truck and drainage. One man can switch on the augur and feed 800 cattle at one time, according to Garst.

—RFD—

This winter Garst is feeding around 2,000 cattle. The fattening ration will remain constant until May and, except for more shelled corn periodically, consists of the following daily ingredients per head:

2 lbs. shelled corn
18 lbs. ground corn cobs
2 lbs. soybean meal
3 lbs. molasses and urea
1 lb. dehydrated alfalfa pellets

In March and April the shelled corn will be increased to four pounds a day per head. For May it will be six pounds.

—RFD—

About the cost of feeding this diet, Garst said: "For the average full feeding period, the cattle will be eating approximately 4½ pounds of corn. Figuring on that basis, the cost per day per steer is $.31. The cattle will gain an average of 1.8 pounds a day per head at a feed cost of about $.16 per pound of gain. Beat that!"

He said these figures have been confirmed by college researchers and that he has his own production figures "for anybody to look at." He added, "My expected profits this year, due to savings in cob feeding, would stagger you."

—RFD—

One key to feeding cobs, Garst explained, is the use of a new synthetic protein made from air called urea. A white powder, he mixes it with molasses to cover the taste.

"It would be economically impossible for any large number of people to feed cobs without the use of urea," he said. "The trick in feeding cobs is protein, and by protein I mean especially urea."

—RFD—

He began feeding ground cobs back in 1946 as an experiment. He used 30 cattle. In the fall of 1947, with corn "$2.50 a bushel," he went to feeding cobs full scale.

"Nobody ever believes what they see," he said. "They only believe what they see and see and see. Well, I have seen and seen and seen."

He gave this warning, however: "Cobs can be fed successfully and in quantity only to ruminous (cud-chewing) animals."

Garst himself, being a hybrid corn dealer, has access to an outside stockpile of cobs discarded at the plant. But he has a plan for getting the cob to the average farmer:

"Cobs right now in Iowa are only worth the trucking charge. It is my belief that the average Iowa farmer shells at least 3,000 bushels of corn a year either for sale or to feed hogs and chickens.

"Any farmer who shells 3,000 bushels of corn has 18 tons of cobs available.

"Or figure it another way: Corn has 12 lbs. of cobs per bushel. A thousand bushels of corn contains 12,000 pounds of cobs or six tons of cobs which ground are valued at $25 a ton. That's $150 or $.15 a bushel value that has heretofore been wasted."

—RFD—

His enthusiasm for the project has a philosophical tinge, the fervor of an experimenter who has seen a thing click. He boasts and booms the praise of his project.

"It isn't far from any part of Iowa to Coon Rapids and any farmer is welcome to come here and look and ask questions. And they'll see real, solid fat on those steers put there with the help of corn cobs!"

—RFD—

"We left him", says the Development Commission reporter, "starting over again to convert new listeners."

He does sound kinda convincing at that—doesn't he?

Homemakers of Pleasant, Belmond Townships Meet

The Homemaking club of Belmond township had their January meeting at the O. B. Oberhauser home. The meeting began with a covered dish dinner. The lesson on Color, Design and Good Grooming was given in the afternoon by Mrs. Lettie Zuber, county home economist. There were 20 members present.

Dairy Herd Assn. Meeting Planned

Annual meeting of the Wright county Dairy Herd Improvement association will be held at the Clarion Grill on Friday morning. It will start at 10:30 a. m. and be concluded with a dinner at noon. The morning session is arranged so that members can attend a dairy management meeting at the Clarion Legion hall in the afternoon.

Regular business of the association will be conducted, including election of officers. The present officers and directors are Kenneth Tillman, chairman; George Mills, vice chairman; Morris Miller, secretary - treasurer; Wendell Swanson and Robert Marshall, directors.

The supervisor for the association is Harold Alert. There are 24 herds in the association at the present time.

Any dairy farmer interested in dairy herd improvement work is invited to attend but should contact Secretary Morris Miller at Clarion before the meeting.

Floyd Arnold, dairy extension specialist of Iowa State college, will discuss dairy herd management at a countywide meeting at the American Legion hall at 1:30 p. m.

This meeting is open to any interested dairy men in the county. Poblems to be discussed will include feeding dairy cattle, including grains, grasses and roughage, housing and management of the dairy herd for most efficient production. Disease problems will be discussed, but disease-control measures will be presented at a dairy sterility clinic on Tuesday.

MARCH 30 DATE SET FOR 4-H "FUN NITE"

The annual 4-H Fun Night will be held Thursday, March 30, in the Clarion grade school auditorium; and a real night of fun is promised. A Fun Nite queen and king are to be elected by popular vote and will be crowned at the end of the program by last year's king and queen, Don Fell of Grant Growers and Rachel Peterson of Dayton Dandies.

An original skit is to be given by the boys' and girls' 4-H clubs of each township. The county 4-H chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Ross Mechem, county 4-H music chairman, will make its first public appearance of the year.

All 4-H boys and girls, parents and friends are invited. An admission of 10 cents will be charged per person to help with the expenses.

From Mrs. Holm Swenson, former Belmond resident, comes a plea to "please renew our subscription to the Belmond Independent . . We tried to do without it, but in spite of the fact we know so few people there any more, we missed it a great deal."

The Swensons live in Detroit, Mich. (19357 Carman), where Holm is a distributor for Gulf tires, batteries and accessories. We're always happy to hear from old friends like Mrs. Swenson, who have found they can't get along without the Independent.

The propagandist for some paint manufacturer sends us a hint to pass along to those of our readers who are gardening addicts, as to how they can while away the time until the planting season arrives. He recommends getting garden tools ready to go by painting their handles in bright colors.

"Makes them easy to locate against the brown of the earth," says our advisor, adding, "It's surprising the number of twisted ankles and bruised shins that result from stumbling over dirt-camouflaged garden equipment."

He might have a point there, but we'll have to be convinced that "light colors have a tendency to make heavy loads seem lighter," as a color authority declares.

Even our hair-helper [illegible] a bit dubious [illegible] "It's worth a [illegible] if a bright yellow wheelbarrow will take pounds off the pay load."

Wonder if the color expert ever tried walking to sleep a bright, pink baby? That experience, alone, knocks the whole theory in the head.

After Mrs. Barney Dillon won the electric clock given away in conjunction with the grand opening of Nolan's Drug, Barney was overheard to state, "If I had a COUPLE of women like her, I could quit work."

Prior to copping the clock, Mrs. Dillon had walked off with a $100 bank night prize and another store prize—an electric iron . . . Now, if someone would just put up a good suit of men's clothing before Easter!

We hate ourselves for even stooping to offer a suggestion like this, because Sid Swenson the younger has committeed himself with distinction on the basketball floor this season—and it seems unkind to make a point of minor shortcomings.

But when we noticed at the sectional tournament how Dale Lage of Meservey keeps his hair in place with bobby pins, even in the heat of battle, it occurred to us that this is the obvious answer to Sid's forelock problem. We've feared on several occasions that he was going to get the ball right in the beak while he brushed the fringe out of his eyes.

It's only a suggestion, Sid; take it or leave it. And don't be mad at us—we're only trying to be helpful.

A distinguished newcomer joined the Belmond community yesterday in the person of Gen. Chedomir Petrovich, one-time Yugoslavian military leader, who is now making his home at the farm of Mrs. Erma Leonard.

Although the general speaks no English, Mrs. Leonard says he is amazingly quick to understand when she communicates with him by gesture and example, and very promptly entered upon his assignment of assisting with chores about the farm.

General Petrovich was a German prisoner during the war and refused to return to his homeland when the Communists came to power. His wife, whom he has not seen since 1941, still resides in Yugoslavia — but he has hopes that he may find some way to bring her to this country.

He was given, in pre-Communist days, the highest military award his native land has to offer—the Karageorge Star. As adjutant to King Alexander, he taught former King Peter (now also an exile in the United States) horsemanship.

He is studying English and Mrs. Leonard is confident he will gain a command of the new language quickly. As a displaced person, he is sponsored in this country by a Chicago church.

Mrs. Erma Leonard and Mrs. Frank Jacobmeyer spent last Thursday in Mason City.

Ward Captains For Red Cross Drive Selected

With a goal of $1,500 to shoot at, Co-Chairmen K. C. Kickbush and Ted Behrends this week were completing plans for Belmond's annual Red Cross drive. The fund campaign in town will be conducted March 14, and present plans provide for a canvass of the rural areas of the Belmond chapter the following week.

Insofar as possible, the town drive will be completed in a single day. Ward captains have been appointed by the co-chairmen and the ward leaders, in turn, will select their block workers.

This year two captains have been named for each ward, so none will have so large a job lining up solicitors as in the past. These captains are: Ward 1 East (from library corner east), Mrs. Orphie Anderson; Ward 1 West, Mrs. Leo Dorr; Ward 2 North (north of Third street), Mrs. Larry Murray; Ward 2 South, Mrs. Charles Wilmarth; Ward 3 North (north of Third street), Mrs. Ceabern Squires; Ward 3 South, Mrs. Harold Johnson; "The Hill", Mrs. H. R. Bayliss; downtown Main street, Cecil Carstens.

The captains in the wards will pick a worker to canvass each square block and are to have the workers' names in to Ted Behrends by next Monday evening. Supplies will be in the captains' hands by next Wednesday, March 8, and are to be distributed to the workers in ample time that all will be equipped to make their rounds on March 14.

Belmond Troop 16 "Loaned" Trophy

Belmond's Boy Scout Troop No. 16 won the distinction of having first possession of the Thompson Hybrid trophy which is to be presented every three months to the troop in Wright County District having the most members appearing at district Court of Honor to receive advancements.

Last Sunday at the Court of Honor held at Clarion was the first time the trophy was handed out. Since all troops of the district had not received advance information regarding award of the trophy, this first "win" by the Belmond troop will not count toward gaining permanent possession.

In providing the awards, R. B. Thompson of the Belmond hybrid corn concern, specified that a troop can keep the handsome trophy permanently upon winning it three times. It can be seen in the window of Thompsen's Clothing store, where Troop 16 has temporarily placed it on display.

Barnstorming Cagers Will Play in Benefit For 'Kids' Baseball

Belmond basketball fans will have an opportunity on March 21 to see in action one of the outstanding barnstorming cage teams of the country, the Harlem Hobos.

The colored hoopsters will meet a team of picked basketball veterans from this community in a benefit game to obtain funds for this coming summer's "Pee-Wee Baseball" program.

Tickets will be sold by the youngsters who are to participate in the baseball project. They can also be purchased at several business firms, including Bowl-Mor Lanes, the Coffee Shop and Belmond Auto Company.

The Hobos, according to Coach "Pat" Patterson, play the same sort of ball as the more famous Globe Trotters. This season they have lost six out of 89 tilts, in spite of mixing plenty of clowning in with first class ball handling and sharp-shooting.

Patterson says he guarantees the public will get more than their money's worth at a dollar a ticket.

H. L. Larson Announces He'll Seek Third Term As Attorney for County

Harlan L. Larson, 42, of Goldfield has announced his intention to run for a third term as Wright county attorney and will be a candidate for that office in the Republican primary in June.

Mr. Larson is a graduate of the Drake university law school. He has been active as an attorney and in farm management in Goldfield since his graduation, except for 38 months spent in the U. S. Navy during World War II.

"BROWN-OUT" SLATED

[illegible] announces that Central States Electric company is requesting a voluntary "brown-out", starting at midnight Thursday, in all communities served by the firm. A 25 per cent curtailment in residential and commercial electricity usage is urged. Half the Main street lights will be dimmed for the duration of the coal emergency. Stores are also being asked to limit advertising and display lighting for the time being.

FARM PLAN DISCUSSION POSTPONED ONE WEEK

Because two key members of the panel cannot be on hand this coming Monday evening, the round table discussion of the Brannan-Kline farm plans scheduled for the next meeting of the Adult Education class in agriculture has been postponed for a week.

Tht two men who could not make it—but will be on hand March 13—are Fred Stover, president of the Iowa Farmers Union and national committeeman of the Progressive party, and Faye Mead, district organizer for the Farm Bureau. Both men live at Hampton.

Four Belmond Students to Compete In County Spelling Meet Saturday ✓

Belmond will have four entries in the annual Wright county spelling contest, which will be held at Clarion this Saturday in the high school starting at 9:00 a. m.

Bonnie Abbas, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Abbas, was winner of the local elimination contest. She is in seventh grade, as is Ardith Johnson, 12—daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Johnson—who placed second.

Two eighth graders ranked third and fourth in the Belmond eliminations: Ardith's sister, Janelle, 14; and Barbara Mariga, 13, da[illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mariga.

Alternates for the county contest, who tied for fifth among the local contenders, are Geraldine Jenison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vere Jenison; and Marlys Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Howell. They will compete at Clarion if any of the regular entries are unable to.

County Superintendent C. W. Sankey will be pronouncer for the county contest, and Supt. H. L. Pesch of Rowan will serve as dictionary referee. Judges will be Wayne Ebert, Clarion high school principal; Martha Hdye, Dows grade school teacher; and Martha Meredith, Rowan grade instructor.

BLECKER ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY TO RETAIN PRESENT SHERIFF JOB

BOB BLECKER

Sheriff Bob Blecker has announced that he will be a candidate for nomination as sheriff on the Republican ticket in the June primary. This will be the first time Bob has had his hat in the ring, as he acceded to the position by appointment following the resignation of Roy Wilson the first of this year.

From June of 1947 to the time of his appointment as sheriff, Bob had served in the capacity of deputy, so he is well acquainted with the responsibilities of the job.

A native of Clarion and a graduate of Clarion High school, Bob has spent his entire life in Wright county except for 20 months in the service. This time was spent in the Army and during half of his stint he was in the Military Police force in Chicago.

C. J. Waddington's Final Rites Held Monday Afternoon

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Methodist church for Claude J. Waddington, 74, who for the past 16 years had been a Belmond merchant. A large crowd of friends and fellow businessmen attended the rites, conducted by Rev. J. Heber Miller.

Burial was made at Woodland cemetery, Des Moines. Boone Funeral home was in charge of the services.

Mr. Waddington passed away last Friday, which was the thirty-fifth anniversary of his marriage. He and Mrs. Waddington had been making plans for observing the notable occasion. Mr. Waddington had been in poor health for some time, but was not taken seriously ill until the day of the proposed celebration.

Claude Waddington was born at Chillicothe, Iowa, on June 27, 1875, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Waddington. He was wed to Mima Price on Feb. 24, 1915 and to them were born five children. All are living except Robert E., who passed away at the age of two.

Following their marriage, the Waddingtons made their home at Colfax for a number of years and while living there they were united in membership with the Baptist church.

Mr. Waddington established his store here in 1934 and continued active in it to the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife and four children—James and Joyce of Belmond; Donna, now Mrs. Winston Driebe of Fairfield; and Raymond, a student at Simpson college, Indianola. He also leaves two grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Thad Minassian of Des Moines.

Military Funeral Held Sunday Afternoon For Clayton M. Tudor, 50

Clayton M. Tudor of Rowan, half-brother of H. D. and L. C. Tudor of Belmond, passed away last Friday at the Veterans' Hospital at Des Moines and funeral services were held at the Boone Funeral Home Sunday afternoon. Military rites were performed at the funeral home and at the grave by the Belmond post of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Rev. Harold A. Sanders of Rowan officiated at the services and burial was at Rowan cemetery.

Mr. Tudor would have been 51 this Friday, having been born March 3, 1899. He had been in ill health for a number of years, but had only lately returned to the Veterans' Hospital.

Besides his two half-brothers here, he is survived by his stepmother, Mrs. Sarah Tudor of Dows, two other half-brothers—Dillard of Rowan and Elmer of Alexander; and two half-sisters—Mrs. Eli Pearl and Mrs. Thomas Coffman, both of Dows.

Individual Corn Allotments Submitted To State PMA Office for Approval

Woolley Appoints Two to Supervise Hospital Finance

W. H. Trafford and R. W. Courson have been named cochairmen of the hospital finance committee by Gene Woolley, chairman of the planning board. They jointly replace Harold Simerson, who submitted his resignation from the chairmanship because of the press of other responsibilities.

Announcement of the new appointments was made at a meeting of the planning board held Sunday afternoon at the city hall. At the same time, Mr. Woolley stated that A. C. Hanson has agreed to serve as treasurer for the hospital project.

Tentative plans were laid at the meeting for conducting the hospital fund campaign in Belmond and outlying districts. The drive here will precede those in neighboring communities and in the rural areas, Mr. Woolley stated, "so our neighbors will know in advance just how well Belmond itself has met its financial responsibility toward the hospital's construction."

Preliminary reports were submitted by some workers who have already approached individuals in Belmond in regard to pledges. One stated that he had called on 31 persons so far and had been graciously received in every instance. In every case an outright pledge was made or a promise received that an amount [illegible] be pledged within two [illegible]

At present, the political committee is laying its plans for assuring a good vote for the project in the coming municipal election. Chairman George Hansen urges all voters who will be obliged to cast absentee ballots to call him so the necessary ballots can be delivered to them within the period prescribed by election law.

Scout Council Benefits By Heidt Advance Sales

An advertisement sponsored by Elliott Hardware and Appliance in today's issue announces that tickets are on sale at Elliott's store and at the Independent office for the March 24th appearance of Horace Heidt and his Youth Opportunity Show at Mason City.

The Heidt performance is backed by the Winnebago Council of the American Boy Scouts and the Scouts net $1.00 on all tickets sold in advance. Regular ticket prices run $3.60, $2.40 and $1.80. The advance tickets, selling at one dollar, can be exchanged as part of the purchase price of a regular ticket.

Proceeds from the Scout sales will go to meet National Scout Jamboree expenses of Scouts from the council area, and to purchase more camping equipment for Camp Roosevelt.

Mumps Strikes Down Meservey Cage Star, EUB Church Pastor

The mumps epidemic that has been cutting a wide swath in Meservey most of the winter, last week took out of circulation two prominent members of the community.

On Thursday, LaVonne Meints — a member of the regular starting line-up of the Meservey girls' high school basketball team—came down with the unpleasant ailment. Her absence was expected to constitute a real handicap to her team, which this week is competing at Des Moines for the first time as a member of the state championship field.

Further evidence that the disease is no respecter of persons was provided Saturday when Rev. A E. Wilken, pastor of the E. U. B. church, was stricken with the ailment.

Two other members of the girls' basketball squad — AND Coach Lovell Diddy—have never entertained the mumps; and by last report the whole Meservey community was concentrating on the hope that the trio might remain immune at least until the state tournament competition is concluded.

Auto "Borrower" Sentenced -- Then Awarded Parole

Max Richard Boulton, 20, was sentenced by Judge G. R. Hill in district court at Clarion last Saturday to three months in jail, plus payment of all costs involved in Boulton's arrest and hearing on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Boulton, who had been working at Leland in Winnebago county, on Feb. 11 decided to pay a visit to his former home in Morning Sun. By the time he reached Rowan his hitch-hiking efforts were enjoying little success. He was also getting mighty cold, so he "borrowed" a car belonging to John Avery of that community and proceeded on his way.

His arrest by highway patrolman followed about a week later. Monday of last week Avery went to Morning Sun to get his car—and Sheriff Bob Blecker went to get Boulton.

Because it was the young man's first criminal offense, Judge Hill was inclined toward leniency; so the magistrate paroled Boulton to the Winnebago county sheriff, Maurice Monson of Forest City—Mrs. Boulton's uncle.

Bowlers to Meet Sunday To Vote on ABC Issue

Glenn Martin, president of the City Bowling association, has called a meeting of that organization to be held Sunday at 12:30 p. m. at Bowl-Mor Lanes to determine whether the group shall or shall not obtain membership in the American Bowling Congress.

According to Mr. Martin, no official action has been taken previously, pending approval of the local alleys by the ABC. The association is now in a position to make its decision, and President Martin requests that all league officers and individual bowlers who possibly can should make a point of attending the meeting.

It will be submitted to those present, says Martin, whether the association shall proceed to apply for an ABC charter — or whether funds that have thus far been tentatively held for payment of ABC dues shall for this year be turned back into the prize "kitty".

Preston Tyrrell to Head Cattlemen's Association

Preston Tyrrell of Belmond was elected chairman of the board of directors as a Wright County Cattle Feeders association was formed at Clarion last week at a meeting of some 400 beef feeders from all over the county.

Representing the northeast quarter of the county, Mr. Tyrrell was one of five men named to the board. Others were: Joe Tokheim, southwest section; Henry Vanderlip, southeast; John Schipull, northwest; and Leo Woodley, at large.

Members of the board named their own officers. Others selected, besides Mr. Tyrrell, were, Mr. Woodley, vice chairman; Mr. Tokheim, treasurer; and Aaron Bowman, county extension director, was made acting secretary.

BELMOND TO OPPOSE ALGONA IN DISTRICT PLAY NEXT TUESDAY

Belmond's basketeers will face Algona in the first round of the district tournament to be held next week at Humboldt. The game will be played at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday.

Algona has enjoyed a moderately good season, winning 11 and losing seven. The Bulldogs finished third in the North Central conference, behind Humboldt and the champion Webster City outfit.

In spite of the Broncos' 17-4 record for the year, their contest with Algona appears pretty much like a toss-up, with Belmond perhaps a slight favorite.

If the Broncos survive the first game, they will meet the winner of the Humboldt-Rockwell City game, which will be played Wednesday night. The finals are 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Kanawha meets Scarville on Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., at Forest City. If they survive this test, the Bulldogs will play Thursday night's Algona (St. Cecelia)-Corwith winner at 7:30 Saturday.

Forest City, the only North Iowa loop survivor besides Belmond, plays Hampton at Mason City next Tuesday.

OVER-ALL REDUCTION FOR WRIGHT COUNTY WILL HIT 21 PER CENT

Officials of the Wright county Production and Marketing Administration office at Clarion announce that recommended individual corn allotments for farmers of this county are presently being compiled on listing sheets and will be submitted to the state PMA office at Des Moines before the end of this week.

The individual allotments have been gauged to produce an over-all reduction in Wright county corn acreage of 21 per cent—which is how the county allotment of 123,276 acres compares with the 155,975 average-year history for the years 1947 through '49.

Township committeemen had completed making individual adjustments for their areas by last Friday, according to County PMA Committeeman C. C. Woodin. He hopes that the review of allotments by the state office will be completed sufficiently early next week that each farmer's allotment can be mailed to him before the weekend.

In an interview at the county PMA office, Mr. Woodin reported that the township committeemen had deemed it necessary to make a good many adjustments in individual allotments, in comparison with corn-planting records of the three years studied. In one township, an average of the three year plantings was approved in the case of only 51 out of 145 farms. Adjustments were made in the allotments of the remaining 94.

It was the general concensus of township committeemen the county over that the ratio of corn-to-crop-acreage supplied a much more equitable base for arriving at individual allotments than the history of corn plantings for the '47-through-'49 period.

Consequently, these men responsible for assigning individual allotments largely adhered to that ratio rather than the histories in evaluating the farmer's just allowance for 1950.

In making adjustments, [illegible] township committeemen [illegible] quired to limit reductions [illegible] no allotment would fall below [illegible] corn-to-crop-acreage ratio [illegible] their particular township; and to limit increases so that an allotment would not thereby exceed that ratio.

Over the county, said Mr. Woodin, this ratio varied from a low of 47 per cent of total crop acreage in corn, to a high of 61 per cent. The highest ratio, during the three years governing allotments, was maintained in Vernon township.

In view of the large number of adjustments made the county over, the Wright PMA officials are anticipating that quite a number of allotments may be appealed. They are hopeful, however, that farmers will carefully consider the justifications for reduction from high three-year averages before they enter appeals—and refrain from appealing if they realize that the reduction was fundamently just.

SALES PAVILION OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY NEXT WEEK

Next week marks the [illegible] business anniversary of the Belmond Sales Pavilion, operated by J. H. Munnis and Ray Frye. To celebrate the event, the proprietors wil serve free coffee and doughnuts during their sale next Tuesday.

Mr. Munnis and Mr. Frye announce that they will conduct a special sale of machinery and miscellaneous articles at the pavilion on March 16.

Town and Country QUIZ On the Air Friday

Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock radio station WHO at Des Moines will broadcast the wire-recording of the Belmond Town and Country Quiz which was conducted a the high school auditorium on Feb. 1.

The country crew, aided and abetted by the witty answers of Arthur Chelsvig—Kanawha farmer — ran off with the honors by about a three-to-one margin. He was supported by Harold Simerson, Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser and Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen.

On the city squad was Junior High Principal Gladys Darrah, Mrs. R. B. Thompson, Rev. J. Heber Miller and Roy Henderson.

Mr. Chelsvig stopped the show several times with his quick replies. His fellow farmers particularly appreciated his answer to Quizmaster Clay Rusk's inquiry as to how much land he farmed.

"Oh, I farm about 40 acres and the wife about 60," Art admitted.

Dad's Hunch Egg Prices Next Fall

Our Dad was a great one for maxims, and in his farming years he followed many of his favorites. One which especially appealed to him was "Low-priced seed always means a high-priced crop."

Dad always followed the path suggested by that maxim. If, for example ,potatoes were cheap at planting time and neighbors were grumbling about there being "no money in this potato business," it was Dad's cue to plant more potatoes.

As egg prices have gone down and down in recent weeks and we've heard flock owners declaring "there's nothing in this chicken business. You can bet I'm not buying many chicks this spring," we've thought about Dad's rule. Our guess is that if he were still farming (he quit of age rather than because of going broke) he would be listening with his usual attentiveness to these remarks. If he heard enough of them he'd observe with a little twinkle in his eye: "Folks are grumbling about egg prices. Guess we'd better get more chicks this spring. Not many are doing it, so egg prices ought to be good next fall."

Awards Will Go To Nine Winners In Poppy Contest

Nine Belmond youngsters with a smattering of artistic ability and sufficient determination to carry out a project on their own can pick up some easy money in the American Legion Auxiliary's annual Poppy Poster Contest which has been announced by Mrs. Charles Wilmarth, committee chairman.

There will be prizes of $3.00, $2.00 and $1.00 awarded the first three winners in each of three classes: first—4th through 6th grade students; second—7th through 9th; and third—10th through 12th grade.

Local winners will be forwarded to compete for District prizes. District winners will be entered in a state Department contest, and state winners will be entered to compete for $100 national prizes.

Here are the poster rules:

(a) The words "American Legion" or "American Legion Auxiliary" MUST be incorporated in the poster's design.

(b) Each must have a fitting slogan, not exceeding 10 words—not counting "a", "an", or "the". The words "Buddy" or buy" CANNOT be used.

(c) Each must include picture of the Flanders Poppy in correct color.

(d) Posters must be turned in to Mrs. Wilmarth or Supt. Don Faris by March 25.

(e) Use pasteboard or cardboard for poster; drawing paper is not acceptable. Posters shall measure 14 inches wide and 20 high.

(f) Do NOT include the U. S. flag in any form.

(g) Posters will be judged 50 per cent on appeal (force with which it emphasizes poppy message, with strict adherence to significance of veteran-made poppy); 25 on on originality; 15 on artistic ability; 10 on neatness.

Entrants in Class I may use paper cutouts, tempera water colors, crayons, oil crayons or pencils; Class II, the same, with oil paints added instead of pencils; Class III, same as II with cutouts omitted.

The back of each poster should bear the entrants name and address, the words 'Iowa Department" and the class in which the poster is competing. All should be written in ink.

Any further information can be obtained from Mrs. Wilmarth or Mrs. Jean Bamford, Legion Auxiliary president. Judges of the contest will be Supt. Don Faris; Gladys Darrah, junior high principal; and Pat Gallagher. Entries must meet ALL of the contest qualifications to be eligible for a cash prize, regardless of the number of entries in the class, the poster committee states.

Wiley-Hugh Rites Announced; Receptions Honor Newlyweds

MRS. CLAIR HUGH

The marriage of two local high school instructors was announced last Wednesday afternoon when it was revealed at a special "teachers' meeting" that Josephine Wiley and Clair Hugh were married Feb. 3.

Tiny white wedding bells tied with rose ribbon contained slips of paper announcing the marriage and its date. Table decorations consisted of two hugh white bells, tied together with a large white bow. All decorations were in rose and white, the bride's colors.

Assisting in serving were Eldoris Kintzi, who poured the coffee, Carol Kepler and Mrs. Duane Sandage.

A reception honoring the couple was held at their Belmond apartment Sunday afternoon from 3:00 until 5:00 o'clock. Table decorations consisted of a three-tiered wedding cake decorated in rose and white and and topped with a miniature bride and groom and a floral centerpiece of white carnations and yellow jonquils.

Mrs. Gerald Kewatt, Rockwell college friend of the bride, served the wedding cake, and Mayta Wiley, West Union, sister of the bride, poured the coffee. Carol Kepler and Eldoris Kintzi also assisted.

Out-of-town guests at the reeception included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hugh, Delhi; Don Hugh, Gowrie; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiley and Mayta, West Union; Michael Wiley, Ames; Mrs. Gerald Kewatt, Rockwell, and Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Cochell, Alexander. Alden Wiley, Iowa City, a brother of the bride, was unable to attend.

A reception will be held at the home of the bride's parents next weekend.

Mrs. Hugh, the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiley, West Union, is a graduate of West Union High school and of Iowa State Teachers college, where she was affiliated with Pi Gamma Mu, Pi Omega Pi, and Kappa Delta Pi ,national honorary societies. She was also a staff member of the "College Eye" the student newspaper. She has taught in Toledo and is now commercial instructor in the Belmond schools.

The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hugh, Delhi, graduated from Delhi High school. He attended Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, and spent 33 months in the armed services.

He graduated from Iowa State Teachers college in 1948, where he served as president of Sigma Tau Gamma social fraternity and of the Humorist Club. He was also a member of the Intra-Fraternity Council and the Student League Board. He is now science and mathematics instructor in the Belmond schools.

Mr .and Mrs. Hugh are at home at 503 Third Street Northeast, Belmond.

Trager on All-NI First Team; Three Broncos Named on 2nd

Belmond's championship crew placed one man on the North Iowa all-conference first team and three on the second as loop coaches gathered at Forest City Monday evening to make their annual selections. All of the mentors except Ken Gregory of Buffalo Center were on hand to cast their ballots.

TRAGER

Duane Trager, Bronco center, and Charley Langerud, Forest City pivot, drew the heaviest support among the coaches and were tied for first palce in the voting with 37 points each. Highest possible score was 42 points, as each coach first voted for seven men—seven points for top choice, six for second, etc.

Jack Riggs and Sid Swenson, Belmond's capable starting forwards, each drew a second team berth, as did Guard "Sonny" Greenfield.

Six of the seven loop schools placed a man on the all-star first team of seven players. Andy Anderson, Northwood forward, and Larry Miller, scrappy Britt center, tied for third place in the balloting. Jack Schisel of Garner, though a member of the tail-end team in the league, got the highest vote of any guard in the conference; he was followed by Jack Thompson, Lake Mils back-court star. Jack Soderling, diminutive Forest City guard, was the seventhe man named.

Of the top seven players, only Langerud, Miller and Thompson —all juniors—will be eligible next year.

With Greenfield, Riggs and Swenson on the second team were: Ken Cosgriff, Britt, forward; Hubert Hinds, Northwood, center; "Red" Berger, Buffalo Center, guard; and Timmy Anderson, Forest City, forward.

Greenfield, Swenson and Hinds are seniors and the other second team selections are all juniors.

Five players were given honorable mention, including one freshman—Richard Koolbeck of Garner, a forward. Don Hoveland and Jim Kingland of Lake Mills, who were used alternately at guard and forward; Jerry Redden, Britt guard; and Dave Johnson, Northwood guard, were the others given special mention. These four men are all juniors.

Sectional Title To Bronco Five

Belmond experienced no trouble in walking off with state sectional honors here Friday night, trouncing Dows in the Class A finals by a 42-28 count. The Tigers never quit trying, but they were simply no match for the Broncos.

Jumping into an early lead, Belmond kept the score doubled most of the first half and enjoyed a 26-12 advantage at the recess. Sid Swenson, besides playing a good game under the boards, tossed in 10 points in the opening half. Duane Trager clicked for eight up to halftime.

Scoring was even in the second half, as Coach Jim Scott substituted freely. Jerry Hanson was the only replacement who succeeded in hitting more than once for the Broncos; he counted six points during his brief span of action. Both Jack Riggs and Dick Kriens looked good for the Broncs during most of their floor time.

Glenn Barz and Ron Hackbarth were top performers for Dows. Each tallied seven points and worked like a Trojan. Vance Paulson and Dan Danger did good ball handling for the Tigers.

KANAWHA FINALLY STOPS MESERVEY QUINTET, 45-41

Meservey started its customary rally a little late in the game against Kanwha in the Class B sectional finals Friday night and bowed to the Bulldogs, 45-41.

It was a first class scrap during the early stages of the game. Kanawha started out like an easy winner and acquired a 14-to-5 lead early in the second quarter, but the Rockets had the margin slimmed down to two points at halftime, 18-16.

Jake Koenen knotted the score as the third period opened. Gaylord Larson and Charlie Studer each hit to put the Bulldogs back in front and Meservey as never able thereafter to draw even.

A spurt in the fourth quarter gave the Bulldogs a 12-point lead at the automatic time-out, with three minutes remaining, 42-30. They endeavored to play a stalling game thereafter — which might have been their undoing, has they started it earlier. The Rockets took up eight points of slack before the time ran out.

Larson and Donald Carpenter turned in fine performances for the winners, doing an excellent job on rebounding and scoring 16 and 10 points respectively.

Studer was also good for 10 points and played a nice floor game. It was Meservey's old reliables, Bob Watermiller with 14 points and Jake Koenen with 10, who kept the Rockets a continual threat.

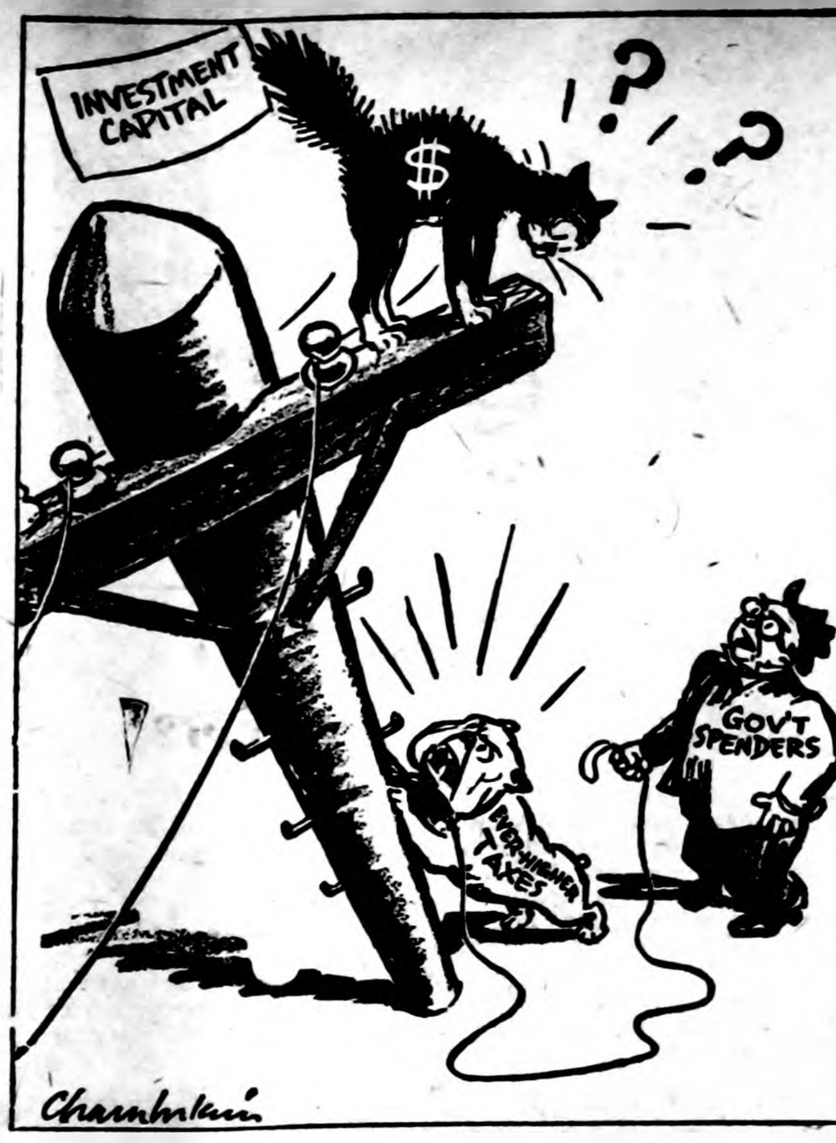
"WHY WON'T SHE COME DOWN?"



An 'Ounce of Prevention' May Help Save You From 'Flu' Bug

"Cold weather and influenza often go hand in hand, so the proverbial ounce of prevention is especially timely," says Dr. R. H. Heeren, Director of the Division of Preventable Diseases of the Iowa State Department of Health. "Influenza has many of the signs and symptoms of the common cold and may develop from a cold."

Influenza which is probably more often referred to as the "flu" is an acute, contagious infection characterized by widespread outbreaks. Since a permanent immunity is not developed as result of an attack of influenza, these epidemics continue to appear.

Everyone is susceptible and since all are vulnerable to influenza, it spreads with alarming speed. The fact that this disease is highly contagious makes isolation and personal cleanliness of utmost importance in its prevention and control.

The common symptoms of influenza are well known. Fever at the onset, cough, and pains in the head, back, and limbs have been experienced by many. This troublesome disease is the cause of much time lost from school and work, and its control is of economic and social as well as of medical importance.

"Ounce of prevention" suggestions are these: Practice habits of personal cleanliness if you would avoid not only influenza, but also serious complications from it. Never use cups, glasses, dishes, or towels that have been used by anyone else, including family members. Keep up bodily resistance by eating well-balanced meals and getting regular and sufficient sleep. Always wash your hands before eating.

A physician should be called when "flu" symptons appear. The person sick with influenza should go to bed and stay there until his physician says he can return to usual activity.

The danger of influenza is due in part to the back-set which results in some cases where activities are resumed too soon. It is a wise precaution to isolate the influenza victim from others.

Prevent influenza if you can, but if you do get it, take care of yourself and protect others from your germs.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN BUSIEST EVER DURING YEAR JUST COMPLETED

The Iowa highway patrol set new work records in every major highway activity in 1949 including the apprehension of 1,262 drunken drivers, 117 more than in 1948, according to a report compiled by S. N. Jaspersen, patrol chief.

Jespersen's report to State Safety Commissioner Alfred Kahl showed the record volume of patrol activity in terms of enforcement, assistance to motorists and accident prevention measures.

During the year the patrol issued 27,809 traffic summonses and 20,325 memorandum tickets, gains of 2,254 and 2,602 over 1948. The memorandum ticket does not require a court appearance but serves a "warning and corrective purpose", accordin to Jespersen.

Patrol inspection of vehicles both on the highways and during drivers license examinations resulted last year in the issuance of 80,468 faulty equipment tickets.

The patrol also gave assistance to 26,101 motorists who during the year experienced trouble other than an accident along the highways. This was some 500 more "assists" than in 1948, according to the report.

Despite this general increase in activity, the $487,960 paid in fines as a result of patrol arrests was only about $1,400 more than in 1948. Money paid in fines goes into the school fund of the county in which the violation is committed.

Miles traveled by the patrol during 1949 totaled 7,515,994, an increase of nearly 220,000 miles over the previous year.

Over 20 Million Dollars In Death Benefits Paid To Iowa's Policyholders

Iowa families received $20,011,000 in life insurance death benefit payments during 1949, compared witih $19,306,000 in the previous year and $12,100,000 in 1941, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

"The death benefit payments in this state last year were made under 12,235 policies, compared with 11,852 policies in the previous year and 8,820 policies in 1941," the Institute reported.

"Of the aggregate 1949 payments in the state, $16,962,000 was under 7,164 ordinary policies; $2,005,000 was under 1,008 group life insurance policies; and $1,044,000 was under 4,063 industrial insurance policies. These payments were $7,911,000 greater than the corresponding payments in 1941."

The national total of death benefits paid last year was $1,489,742,000 which compares with $1,446,607,000 in 1948 and $1,009,636,000 in 1941. The 1949 national benefits were paid under 1,358,659 policies, compared with 1,334,658 policies in 1948 and 1,074,606 policies in 1941.

Official Corn Yield Tests Show Even Best of Hybrids Drop Ears

Two official Iowa Corn Yield test for 1949 failed to show any hybrids that were better than average for resistance to ear Hutchcroft, according to Charles Hutchcroft, Iowa State college agronomist.

There were some differences between hybrids in the number of dropped ears, but the results indicate that other factors—such as date of planting, soil fertility and maturity of the hybrid—probably account for much of this variation. These factors tend to reduce the actual varietal differences.

While no hybrids were significantly better than the average, several hybrids in each section were significantly poorer than average in ears dropped. In other words a farmer planting those poorer hybrids could expect 99 out of 100 fields to have more dropped ears than average.

There seemed to be more difference between varieties in broken stalks. The yield tests show between two and three per cent of the varieties were significantly poorer than average in stalk lodging.

The average yield of all hybrids tested was 77 bushels. The field average varied from about 53 bushels in District 5 at Clarion to about 107 bushels in District 11 at Creston.

The state is divided into four sections with three districts in each section. Each district has one test field where a hybrid is planted in six separate plots. In this way each hybrid is grown 18 times in each section.

The test is conducted by the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Growers association and Iowa State college to give an impartial comparison of corn hybrids sold to Iowa farmers. Any hybrid producer may enter his varieties in the test.

The hybrids in each section ranked according to a performance score. In computing this score the following factors are considered: 50 per cent for yield; 20 per cent for dry matter content; 20 per cent for lodging resistance; and 10 per cent for resistance to ear dropping.

It might be pointed out that of 20 hybrids that won top placings in the four sections, 11 had less than 25 pounds of seed available for planting in 1949. This means that these 11 hybrids are probably in the experimental stage and it may be several years before they are produced in quantities for general distribution

A survey of 11,000 farmers was made to determine widely grown hybrids in Iowa. Out of the 40 widely grown hybrids planted, 30 ranked below average in performance score. Fifteen of these ranked among the lower one-fourth of all hybrids tested.

This may indicate that Iowa farmers do not plant the best hybrids available to them. When choosing a hybrid for planting in 1950 the Iowa Corn Yield Test bulletin should help you. The bulletin is number P103 and may be obtained from the county extension director or from the Bulletin Office. Ames Iowa.

DOING ALL RIGHT

Two young displaced persons, from Estonia, are doing all right in the Eldora public schools. Helde Asu, 14, and Haedo, 11, started to school in Eldora Jan. 3, both being placed in the first grade. Haedo has since moved up to the fourth grade and Helde to the sixth.

QUITE A DAY

Jan. 16 was quite a day for the Gerald Siegler family at Schaller. Mrs. Siegler gave birth to a son, another son, Ernest, ran his arm into the washing machine wringer and Mr. Siegler mashed a finger between two pieces of iron at his shop, all but losing his finger. Otherwise, it was a quiet day.

SINGING MICE

Bill Roghair of Orange City reports that two singing mice have made their home with the Roghair family since December. The mice sing at night, usually between 9:30 and 10 and their song is a cross between a chirup and a canary's thrill. Trying to catch them without a trap has been somewhat of a problem.

Third Quarter Sales For Belmond in 1949 4.5 Per Cent Over '48

According to sales tax figures released last weekend by the state tax commission for the third quarter of 1949, Belmond's business subject to the two per cent levy showed an increase of $35,600 over the same quarter a year ago and a jump of $35,900 over the preceding quarter of 1949.

Tax paid by Belmond merchants in the third quarter of 1949 amounted to $16,511, representing sales totaling $825,550. This was a four and a half per cent increase over '48.

In the battle between Clarion and Eagle Grove for trade from the central and western area of Wright county, the latter edged ahead of the county seat.

For the third quarter of '48, Clarion's taxable sales totaled $7,200 more than Eagle Grove's $1,384,600; but for the same quarter in '49, Eagle Grove's $1,394,500 was $9,900 over Clarion's total sales.

Clarion's third quarter of '49 was $36,700 better than 1948's, whereas Eagle Grove's business jumped $53,800 over that for 1948's third quarter.

Meservey Cage Stars Honored

Some 250 persons, including the ardent supporters of the Meservey High basketball teams and the squad personnels, gathered last Saturday night at the Meservey high school auditorium for a pot-luck supper held in honor of the young athletes.

Both teams enjoyed very successful seasons this year, the girls advancing to the state championship meet and the boys losing out to Kanawha in the finals of the sectional meet by a narrow margin.

Harold Simmons acted as master of ceremonies for the program following the meal and special musical entertainment was provided by guests from Ventura High school.

Monday morning a pep meeting and community send-off was held to wish the girls' team Godspeed as they left for the tournament at Des Moines.

Chet Randolph of the staff of KGLO, Mason City, led the pep rally, assisted by Cheerleaders Jake Koenen and Alvin Boelman. The only shadow cast on the proceedings was prompted by announcement that LaVonne Meints, dependable starting forward on Coach Diddy's team, woudl be unable to play in the meet because of illness.

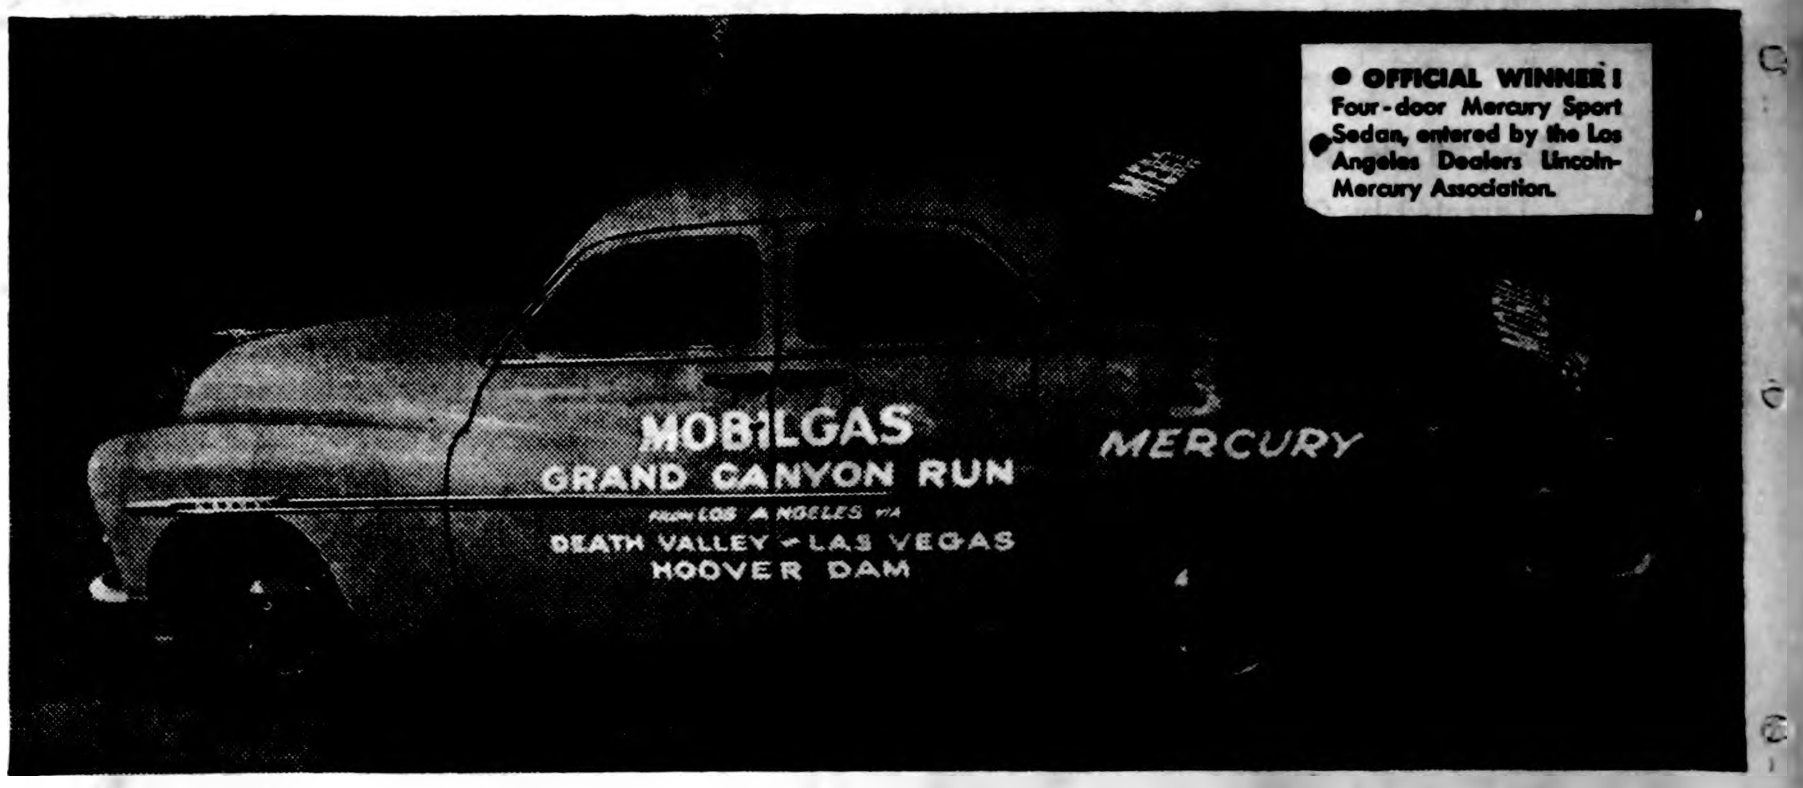
1950 MERCURY TOPS ALL WINNERS IN MOBILGAS GRAND CANYON RUN!



● OFFICIAL WINNER! Four-door Mercury Sport Sedan, entered by the Los Angeles Dealers Lincoln-Mercury Association.

1950 MERCURY WITH OVERDRIVE AMERICA'S "NO. 1 ECONOMY CAR"!

Sets amazing new gasoline mileage record for gruelling 751 mile Grand Canyon run as it outperforms 30 other entries from America's leading car makers!

YES, now it's officially-proven! Pound for pound, the big new 1950 Mercury IS America's most economical car!

For, in the 751 Mile Mobilgas Grand Canyon Run conducted by the American Automobile Association last week, Mercury delivered grand-prize winning gasoline economy—over a rugged course which ranged from Death Valley to 7000 foot icy mountain passes!

This remarkable economy—made possible by the combination of Mercury's thrifty, V-type, 8-cylinder engine and its gas-saving "Touch-O-Matic" Overdrive—came as no surprise to Mercury owners. For many Mercury owners had repeatedly reported gasoline economy far above average expectations.

Yet this unusual economy is only one of the many reasons why thousands of owners are now choosing Mercury. Many say it's the smartest-looking car on the road. Others claim it's the smoothest-riding, most comfortable, too! And all agree it's the biggest value for the money!

Drive Mercury yourself—and see!

You bet it's "better than ever"—MERCURY

Ogg Says Brannan and Kline Both Right--Both Wrong, to Some Extent

Discussing the recent Brannan-Kline debate before the Chamber of Commerce last week, Farm Economist Wallace Ogg of the Iowa State college extension department declared that elements of the plans each of the men favor could be combined to create a plan superior to either of those currently proposed.

In Mr. Ogg's opinion, the Kline-Farm Bureau recommendation of lower levels of support is essential to a workable plan for agriculture; and Brannan's proposed production payments are more feasible than any price-support mechanism could be.

The existing farm plan incorporates the worst features of both the proposed solutions, Mr. Ogg believes. Its endeavor to support prices is creating embarrassing surpluses, will demand increasingly rigid controls and arouse constantly growing criticism on the part of the consumer.

Mr. Ogg expressed approval of the Farm Bureau's attitude that aid to agriculture should be confined to periods of depression, when the farmer's livlihood is endangered, and the Bureau's confidence that the system of free enterprise will suffice to give the farmer a fair share of the nation's wealth in periods of full employment and reasonable prosperity.

The economist does not agree with Brannan's contention that the nation's economy must be at all times 'rigged" to favor the farmer and maintain crop prices at abnormal wartime highs.

Mr. Ogg expressed doubt that a plan intended to favor the 15 per cent of the nation's population at the expense of the other 85 per cent would ever succeed; but that, he added, is what the Brannan plan proposes.

Better than either plan, according tao Mr. Ogg, would be one involving direct income payments to farm families in depression times—which would be the equivalent of industry's unemployment insurance.

This ould prevent farm income from descending to a critically low level, and at the same time would interfere with neither prices or production.

The speaker hinted, however—without flatly stating it as an opinion—that adoption of such a plan in the near future is highly improbable. The best possibility of obtaining an adequate and workable program—Mr. Ogg declared, lies in a meeting of the minds to incorporate the best features of the existing proposals into a plan that protects the farmer from depression prices, allows free enterprise to set consumer prices and govern the amount of various products that should be raised—and thereby eliminates the need for government control of either production or prices.

I wish to thank all my friends and relatives for the visits, cards, letters and gifts which I received when I was sick. They were very much appreciated. Ronald Pals. 20t1*

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation for many kindnesses, messages of love and understanding and beautiful floral offerings from our many relatives and friends tendered during the illness and death of our dear mother. We especially thank the Rebekah lodge and the Lydia Circle.

The Family of Eve Renicker 20t1

We wish to express our deep appreciation to the many friends and relatives who showed us kindnesses and revealed their sympathy with cards and floral offerings at the time of our recent bereavement. We particularly want to express our gratitude to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who so ably conducted the military rites in conjunction with the funeral of our son and brother, Clayton M. Tudor. —H. D. and L. C. Tudor, Mrs. Sarah Tudor and family.

IN TRIBUTE TO OUR FATHER

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall.
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

Your voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true.
Oh, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be.
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more.
Your loving smile, your gentle face
No one can fill your vacant place.

Belmond Teachers Pass Resolution Supporting Federal School Grants

At a meeting of the Belmond Teachers association, held last week, the following resolution was passed with the intention that it be forwarded to the Congressional representatives from this area:

"The Belmond Local Teachers association believes in a program of public education that will make possible adequate educational opportunity for children in all states.

"Since education faces critical conditions in all 48 states, and since the states differ widely in their ability to sufficiently support public education, we believe that federal aid should be distributed to all states, according to their need.

"We also believe that the best results of such a program can only be obtained through state and local control."

Mrs. Clair E. Hugh is president of the local association. Supt. Don Faris says that the purpose of the resolution was to lend support to a bill—already passed by the Senate—that would provide federal school aid but leave administration of the funds in the hands of the states.

At the same meeting the association, already a member of the Iowa State Educational Association, voted to join the National Education Association.

Belmond Will Participate In Community Chest Clinic

It is the plan of Chamber of Commerce President George Infelt to see that Belmond is represented at a proposed clinic on Community Chest organization to be held at Des Moines in April.

At present there are 48 cities and towns in Iowa who are coordinating their fund-raising for community projects through the medium of Chests. Ten others are in the process of setting up chests, and in at least 13 others there has been some amount of agitation in favor of seriously investigating the idea.

We believe that representation of Belmond at this clinic would be very much to the point, as it would provide a logical springboard for action here, and at least prompt a study of just how well an annual Chest drive could fulfill its conventional function in Belmond.

What's Become of The Boy Who Used to Shovel Snow?

What's become of the lad who used to make the rounds after every snow, eager to capitalize on the white bonanza from the heavens? Don't misunderstand. We don't mean to infer we've added ourselves to the ranks of those convinced the "younger generation" is going to the dogs. But there is no question about it—the kids of this year 1950 haven't the initiative and ambition where personal money-making projects are concerned that the typical boy-about-town had 20 years ago.

We can recall when a good snowfall was greeted just as enthusiastically for its financial possibilities as for the fact it gave promise of bobsled hopping and hill sliding. There was always a race to see what kid would arrive first at the "big house" in the neighborhood, where a fee of even so much as 35 cents was sometimes forthcoming if the drifts were especially high or the snow was unusually wet and heavy.

"Can I shovel your walk?" A housewife could expect to face the question several times an hour until the operation was performed. And ordinarily the job, once let, was done in good, thorough fashion, too.

There was rarely, if ever, any dickering over price. The snow was neatly removed, then the worker would report at the door, "I guess I'm done, Ma'm." You were familiar with the finicky ladies who would insist upon throwing on a shawl and inspecting the job to make sure it met with their satisfaction. You also knew when to expect ready approval—"My, that looks just fine!"

Then, and then only, was money mentioned. A quarter was a good, round price unless the walk bordered a big, corner lot. And rewards of 20 or even 15 cents were not scoffed at.

When the snow fell of a Friday night, that was a real break. No school to interfere. A hard worker could reap a harvest of four or five walks before noon—and take in the afternoon matinee well stocked with licorice cigarets, peanut-butter kisses and popcorn—with a nice bit left over toward that bike, or trip to Scout camp next summer, or whatever major, financial project was on the docket at the time.

A dollar and 15 cents for a half day's labor was strictly "big money" when earned by the sweat of a youngster's own brow. We feel that the kids today are missing one of the real thrills of childhood by disregarding the money-making possibilities of a real snowfall. And their parents are helping to rob them of it by not making it just a bit necessary for them to augment allowances and paternal hand-outs by their personal efforts.

The case of the young A. T. and T. executive, sentenced and imprisoned on obviously trumped up espionage charges by Joe Stalin's Hungarian stooges, graphically demonstrates Uncle Sam's impotence when it comes to protecting American nationals behind the Iron Curtain. If the State Department cannot figure out some way to free Robert Vogeler, Secretary Acheson's magnanimous attitude toward Hiss will be cast in an even more unfavorable light that heretofore.

Kline vs. Brannan

We never have felt qualified to make any comments on the economics involved in the farm crop program and don't yet even after hearing Allan Kline and Secretary Brannan argue. There doesn't seem to be any easy or clear cut solution.

We do feel however that the philosophies of the two men were clearly enough demonstrated in the debate Saturday so that everyone can choose which man he is willing to accept as a leader in the development of a farm program.

Both men recognize that an unfair distribution of the national income exists. They are as far apart as the two poles on the methods they advocate to correct this inequality. Brannan believes that the Federal government can efficiently re-distribute the national income so that the farmers and everyone else will get a bigger share of it.

Kline feels that support prices should be used only to stop disastrous price breaks and that curtailment of production is the only certain method of maintaining profitable farm operation. He believes that allowing the federal government to re-distribute the national income is wasteful and inefficient and that government bureaucrats are the only ones who will profit by it.

Brannan's plan of high farm prices and low food prices is such a drastic violation of all economic rules that we have always thought it was purely a political scheme to get votes for the Truman administration. And after hearing Brannan talk we still are of the opinion that he is more interested in the votes he gets than in the good he will do the farmers.

We have had a very high regard for Allan Kline's ability for a number of years and the clash with Brannan Saturday only strengthened this regard. We are sincerely thankful that a man with his high ideals is the head of the nation's largest and strongest pressure group.—Eagle Grove Eagle.

Separation of Farm Bureau Projects From Extension Work 'Panning Out'

The new working arrangement between the Iowa State college extension service and the county Farm Bureau in Iowa, which was instituted on Jan. 1, is apparentaly proving satisfactory.

That belief was expressed today in a joint statement released by Dean Floyd Andre of Iowa State college and President Howard Hill of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation. They said that the separation of funds, account ing systems, duties of personnel, and various other phases of the work at the county level, is already serving to clarify the relationship between the extension service and the Farm Bureau to Iowa people.

Last year a committee of Iowa State college and Farm Bureau officials recommended clarification of duties of personnel and various changes in the procedures of bookkeeping, office management and banking used by the county Farm Bureau boards, according to Walter Wilson, Farm Bureau fieldman for Wright county.

All county Farm Bureau boards have now established separate bank accounts for extension and Farm Bureau funds. Separate bookkeeping systems have been installed for the accounting of these funds.

County appropriations, which in the past have been paid by the board of supervisors to the county Farm Bureau and used for extension educational work, are now paid directly to the extension fund or endorsed to the fund by the supervisors.

The county Farm Bureaus, which in most cases are paying more than twice as much to the extension work as is required by law, are now putting their annual allotment directly into the extension fund accounts.

These funds are used for extension activities only. All state and federal funds will continue to be paid directly to the extension personnel for salaries and expenses.

County organizations have clarified the duties of the various individuals working in the county offices. This step was taken to remove duplication or overlapping of work done by employees of the Farm Bureau and extension service, Mr. Wilson explains.

All but seven of the county Farm Bureau units in the state now have a $15 membership fee. Of this total, approximately $5.00 is paid to the county extension fund for educational work; about $5.00 is used to finance the county Farm Bureau's organizational and legislative work; and $5.00 is paid to the Iowa American Farm Bureau Federations.

The extension service and the Farm Bureau want it clearly understood, Mr. Wilson stresses, that the educational work involving extension personnel is available to all persons, organizations and other groups and that there are no restrictions insofar as participation is concerned.

All county Farm Bureaus now employ either a fieldman or an organization director who is responsible for the membership and legislative work and commercial services being operated in the county. The county extension personnel devotes full time to work of a strictly educational nature, and is not involved in any of the Farm Bureau's organizational, legislative or service programs.

Mr. Wilson adds that it should be pointed out that the various self-financed commercial services offered by the Farm Bureau are available only to Farm Bureau members, because no public money is used and the services are specifically designed to give Farm Bureau members advantages over non-members.

Farm Bureau Offers Scholarship Award For Teacher Course

Are you a farm boy or girl, recently graduated from or about to graduate from high school, interested in being an elementary school teacher and need some financial assistance for further education? If so, Farm Bureau is offering a scholarship of $140.00 a year for two years which you may be able to qualify for—and which doesn't have to be repaid. Please contact your high school principal or the extension office in Clarion for blanks. The application blank must be into the extension office not later than March 15.

The purpose of the scholarship in the field of teaching is to endeavor to lend prestige and dignity to the teaching profession; to interest more qualified farm young people in entering the teaching profession and to induce them to teach in rural communities. A rural community means an open country school or in towns up to 2500.

The following regulations govern eligibility for the scholarships:

1. Applicant must be a boy or girl living on a farm.
2. Must be in the upper third of this year's high school graduating class.
3. Must be active in local activities and have leadership ability.
4. Must be a person who is in general good health.
5. Should be a person who would not otherwise have an opportunity to enter college.
6. Must be definitely interested in teaching in rural elementary schools.
7. Scholarship to be granted on the basis of six quarters or two school years of continuous study.

If you have any questions on the scholarship fund, contact Mrs. Irvin Erickson, county school chairman; Mrs. Gerhard Thompson, county chairman; or Mrs. Lettie Zuber, county home economist.

"SEND ME THAT DARNED PAPER"

He came into the Independent office and plunked down three dollars and said: "Send me that darned paper. I've been looking for a used gasoline engine. I borrowed the neighbor's copy three days late and saw an engine advertised in the classified section. Drove 15 miles and found out it had already been sold. Then the other day I saw a woman acquaintance on the street I hadn't seen for three months and asked how her husband was. "Hadn't you heard, Joe died two months ago."

"Send me that darned paper."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carolus drove to Galt Sunday and visited in the home of Albert's brother, Fred Carolus.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boller and Carolyn spent Sunday at Kanawha in the Galen Huhn home. Mrs. Boller and Mrs. Huhn are sisters.

Mrs. Anton Ahrenkiel was called to Klemme Monday by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Tom Blank.

Goodell folks received word Thursday over the radio that Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Herlein and son Clinton, were in an auto accident at noon Wednesday at Lovilla. A truck loaded with lumber turned across the highway to a service station and Rev. Herlein crashed into it. They were taken to an Albia hospital and later moved to a Des Moines hospital. X-rays on Mrs. Herlein showed broken ribs and a punctured lung. Rev. Herlein and Clinton, age three were badly bruised.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Ver Helst and Dick spent Monday at Mason City where they visited in the home of Mrs. Ver Helst's sister, Mrs. C. Vega.

C. L. Rector and son moved last week from the former Okreug farm to a farm near Hutchins.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Schaeffer and daughter moved Thursday to a farm east of Klemme. The Elmer Zeigler family of Woden moved to the Cashman farm vacated by the former. Arthur Zeigler helped his brother with the moving.

Boys' 4-H Club Entertained Dads

The Avery-Twin Lake Hustlers, the boys 4-H club, met Tuesday evening in the Gerald Swyter home. Delwyn Brede, the president called the meeting to order and the roll was called by the secretary, Marvin Swyter with 12 members present. The fathers came also as this was "Dad's Night." Division manager Joe Sheldon of Spencer and Howard Ruka of Garner showed a screen picture "Strange Starvation", which showed the lack of minerals in poultry and animal feeding. These two men are agents for feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burk, Kay and Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burk, Patty and Bobby were dinner guests Sunday in the parental Wilmer Burk home at Belmond. The Burks had returned Saturday from their vacation which they enjoyed in California and with friends in Phoenix, Ariz. Enroute home they stayed over night Friday in the H. L. Herlein home.

Ethel Brunes of Belmond and Belva Brunes of Mason City spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brunes.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brunes returned home Friday from their six weeks vacation which they spent traveling through 11 states and in the south. They spent much time in Florida going by boat from Miami to Cuba where they spent a few days sight seeing. While in Sarasota, Fla., they attended Ringling Brothers circus and on the grounds met Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jakway of Oelwein with whom they enjoyed a visit. The Jakways, former Goodell residents, are vacationing in the south in their modern trailer house. The Brunes saw the first snow in Missouri Thursday night.

Lee Shahan, who lives in Hickory Grove, was taken to the Mercy hospital at Mason City on Wednesday and on Friday underwent a major operation. At this writing he is getting along nicely.

Lula Wilkins entertained Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ostendorf and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris and two children in her home to supper Friday evening in honor of the Harris' who are moving Wednesday to the Barry addition in east Belmond. Mr. Harris is employed at the General Mills plant and the past year they have lived in the Cashman tenant house.

Surprise Birthday Dinner Honors Mrs. Kenneth Boller

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reasoner and daughter of Belmond, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boller and Barbara took dinner to the Kenneth Boller home Thursday evening and pleasantly surprised Mrs. Kenneth Boller in honor of her birthday.

The Melvin Sorensons Are Parents of a Baby Boy

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sorenson are the parents of a nine pound nine ounce son born Monday at 1 p. m., Feb. 27 at the Belmond hospital. His name is Larry Russell. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carpenter are the proud and happy grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sheriff, Beverly and Bob spent Sunday evening in the Alvin Allen home near Kanawha.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Green and sons visited in the parental Frank Gayken home at Britt on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart attended the funeral of Herman Schleusner at Garner Saturday.

Moved by Fisher, seconded by Henry, that application of the Eagle Grove Country Club for a Class B Beer permit and the accompanying bond be approved, and a permit granted. Motion carried.

Whereas under date of February 3, 1950, the Clerk of the District Court of Wright County, Iowa, certified to the County Auditor of Wright County, Iowa, a copy of the findings and order of the District Court of Wright County, Iowa, upon the appeals made from the assessment of benefits in Drainage District No. 6, of Wright County, Iowa, by Edward Klockman, Kenneth M. and Maude M. Fitz, Leonard D. and Sophie Grove, Floyd G. and Etta L. Dahlgren and Homer and Lilo McGrath, being cases Nos. 14041 through 14044, which were consolidated for trial, which findings and order sustain the objections of the appellants and order the assessments reduced as set forth in such findings and order, now therefore

Be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, acting for said Drainage District No. 6:

1. That a copy of the findings and order of said court on said appeals, as so certified, be spread upon the records of the drainage district;

2. That the assessments of the several appellants aforesaid be and the same are hereby reduced as so ordered and directed by the said Court:

3. That the several officers of the County and District be and they are hereby directed to correct the records of the district and county to show the reduction of the several assessments as directed by the said order of Court and this resolution.

Supervisor Henry moved the adoption of the foregoing resolution, which motion was seconded by Supervisor Fisher.

Upon call of the roll all members present voted in favor of the motion and there were no negative votes and thereupon the Chairman declared the motion carried and the resolution adopted.

Motion was made by Pinkham, seconded by Henry, that non-resident notices be served on the following: Badgley, Cora, Eagle Grove, Iowa, from Humboldt County; Barr, Marshall, c/o Bangston Nursing Home, Eagle Grove, Iowa, from Humboldt County; Butler, Ralph, Rowan, Iowa; Grimms, Dora, 310 North Lucas, Eagle Grove, Iowa, from Dallas County; Mickelson, Stanley, 701 Eastern Avenue, Eagle Grove, Iowa, and family; McGuire, Mrs. Ray, Eagle Grove, Iowa, from Woodbury County; Wiese, Lloyd and family, Galt, Iowa. Motion carried.

The Semi-Annual settlement of the Board of Supervisors with the County Treasurer was laid before the Board and on motion by Fisher, seconded by Pinkham, said settlement was approved and ordered placed on file.

Be it resolved: That the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, on this 6th day of February, 1950, recommends that the following projects be approved by the State Highway Commission for improvement with Farm to Market Road Funds:

Item No. 1: F.A.S. Rt. No. 289: Project Number S-1219: Type or work and location of project: Construct 3-span I-Beam bridge between Sections 29/30-93-25: Est. Cost $15,000. This resolution is supplemental to Item 3 of the resolution of Feb. 16, 1949, to include the bridge.

The foregoing resolution was adopted with an aye vote by all members present.

Motion was made by Pinkham, seconded by Henry, that Don L. Champlin, Executive Secretary of the Soldier's Relief Commission, be paid at the rate of $190.00 per month, to be effective starting January 1, 1950. Motion carried.

Be it resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa: That we do hereby designate the following named banks to be depositories of the Wright County funds in amounts not to exceed the amount named oppposite each of said designated depositories and the County Treasurer is hereby authorized to deposit the Wright County funds in amounts not to exceed in the aggregate the amounts named for said banks as follows, to-wit:

NOTICE OF HEARING OF RESOLUTION OF NECESSITY AND HEARING ON PLANS, SPECIFICATIONS AND FORM OF CONTRACT

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given that there is now on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Belmond, Iowa, a proposed resolution of necessity for the construction of pavement widening on Third Street Northeast (Hathaway Street) from the east edge of the existing concrete pavement at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street Northeast, thence east on Third Street Northeast to the east property line of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad right-of-way, said improvement to consist of concrete pavement seven inches thick and four and one-half feet in width with integral curb on each side of a 22 foot width of concrete paving proposed to be put in by the Wright County farm to market program.

Notice is also hereby given that the proposed plans, specifications and form of contract for the construction of said improvement, are also on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City.

In said Resolution of Necessity it is proposed that so much of the cost of said improvement, as the law permits, will be assessed against properties specially benefited by said improvement in the manner provided by law, and the remainder of said cost will be paid from the general fund, the improvement fund, the grading fund, or from the proceeds derived from the issuance and sale of certificates or bonds issued against any of said funds, and/or from the proceeds derived from the issuance and sale of bonds under the provisions of Code Section 396.22.

A hearing will be held in the Council Chamber in the City Hall in Belmond, Iowa, at 7:30 o'clock, P. M. on the 20th day of March, 1950, regarding the adoption of said Resolution of Necessity and also regarding the adoption of said proposed plans, specifications and form of contract.

RESOLUTION NO. 224 OF NECESSITY

WHEREAS, plat and schedule showing street to be improved, width of the improvement, each lot proposed to be assesed, estimate of the total cost of the improvement for each different type of construction and material, value of each lot as fixed by the City Council, and an estimate of the amount proposed to be assessed against each lot, for the proposed public improvement by the construction of pavement widening on Third Street Northeast (Hathaway Street) from the east edge of the existing concrete payment at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street Northeast, thence east on Third Street Northeast to the east property line of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad right-of-way, said improvement to consist of concrete pavement seven inches thick and four and one-half feet in width with intergral curb on each side of a 22 foot width of concrete paving proposed to be put in by the Wright County farm to market program, in the City of Belmond, Iowa, as herinafter described; and there is on file with the City Clerk plans, specifications and form of contract for the making of said improvement:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BELMOND, IOWA:

That it is deemed advisable and necessary to construct the following public improvement in said City, to-wit:

The construction of pavement widening on Third Street Northeast (Hathaway Street) from the east edge of the existing concrete pavement at the junction of U. S. Highway No. 69 and Third Street Northeast, thence east on Third Street Northeast to the east property line of the Chicago, Rock Island Pacific Railroad right-of-way, said improvement to consist of concrete pavement seven inches thick and four and one-half feet in width with integral curb on each side of a 22 foot width of concrete paving proposed to be put in by the Wright County farm to market program.

The type of paving and curbing that will be considered will be as hereinabove set out.

The method of construction shall be by contract.

So much of the cost of said improvement as can, under the law be assessed to abutting and adjacent property will be so assessed, in the method proposed by law so as to include one-half of the privately owned property between the street improved and the next street, whether such property abuts upon the street to be improved or not, but no property shall be assessed which is more than 300 feet from the street to be improved. No property shall be assessed more than it is benefited by the improvement nor more than 25% of its actual value on the date of the assessment.

A plat and schedule are now on file in the office of the City Clerk as required by law. The form of contract proposed to be entered into for the construction of said improvement and the plans and specifications therefor are also on file with the City Clerk.

The difference between the amount which may be assessed against the improved properties and the total cost of the improvement shall be paid for from the general fund, the grading fund, the improvement fund or from the proceeds derived from the issuance and sale of certificates or bonds issued against any of said funds or from the proceeds derived from the sale of bonds under the provisions of Code Section 396.22.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City Council of the City of Belmond, Iowa, meet at 7:30 o'clock P. M. on the 20th day of March, 1950, in the Council Chamber in the City Hall for the purpose of considering objections to the final adoption of this resolution and for the purpose of considering objections to the plans, specifications and form of contract. Unless property owners at the time of final consideration of this resolution have on file with the City Clerk objections to the amount of the proposed assessment, they shall be deemed to have waived all objections thereto.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City Clerk is hereby instructed to cause notice to be published as required by law of the pendency of this resolution and of the time of hearing objections thereto, and to the plans and specifications and form of contract.

APPROVED at a meeting held on the 21st day of February, 1950.

HAWKEYE SOYBEANS RECOMMENDED BEST FOR NORTHERN IOWA

Soybean varieties "tailormade" by plant specialists to fit various sections of Iowa will be the best for growers in 1950, says C. R. Weber Iowa State college agronomist.

Adams, Hawkeye, Lincoln, Earlyana and Chief are varities recommended in Iowa for the coming year.

Adams was released to Iowa growers in 1949. It grows well in central and southern Iowa, but it is not generally recommended for the northern three tiers of counties in the state.

Weber reports that Adams yields slightly higher than Lincoln, an older variety recommended for the same area.

Adams ripens a few days earlier than Lincoln, is the same height and has a little higher oil content. It is being recommended to share the Lincoln acreage for the coming year. Seed of Adams for 1950 must be obtained from your county seed distribution committee.

The Lincoln variety is the most extensively grown in the Midwest. It has gained recognition because of its high yield, ability to stand until combined and because of its high oil content.

Weber recommends Hawkeye soybeans for northern and central Iowa. He says they yield four to six bushels more per acre than the Richland variety which was once popular in the same area. Hawkeye is four inches taller and has a higher oil content than Richland.

Hawkeye should replace all the Richland acreage and may be used for delayed planting in southern Iowa. When Hawkeye is grown in extreme northern Iowa, Weber advised planting a little early—May 10-20.

He says that the Earlyana variety is best suited for planting on soils of medium fertility in northeastern and northern Iowa.

The Chief soybean is well adapted to less fertile soils in the southern tier of Iowa counties.

VOL. 31 NO. 21 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, March 9, 1950. OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

Whadya know! We're going to get an airing! The Independent has been informed that a "quote" from this paper has been included in the script for the "We Iowa Editors" program on WOI of Ames 1:15 to 1:30 p. m. this coming Saturday. John M. Henry of the Des Moines R. & T., secretary of the Press Columnists of Iowa, is producer of the program.

Just to keep us on tenterhooks, Henry hedges a bit with, "The quotation will be heard at that time, unless time runs short."

—M S—

H. G. Brunes of Goodell stopped into the office last Saturday to place a classified ad (HE knows they WORK), having just returned from Florida in time to enjoy Iowa's balmiest day in quite some time. He reports that he saw quite a bit of Belmondites, Ralph Thayer and Ed Thompson during his southern sojourn.

—M S—

J. R. G. would like the straight dope from some cat fancier as to whether a frightened (and extremely inexperienced) feline will or will not in due time descend from a tree she's clambered up in a frenzy.

Last Sunday one of the family cats took up an observation post in a large elm, some 20 feet above the ground, and after two hours aloft still showed no inclination to come down. In fact, she acted paralyzed at the very thought.

Finally the head of the house (as he laughingly calls himself) borrowed a ladder from the fire station and at the cost of multiple scratches and barked shins —since the ladder reached only part way and some "shinnying" was called for—got ahold of the cat and tossed her in a nearby snow bank.

It was a horrible experience for all concerned and will not be repeated (at least the retrieving portion) if assurance is forthcoming that a cat will NOT waste its life away in a tree if it gets sufficiently bored with the situation.

While his brother Masons (who had 'em) were taking in with their wives the festivities that concluded the four-day Masonic doin's at Des Moines last weekend, Henry Larsen was squiring Doris Christie, attractive daughter of his good friend, Ralph Christie. Doris is taking nurse's training in the capital city and agreed to be Henry's companion during the concluding evening's entertainment.

Henry says it's a shame, in a way. He doubts very much if Doris will be satisfied with her "former" boyfriend hereafter. He feels quite sorry for the poor fellow.

All kidding aside, though—his fellow Masons who were with him in Des Moines say Henry really made a host of friends. The members of the class which was taking the 32nd Degree work expressed the affection they felt for their Belmond brother by the gift of a handsome ring. For once, Henry was speechless. When the ring was presented to him, he could only gulp and grin.

We have received, through the courtesy of the Imperial Grand Stinker Carter D. Keezer, member of the Imperial Aroma equivalent of "lodge", we take [illegible] Plaistow, N. H., a copy of the monthly Stink-A-Gram of the Deodorized Order of the Skunk.

It is apparently the belief of this organization that there are too many "skunks" extant in this weary world—and that there should be a STINKER for every "skunk", to compensate.

Regalia of the organization includes a pin of "distinkshun", displaying a flower - bearing skunk; and fezzes—black tassels for STINKERS and red for SUPER STINKERS. Just how one qualifies for a SUPER is not made clear in the current Stink-A-Gram.

However, if there are enough of you readers who think you can qualify as just plain STINKERS to create an AROMA here in our progressive little city, tell it to Main Street and we'll see what we can do about a charter.

VACCINATION SCHOOLS

Two vaccination schools will be held in Wright county in the near future conducted by Dr. [illegible] Miller, assistant extension veterinarian. They will be held Thursday, March 16 — Eagle Grove sale barn at Eagle Grove, starting at 9:45 a. m.; and Friday, March 17—courtroom of courthouse at Clarion, starting at 9:45. Anyone interested in attending the vaccination schools should contact the county extension office at Clarion.

Broncos Enter District Final Via 34-31 Win

Belmond advanced to the boys district basketball finals at Humboldt by nosing out Algona 34 to 31 Tuesday night. The Broncos will tangle with the winner of the Rockwell City-Humboldt game on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Playing without the services of Sid Swenson, who was sidelined by flu, Belmond had its hands full in beating the Bulldogs. Neither team was able to build up a comfortable margin, a five-point gap being the largest that ever separated the two contenders. That margin was Belmond's, 23-18, in the third quarter.

Jack Riggs' accuracy from the free throw line went a long way toward deciding the issue. During the evening he speared eight out of nine charity attempts. He also hit one basket, leading Belmond scorers with 10 points.

Algona jumped into an early lead and the Broncos were unable to gain an advantage until they nosed in front, 11-10, with only three minutes remaining in the first half.

Only once thereafter did the Bulldogs nudge ahead. With the final quarter half gone Bill Sparks sifted in for two lay-ups in a row to send Algona in front 30-29. A free throw by Dick Kriens tied up the game and Dead-eye Riggs dropped in two charity tosses to regain the lead for Belmond.

At halftime the Broncs were ahead 15-14, and at the three-quarter mark they had a two-point margin, 25-23.

Rollie Kinseth, Don Faris and Duane Trager, each snared a brace of baskets in the final half to further the Broncos' cause, but Riggs' six free throws after the intermission provided the clincher.

Jerry Anderson, speedy Algona guard, lead all the scorers with 13 points. He was ably supported by Center Bill Sparks, who played a great floor game and contributed 10 points.

Whoever it turns out to be, Belmond will have a tough opponent Friday night in the Humboldt-Rockwell City winner. In the other first round tilt, Humboldt was shooting for a 19-3 won-and-lost record and Rockwell City for an 18-4 mark. Swenson may be ready to go in the finals, which should help the Broncos' chances.

County Board Requests State Commission's OK On $72,000 Road Project

At a meeting of the county board of supervisors held Monday at the courthouse in Clarion, a resolution was passed recommending to the state highway commission approval of a farm-to-market road project in Dows involving an expenditure of $72,000 for paving.

A .76-mile stretch on the "Rowan Road" in Dows, which lies partly in Franklin county and partly in Wright, would be paved under provisions of the proposed project.

Wright county would foot $18,400 of the expense, Franklin would cover $27,600 — in each case, with the aid of farm-to-market funds—and the city of Dows and the property owners affected would be obligated to construct curbs and gutters at a cost of $26,000

Auto Registrations Running 400 Ahead Of This Time in '49

Treasurer H. E. Sullivan reports that relatively few Wright county car owners should be subject to fines after next Wednesday—March 15—for improper registration due to failing to display 1950 licenses on their vehicles.

Up to Tuesday of this week, the treasurer's office had issued 6,066 car licenses. On March 7 of last year, only 5,666 sets of plates had been issued; and the 6,066 total wasn't reached until June 13.

A partial explanation of the 400 increase in applications to March 7 of this year lies in the increased number of autos operating in Wright county; but Treasurer Sullivan believes, in addition, that the public has been more prompt to apply this year.

Roger Ubben, Dick Elliott to Get Their Way Paid to Scout Jamboree

Roger Ubben, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Ubben, and Dick Elliott, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elliott, have been chosen to receive expense-paid trips to the national Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., next summer.

All the Scouts of Troop 16 and Explorer Post 16 received consideration by the boards making the selections, which were based on scouting ability, leadership, scholastic standing and good citizenship. Jamboree expenses of the two boys are being paid with proceeds from the recent Town and Country Quiz which the Scouts sponsored.

On the board which chose Roger, from the membership of Troop 16, were Supt. Don Faris, Glen Eccles, Ellis Elliott, Fred Dahm, Carol Hensel and John Robertson. On the board which named the Explorer Post winner were Don Nielsen, Harley Thompson, Harold Hemmingsen and Al Stadtlander.

Three other Belmond Scouts will take in the jamboree—Sam Leinbach, Larry Larson and Edward Eccles. The first two belong to Troop 16 and the latter to the Explorer Post.

Glenn Martin, Scoutmaster of Troop 16, has been named as one of nine leaders from the Winnebago Council who will supervise the 110 Scouts that will make up the council's jamboree contingent.

Blizzard-Battling Cage Fans Wonder 'Was It Worth It?'

Some 125 to 150 courageous—or crazy, take your pick—Belmond basketball fans followed the Broncos to Humboldt Tuesday night and when time came to return home found themselves faced with the season's worst blizzard.

Members of the team—and two bus-loads of students, totaling 65 in all—remained in Humboldt overnight and "slept" at the school house. Other members of the Belmond crowd took to the road and wondered with each succeeding mile of "blind driving" why they hadn't stayed put.

Several cars got into difficulty as they wandered from the straight and narrow in the swirling snow, but no serious mishaps have been reported. A few stranded individuals had to abandon cars and "hitch" rides for the balance of their trip; others, with the help of good Samaritans, got their cars back on the road and resumed the journey.

There was general agreement that, "It's a darned good thing the team won, or it surely wouldn't have been worth it!" To many a nerve-wracked driver, it was an open question as to whether "it was worth it," even so.

First in County Spelling Contest To Bonnie Abbas

Bonnie Abbas, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Abbas, walked off with top honors in the county spelling contest at Clarion last Saturday and earned the right to represent Wright county in the state spelling competition at Des Moines on April 1.

Forty other contestants competed with the Belmond winner, but Bonnie proved herself a real champion by not only winning the oral spell-down but taking first in the written examination that reduced the field to 15 contenders.

"Orifice" was the word that got the best of the runner-up. The Belmond girl correctly spelled it, then carefully spelled "spinster" to clinch her victory over Jeanette Claue of Wall Lake No. 8, second-place winner. Tom Mikelson of Clarion was third.

Every one of Mrs. Duane Sandage's proteges from the Belmond school qualified for the oral portion of the contest. In the written test, Janelle Johnson placed third, Barbara Mariga was tied for fourth and Ardith Johnson was tied for eighth. In the ensuing spelling "bee", Barbara took fourth, Janelle sixth and Ardith twelfth.

The champion received a $5 cash award from the Clarion Lions club, and Barbara Mariga got a dollar as fourth-place prize. All the girls received certificates from the Des Moines Register, sponsors of the state contest.

Henderson Seeks Fifth Term on School Board

Voting in the annual school board election will take place at the city hall next Monday between 12:00 noon and 7:00 p. m. Roy Henderson, whose term is expiring, is the only candidate in the field.

Mr. Henderson is seeking his fifth term on the board. He was first elected in 1939 to serve out the unexpired term of the late W. A. Parker, which had two years yet to go. He was reelected for full terms in 1941, 1944 and 1947.

SARBERS SELL SPURGE'S TO CHEROKEE COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond White, lately of Cherokee, have purchased Spurge's Cafe of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Sarber and took possession of the business on March 1.

The Whites, in order to become acquainted with as many folks as possible, are holding Belmond folks as possible, are holding open house at the cafe this coming Saturday and invite the public to have coffee and doughnuts "on the house" any time between 8:00 and 11 a. m. and from 1:00 to 5:00 p. m.

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop No. 1 met Monday after school at the schoolhouse. Mrs. Cortland Luick and Mrs. Gunnar Kling were present. The girls worked on their schoolmate bags.

STUDENTS COMING

A staff comprised of eight Iowa State college journalism students will put out the March 23rd issue of The Independent. Veryl Fritz of Grand Junction will serve as editor and Don Razee of Harlan, busines smanager. And advance guard will visit Belmond this weekend to get in some preliminary work. The student journalists will be introduced individually in next week's paper. In the meantime, The Independent urges all Belmond folks to give the young people a cordial reception when they call in regard to stories or advertising.

"BROWN-OUT" NOW OVER

Belmond's "brown-out" was short-lived, as Central States Electric company received 12 carloads of coal from Iowa Falls on Tuesday and the same day declared its private "emergency" passed. Manager Cecil Carstens of the local office announces that all restrictions were lifted by the company at that time, since the end of the coal strike gives promise of satisfactory supplies being available hereafter.

Creamery Board Appoints Rise To Manage Business

Curtis Rise — for over 10 years an employee of the Belmond Cooperative Creamery, disregarding a period of time in the service—has been named to succeed Harold Hemmingsen as creamery manager, effective April 1.

The new manager is a native of Belmond and was graduated from Belmond High school in 1937. Two years later he joined the creamery force and for the past two years has served in the capacity of buttermaker.

Curtis' career with the creamery was interrupted by a three and a half year stint in the Army during the war, which included some 18 months overseas in the European theatre.

Another new hand has been added to the creamery staff in the person of Thera Fitts, who on March 15 will take up the duties of bookkeeper. The position did not exist previously, as Mr. Hemmingsen has handled the bookkeeping as well as management.

Since Mr. Rise will continue his job as buttermaker as well as supervising operations of the business, the board saw fit to add the new employee to relieve the manager of clerical responsibilities.

Mr. Hemmingsen says his plans for the future are not entirely definite at this point. The creamery has thrived under his direction, its membership having increased from 371 at the time he came into the business in August of 1945 to a total of 536 as of last February 1. Production increase has largely kept pace with membership growth, emphasizing the successful manner in which the retiring manager has operated the business.

Number of Major Gifts Reported by Committee

With slightly over $60,000 already pledged through preliminary solicitation, a group of 23 men began knocking on doors the first of this week to complete the local campaign for hospital subscriptions.

No exact goal for contributions from Belmond itself has been set, according to W. H. Trafford and R. W. Courson, co-chairman of the hospital finance committee. They explain that "the success of the hospital campaign in neighboring towns and outlying rural areas is going to depend largely upon the generous support the project is given in this community."

"Some fine contributions have been pledged by individuals and business concerns here," Mr. Trafford informed a gathering of solicitors at the city hall Sunday afternoon. "We have received a number of signed pledge cards promising amounts in excess of $1,000—several of them assuring gifts from $5,000 to as high as $15,000."

Mr. Courson stated that nine pledges have been received in the amount of $1,000 and 15 promising $500. Several $50 pledges, quite a number for $100 and a scattering of gifts of more than $100 but less than $500 make up the total presently assured toward construction of the hospital.

Members of the finance committee feel that the fund campaign has gotten off to an encouraging start, but they emphasize that the success of the project is going to depend upon the willingness of every family to give to the full limit of its ability.

Plans to date have been based upon construction of a hospital at the very lowest cost that adequate size and equipment will allow. Even that mimimum goal is by no means assured at this point, the finance chairmen emphasize.

Both Mr. Trafford and Mr. Courson stress the importance of a successful vote on the municipal bond issue of $36,000 a week from Monday. All pledges are contingent upon approval of the bond issue, they point out, so it is of the utmost importance that every qualified voter go to the polls and vote "yes" on this question.

The building committee was to meet again this week to discuss proposed building sites and devote further study to the type of construction best suited to local needs. A number of possible sites are under consideration and the one selected will have considerable bearing upon the style of construction that will ultimately be chosen.

Plans are being drafted for the subscription drive outside of Belmond, which will get under way as soon as the local campaign has been completed. Gene Woolley, chairman of the hospital board, says he has been highly gratified at the deep interest in the hospital evidenced by neighboring towns and rural areas. He is confident that if Belmond residents do their part, Belmond's neighbors can be completely depended upon to do theirs.

Following are the canvassers who are conducting the Belmond residential drive this week: Ward One—Ted Behrends, Norman Hofmeister, Lem Long, Harley Thompson, Orphie Anderson, Ed Tracy, Clarence Kirkendall, Ted Buchanan and Clair Bonte.

Ward Two—Henry Hokel, Fred Dahm, William Heginger, Jack Shepard, A. W. Loats and Carroll Bamford. Ward Three—Neil Flanagan, Sol Krass, Ardell Johnson, Wilson Stearns, Luin Cox, Ted Zook, Carol Hensel and Henry Steenblock.

Workers Named to Conduct Red Cross Campaign

Some solicitations for the 1950 fund campaign of Belmond Chapter of the American Red Cross have already been started, according to Co-Chairmen K. C. Kickbush and Ted Behrends, now that block workers have been named for the various wards. It is the plan to have canvassing of Belmond completed by next Tuesday evening. Rural solicitation is scheduled to start the first of next week.

From Bert Hewlett, Red Cross treasurer, come some figures to show that the organization has been accomplishing locally in recent years. Major project is the summer water safety program for youngsters, which was inaugurated in 1947.

In the past three years some $2,625 has been expended on the program and the course has benefited an estimated 250 children. About 170 have participated each summer. Supervised training in water safety and swimming is offered at the Clarion pool, with proficiency certificates going to those youngsters who qualify for them. A nominal fee is charged to partially cover the expense, but the bulk of the cost is met by the Red Cross.

Nearly $1,950 has been spent spent on medical care for needy school students, another Red Cross project, in four years' time. The benefits of this program are presently restricted to children who are in serious need of medical attention that literally cannot be afforded by their parents.

In qualified cases, glasses will be purchased, tonsilectomies financed, and other medical services rendered. Need and inability to pay determines eligibility in each case.

The local Red Cross also performs home service work and provides travel aid for veterans, their families, and others who are in critical financial straits.

In late years it has been unnecessary to render such assistance except in isolated instances, but the Red Cross stands ready to help when the need arises.

Following are the block workers who are currently making their calls or soon will be calling for fund donations: Ward 1, west—Mrs. Carol Miner, Mrs. Anna Chinberg, Mrs. Glen Mus-

"HUB" COLBY GIVEN GMI PROMOTION; NOW OVERSEES ELEVATOR

H. E. "Hub" Colby has been promoted by Manager Gene Woolley to the position of elevator supervisor at the General Mills plant. The job had not previously been filled.

The advancement comes as a nice "boost" to Mr. Colby, who had been working in the elevator department for only six months and who has been with GMI for a little less than two and a half years.

Prior to his transfer to the elevator last fall, the new supervisor had worked in the refinery and the laboratory, so he has had a thorough grounding in the production processes of the plant.

Before coming to Belmond to take his first job with General Mills, "Hub" had served the state conservation commission as a game warden over a period of 12 years, five of which were spent in this general area.

His service with the conservation commission was broken by a 26-month stint in the Coast Guard during the war.

Belmond City Government Cost Each Resident $8.13 in 1949

Reduced by 8½ Per Cent Compared to '48 Expense

According to the Iowa Taxpayers Association, per person cost of operating Belmond's municipal government in 1949 was $8.13—a reduction of 76 cents from the per capita cost in 1948, or about eight and a half per cent.

The $8.13 figure gives Belmond one of the lowest per person operating costs in its population bracket, based on 1940 census. There are 13 towns with populations within 100 of the total accredited to Belmond.

Only two had lower per person operating expense—and only four showed, like Belmond, a reduction in 1949 compared to 1948 costs.

The other communities in the same population group, with their 1948 and 1949 per person costs, are: De Witt $9.93 and $11.84; Hamburg $9.66 and $7.81; Corning $9.32 and $10.38; Spirit Lake $12.37 and $14.12; Bedford $8.49 and $9.31; Dyersville $11.97 and $9.45.

Madrid $7.35 and $8.12; Toledo $8.52 and $10.75; Guthrie Center $11.15 and $11.82; West Union $11.64 and $10.77; Grundy Center $8.85 and $10.41; Villisca $10.55 and $10.26.

Eagle Grove's per capita cost of municipal government jumped from $11.05 in 1948 to $11.50 in '49; and Clarion's increased from $10.87 to $12.90.

Clear Lake showed a reduction from $13.46 to $12.78; Hampton a cut from $10.98 to $10.67. Forest City's per person figure increased from $11.39 to $12.24.

Capital improvements were not included in any of the cost figures. There are 71 Iowa cities with populations under 5,000. The average per person cost for the entire group was $10.84, compared to $10.51 in 1948. Individual community figures ranged from a low of $3.52 in Mystic to a high of $23.63 in Bettendorf.

PMA OFFICE AND ISC TO PROVIDE FARMERS SOIL TEST SERVICE

Through the cooperation of the county office of the Production and Marketing Administration and Iowa State college, Wright county farmers this year can avail themselves of a special soil-testing service.

Oscar J. Hanson, county PMA chairman, announces that a PMA representative will call at farms, on request, and take soil samples to forward to Iowa State college for analysis. A nominal charge of $1.00 per sample will be made.

The samples will be tested at Ames to determine what each particular patch of soil requires in kind and amount of fertilizer and amount of lime needed. At the same time that samples are taken, the farmer will be asked to provide crop histories of the fields being tested.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hegg spent the weekend at the Earling Williamson home at Albert Lea, Minn. Ruth Ann Hegg spent the weekend with her grandparents, the Manvil Heggs. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brummund Sr. stayed with the other Hegg children while their parents were away.

BOWMAN DISCUSSES TYPES OF BROODERS, ADVANTAGES OF EACH

It's time to start thinking about chick brooders, says Aaron R. Bowman, county extension director.

Of the three types of brooders commonly used—gas or oil, electric, or coal—the electric offers the least labor. Reason is that it is not necessary to make special trips to the brooder house to check temperature and fire. Also, there is no fuel to haul or ashes to clean.

Chief disadvantage of the electric brooder is that it does not keep down humidity as well as other types, or maintain satisfactory brooding temperature in severely cold weather.

However, the Iowa State college poultry department says there is indication that the humidity helps feather chicks earlier, but litter should not become too damp.

Advantage of the other types of brooders mainly is in keeping down humidity and assuring heat in extreme weather. Also fuel costs are not as high and there is more assurance of a constant supply. Some folks don't like to gamble with electric power being cut off.

Regardless of the type brooder used, it is wise to start it a day or two ahead of chick delivery. This will allow time to check thermostats for proper adjustment (check with an accurate thermometer), and get rid of any odors from new paint or accumulated dust which may be harmful to chicks.

Temperatures should be 90 to 95 degrees at edge of hover and two inches above the litter. Temperature should be reduced five degrees each week until it gets down to 75.

Bowman points out that checking temperature of an electric brooder is rather hard to do accurately because electricity produces a different type of heat than does conventional brooders.

Best thing to do is watch chicks. If they go in close, there is too little heat, and if they stay at the outer edge of the house the heat is too great. Poultrymen at Iowa State college recommend 10 to 12 square inches per chick inside the hover.

4-H GIRLS COMMITTEE MAKES NOMINATIONS

Four outstanding Wright county 4-H girls were nominated at a recent meeting of the County 4-H Girls Committee for honors which would give recognition to their distinguished activity records.

Charlene Edwards of Little Liberty Ladies was nominated for consideration as a state 4-H officer.

Three other girls were nominated for attendance at various camps during the coming summer: Janice Neilson of Woolstock Willing Workers—National 4-H Camp at Washington, D. C.; Ruth Martin, Belles of Boone—American Youth Foundation, Camp Miniwance; Rachel Peterson, Dayton Dandies—State 4-H Conservation Camp.

Final selection for each award is made by the state 4-H office at Iowa Statecollege. Mrs. Clarence McBride heads the county committe that named the Wright nominees.

ISC Bulletin Provides Answers on Television

Short, simple questions to many questions about television are contained in a bulletin just issued by Iowa State college.

Entitled "Television in Iowa," the bulletin may be had without charge by writing the Engineering Extension Service, Marston Hall, Iowa State college, Ames.

Station WOI-TV plans to issue a weekly schedule of television programs. If you would like to receive this service write to R. B. Hull, Director of Radio, Service Building, Iowa

Engineers at the college have devoted a paragraph or so of easily understood language to such matters as "What Is Television?" "How Is the Picture Formed?" "Where Should the Receiver be Placed?" "What Type of Antenna Should I Use?" "What Is Meant by UHF Television?" "What About Cost of Installation?" and many others.

The engineers have also written a companion bulletin called "Frequency Modulation in Iowa" which explains FM broadcasting. It too can be obtained from the Engineering Extension Service.

Fishing Dates Extended; Catch Limits, "Keeper" Limits Now Liberalized

The Iowa State Conservation Commission has adopted far-reaching regulations for the 1950 fishing season, extending all open seasons except trout to Feb. 15, 1951. Trout will close Nov. 30.

Size limits were taken off all species of fish except largemouth and smallmouth bass and sand sturgeon. Two-day catch limits were removed, with daily catch and possession limits being the same under the new regulations.

Opening dates on all species of fish remain as in 1949, with catfish opening April 15 trout May 1 and walleyes, crappies, perch, white or silver bass, and northern pike May 15. Largemouth and smallmouth bass, sunfish, bluegills, and rock bass open June 1.

Size limit on largemouth and smallmouth bass was set at 10 inches, with sand sturgeon minimum set at one pound. All other fish taken will be "keepers" during the 1950 season.

Soil Conservation Meetings Set For Very Near Future

Township PMA meetings, at which farmers can sign up for soil conservation practices to be followed during the coming crop year, are presently being planned by the county office of the Production and Marketing Administration. Oscar J. Hanson, county PMA chairman, stated Tuesday that time and place for the various meetings will be announced next week.

Mr. Hanson anticipates that Wright county's allotment for soil conservation payments in 1950 will run approximately the same as in 1949, when $80,580 was allowed.

Again in 1950, according to Mr. Hanson, three major practices will comprise the bulk of this county's efforts in conjunction with the Agricultural Conservation Program. They are: (1) application of liming materials; (2) application of fertilizers; and (3) raising and turning over green manure crops.

The county chairman expects there will also be compliance, in some instances, with the following practices: contouring intertilled crops; establishing sod waterways; construction of open farm drainage ditches; installation of tile drainage; and seeding of legumes and grasses.

Another, special conservation practice will be proposed by the county committee, assuming it receives the approval of the state PMA authorities. This will involve the harvesting of legume seeds, which are in short supply.

Mr. Hanson stated Tuesday that the individual corn allotments for Wright county have received district fieldman approval and that as soon as listing sheets submitted to the state PMA office have been checked and approved, mailing of the allotments can be started.

Meservey Girls Win One, Then Lose in Title Race

Meservey's dream of a state girls' basketball title went aglimmering last Thursday when the Rockettes hooked up with Slater, the ultimate champions, and lost a second-round decision by the score of 54 to 37.

It was far from a shameful defeat, however, and Meservey supporters are consoled by the fact that their team was among the last eight survivors of the lengthy elimination process.

Although she was pretty well shackled by Slater's star guard Marjorie Accola, Mavis Faaborg in Meservey's opening round conquest of Meridan—57 to 56—demonstrated her right to recognition as one of the state's top forwards by pouring in 32 points.

Five Belmond Masons Receive 32nd Degree; Henry Larson Honored

Five members of King Solomon Masonic lodge No. 210 of Belmond received the Thirty-second Degree in the Scottish Rite in the course of a meeting held last Wednesday through Saturday at Des Moines.

Two of the Belmond representatives qualified for particular distinction among the 62 Masons receiving the degree. Ervin Halvorsen received his degree only seven weeks after his resignation into Masonry; and Henry Larsen acquired his after more than a quarter century of membership in the Order of Masons.

Other members of the Belmond lodge upon whom the degree was conferred were Wayne Wolf, Chris Schulte and Ray Richards—the latter two both of Alexander, but belonging to King Solomon lodge.

Alvin Larson, who last December became the first member of the local lodge to attain the Thirty-Second Degree in Masonry, accompanied the five men to Des Moines and served as one of the three marshals of the George B. Frost Class—which was the name given the group of new initiates.

Mr. Larsen was signally honored by election as secretary of the class, and its members presented him with a handsome consistory ring.

HAMPTON PTA ASKS VISITORS TO FORUM ON REORGANIZATION

Citizens of Belmond interested in the question of "School District Reorganization" have been invited to attend an open forum on the subject which is to be held at Hampton high school next Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock, under sponsorship of the Hampton Parent-Teachers association.

J. Kendall "Buster" Lynes of Plainfield, a state senator and currently a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor, will speak in favor of the question. He will be joined by John G. Schultz of the State Department of Public Instruction, an expert on the technical aspects of reorganization.

Forum opponents of reorganization wil be D. C. Harper of Hansell, who has been active in the Iowa State Teachers association, and Lee G. Hackbarth of Latimer, a farmer and school administrator for many years. Moderator will be Harvey Uhlenhopp Hampton attorney.

Five Belmond Bowlers Compete in IWBA Meet

Members of the Mello Maid team in the local Women's Bowling association last weekend participated in the state tournament of the Iowa Women's Bowling association, currently in progress at Sioux City.

Competing in Class E, the team members—Naomi Downs, June Boelman, Mary Thompson, Ruth Zieger and Capt. Lauretta Anderson—rolled an aggregate score of 1661.

Mrs. Downs and Miss Boelman each competed in the singles getting scores of 373 and 341 respectively; and they combined forces in the doubles for a 672 total.

The Belmond group, which also included Ray Thompson and Clarence Michelson, was in Sioux City from Friday night until the conclusion of the association's annual business meeting on Sunday. Belmond's bowlers, along with some from Arthur, were given special recognition as first-year members of the association and Mrs. Downs was appointed to participate in special ceremonies as a flag-bearer.

Starting March 15th, Having '49 License On Car to Mean Trouble

Motorists displaying 1949 license plates and registration certificates on or after March 15 will become subject to arrest and fine for improper registration, the state safety department said today.

Leslie B. Chase, departmental director of the motor vehicle division, said all county treasurers have now furnished sheriffs with the names of motorists known to be delinquent in their respective counties.

Chase said drivers who have new plates and certificates in their possession but who neglect to display them by March 15 will also face improper registration charges.

On that date the highway patrol will begin stopping delinquent motorists on the highways, according to Chief S. N. Jesperson.

Chase said 1949 registrations actually became delinquent Feb. 1, and that motorists purchasing new plates now must pay a penalty fee equal to five per cent of registration cost.

NOTICE

The board members of the North Iowa Agricultural Experimental Association held a meeting on December 15, 1949. The price of corn was set at $8.00 per bushel for flat grades, and $6.00 per bushel for rounds. They also voted to sell to non-members, for the same price, as we have a good supply. The following Iowa Hybrids are available: Iowa Hybrid 4297, Iowa Hybrid 4417, Iowa Hybrid 4397 and Iowa Hybrid 4316.

The price for cleaning and treating seed oats was set at $ .06 per bushel, $ .06 per bushel for cleaning soybeans and $3.00 per hour for cleaning clover, timothy and flax.

The annual stockholders meeting will be held March 16, 1950, at the Tall Corn Theatre in Kanawha.

Trinity Lutheran Church Will Hold Special Services

A series of special mid-Lenten services will be conducted at the Trinity Lutheran church here March 19-23 with the Reverend Rudolph C. Burke, pastor of the Calvary Lutheran church of Minneapolis, as the guest speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Burke, though unknown in this immediate locality, comes highly recommended as a forceful and effective speaker and is much in demand for Bible conference, youth conferences and Bible teaching missions throughout the northwest, Rev. O. M. Severseike reports.

The Rev. Mr. Burke has a large pastorate in south Minneapolis, where he and his assistant, Rev. Hjalmar Olson, are in charge of the large and active Calvary Luthran church. He comes here under the auspices of The Lutheran Bible Institute of Minneapolis.

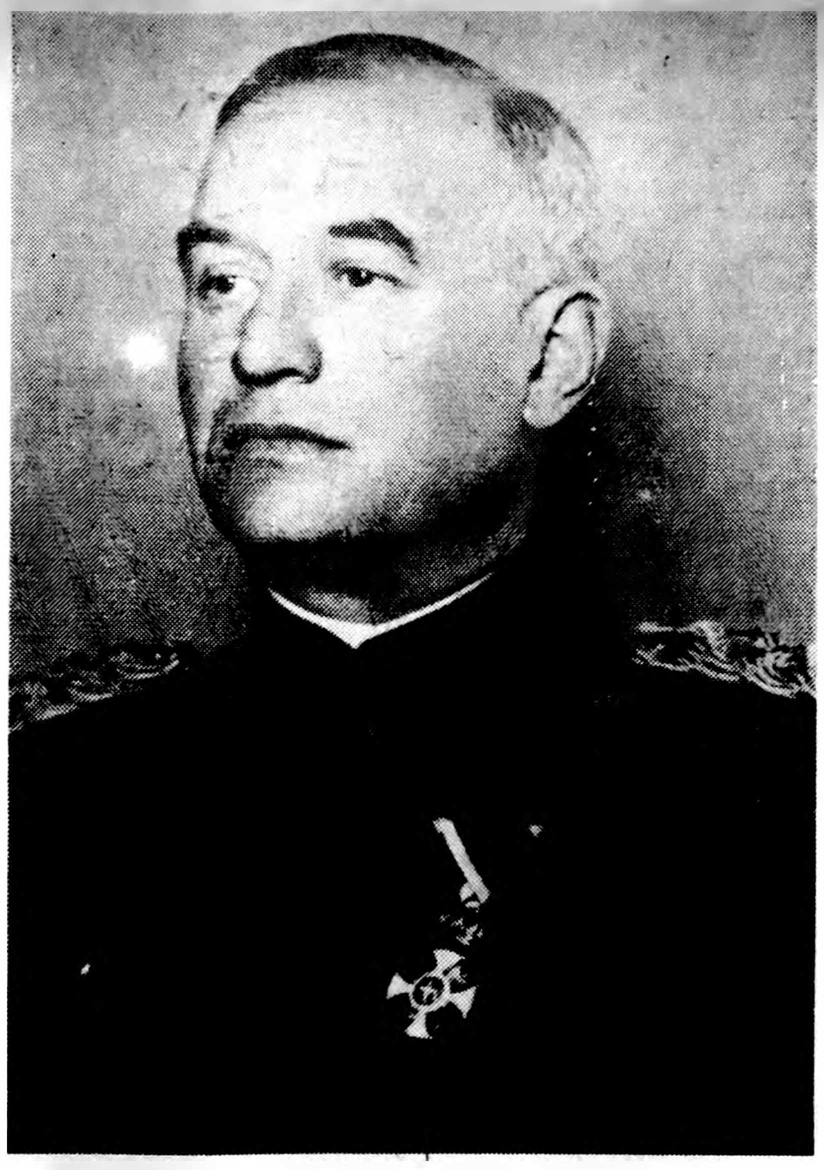
The guest will arrive in time for the morning services on Sunday, March 19. He will speak at the St. Olaf Lutheran church at 9:30 and at the Trinity Lutheran church at 11:00 a. m.

The sessions will then continue at the Trinity church each evening at 8:00 o'clock, through Thursday evening, March 23.

A more detailed program will be announced through these columns next week, but according to advance information, the Rev. Mr. Burke's theme for the week will be: "That Ye Might Have Life", based on the Gospel by St. John. These timely topics should be of general interest, and consequently all sessions will be open to the public, the Rev. Mr. Severseike announces.

BIG CALF

Something of a record in calf production was noted out at the Marion Worstall farm near Malvern recently, when a Holstein cow gave birth to a 155 pound calf. This is considered a record for that vicinity. Both the calf and its mother are "doing well."



IF YOU RUN ACROSS Belmond's distinguished new neighbor, Maj. Gen. Chedomir Petrovich, on Main street one of these days he will not appear as shown above in reproduction of the good general's passport photo — which we borrowed from the Des Moines "Trib". His military days now behind him, Mr. Petrovich has allowed his upper lip to acquire the adornment of a mustache; and deeper facial lines reflect the four years he spent in a German prison camp after his capture in 1941 during the Nazi's Balkan campaign, and four additional years in an Austrian D. P. camp following the war's end. The Independent hopes soon to arrange for an interview—through one of our German-speaking friends — with the general out at the Erma Leonard farm. From what we've read of the gentleman, we're convinced he'll prove a pleasant person to know.

Johnson and family of San Marcos, Texas and Mrs. Burie L. Bell and family of Fort Worth, Texas, and also friends at Shreveport La. On the return trip they visited Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jenison and family and Mr. and Mrs. Langland of Des Moines. Mrs. Langland came on to Belmond with them to visit over night with her mother, Mrs. Florence Sturgeon and other relatives.

COLLISION

A runaway grain elevator collided with an automobile near Clarinda recently. Mrs. Richard Weepie and daughter were driving west when she saw the elevator break loose from a towtruck, rolling toward her. She swerved her car but saw a 20-foot embankment, so pulled back into the path of the elevator. It knocked her car over the embankment, anyway. Nobody was hurt.

Agronomists Advise Acreage Split Between Two Varieties of Oats

What variety of oats shall I sow in 1950? This question is being asked by many Wright county farmers since new oat diseases are affecting some of the common varieties grown. Agronomy specialists, recommend that farmers split their oats acreage between a couple of varieties.

Clinton oats should probably be one of the varieties, say the experts, since it stands at the top in stiffness of straw and yield among types now available. Other varieties recommended are: Mohawk, Benton, Colo, Nemaha, Bonda, Cherokee (Ames No. 2), and Minda.

Marion oats is more resistant to crown rust but is lower in yield then Clinton. Cherokee is also more resistant to this disease than Clinton.

Information on Exeter, a Canadian oat, has been requested by some farmers. According to E. S. Dyas, Extension Agronomist, this seed is a selection from Victory (an old Swedish Select exhibition type of oats) and Rusota. Rusota, one parent of Exeter has stem rust resistance but is susceptible to all common races of crown rust.

Moderate resistance to stem rust is all the Canadians claim for Exeter. It is also susceptible to the smuts and is later than many other Canadian oats, such as Ajax. Exeter has not been as good in Iowa as Ajax.

Below is a summary of the oat data released this year. This is an average of 1945-46-47-48 and, '49 for both the experiment stations at Kanawha and Ames. Shelby is a new oats which will be available for 1951.

Listed in order are variety, July ripening date, average inches of height, percentage of lodging and average yield in bushels: Shelby - 27th - 41 - 9 - 92.1; Clinton - 22nd - 38 - 1 - 89.4; Mohawk - 20th - 39 - 1 - 89.9; Benton - 22nd - 42 - 2- 86.2; Ajax - 21st - 45 - 39 - 86.2; Colo - 26th - 42 - 7 - 85.8.

Andrew - 22nd - 39 - 19 - 85.7; Kent - 16th - 41 - 15 - 85.2; Nemaha - 20th - 38 - 9 - 85.0; Bonda - 24th - 42 - 8 - 83.3; Mindo - 18th - 36 - 6 - 83.2; Cherokee-20th - 38 - 5 - 81.4; Gopher - 20th 39 - 25 - 79.0; Marion - 24th - 42 - 31 - 74.4; Iowa - 105 - 17th - 36 - 20 - 72.6; Tama - 17th - 37 - 31 - 64.9.

Bumper to Bumper Know-How

Goodby . . .

We desire to express our sincere appreciation to our friends and customers for their loyal support during the past 14 months that we have operated Spurge's Place in Belmond.

It was indeed a pleasure to serve the people of this community and in again expressing our thanks for your many favors, we earnestly solicit a continuation of your patronage for our successor, Mr. Raymond White, formerly of Cherokee, who took possession on March 1.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Sarber

Hello . . .

Having purchased Spurge's Cafe and Service we are taking this opportunity to say hello to all the customers who have found this a good place in which to eat.

We are strangers in Belmond, but hope that we may become well acquainted with you very soon.

We are here to deserve your patronage by giving you good service and good food. It will be a pleasure to serve you with the same courteous treatment that has been the custom of our predecessors.

Come in and see us anytime, but especially on Saturday, March 11, when we serve FREE COFFEE AND DOUGHNUTS from 8 to 11 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m.

P is for power

Here is get-up-and-go which you'll find in no other low-cost car. For the '50 Ford, alone, offers you a 100-horsepower V-8 engine. It's the same type engine you find in America's costliest cars, yet this Ford V-8 sells for hundreds less than most "sixes." It's a quiet engine, too—designed to deliver its power in a well-mannered whisper.

Q is for quality

Now you can even hear '50 Ford's quality in its new sound conditioning and 13-way stronger "Lifeguard" Body. And the '50 Ford has a quality car "feel," too. Its low, level "Mid Ship" Ride . . . 35% easier-acting King-Size Brakes . . . the effortless "Finger-Tip" Steering make it the one fine car in its field.

There's a Ford in your future . . . with a future built in!

If you mind your P's and Q's you'll order a '50 FORD

TEST DRIVE THE '50 FORD AT YOUR FORD DEALER'S

'Peddle'n Along'

Written by the Junior and Senior Classes

KINDERGARTEN

Wednesday, Feb. 15, we had our Valentine party. All received many valentines. For lunch cookies and ice cream were served.

We want to thank Mr. Rysdam and his manual training class for making such a nice train for us.

FIRST GRADE

There have been a number of absences because of mumps.

Last week we celebrated Leonard's birthday. We played several games, and afterwards he treated us with candy bars.

Those having perfect attendance the past six weeks are Kent Myers, Tannie Pasteur, Cheryl Pals, Dennis Vestweber, Norlene Thompson and Duane Barkema.

SECOND GRADE

Those being neither absent nor tardy during the fourth six weeks period are: Sharon Hopkey, Donald Jury, Robert Latham, Vernon Modderman, John Rodecap, Gilbert Schulte and Wayne Vestweber.

The class has missed Dixie Hopkey, who is sick with the mumps.

There are now 27 members in the class, as Donna Wiers moved last week and is now going to school in Coulter. Donald Jury has moved to Coulter but is still going to school here.

Third and Fourth Grades

Mrs. McAllister brought two goldfish for the room. While she was cleaning the bowl, one of the fish jumped out and broke its tail fin. Everyone was sorry this happened.

On Valentine's Day Rhoda Bohning, Royce Bohning, Donald Barkema and Mrs. McAllister brought treats.

The following people have been neither absent nor tardy the past six weeks: Eugene Draper, Jerry Gobili, Mardell Halze, Billy Latham, David Wieman, Rosemary Trager, Lois Kapka, Dennis Hofacre, Jannis Fekkers, Ken Dorenkamp, Karen Dirksen, James Barkema and Donald Barkema.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

March first, the room is having a going away party for Joann Wheeler, Philip Jury and Carole Petersen.

Those who received the highest grades in history were Diane Vestweber, Dorothy Barkema, C. J. Stoffer, Harold Vestweber, Janet Andrews and Val Jean Hansen.

The following people had birthday treats the past couple of weeks: Val Jean Hansen, Burdette Norem, Carole Petersen, Diane Vestweber.

In the six week spelling test, eight received an A or A-: Carole Petersen, Joann Wheeler, Audrey Schulte, Bobby Trager, C. J. Stoffer, Dorothy Barkema, Janet Andrews, Marjorie Wieman and Val Jean Hansen.

In the fifth grade science test, there were nine with A minus or better: Audrey Schulte, Dorothy Barkema, Harold, Garold Vestweber, Janet Andrews, Judy Larson, Kae Myers, Marjorie Wieman and Val Jean Hansen.

Seventh - Eighth Grades

Those with perfect attendance for the past six weeks were—for the 7th grade: Roger Hansel, Roger Wieman, Sandra Johnson, Dorothy Larson and June Van Gerpen; 8th grade—Dennis Larson, Marjorie Barkema and Laurene Bobst.

Margo Rother, seventh grader, has the only perfect attendance for the entire year thus far.

Karole Eden has recently returned from a 10 days trip to Texas with her parents and younger sister. They traveled by car and visited the cities of Houston, Waco and Galveston.

FRESHMAN NEWS

In Home Economics, Sharon Schulte and Sharon Meints are the only girls who have a B average.

In manual training for six weeks test we had 32 wood samples which we were to identify. The following boys named all 32 woods correctly: Lonny Myers, James Wenzel, Robert Buringhausen.

The B average students in ninth English are: Gladys Olson, Lonny Myers and Sharon Meints.

In science Lonny Myers and Gladys Olson led the class, with Sharon Schulte and Sharon Meints offering some stiff competition.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The following sophomores received B's in their subjects:

English—Kenneth Norem and Geraldine Jaacks received a B average. Those were the two highest grades in English.

Geometry — five received a grade of B. They were James Larson, Kenneth Norem, Donald Rector, Iola Fekkers, Geraldine Jaacks.

Manual Training—Larry Bobst, James Larson, Donald Rector, and Peter Van Gerpen received B's.

Home Ec.—Iola Fekkers, Geraldine Jaacks, James Larson, Kenneth Norem and Donald Rector each received B.

VIEWS ON THE NEWS

Question: Do you have a hobby?

Wayne Pasteur: Yes, 4-H work keeps me pretty busy. I have a baby beef as my project this year.

Marjorie Barkema: Yes, I spend a lot of my time playing my clarinet. I also like to read.

Larry Myers: Yes, watching television.

Roger Modderman: Yes, typing on my new Royal portable typewriter.

JUNIOR JUMBLE

Only two of the Juniors are taking biology. Carol Johnson got an A and Phyllis Vestweber a B plus. These girls ranked in first and second in the class.

The theme for the Junior-Senior banquet has been settled upon, but the Juniors aren't saying what it is.

Junior class typing students are taking 10 minute tests. Certain speed attainments in typing are rewarded with a typing pin. Edith Schulte, Alberta Dirksen, Carol Johnson, Lowell Peterson, Phyllis Vestweber, Robert Brandt and Larry Myers have earned a 30-word pin. Two in the class have earned the 40-word pin—Carol Johnson and Phyllis Vestweber.

Lowell Peterson, who has moved to Latimer, was honored with a farewell party.

SENIOR NEWS

There are only four students in the senior class—Denise Ainslie, Gordon Paullus, Duane Blau and Marvin Jaacks. They are all having quite a time seeing who will become valedictorian and salutatorian. It seems that Denise is winning out. Denise has also earned a 45 word pin in typing.

The annual of '49-'50 is coming along quite well. Last week some of the students had their pictures re-taken for the annual.

Last year the seniors decided on what they will present as the senior class play, which will be given sometime in April.

ATHLETIC NEWS

The basketball season was wound up last Wednesday night at the Belmond sectional tournament. Alexander dropped their semi-final game to Kanawha, 47-28.

Both boys and girls are now playing volleyball to fill in until it is warm enough to go outside.

The girls went to Des Moines last week to attend the state tournament. They had reservations at the Randolph hotel. It was feared at first that they wouldn't get to for lack of hotel accommodations. The girls owe thanks to Beverly Smith's sister, who is living in Des Moines, for finding some vacant rooms for the girls.

WHAT'S DOIN' IN MUSIC

This week we are reporting on the girls sextet, which includes the following girls: Ruth Benson, 14, and Norma Madsen, 17, sopranos; Phyllis Vestweber, 16, and Marcele Larson, 16, second sopranos; Beverly Smith, 15, and Edith Schulte, 16, altos.

Ruth and Beverly are in the sophomore class. This is the first year for each of the girls in the sextet. They were in the girls' glee club last year and are active in it again this year.

Norma, Marcele, Phyllis and Edith are juniors. Edith was in the sextet last year, but Marcele, Norma and Phyllis are newcomers.

HOME EC. NEWS

The advanced class is still working on their same projects. Some of the advanced class members have finished their projects and are starting on something else. They are Helen Larson, blouse; Marcele Larson, blouse; Alberta Dirksen, skirt; and Edith Schulte, jumper.

BAND

The band played at the last basketball game, which was played Feb. 17, with Rowan. This was the last appearance of the senior clarinetist, Denise Ainslie, with the pep band.

HOW MUCH IS ONE RESCUE WORTH?

A tiny hand above the water. Then slowly, slowly it sinks. But there is time—still time—if only someone is near, someone who knows what to do. A twelve-year-old boy, a woman, an old man—anyone, if only he knows.

And the wonderful thing is that there are millions who do know what to do and how to do it. Last year alone, you—through your Red Cross—made it possible to train more than a half-million people in water safety. Another 56,600 were authorized as instructors in water safety and first aid. It is estimated that 18,000,000 have had training in first aid and water safety through your Red Cross.

Ma[illegible] these people are able to save hu[illegible]fe—priceless human life. How much is [illegible]ility worth? It's hard to say—unless it is someone you love who has been rescued.

Your contributions to your Red Cross can help carry on this training program, help take it to new areas that need it. Give now—it may save a life sooner than you think.

You, too, can help through Your RED CROSS ✚ Give [illegible]!

Virginia Ver Helst Reported Making Progress in Schooling

Virginia Ver Helst learning mysteries of lip reading.

A recent story in the Des Moines Register telling of progress being made in the training of four little deaf-blind tots at Iowa School for the Deaf of Council Bluffs revealed that little Virginia Ver Helst of Goodell is showing definite progress in overcoming her twin handicaps.

Some time ago Virginia was fitted with glasses by a specialist at the State University of Iowa. Not long afterward she accidentally broke them and was grief-stricken until they were repaired and returned to her.

Her teacher doesn't know for certain how much better the glasses enable Virginia to see, but reports that since the youngster got them she walks upright like a normal child instead of leaning forward as she did.

Virginia is shown above (courtesy D. M. Register) with Joan McGrane, who assists in teaching the children. The Goodell tyke is learning to read lips and it is hoped that in due time she will acquire—through this train-in—the ability to speak. So far she says no words but is beginning to respond to simple commands.

It will be recalled that her brother Russell won the Independent's Santa Claus letter contest last December with his plea to St. Nick that Virginia be permitted to come home for Christmas. She enjoyed two weeks with her family.

Her teachers were highly pleased to discover upon her return that she clearly remembered all she'd been taught up to the time of her departure.

Virginia now feeds herself and can generally care for herself, with instructions. The teachers have confirmed their belief that all of the youngsters are endowed with normal intelligence and expect that through modern teaching techniques they will be able to acquire more and more learning.

Keep That Pocketbook Handy; Your Red Cross Needs Your Help

Because Red Cross activities directly affect this community in only a few ways, there is a temptation to overlook the organization's wide scope and the variety of its important services.

Locally the Red Cross, since the war's end, has confined itself mainly to conducting the summertime water safety program for youngsters and a medical aid program for needy school children. Both have made important contributions to the community and, in themselves, justify generous support of the fund campaign being launched by the Belmond chapter next Tuesday.

Both of these projects would be sorely missed if funds for their support were not forthcoming; but they represent only very minor services among the many that the Red Cross performs.

For example, the American Red Cross went to the aid of victims of 330 disasters in 1949; financial assistance in the amount of over six and a half million dollars was distributed among nearly 390,000 persons. Services to the armed forces at home and abroad used up $18,314,700. Nearly 400,000 pints of blood have been donated through the Red Cross national blood program since its inception in 1948.

It is the share of local fund campaigns—amounting to slightly under 40 per cent—which goes to the national organization that enables the American Red Cross to carry on its many major activities.

So when the Red Cross worker in your block calls upon you next week, receive the solicitor graciously and give generously. YOUR RED CROSS NEEDS YOUR HELP!

Watch Out, Mr. Larson — They'll Be "Pinnin' the Rap" On You!"

Frank Moorhhead, state Democratic publicity director (and, to our notion, world's press agent) in his latest weekly handout asks the following three questions:

(1) Did Attorney General Larson usurp the powers of Governor Beardsley when he launched his anti-gambling campaign? (2) Has the Attorney General power to give orders to County Attorneys on law enforcement? (3) Did Larson act contrary to law when he went over the head of the duly-elected Sheriff of Clay county and ordered a deputy sheriff to carry on raids?

These questions, Moorhead declares, were posed by "one of the leading lawyers of the state"; and the Demo drum-beater endeavors at great length to prove Larson guilty on all counts.

By simply resorting to the Code of Iowa, we experienced no difficulty in satisfying ourselves that—as usual—"Muddle-head" Moorhead had failed to keep his powder dry.

We discovered (Chapt. 13.2) that the Attorney General and Governor have EQUAL responsibility to "Prosecute and defend . . . all actions and proceedings, civil or criminal, in which the state may be . interested, when, in his judgment, the interest of the state requires such action:" ANSWER NO. 1.

And in Paragraph 7, same chapter, we found that the attorney general shall "Supervise county attorneys in all matters pertaining to the duties of their offices." Moorhead would likely quibble over the definition of "supervise", but to our satisfaction there is ANSWER NO. 2.

Finally, (Chapt. 748.6) the attorney general has "the power to call to (his) aid in the enforcement of law any peace officer . . . and such officers . . . shall have the same powers . . as possessed by the sheriff of the county in which such peace officer is acting." ANSWER NO. 3.

We only mention this because we feel that, if Larson's anti-gambling crusade is to be built up into a major campaign issue, it should be clearly understood that in performing his job he's simply been "doin' like the book says".

That Proposed Hall-Stover Debate Offers Enticing Possibilities

Fred Stover, president of the Iowa Farmers Union, has taken exception to editorial remarks made about him Feb. 24 in the Mason City Globe-Gazette and has issued a challenge to Earl Hall to debate with him on the merits of the Brannan farm plan.

We're not too well acquainted with Stover, but we are familiar with the company he keeps. And — off hand — we'd say that any man gullible enough to be sold a bill of goods by Henry Wallace and his Progressive Party has no business in the same ring with Editor Hall.

Stover, who will be a member of the panel which is to discuss the farm plan problem before the Adult Education class in agriculture next Monday evening, has for years borne the "radical" stamp. In view of his association with the Wallace clique, we feel that his support of the Brannan plan is just one more reason why the average, level-headed farmer should be doubly wary of Brannan's recommendations.

Personally, we'd like to see Earl Hall accept Stover's challenge — if he feels he can do so without lending dignity to what the Hampton maverick stands for. It's a foregone conclusion that he'd never convince Stover he's barking up the wrong tree; but we'll bet Mr. Hall could do a sound job of exposing the fallacies of the Brannan proposal to the satisfaction of the lucky listeners.

—O—

Senator McMahon's proposal to test Russia's sincerity in regard to the outlawing of atomic warfare adds up to a good deal of sense to us. Many will contend that an offer to have the U. N. assembly debate the proposition on Joe Stalin's home grounds constitutes too great a concession to Russian stubbornness; but if the stunt could achieve some progress toward dissipating the threat of atomic destruction, it would be a small price to pay. And certainly, if Stalin rejected the offer, Russia's resolve to pursue world domination to the bitter end would stand clearly exposed.

—O—

Lieutenant-Governor Kenneth Evans' suggestion that he may run for the governorship nomination leaves us quite cold. We'll grant that achieving complete anonymity in the job he's held the past six years requires small effort—but at least he's been phenominally successful at it. We don't question that the Republicans could use a strong candidate for the governorship, but to our notion Evans hardly fills the bill.

One more week and business in Iowa can return to normal. Those state basketball tournaments certainly comprise a log-jam in the flow of industry and commerce. Things will REALLY come to a dead stop, once they start televising the meets.

Congressional Representation Major Purpose of U. S. Census

The primary purpose of the 17th decennial census of the United States, to be conducted next month, is to determine the population of each of the 48 States as a basis for the division among them of the 435 seats in the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

This is in accordance with Article 1, Section 2, of the Constitution of the United States. This section provides that representation in the House "shall be apportioned among the several states . . . according to their respective numbers" to be determined by an enumeration of the population.

This section provided that the first Census was to be taken within three years after the first meeting of the First Congress and within each subsequent 10 years. Under this provision, the first decennial census was conducted in 1790 and the years ending in "0" have thus become to be recognized as the decennial census years.

The Constitution provides that each state shall have at least one seat in the House of Representatives. After the 1790 census seats in the House were apportioned to the states at the rate of one per 33,000 population.

If this basis still prevailed, the House would today have more than 4,000 members instead of the present fixed 435.

After 1850, the Congress first determined its total membership and then divided the seats among the states in proportion to their respective populations. In recent decades, because of the shifting population, some states have gained seats in the House and others have lost.

No reapportionment of House seats was made after the 1920 census, the only decade since 1790 in which this was not done, while after the 1930 and 1940 Censuses, the present fixed number of 435 seats was distributed among the states under what the Congressional Apportionment Statute defines as "the method of equal proportions."

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa is BALANCED

When Grace and I visited back East last fall, the relatives tried to kid us about "Ioway's" corn.

'Course, we were proud of that corn. But I had another point that floored the relatives.

"Do you know," I said, "that Iowa's FACTORIES now produce as much wealth as her FARMS?"

Yes, it's true. Iowa's income is the best BALANCED in the Union. Fifty-fifty, farm and city.

But we Iowans don't stop there. Iowa specializes in balanced THINKING and LIVING, too. We try to respect each other's ideas, and standards—so we all live more happily together.

Cousin Joe is a farmer. I work in an office. Joe likes black tea. I like a temperate glass of beer or ale. That's OK with both of us. We keep a BALANCED view of the other fellow's tastes—whether it be in beverages or bonnets, jobs or jalopies.

Tolerance, temperate ideas, BALANCED living and THINKING . . . that's Iowa, the greatest state in the U.S.A.

"Bill Ought To See This"

How often do you think something like this as you read your copy of this newspaper?

Bill may be a neighbor or a friend at some distance . . . you may relate the news to him, or just have it occur to you that he'd like to know about it, and never get to be the messenger.

In either event, what Bill ought to do is have The Independent each week, so he would not miss any of the many bits of news that might be of interest, even value to him.

If you'll make the suggestion to Bill — more than that, let us know who "Bill" is, perhaps we can get together with him on a year's subcription.

VOL. 31 NO. 22 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER Belmond, Wright County, Iowa Thursday, March 16, 1950. OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER The Family Newspaper

MAIN STREET

By George - Dick - Pat

You hear a lot about public-spirited citizens, but you rarely find one who actually WORKS at it. That's why our hat is off to Glenn Martin, who was appropriately honored recently by inclusion as one of nine leaders selected by Winnebago Council to supervise its contingent of 110 Scouts who will attend the National Jamboree at Valley Forge this summer.

Glenn is heart and soul for the Scouts. So much so, that when he found social obligations interfering with his Scouting responsibilities he resigned from practically every club in which he held membership except the GMI Men's club.

When Glenn agreed to run for the city council, you can rest assured he did so with the avowed purpose of devoting to the job as much time as it might require, should he be elected. To our notion, Glenn's a pretty good type of fellow to have as a "city father".

—M-S—

From M. C. "Matt" Barry, former Belmond mayor who now resides in Iowa City, comes a letter telling of the enjoyment he got out of listening to the Town and Country Quiz broadcast a couple of weeks ago. He says he had his money on the country team from the outset (and they certainly justified his faith).

"If howlywood ever hears about Chelsvig, with his ready wit," avers Mr. Barry, "they will be offering him a contract to retire from farming."

Matt also spoke very highly of the historical background provided by Luin Cox.

—M-S—

Last week as we were getting out the paper, the gremlins that haunt our shop from time to time were really having a field day. They were sneaking out lines and words we had in our typewritten copy, adding letters where they weren't supposed to be, substituting words that made no sense for others that did—and, in general, making 100-proof pests for themselves.

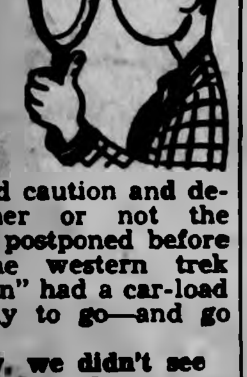
So, to partly correct the record: (1) in the Independent vs. Madole-Kinseth bowling match Dean Dorr had high score of 204 and high series of 537; (2) Tracy Dairy's milk is from herds—not "heards"—near Belmond; (3) [illegible] Halvorson received his [illegible] degree in Masonry only seven weeks after his initiation —not his "resignation".

(4) the personal items in column five, page 4, constitute Belmond Locals not, Goodell News; and (5) regardless of the statement on the editorial page, we look upon Democratic Publicity Director Frank Moorhead as not "the world's press agent" but the "world's WORST press agent."

Fortunately, the worst blunder of all—right on the front page—we caught in time. It was such a lulu, we ain't even a-goin' to tell you what it was.

—M-S—

Here's "Dan" Dannewitz having a heart-to-heart talk with himself after he got back home from NOT seeing the district basketball finals at Humboldt last Friday night. Most of the Belmond fans who'd gotten involved in the blizzard three nights earlier exercised caution and determined whether or not the game had been postponed before undertaking the western trek Friday, but "Dan" had a car-load of friends ready to go—and go they did.



Incidentally, we didn't see [illegible] around when the game was finally played on Saturday night. It was a good game, "Dan"; you shoulda been there—again.

—M-S—

From Florida we've received a note from Harv and Chris Petersen, accompanied by a picture showing them displaying a couple of better than man-sized sailfish (at least, the shop fishing "expert" said they were sailfish). Harv remarked "it is a little cool here today" and added they'd be heading home soon. Don't know if the first statement prompted the second or not.

Students to Put Out Independent Next Week

The Independent, for the fourth consecutive year, will become a college laboratory when a staff of Iowa State college journalism students publish the March 23 edition of the paper.

Eight students will spend a week in Belmond gathering and writing all news, taking all pictures, writing and selling all advertising and writing editorials for the student issue.

Already advance groups of students have started the big job of gathering material for the more than 30 pages planned for the special student edition.

The Belmond student staff is one of five that will publish Iowa weekly papers at the same time. The Belmond staff will compete with groups at Eagle Grove, Albia, Iowa Falls and Harlan in an attempt to put out the largest and best paper. The papers will be published during Iowa State's spring vacation.

Business manager of this year's staff is Don Razee, Harlan, newly elected business manager of the Iowa State Daily, student newspaper at Ames. Razee was promoted to that position only after serving as reporter, issue manager, advertising manager and desk assistant on the campus newspaper.

Razee has worked four years on the Harlan Tribune, three months on the Harlan News-Advertiser and three months as news editor of the Mapleton Press.

Veryl Fritz, Grand Junction, editor of the Independent student edition, has served as a reporter, assistant sports editor and advertising salesman for the Daily, as a writer for the Iowa Agriculturist—departmental magazine, and as a writer for the Bomb, student yearbook.

Razee will be assisted on the business staff by Marian Ismert, East Aurora, N. Y., and by William Freeman, Harlan.

Another $16,573 Refund Under Land Tax Credit Law in Charlson's Hands

County Auditor Roger Charlson reports that a check representing the share of Wright county farmers in the 1948 agricultural land tax credit fund was received at his office Tuesday. The check was for $16,573.24.

This amount compares to $17,401.29, which was this county's pro rata share of the 1947 fund, and $4,194.13 which will be returned on 1946 school taxes paid.

Mr. Charlson adds that the work of breaking down the 1946 and 1947 refunds—checks for which were received last December — has now been completed and treasurer's checks for individual refunds will be ready for distribution in the very near future.

Total amount of claims throughout. the state totaled $5,463,768, but since only $2,000,000 was appropriated by the legislature these claims are being settled on the basis of approximately 36.6 cents on the dollar. Claims in Wright county totaled $45,276.

Since a sum of $5,000,000 was appropriated by the state for 1949 agricultural land tax credit fund, the "kick-back" for last year will much more closely approximate the amount claimed than in any of the three years previous.

Mayor C. H. Hass Levies $100 Fine

Mayor Charles H. Hass levied a fine of $100 and costs against Mrs. Myrtle Rathman last Thursday afternoon on a charge of maintaining a nuisance.

Information had been filed by County Sheriff Bob Blecker after a Clarion youth, who a week ago Saturday night was involved in a traffic mishap, had admitted to the sheriff that he and a companion had been drinking beer which they had purchased at Elmer and Myrt's Place.

Maurice Marshall, 19, and an 18-year-old Clarion friend were returning to the county seat when the car driven by Marshall collided with the rear end of an auto driven by a West Union motorist. Clarion police were called and, in turn, summoned the sheriff.

Heard in the court of Clarion Mayor C. F. Buchan, young Marshall pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $100 and costs.

On Tuesday of last week Sheriff Blecker brought the two boys to Belmond to identify the tavern where they'd purchased the beer and the individual who had sold it to them.

The hearing last Thursday, at which Mrs. Rathman pleaded guilty as charged, was the outgrowth. Mayor Hass gave the defendant her choice of $100 fine plus costs or 30 days in the county jail. Mrs. Rathman chose to pay the fine.

32 SCHOOL VOTES CAST

With no other candidate contesting his reelection, Roy Henderson was returned to the school board Monday for a fifth term as only 32 ballots were cast in the annual school election.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR OPENING RURAL RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

With the annual Red Cross fund campaign in Belmond well under way, Co-Chairmen K. C. Kickbush and Ted Behrends this week turned their attention to the rural areas of the Belmond chapter—Belmond, Pleasant and Norway townships.

They have appointed chairmen for each of the townships, as follows: Belmond—Mrs. Stanley Moe; Pleasant—Don Braner; and Norway—Mrs. Thomas Mathre.

Each of these leaders was made responsible for naming solicitors for their area. Up to press time, the latter two chairmen had not reported on their appointments.

Mrs. Moe, however, had named these individuals to canvass families in Belmond township:

Ed Chapman, Irvin Johnson, Mrs. Ed Bohning, Mrs. LeRoy Green, Mrs. Sanford Severson, Ed Schimp, Mrs. Arnold Nodland, Mrs. Everett Anderson, Mrs. Harold Simerson, Mrs. Earl Swenson and Loren Bamford.

Chairmen Kickbush and Behrends say that the city drive, which started formally this Monday, is progressing nicely but returns are not yet sufficiently complete to warrant a report.

Drive Last Week Boosts Hospital Fund by $19,000

Finance Chairmen W. H. Trafford and R. W. Courson announce that the canvass for hospital pledges conducted last week in Belmond bolstered the amount previously reported by about $19,000—making a total of over $79,000 now promised toward construction of the new hospital.

Several Belmond solicitors have not yet made complete reports and Trafford and Courson are confident that the total pledged by this community will exceed the present figure by quite a few thousand dollars by the time all pledge cards have been turned in.

This week the finance committee is turning its attentions to the rural areas around Belmond. Friday morning 60 solicitors are expected to start making the rounds of farms in Pleasant, Belmond, Grant and Iowa townships. A preliminary meeting of workers will be held at the city hall this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The following chairmen have been appointed to head the campaigns in the various townships: Pleasant—Bernhard Koenen and Lester Buseman; Belmond—L .B. Oberhauser and Harold Simerson; Grant—C. C. Woodin and Lloyd Drury; Iowa — Preston Tyrrell and Clarence Vestweber.

Next week the fund-raising activities will extend to the outer reaches of the Belmond trade area. One group of solicitors will be organized to carry on the campaign in Norway, Twin Lakes and Avery townships and in Goodell and Rowan; another group will canvass Meservey and Alexander and the countryside to the east of those communities.

A meeting of the first group will be held in Belmond and workers for the latter territory will meet either at Meservey or Rowan. The exact time and place of these meetings have not yet been definitely settled.

Members of the hospital finance committee have been highly gratified at the public response to date, in the form of pledges. They feel that if the present momentum of the campaign is maintained, the success of the fund drive will be assured.

Mackrill Cited for Top Position in Paint Sales

L. B. Mackrill of the Coast-to-Coast store has been informed that his establishment in 1949 led all of the 117 affiliated Coast-to-Coast stores in Iowa in the sale of paint. In fact, only seven of the 545 Coast-to-Coast stores in the nation exceeded the volume of paint sold by Mr. Mackrill's store last year.

The proprietor says that paint has been one of his biggest sales items ever since the local store was opened in 1935 and the annual volume has regularly placed the Belmond concern high on the state list in the sale of paint.

Corn Allotments Go Out -- And Farmers Begin to Swarm In

Individual corn acreage allotments for 1950 were mailed out from the county office of the Production and Marketing Administration on Thursday and Friday of last week — and the first of this week found a steady stream of farmers arriving at the office to explain why their particular acreage reduction was completely out of line.

County PMA Chairman O. J. Hanson stated yesterday that the flurry of complaints had been anticipated, but that likely nothing could be done about the most of them. Farmers have a period of 15 days during which they can appeal their allotments.

Mr. Hanson says that a small number of acres due under the county allotment were held in abeyance to allow for adjustments in cases where obvious injustice or error exists — but that any large scale adjustment of individual allotments would be entirely out of the question.

A considerable portion of the complaints, said Mr. Hanson, are coming from farmers who had planted only modest acreages in corn during the years 1947 through '49 and were cut even below the average of those years.

The PMA committee will make as many adjustments as seems feasible, but the members are already resigned to the fact that the corn acreage reductions are going to leave a lot of farmers dissatisfied.

Two Auxiliaries to Join In Soonsorship of Dance

Under joint sponsorship of the American Legion and V. F. W. Auxiliaries, a "rustic dance" will be held Friday evening in the basement of the Veterans' Memorial building. No regular admission will be charged but the dancers will be expected to "feed the kitty" to establish a fund for furnishing the new dining room.

The affair will be in the nature of a "hard times party" and old clothes will be dress of the evening. In fact, there is talk that fines will be levied against any in attendance who are too well dressed. Prizes will be awarded to those judged most appropriately garbed.

An orchestra composed of local musicians will play for the dancing. Admission will be limited to members of the Legion and VFW and their Auxiliaries, individuals eligible for membership in those organizations, and invited guests. Lunches will be sold during the course of the evening.

COURT POSTPONED

Clerk of Court R. V. Goslin announces that he has received word from Judge H. E. Fry that opening of the March term of district court at Clarion will be postponed until March 27. Court had previously been scheduled to convene next Monday, but Judge Fry is currently involved with a case in Story county that will occupy him beyond the first of next week. Petit jurors will report to the courthouse at 1:30 p. m. on April 3.

Three Incumbent Council Members Appear On Slate

Another complete slate of candidates, excepting for the post of treasurer, was filed last Friday for the coming city election, March 27. The new ticket is headed by A. W. "Andy" Loats, as candidate for mayor, and includes three incumbent councilmen—Al Mennenga, Bob Tomson and A. J. Meints.

Completing the People's Ticket are Orrin Jacobson and Ed Kennedy. Every member of the group, except Jacobson, has had previous experience in city administration.

Loats has never been elected to city office but was appointed in 1943 to serve out the unexpired term of Councilman Reynald Kinseth, who resigned prior to moving away from Belmond.

Mennenga, First Ward candidate, became a member of the council by appointment in 1942, to take the place of Ed Kennedy who advanced to the mayorship when Dr. R. T. Coe moved from town. Al was elected in 1944 to remain on the council and was reelected in '46 and '48.

Jacobson is Second Ward candidate. The People's candidate in Third Ward is Tomson, who is completing his first term on the council.

Both candidates-at-large on the second ticket are old hands in city politics. Ed Kennedy, after his appointment as mayor in the summer of 1942, was reelected in 1944. He first ran for city office in March of 1942, when he successfully campaigned for a place on the council.

Jack Meints has the lengthiest record of service of any candidate on the People's Ticket. He first ran for councilman in 1938 and was elected. He was returned to office in each of the next three elections, but did not run in 1946. In '48 he was again a candidate and was once more elected.

Mayor Charles Hass is not a candidate for reelection this year, nor are Ted Bonte or Glenn Rierson contenders for reelection to the council. B. C. Hewlett, incumbent city treasurer, is a candidate for reelection on the Citizen's Ticket.

The other members of the Citizens' ticket, of all whom filed papers several weks ago, are: for mayor, C. C. Christie; for councilmen-at-large—Ardell Johnson and R. B. Thompson; First Ward —Jim Mariga; Second Ward George Infelt; and Third Ward—Glenn Martin.

Death Rings Down Curtain--

Mrs. McAlpin Starred for Many Years on Dramatic Stage

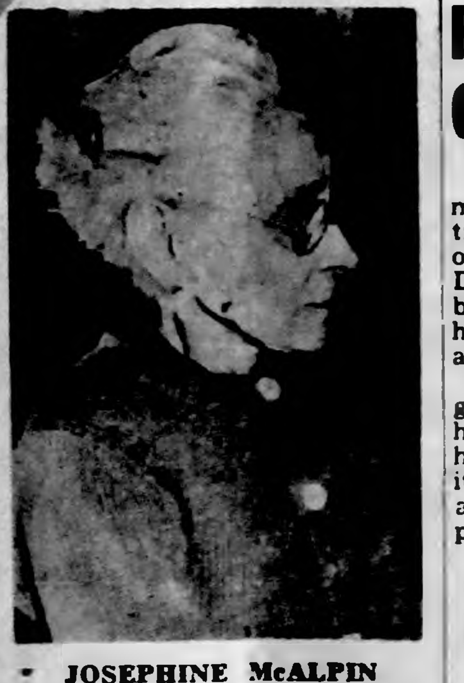
-Retired Here 24 Years Ago

Belmond lost one of its colorful citizens when death came to Josephine Friel McAlpin Tuesday of last week at Stone Memorial hospital. She had made this community her home for nearly a quarter of a century, after a lengthy career on the legitimate stage. Hers was a full life, and her declining years were made rich by the memories of her years in the theater.

Born in Boston, Mass., on Oct. 25, 1864, her future was forecast a very tender age. While still an infant she made her stage debut, clothed in her christening robe, when she was carried behind the footlights in a Boston theater production which starred the famed Shakespearean actor, Edwin Booth.

When she was still a child her family moved to Chicago, where she later was graduated from a school of oratory and was a student at the Art Institute.

Ambitious to make a name for herself, she traveled to California and established a dramatic school at Sacramento. She demonstrated her versatility by teaching not only dramatic arts but fencing, singing and dancing as well. Her teaching duties also included classes for novices at a Sacramento convent. She taught the nuns, who were later to pass on her training to others, both music and dramatics.



JOSEPHINE McALPIN

It was while she was conducting her school in the California capital that she first entered upon her actual theatrical career. She was serving as understudy for a traveling troupe when an opportunity to substitute for one of the cast led to her acceptance as a regular member of the group.

Fort Dodge Men's Chorus Here Soon

Belmond's Chamber of Commerce will provide a free musical treat for the entire community on March 27 when the Fort Dodge Men's Chorus will be brought here for a concert at the high school auditorium, starting at 8:00 p. m.

Two years ago the same organization made an appearance here and their performance was highly praised by all who heard it. The chorus members are all amateur musicians who sing purely for pleasure.

They make no charge for their concerts and agree to out-of-town appearances only with the understanding that admission will be free.

Following the concert, the Chamber of Commerce will provide dinner for the visiting musicians. It will be served in the school hot-lunch room by the VFW and American Legion Auxiliaries.

The post-concert meal was such a festive affair two years ago that a number of the Chamber of Commerce members have indicated a desire to get in on the occasion this time. Consequently, provisions have been made to accommodate those business men and their wives who wish to attend the dinner but reservations must be made by next Wednesday.

The charge will be $1.50 per plate and tickets can be obtained from George Infelt at his store, at the First State Bank from Luin Cox, or at Dr. A. M. Larson's office.

OBERHAUSER RUNNING AS CANDIDATE FOR SOIL COMMISSIONER

Landowners of Wright county will vote for the commissioner for the Wright County Soil Conservation district at an election to be held next Thursday at the I. O. O. F. hall in Clarion.

Two candidates — Donald Frakes of Woolstock township, the incumbent; and L. B. Oberhauser of Belmond township—have filed nomination papers with the State Soil Conservation Committee for this office.

The polling place at Clarion will be open between the hours of 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. The election is scheduled on the same date and place as the annual meeting of the Corn Belt National Farm Loan association, which is attended by a large number of landowners of the county.

Churchouse New VFW Commander

Robert A. Churchouse was elected commander of Belmond Post No. 4244 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for 1950 at a meeting of the organization held at the Veterans' Memorial building last Thursday evening. He succeeds George Jenison as the Vets' leader.

Ted Behrends was named senior vice commander and Earl Cronk, junior vice commander. Other elective offices filled were: quartermaster—Clare Gagnon; chaplin—Carroll Bamford; surgeon—Dan Veeder; and trustees, Paul Dorr, Larry Gunderson and Walter Hotvet.

Commander Churchouse announces that he has appointed the following additional officers to serve during the current year:

Adjutant—Bob Nelson; officer of the day—Arlo Stoltenberg; patriotic instructor—George Jenison; historian—Claude Thayer; legislative officer—Martial Holtzbauer; public relations — Bob Foss; employment officer—C. J. Papousek; guard—Marvin Pals; sports director—Marvin Meinders.

Mrs. George Ruka Died Last Sunday

The Goodell community was saddened Sunday when it learned that a much loved and long-time resident, Mrs. George Ruka, had passed away early that morning.

Amanda Janette Jackson, daughter of Loren and Margaret Jackson, was born June 26, 1865 in the vicinity of New York, N. Y.

While a small child she moved with her parents to Woodman, Wis., where she attended grade school. She was graduated from Teachers college at Lancaster, Wis., and taught school for a number of years.

March 4, 1891, she was married to George Ruka, also of Woodman, Wis., and on their wedding day they came to Goodell and settled on the farm three miles southwest of town which was their home for 59 years. To them were born four children.

Mrs. Ruka was a faithful devoted member of the Evangelical United Brethren church, held a life membership and was a life director and charter member of the Women's Society of World's Service and a member of the Ladies Aid Society.

She was a loving and devoted mother and her memory will be cherished by all who knew her. She had been in failing health the past few years and since December 1948 had been cared for in the Lauen Nursing home at Belmond.

Mr. Ruka passed away Dec. 8, 1949. Surviving are her three sons—Arthur, Harry and Raymond; and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, all of Goodell; five grandchildren, eight great grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 1:30 from the Fulton Funeral home at Belmond and at 2:00 p. m. at the Evangelical United Brethren church at Goodell, with the Rev. James T. Stewart officiating.

The church quartet, Mrs. Henry Brede, Mrs. Robert McNutt, Harold Cunningham and V. E. Harris, sang with Mrs. Paul Veldhouse at the piano.

Pallbearers were Lyle Ruka, and Donald Abbas of Kanawha, Irvin Ruka of Belmond, Merle Ruka, Melvin Sorenson and Wilmer Hauge of Goodell.

Burial was in the Amsterdam cemetery. The Fulton Funeral Home of Belmond was in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burk, Patty and Bobbie, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis and children went to Kanawha Sunday and were dinner guests in the home of their mother, Mrs. Roy Davis and sister, Lela.

COMMUNITY METHODIST CHURCH

Latimer and Alexander

This week we begin the official visitation campaign for evangelism. The churches of America are visiting from house to house to win people to Christ and His church. The chancels of the churches will be crowded with people seeking to unite with His church. Several have already made their decision for Easter Sunday.

Edwin Arthur Foss, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Foss was baptized at the Latimer church Sunday morning.

The L. A. Youth Fellowship met last Thursday evening at Latimer. Next meeting will be at Alexander, March 23.

Sermon topic for Sunday will be "Prayer is a Science and an Art."

FUNERAL RITES HELD FOR O. A. MYERS, 64

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the home and at the Community Methodist church for O. A. Meyers, with Rev. E. A. Cochell officiating. Interment was in Alexander cemetery. Mr. Myers passed away at the Lutheran hospital at Hampton on Thursday of last week.

Mr. Meyers had lived his entire life in Franklin county and was engaged in farming his entire adult life until 1948, when he and Mrs. Myers moved to Alexander. He would have been 65 years old a week from today, having been born March 23, 1885.

Besides his wife, Mr. Meyers is survived by a daughter, Mrs. C. B. Schager of Dows, and a son, Kenneth, of Alexander; also a number of other relatives. A complete obituary will appear next week.

Farmer Puts Out House Blaze Before Fire Truck Can Arrive After Call

The Alexander Fire Department was called to the Chris Marshall farm southwest of town Friday when the farm home caught on fire. The blaze started between the ceiling and an upstairs floor, where a stove pipe went through. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Andrews, who have rented the farm, were just moving in when the fire occurred.

Mrs. Andrews had gone upstairs after some bedding and discovered the fire. As Mr. Andrews had been unable to get the water system thawed out, he had to go across the road to his mother's home after some water. They then proceeded to cut a hole in the floor with an ax and extinguished the blaze.

The fire was out before the fire company could get there, but not before the flames had burned their way across the room between the joists.

The Andrews were nevertheless very grateful to the Alexander fire fighters for their prompt service.

SPECIALIST TO TALK TO SHEEP PRODUCERS WEDNESDAY EVENING

C. W. McDONALD

Sheep management, feeding, and wool marketing problems will be discussed by C. W. McDonald, well known sheep specialist from Iowa State college, next Wednesday evening at the Legion hall at Clarion. The meeting is scheduled for 8:00 p. m.

Professor McDonald will also discuss the lamb and wool outlook, which will be of interest to lamb feeders as well as flock owners.

According to Extension Director Aaron R. Bowman, who is arranging the meeting, farmers in Wright county are showing increased interest in sheep production, which dropped to a low level during the war.

One reason for this, says Mr. Bowman, has been the relatively strong position of lamb and mutton on the market and the declining sheep numbers over the nation.

Controls for internal and external parasites, sheep shelters, equipment and improved rams will be covered in the discussion of flock management.

4-H and F. F. A. members with sheep projects are encouraged to attend this meeting as well as all flock owners and lamb feeders in or near Wright county.

MRS. McALPINE - - -

As an actress with the George Wessels company of New York, which provided her with her first part on the legitimate stage, and later with other troupes, she traveled widely throughout the United States and Canada.

Melodramatic roles were her forte and she vastly preferred tragedy to comedy, believing the former offered an actress a wider range for her abilities. However, she filled every type of part skilfully.

Her marriage to W. E. McAlpin in 1901 followed some time after he had seen her act in Chicago. He had been manager of Ringling Brothers circus.

Having become enamoured of the attractive actress, he found ways and means of seeing their paths crossed with regularity and at length persuaded her to marry him when she was appearing with a company then playing at Emmetsburg.

Fittingly enough, they were wed in a civil ceremony performed on the stage at Emmetsburg before a packed house. Later they were also married in a church ceremony. Both pursued their respective professional careers, but they bought a home in Belmond in 1908 and were together here as frequently as off-seasons and periods between engagements permitted.

Failing sight made the last few years of Mrs. McAlpin's stage career most difficult ones, and when her husband died in 1926 she abandoned the stage and retired to her home here in Belmond. Later, the cataracts that had all but destroyed her vision were removed by surgery and thereafter she was able to read with the aid of strong glasses.

Although she lived many years by herself, Mrs. McAlpin was by no means a recluse and kept up a wide range of interests.

The latter part of January she fell accidentally in her bedroom and suffered a broken hip. She surprised the local doctors by rallying determinedly from this misfortune, but two weeks ago Tuesday she was the victim of a stroke. Again she seemed to be making progress toward recovery, but her advanced years were too much of a handicap and she passed away about 11:30 p. m. on March 7.
